Telephone poles now go up faster than ever, thanks to the specially designed truck at right. Equipped with a fast rotary digger, a long arm, and a winch line, the "triple-duty" truck digs pole holes, sets in the poles, and straightens them . . . all in a jiffy. This versatile vehicle also has many other jobs, including salvaging used wire on its special reel. We're using it in many places throughout the Pacific West today. Developments like the "triple-duty" truck help us provide you with more service, good service, at the lowest possible cost. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

When you have a series of calls to make...

...it's a good idea to leave a few minutes between calls, instead of making one right after another. Spacing your calls gives other people a chance to reach you. And the calls you receive are often just as important as the calls you make.

You Can Call All the Way to New York City for Only $2.50 plus tax

More and more people here in the Pacific West are finding out what a value long distance telephone service is . . . to keep contact with friends and relatives in distant places, to get business affairs handled quickly.

One reason — it costs so little to call. You can now talk for three minutes, day station call, all the way to New York for only $2.50 plus tax. And your calls over shorter distances—like Chicago or Salt Lake, or up and down the Coast, naturally are even lower.

And here's a tip about long distance calling. You'll be surprised at how much you can say in three minutes if you'll prepare your notes beforehand and make notes while you talk.

Today, a long distance call is surely one of the best buys you can make. Pacific Telephone.

Schools Won't Accept Racial Job Requests

By GRACE E. SIMONS

Protests do help!

The Eagle was given positive assurance this week that the Los Angeles Board of Education will not again accept and fill a discriminatory work order.

The assurance came from Claude Owen, supervisor of the Work Experience Section of the city's schools. "I have left absolute orders," stated Owen, "that in the future if any orders of this kind come into the office, they will be referred to my personal attention.

"We are not in a position to accept segregated orders, and it is not our policy to accept such orders."

No Colored

Owen was approached, following information appearing exclusively in the Eagle in its Jan. 28 issue, concerning the rebuff given the valdictorian of Belmont High School, Miss Thurma Pankey, when she applied, through the school, for a one-day job at the Broadway Department Store.

Miss Pankey was told tactfully by the teacher in charge that "they're not taking any colored at the Broadway."

The Broadway, by approaching the schools for student help on a segregated basis, is compounding the evil "white only" policy to which it stubbornly clings. It is thereby carrying its discriminatory approach into the city's schools, submitting these youngsters to the bitterness of a face-to-face encounter with the ugliness of prejudice.

Order Accepted

Owen explained that while all clerks in the department were fully aware of the official policy, the Broadway telephoned in its request for 250 students to assist in inventory, and that the order was accepted by the telephone clerk even though the store had stated that it preferred Caucasians.

When Owen was approached by the Eagle to determine why such an order was serviced, he promised an investigation of the incident, and gave assurances that the action in no way reflected the policy of the Board of Education.

The next morning he came to the Eagle office, after checking with the school, its principal, Robert Mann, the teacher who carried out the instructions given him, George Brailsford, and the workers in his own department. Having determined where the slip-up occurred, he

Yellow Cab Drivers Warned On Negro Fares

The Yellow Taxi Cab Co. has just issued a directive to its drivers to refuse to pick up Negro fares, "when you are approached by two or three male Negroes out of the Central avenue district."

A special notice on the company's bulletin board, over the signature of J. P. Coyle, executive vice-president, states that "after dark when you are approached by two or three male Negroes, in any district other than the Central avenue district, explain to them that you are on a phone order and unable to take them."

Reason for such action assertedly is the fact that there have been a number of recent holdups by two or three Negroes.

The notice, addressed to night operators, adds that the new policy does not apply where a call has been received over the phone.

"Intent Good"

Coyle, in a telephone conversation with the Eagle, seemed unaware of the fact that such an announcement gave rise to the impression that all Negroes, by the very fact of their color, are suspected of being thugs, hold-ups and potential assassins.

"Our intent should be taken into consideration," he explained, adding that the purpose of the directive was merely to protect the cab drivers from robbery and possible bodily harm.

Admittedly the problem for cab drivers is a serious one, but there is nothing new in this situation as far as Los Angeles is concerned, nor is Los Angeles in any way exceptional in this regard.

Protests Made

Protests received in the Eagle office point out that singling out of Negroes is highly prejudicial, inflamatory and can only lead to a worsening of race relations and an increase of tension.

Whatever methods the cab company or the police devise for the elimination of crime should not be based on the assumption that any one race or group of people has a corner on lawlessness, these sources say.

Thirty Holdups

Under the new directive, any Negro businessmen, stage or screen artists, railroaders or any other colored men, carrying on their legitimate affairs, would be treated as potential criminals.

Coyle pointed out that last month there were 30 holdups of cabmen, that 28 of these were perpetrated by Negroes. One driver, he said, had his jaw

Gus Hawkins, Walter Gordon Vie for 62nd

Polititcs in the 62nd Assembly District was bubbling up to the boiling point this week, despite the fact that elections are still months away.

Gus Hawkins, who has represented the district for the past 20 years, calmly announced he was a candidate for re-election. He was promptly answered by Atty. Walter Gordon, who stoutly declared he was still prominently in the race, and referred to the long-time representative as looking "tired and bored with it all." Looks like the gloves are off.

Arduous

"I am surprised at Mr. Hawkins running again," commented Gordon dryly. "He has appeared tired and bored with it all lately, and I feel it would be unfortunate to impose the arduous duties of the office upon him once again.

"The job should open up to men who are willing to assume the mantle of leadership in our community, men who have fire and fight and a will to do.

"Bored people, and people who are not sure whether they wish to be elected again should step down."

Must Unite

In announcing his candidacy for Assemblyman in the June 8 primaries, Hawkins stated that he had consulted numerous groups in the community and believed that now more than ever before, we must unite forces in protecting and advancing progress.

"We must not allow," he declared, "a depression, recession

Jobless Get Rough Deal, Claims CIO

The Greater Los Angeles CIO Council, at its Tuesday night meeting, passed a resolution pointing up the mounting seriousness of the unemployment situation in the city, and also accusing the State Unemployment Insurance office of harrassing and coercing workers applying for benefits.

The job situation, says the resolution, is "complicated by the new policies of the CSES. Many men and women are made to feel as criminals when they file claims.

"Others are denied claims because the claimants refuse to accept incompatible employment offered them. The Know-[illegible] Amendment and the new [illegible] appointed by [illegible], William Bankett, [illegible] under the [illegible]

Hope Running High For a Playground — Instead of Factory

Spirits were running high this week among the residents of the Long Beach-Compton area as their hopes for the creation of a park in their midst instead of the building of a factory seemed on the way toward realization.

On Monday afternoon, representatives of the home-owners committee met with the City Park and Playground Commission, and got their aid in pushing for the playground plan.

Promised Appeal

The Commission promised to appeal to the City Planning Commission on behalf of the park idea.

Councilman Gordon Hahn, who fathered the playground proposal, was on hand to help plead the case before the Commission. He was ably backed by John Dial, Jr., president of the group, Mrs. Marie Fredricks and James McGhee, who acted as spokesmen for the residents. Others who appeared were Arnold Blackburn, George Black, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Taylor, and John Porter.

At issue is the narrow strip of land between West Long Beach avenue and Honduras street, 46th street and 48th place. Owners of the property, the Yankee Company, have petitioned the city for a change of zone from a residential to a manufacturing area so that they can build a factory there.

Owners Willing

Following a meeting with the Planning Committee last Tuesday, the owners agreed to waive their plan if the city would purchase the site for a playground. They promised to have their answer ready by today, Thursday.

Monday's meeting followed a report meeting of the East of Central Improvement Association on Sunday, which was addressed by Councilman Hahn, Gilbert Lindsay and James H. Anderson, Eagle political editor.

The meeting gave formal sta-

Shooting Ends Quarrel Over Pair of Shoes

An argument over a pair of shoes sent an innocent man, the husband of one of the battlers, to General hospital Saturday afternoon, a bullet wound in his arm.

Wounded was V. Eddie McCoy, 32, of 3569½ S. Western avenue, who was allegedly shot by his wife's sister as he was lying in bed.

Mrs. Margaret Cacos, 29, of the same address, but from another apartment, was arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. She denied that she had shot McCoy, however, and claimed that McCoy's wife was the culprit.

It all started, it seems, when Mrs. Cacos came into her sister's apartment to retrieve a pair of her shoes. When Mrs. McCoy returned and found the shores gone, she went to visit Mrs. Cacos, knocked, then reportedly broke in the door, and threw a chair at her sister's T.V. set, smashing the viewing screen.

At this Mrs. Cacos went and got her gun. Mrs. McCoy, meanwhile, went back to her own apartment and hid under the bed, where her husband was sleeping.

When Mrs. Cacos stormed into the apartment, she started firing away. Mrs. McCoy was unhurt.

Two, Denying Guilt, Hanged For Murder

GUAM — Two Air Force enlisted men, both of whom have stoutly professed their innocence since they were arrested in 1948, were hanged here Thursday for the alleged rape-murder of a San Francisco white woman.

Hung by their necks from the 10-foot-high gallows were Herman T. Dennis, 25, of Indianapolis, and Robert W. Burns, 36, of Spokane, Wash.

They were convicted by an army court-martial of criminally attacking Miss Ruth Fransworth, Dec. 11, 1948, and leaving her battered and unconscious in a dense jungle behind the curio shop in which she worked.

The case was appealed to President Eisenhower, but he refused to take action to stay the execution.

Man Shot By Cops Faces Prosecution

Police Victim, On the Mend, Faces Charges

The man who was at death's door last week after being shot by a policeman at point-blank range, was reportedly out of danger on Wednesday, and it was expected that he would be released from the prison ward at the General Hospital in about 10 days.

Meanwhile, police were planning to arraign the shooting victim, Mathew Roberts, 545 Crocker street, for his alleged assault on M. C. Hodge, 431 Rodger Young Village. Hodge, shortly before Roberts was shot, was slashed across the neck by a stranger.

In the event that he is not well enough to leave the hospital for the arraignment, police said they would take the court to his sickbed.

Delay Action

The NAACP, which carried on an on-the-spot investigation immediately after the shooting, has deferred action in the case, waiting until it is determined whether or not Roberts will recover.

Seven witnesses to the shooting declared that the assault was unjustified, that Roberts' hands were in plain view and that his back was pinned against a wall. Police, however, claimed that Roberts had a knife concealed under his coat, and that after the shot rang out, the knife dropped to the pavement.

Roberts slumped to the ground, a bullet wound in his stomach. He was removed to the hospital where his condition was said to be critical.

Local Demos Help Choose Candidates

By JAMES ANDERSON, Eagle Political Editor

Local Democratic leaders were busy this week keeping their ears to the ground and their eyes turned northward as they prepared to join a party trek to Fresno where the California Democratic Council will endorse candidates for state-wide offices.

The ear-to-the-ground pose was adopted in an effort to find out just which of the four Democratic candidates for governor had the best chance of winding up in the executive mansion in Sacramento come Jan. 1, 1955. In the race are Richard Graves, Laurence Cross, Ellis Patterson and Tom Carrell.

Among those slated to take part in the week-end deliberations are Dr. J. A. Somerville, Gilbert Lindsey, Ethel Bryant, Frank Clark, Attys. William Jones and Edward Hardwicks, Mrs. Fanny Leonard, Mrs. Ruth Wilson. Your reporter will also be there and expects to be joined by Publisher Loren Miller.

S.P. CHEF DIES ENROUTE HOME

The remains of Mark Williams, Southern Pacific Dining Car Chef and veteran of World War II, will lie in state at Conner-Johnson Mortuary, 17th and Naomi, from 2 to 8 p.m. Thursday (Feb. 4). Williams died Monday on the Southern Pacific Owl enroute to his home after a brief illness in the S. P. Hospital in San Francisco. His wife, Victoria Williams, was at his bedside at the time of death. Funeral services and interment will be held in New Orleans.

Army Orders Abolition Of Jim Crow Schools

WASHINGTON — Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, has ordered the Army, Navy and Air Force to end segregation in all military post schools by Sept. 1, 1955.

His order, issued with the personal backing of President Eisenhower, forbids the services to open any new segregated schools. It requires them to end segregation of Negro and white children on the twenty-one bases still maintaining separate schools by the 1955 deadline.

These schools, on posts in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Maryland, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia, now are run by local school agencies with money provided by the Federal Government.

If the local agencies will not, or because of state laws cannot, run nonsegregated schools on the bases, the United States Office of Education has agreed to operate the schools on an unsegregated basis.

Wilson's Jan. 12 order ends a behind-the-scenes tug of war between the Defense Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

Mayor Proclaims Feb. 7-14 As Negro History Week

The city of Los Angeles, in an official proclamation over the signature of Mayor Norris Poulson, declared the week of Feb. 7 to 14 "Negro History Week," and urged "all citizens to join with Our Authors Study Club and the Los Angeles Branch of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History in this observance."

Not to be outdone, the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution taking note of the seven day period as National Negro History Week, and designating the month of February as "Brotherhood Month."

Rich History

The Study club, under the presidency of Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, this year as usual, has scheduled a full and inspiring series of events to emphasize the rich history of the Negro and weath of contributions to human progress made by colored people.

Opening the week-long celebration will be a mass meeting at Bovard auditorium on the USC campus at 3 p.m. Sunday, at which Dr. Charles H. Wesley will be the principal speaker.

The talk of the prominent educator, who is president of Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, and president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, will be followed by a 200-voice chorus under the direction of Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow.

Political Spotlight

SPOTLIGHTING—Politics was much in evidence at the Consolidated Realty Board banquet-dance Friday night at the Cosmopolitan. PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK—Jimmy Roosevelt, for the indomitable courage displayed by standing tall, introducing the principal speaker at meeting paying honor to his father, rising above the malicious attack designed to destroy him politically by a wife who is, to say the least, a pawn in the hands of unscrupulous people who pit their strength against everything decent in American politics.

Some decent Democratic leaders say, "Jimmy Roosevelt should not run for the 26th Congressional District for the good of the Democratic Party." Are they saying a man should, forever, condemn himself in the public eye? — Should show cowardice in the face of a cruel and inhuman attack? — Should permit these allegations to possibly destroy the reputation of 12 women?

What, exactly, are these Democratic leaders suggesting, or is this a repetition of the ancient cry for blood?

How strong are the Democrats???????

RUMOR—The rumor that Walter Gordon will change his registration from Republican to Democrat "just ain't so." He'll stick at least through 1954.

TELLS STAND—Democratic candidate for governor, Richard Graves, poses with community members who peppered him with questions about his platform at Biltmore.

Graves Tells Stand On State Problems

"Ask me any question you like and I will try to answer it." That's what Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for governor, told a group of curious citizens who had heard about him but knew little or nothing about his beliefs or his record as a public official.

The business men, lawyers, labor leaders, doctors and just plain citizens, invited to meet the candidate by Libby Clark and Associates, took him at his word and fired all kinds of questions at him for three-quarters of an hour at the Biltmore Hotel last Wednesday.

Graves was as good as his word, too. He met all of the issues squarely and at the meeting's end the candidate had gone on record on the following points:

Favors FEPC

He believes in fair employment practices legislation and he will not only "support it but will lead an active fight to get an FEPC in California."

He doesn't think that Goodwin Knight has any program for the state but he is sure that the philosophy that Knight embraces means turning the "state over to the most reactionary elements."

The future of America depends on defending and extending the democratic system and that means integration of all Americans into government. He will "not only appoint qualified Negroes to public office but will search out them, and members of other minority groups, with an eye to making integration more than just an empty phrase."

Backs Unions

So-called "right to work" legislation is an attempt to cripple labor and we must have "strong and effective labor unions" if we expect to give the worker the kind of protection he needs.

Token appointments of Negroes to government positions of little or no significance are meaningless and he would place Negroes in state positions where California could make full use of their talents.

An executive of the League of Cities, he has tried to break down employment barriers against members of minority groups but he has not been able to take stands on many issues because of his position.

No Racial Bias

It is not true that he led any anti-Japanese movement in World War II. Graves explained that as the executive of the League of Cities he did transmit a resolution on the matter to the War Department and that he strongly urged that civil and property rights of evacuees be safeguarded.

Among those present at the meeting were Dr. J. A. Somerville, Cluese Reed and Lorenzo V. Spencer, real estate brokers; Sherman Smith, Bill Anderson, S. C. Jefferson and Ed Turley, labor leaders; Frank Clark, and Attys. Loren Miller, William Jones and Elbert Hudson.

Graves also told the gathering that he had urged Governor Knight to include unemployment on the agenda of the forthcoming special session of the legislature and that he believes the state should immediately launch a large-scale public works program to alleviate unemployment which he described as "assuming serious proportions." He scored the State Employment Service for what he called its unfair attitude toward those seeking unemployment benefits.

Marque Neal Enters Contest For Assembly

MARQUE NEAL

Marque Neal, well known business man, tossed his hat in the ring for assemblyman after the Sixty-Second Destrict GOP Fact Finding Committee gave him its unanimous endorsement at its meeting last Friday. He will cross file on the Democratic ticket.

He will be presented to the public at St. Paul Baptist church, 49th and Main streets, Feb. 11, at a meeting to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Republican party. The meeting is open to the general party.

Neal told the Eagle that he is opposed to regimentation of both business and labor, that he favors fair employment practices legislation and other civil rights measures and that he is in sympathy with the basic purposes of the Bricker Amendment. He said that he will issue a formal platform soon.

The Fact Finding meet, headed by the Rev. Louis Driver, laid plans for an all-out drive to support the candidate. Rev. Driver is chairman of the District Republican Central Committee.

"The Republican party will not sell freedom short," said a statement issued by the Committee. "Its attitude has inspired the District Central Committee to take a positive stand. We are on the march. We pledge ourselves not only to work for victory for the Republican party in 1954 and 1956, but to work to insure continued sound leadership in our party and to keep our party in the forefront of all issues of importance to the American people."

Union Elects Woman Leader As Secretary

Mrs. Louise Smith, 13231 S. Avalon Blvd., has just been elected secretary of Local No. 408, Shirt Workers of America, CIO.

Mrs. Smith served as shop chairman for four years at Myron's of California, and led the organizing drive which brought the shop into the union.

At present she is employed at Duke of Hollywood, a sports-shirt manufacturer.

Mrs. Smith, formerly of New Orleans, who was educated there, at Houston and at Compton college in Los Angeles, commented in connection with the election:

"The complete organization of the clothing shops in Southern California is the major task facing our union. This will bring security and equality to all workers in the industry."

UNION CHOICE — Mrs. Louise Smith has just been elected secretary of Local No. 408 of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, CIO.

Pacht, a son of former Superior Court Judge Isaac Pacht, has resided in the 26th District since 1951. He has been urged to become a candidate by persons from all sections of the sprawling 26th District.

FEPC Officer

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has appointed a Fair Employment Officer in his Department, Val J. Washington, director of the Minorities Division, Republican National Committee, reported this week.

WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

"For four years I had constant headaches and a burning feeling in the uterus. My menstruation was very irregular and came as often as every few days. My medical doctor diagnosed the case as tumor of the uterus and said there would be no cure without an operation.

"I took the herbal remedy and within a week I discharged about twenty blood clots, each was at least the size of my fist.

"Now my headaches are gone and I do not have the burning feeling any more. I am now confident that natural herbs are better than a knife."

Ike's Taft-Hartley Plan Seen Hurting Negroes

WASHINGTON—At least one of President Eisenhower's recommendations for revision of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law "would actually increase racial discrimination," Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the NAACP, charged in testimony before the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee here this week.

Mitchell told the committee that the Association had urged revision of the act to prohibit discrimination by either employers or trade unions. The NAACP proposal, however, was not included in the President's recommendations.

Instead, he said, there was a White House recommendation that employees and employers in the construction industry be granted the right to enter into pre-hire employment contracts under terms of which "the union will be treated initially as the employees' representative for collective bargaining."

This provision would permit these groups "to sign a contract and become the legal bargaining agents before a single man went on the job, the NAACP spokesman charged.

The building trades unions, he said, "would undoubtedly follow their past practices of rigidly excluding colored people from the job or relegate them to segregated locals. No matter what the members of these organizations may say before this committee, if you do not put safeguards against discrimination into the law the colored working people will be forced to spend money in the courts to protect their rights."

Santa Monica NAACP Brings State Leaders

SANTA MONICA — Atty. Franklin Williams, head of the West Coast NAACP, Mrs. Tarea Hall Pitman, field secretary of the Northern California area, and Miss Jean Kinnes, regional office secretary, were guests of the Santa Monica branch of the association at its January meeting.

E. G. Allen, president of the branch, presided and introduced the speakers, who included Rudolph Ricard, building contractor; Mrs. W. P. Carter; Alvin Knowles; the Rev. W. P. Carter, pastor of Calvary Baptist church; Frank Barnes, head of the Legal Redress committee, and A. Capaccioli, supervisor of the Santa Monica Employment Insurance office.

Mrs. Carter gave a brief resume of the educational outlook in Santa Monica, with special emphasis on the importance of the many education programs available, and the demand for well-trained personnel.

The local employment condition was discussed by Knowles, postal employe and past P.T.A. president; and Capaccioli.

The Rev. Carter discussed juvenile delinquency, and showed how many of the existing problems could be eliminated by a better relationship among the home, youth organizations, churches and recreational centers.

Burleigh; secretary, Mrs. Vivian Toland; ass't. secretary, Mrs. Eleanor Runnells; treasurer, Leslie Miles; chaplain, Mrs. Bessie Toland; membership chairman, Mrs. Vinne Whipple; publicity chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Petherbridge; entertainment chairman, Mrs. Lesie Miles; chairman of Legal Redress Committee, Richard W. Petherbridge.

The next regular meeting was scheduled for the First Baptist Church in Imperial Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

General Warns NAACP Youth On McCarthy

WASHINGTON — In an obvious reference to Sen. Joseph McCarthy, General Telford Taylor warned delegates attending the NAACP-sponsored National Youth Legislative Conference against being stampeded by a "particularly strident senatorial voice" which "has been demanding not only a worldwide embargo on all trade with Communist countries, but also that we cut off all American aid to countries that continue to trade with Red China."

The cold war, Gen. Taylor asserted, created conditions which makes it easier for demagogues to stir up hysteria.

"The demagogue points an accusing finger of fear or hate at some individual, or institution, or idea, and all too many of us, like stampeded sheep, take up the cry that we are gravely imperiled by traitors in our schools and colleges, in our great endowed foundations, or even among our ministers of the gospel."

He said, "In such an atmosphere, the ambitious and unscrupulous politician can rise to great power, borne on the woves of hysteria."

SAN FRANCISCO — Sunday, March 28, will be "Fight for Freedom" day for the Northern California area of the NAACP, Atty. Joseph Kennedy announced this week.

West Indians Denied Work

William A. Burkett, California director of employment, last week in Sacramento declared there is "no truth" to reports he had refused to talk with four representatives of the British government regarding the sending of 500 British West Indians to Ventura county to pick lemons.

Little was known here about the plan which apparently grew out of negotiations between William Tolbert, manager of the Ventura Citrus Growers Association, and representatives of the West Indies, until Burkett's announcement.

But Burkett, apparently bedevilled by the press of thousands of Mexican workers at the border creating a near-riot situation in their eagerness to get jobs, was insistent that "California jobs" are to be for American farm workers only.

Burkett said this was at Gov. Knight's request, and added that "California will not be allowed to become a dumping ground for the unemployed of other countries."

The employment director also remarked that Mexican national farm laborers sent more than $30,000,000 back to Mexico last year.

Biased Hiring

took immediate steps to prevent its recurrence.

Owen also informed the Eagle that an order was received from Bullock's Department Store for approximately 250 students for inventory work. There was no "not wanted" clause in this request, however, and a goodly number of the students sent there, and hired, were Negroes and members of other minority groups.

Choose The Best Men

Despite their early optimism, it is apparent that the Republicans aren't going to have easy sledding in this fall's election.

There was a time when it looked as if the Democrats would be lucky if they could find candidates willing to go through the motions of running for office in November.

The change in climate is particularly attributive to the uneasy feeling that is gaining ground every day that Gov. Goodwin Knight is playing an awful lot of footsie with the reactionary wing of the Republican Party.

The governor brushed off all suggestions of tackling unemployment at the next session of the legislature on the ground that unemployment isn't a problem. He is going to have a hard time selling that kind of thinking to the many thousands of Californians who are feeling the pinch of being without a job.

More than that, some of these victims of unemployment are pretty sore at the attitude of heads of the Employment Service who seem to think that every man out of a job is little less than a common criminal.

The same reactionary pall is falling over other phases of state government and Californians who had got used to the liberalism, first of Olson, and then of Warren, are finding that they don't like what is in store for them if Governor Knight stays in Sacramento.

None of this discontent will do the Democrats any good unless they pick some first-class candidates at the forthcoming Fresno meeting and then get behind those candidates and sell them to the people.

Negroes comprise the largest bloc of potential Democratic voters. They cast 85 per cent of their ballots for Stevenson in 1952. They have given majorities to every single Democratic state-wide candidate since 1934 with one exception. That exception was a good man whom they didn't know and who didn't have the kind of a campaign that told them who he was.

Negro voters have outgrown sentimental appeals for their favor; they're not voting for the ghosts of either Abraham Lincoln or Franklin Roosevelt these days. What they want to know is what program is offered that will meet their particular problems and some assurance that the candidates who seek their votes will remember that program after election.

Attorney General Pat Brown, certain to be the Democratic choice to return to his present job, has demonstrated his fairness and the Democrats can be sure that he will prove popular with Negro voters. A strong gubernatorial candidate will strengthen his appeal and with all due respects to other candidates it seems to us that Richard Graves is the man who ought to head the state ticket.

Nail In Jim Crow's Coffin

Monday's order by Defense Secretary Wilson directing the end of racial segregation in grade schools on military reservations is another tiny nail in Jim Crow's coffin. We're sorry the nail won't be driven until 1955—the effective date of the order.

When all is said and done there aren't many of these schools and comparatively few pupils will be affected. The significance of the order lies in two facts.

The first of them is that many of these schools are located in the Deep South and some states will see their first mixed grade schools since Reconstruction. Their success may do something to prove to the calamity howlers that the world won't come to an end when all racial segregation in education is abolished.

The second significant aspect of the order is that it came by direct intervention of President Eisenhower after Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of welfare, had done her best to slow down a previous decision that envisaged the end of segregation.

Mrs. Hobby, who is a Texan, gave lip service to last year's executive order for the end of segregation but she wanted the job done at a snail's pace that would have delayed its effect for years. It took presidential action to remove the stumbling block so carefully erected by Mrs. Hobby.

Behind Mrs. Hobby's opposition bulked the weight of the die-hard Southerners who feared that elimination of segregation in military schools might have an effect on cases involving grade schools now before the Supreme Court. That the President overrode this opposition is some indication that he isn't going to let the Dixiecrats have their way.

Refuse This Re-Zoning

Property owners in the Long Beach avenue section of the city were well advised to enter vigorous protests against further encroachments of manufacturing in the so-called Central Avenue community.

Latest census figures show that there has been a decline in population in that community, partially due to the opening of other residential areas and partially due to the continued growth of business and manufacturing.

Despite the invalidation of judicial enforcement of race-restrictive covenants and the increasing ease with which Negroes can buy homes in the city at large, the fact remains that there are still many difficulties in the way of home buying by Negroes.

As long as that condition lasts Negro home owners must resist every move to worsen their neighborhoods through rezoning for commercial use.

Many of the persons who are most eager to change residential zones into commercial and manufacturing areas are the first to resist what they call "Negro invasion" of other neighborhoods.

It is unfortunate that racial factors have to enter into matters of this kind but they are the realities of our lives and must be taken into consideration.

We earnestly hope the Planning Commission will turn thumbs down on this latest request for a zone change.

History And Responsibility

Our Authors Study Club deserves unanimous support for its well-planned program for the observance of Negro History Week.

That organization has lifted the Week from a straggling, hit-and-miss affair to one of dignity and city-wide observance.

Prime purpose of the Week is to stress the contributions of Negroes to our nation.

It is unfortunate that many of these contributions have been buried. There are all too many Americans who still think of the Negro as an inferior group that has done nothing to make America great and strong.

There will come a time when we won't need Negro History Week, or Negro newspapers for that matter. That day will come when the last vestige of prejudice and discrimination has been wiped out.

Observance of Negro History Week is one way to hasten that good day and until it arrives it is proper that we set aside one week each year to remind ourselves and all other Americans of both our contributions and our duty to America.

Let's Register—And Vote

Latest figures by the Registrar of Voters show an alarming drop in the number of voters.

There are still other thousands of voters, a great many of them Negroes, who haven't been dropped from the voters' rolls for the simple reason that they've never even registered.

Registration is opening again and we think that all community organizations ought to put in together and launch a registration drive that will put every possible voter on the lists.

Many Negroes who have come to Los Angeles from the South don't know how simple and easy it is to vote here in California. They need to be told that story.

All of us, Republicans and Democrats alike, can unite on this program. Let's get together in this community and make our registration the highest in history.

The Big Sea

By Lester Bailey

Back in the hometown this week, I had the occasion to ride a local cab across the city, and during the ride struck up a conversation with the driver. It was heartening to hear him speak with conviction about the problems confronting West Coast Negroes. He is a regular reader of the weekly papers and periodicals written about and mostly for this minority. His subject matter was current and accurate, and he is articulate.

Lester Bailey

At first I did not identify myself as a paid worker for the NAACP. Therefore, our discussion proceeded with no awe on his part for a "professional."

"Don't Buy" List

We agreed completely on the premise that we should not spend our dollars where we cannot work! To initiate community-wide support for a project to implement the boycott against discriminatory business concerns, the cab driver suggested that a "Don't Buy" list be compiled and printed each week in the Negro press.

In his opinion, the "Don't Buy" list should concern itself with but one category of business at a time. Inasmuch as local department stores, the Broadway Department Store a case in point, are under attack, we agreed that this level of enterprise is an area in which to launch the boycott.

Maybe Two Lists

Any department store could remove its name from the "Don't Buy" list by adopting (immediately) a policy and practice of fair employment. Perhaps we could run two lists in the newspapers: One, a "Fair Employment" list, and two, a "Don't Buy" list. A department store could move its name from one list to the other at the management's discretion.

"Window-dressing" was discussed as a danger to watch. This was described to me as the token employment of one or two Negroes in key positions, to the exclusion of employment at other levels in other departments. Many a project in the employment field has been compromised by such tactics on the part of management and through the willingness of leadership to accept a "half-loaf."

Dangerous Tactic

Another danger to the successful boycott is brought about through strategic moves on the part of management to alienate active leadership from the community and to use one segment of leadership against another to thwart the project.

The Urban League and the NAACP will have to remain constantly on guard to prevent having one organization played against the other. The fact that these two important organizations have different methods of approach for solving generally the same problems will be seized upon by management once the battle lines are tightly drawn.

Hold the Line

The counter-propaganda of department store management will seek to make use of every element in the community. The Negro press, where the word-battle will be fought, must not let its editorial policy be affected by the fat (temporary) advertisement channeled to it and designed to cut off the lines of communication and stymie opinion and expression. Leadership in labor unions, the churches and civic organizations will have to sew up their ears and pockets to attempted bribery.

If the press and the leadership will hold the line, even when it seems to waver at points; and if even one-half of the community will lend its moral and physical support to the boycott, success will be ours.

Battleaxe and Bread

President Eisenhower's housing message to Congress last week was a shining example of the fact that "any reasonable plan that has a chance of going through is the best plan in most cases."

There is a great deal of theorizing over what to do about our national housing problem, but the truth is that no theories are worth a hoot that are not put into operation, and almost any plan that gets housing built for people who need it is better than "better" plans that don't.

Lester Granger

So far as the special interests of Negro Americans are concerned, the President did a pretty good job in his message. He didn't announce the millenium in housing, and at one or two points he asked from Congress much less than Negro home-seekers need, but he turned the spotlight on the special problems faced by the brown brother with more direct intensity than has been provided in many a year.

Will Congress Act?

If the White House can actually deliver what it has ordered from Congress, a large part of the Negro's special housing problem can be disposed of. The big question, of course, is whether Congress will produce as asked—and the answer to that is up to the voters even more than the White House.

Obviously, it's time for the Negro voter to start writing letters.

The President was "frank and honest" in admitting that "members" of minority groups, (meaning Negroes, of course) regardless of their income or their economic status, have had the least opportunity of all our citizens to acquire good homes."

He promised that the administrative policies of the various federal housing agencies "will be materially strengthened and augmented in order to assure equal opportunity for all of our citizens to acquire, within their means, good and well-located homes."

Dynamite

The President went on to pledge that Negro families displaced by urban redevelopment operations will "have a fair opportunity to acquire adequate housing" and that the Administration will "prevent the dislocation of such families through the misuse of slum clearance programs."

Those may seem mild-sounding words to the casual reader, but actually there's dynamite in them—if their full meaning is applied. And it's up to the public that's really interested in that meaning to see that it is applied, fully.

Where To Go?

St. Louis, for instance, is right now in the throes of a bitter community controversy over "the misuse" of slum clearance. An urban redevelopment program now under way has swept and is continuing to sweep thousands of Negro St. Louisans from the center of the city to make way for towering apartment and office buildings.

Not a moment has been given by the planners to thinking about relocation of the displaced Negro families. Under the Eisenhower promise, this could not happen within the area of federal responsibility.

Open Scandal

It's an open scandal that nine out of ten (and more) mortgage companies will refuse to grant a mortgage on Negro-owned or purchased property unless special inducements are offered. And most mortgage companies will refuse to underwrite a Negro purchase in any neighborhood not already labelled "colored."

The full meaning of the Eisenhower proposal is that the federal government will find some way to make loans available to "members of minority groups," if private finance falls down on its responsibility.

Put these two changes together, and we'll find that the future of Negro housing has been drastically altered, for the better.

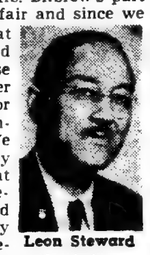
Act Fast

"But maybe the President didn't mean it that way," some might object. Well, maybe he didn't and maybe he did. The best way for us to make certain that his real meaning was in our favor is for us to go to work on the proposition ourselves, without waiting for some one else's interpretation.

The first step is to get a copy of the message and study it—in our organizations and in informal groups. The next step is to formalize our agreement on what we want the message to mean.

And then it's a matter of getting in touch with our Congressmen and Senators, to make sure that they know that we know what we want—and that we intend to get it. That's the way the real estate lobby does things; and that's the reason the real estate boys have so often gotten what they want—because they know earlier and act faster and with more determination.

KILLING THE GOOSE!



One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

MME. A. C. BILBREW IN ACTION

As a lady said to us recently: "When A. C. Bilbrew really goes into action the feathers fly." Well, with what she is doing for this great Negro History Week program, we advise that you look out for the feathers.

Last week we promised to tell more about Mrs. Bilbrew's part in this big affair and since we are sure that she has read that promise we had better not "welch" for fear of the consequences. We did not say very much at that time because we did not know very much. But believe us, we have the information now and, without further ado, we shall present it.

Leon Steward

Dawn Of A New Day

Mrs. Bilbrew relates that she composed the "Dawn of a New Day" at the request of friends in Philadelphia and they aided her in some of the research. The "Dawn of a New Day" was put on first in 1951 at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia, and was a sellout at top prices.

When it appears next Friday night at Independent Church, 18th and Paloma Sts., as part of Negro History Week, there will be no admission since it will be a glorified lesson drawn from the struggles and achievements of the Negro over a period of 88 years. It will present some of the best acting and singing personalities among us as well as a trained choir of 100 voices.

Personalities

Among the persons taking part in this extravaganza are Bromberg, the noted TV actor who is impersonating John Brown of Harper's Ferry fame; Frank Allard, a very distant relative of Abe Lincoln, who will impersonate the emancipator; Crispus Attucks, the Negro whom we claim was first to fall in battle for this country, will be portrayed by William Goward, a high ranker of Egyptian Temple No. 5.

During the second scene, "The Gay Nineties" will feature Margaret Davie as Black Patti. Ralph Billingsley will represent Roland Hayes. The Old Barber Shop quarette will be another feature.

In scene three Gertrude Brown of New York Town and Carnegie Hall fame, Buel Thomas, who is plenty good enough for us, Yolanda Gonzales, Ella Lee and Donella Mabry will sing arias from Madam Butterfly and La Boheme.

These are just a few of the many who will take part in this unusually well worked-out pageant. If our advice is worth taking, please join us in seeing the project in which Mrs. Bilbrew is making the feathers fly with a vengeance.

Dr. Wesley at U.S.C.

Be sure to join us also in seeing the opening program of Negro History Week at Bovard Hall on USC campus Sunday at 3 o'clock. Dr. Charles H. Wesley, the principal speaker, should know something that we do not know about Negro history. Is he not the president of the National Association for the Study of Negro Life and History? He is also a college president. He is sure to come to California with a message.

A reception will be held for him after the meeting at the USC Young Women's Christian Association building.

Youth Meet

Besides the youth evening meeting referred to last week, we find that Brice Taylor has worked up some "skull" sessions for youth at the YWCA on the USC campus beginning promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning, Saturday. His list of a committee which worked with him reflects a good bit of "know how." One evidence is the fact that the youths, high school and college, will be permitted to choose their own leader of discussion in their respective discussion units.

The subject is something about effectuating integration in politics, church, social situations, school and such. That ought to be lots of fun for the youngsters with a bit of gumption. Well, it seems that the Negro History planners have left no one out. Monday night is Art Night and Tuesday night John Gray and a committee of musicians have worked out a unique "Music Night." "Youth Night" will be at Polytechnic High School and will consist of original orations on Negro achievements and the crowning of Miss Negro History Week. That is the Wednesday night affair, with "Business and Professional" night Thursday at the Golden State Life Insurance Building.

How can you miss?

Police-Eye View

By Sgt. Tom Bradley

BROTHERHOOD IN ACTION

A police officer is many things to many people; to a lost and frightened child he is a saviour and to the parents a hero, to the traffic violator he is a frightening ogre in blue, and to the bewildered soul who needs help and seems to have no other haven, the policeman is usually the one to whom he turns for help.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

Last Wednesday was a typical day in the lives of a bunch of average policemen at Hollywood Division . . . they had their usual share of "See the woman—investigate the trouble'" calls and they had been handled routinely and without any particular excitement.

It was 4:30 p.m. and they were about to wind up their tour of duty completely unaware of the tense drama unfolding at Children's Hospital, a few miles from Hollywood station.

Desperate

At that very moment little five-year-old Michael White, who lives at 8629½ Beach street, lay almost motionless in his hospital bed. Michael is a hemophilia victim who has been bleeding uncontrollably for three weeks. The hospital had exhausted its list of blood donors and they desperately needed fresh "0" positive blood. Michael couldn't live more than two hours without it. They could not use blood which had been stored in a blood bank.

The hospital was desperate . . . they had tried every possible source and were up against a stone wall. Again, as in so many cases when people can think of no other help, no matter what the problem, they turn in desperation to the police department . . . and almost as often as they are called upon, the boys in blue rise to the occasion.

Quick Response

In quick response, four officers from Hollywood Division

Ward Chapel To Celebrate 3rd Birthday

Dr. Fred E. Stephens, pastor of Ward A.M.E. Church, announces the annual celebration of the founding of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the observance of the third year of Ward in its present location on West 25th Street. The Founders Celebration and Third Anniversary Dinner will be held on Friday, (Feb. 12), in spacious Fellowship Hall of the church, 1177 West 25th Street. The call to dinner is set for 8 p.m. The theme for the occasion will be the great historical events and famous birth dates in the month of February.

It was 167 years ago in the year 1787, just 11 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, that Richard Allen founded the movement now known as the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia. In 1816 in the same city Richard Allen was chosen as the first Bishop of the infant group which today is one of the largest and most influential Christian organizations in the world.

Only three (3) years ago Ward Chapel changed its name to Ward A.M.E. Church and moved into the magnificent church plant it now occupies, this also in the month of February. Among scheduled speakers will be Walter L. Gordon, Jr., and Vince Monroe Townsend, Jr. Reservations for this affair can be had by contacting any officer of the church or calling the church office at RIchmond 8-9755 or RIchmond 7-1367.

Victory Choir Will Sing at Bowen Church

Rev. Atlas A. Peters will conduct the services and his Victory Baptist Church choir will appear at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church next Wednesday, Feb. 10, at 8:00 p.m.

The program is being presented by the Young Adults of Bowen as the finale of the services commemorating the reopening of the church. Bowen was closed over a month while being extensively remodeled inside and out.

Rev. Peters, who is an inspiring speaker, and the 140-voice choir, led by Thurston Frazier, are noted on radio and television. Their Sunday evening television program is rated No. 1 for church presentations locally.

Bowen is located at East 36th and Trinity Street. Mrs. Mary Glenn is president of the Young Adults. Chester Lee and James Ayo are co-chairmen of the program. The Rev. John C. Bain is minister of Bowen.

Ministers Group To Visit Church

Inaugurating a newly established policy of visiting and encouraging the congregations of member ministers, the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, of which Rev. G. L. Hays is president, will hold a service at the Institutional Baptist Church, 5624 South Main Street, on Friday night. The president will preach, and the choir of his church, Hays Tabernacle, of South Central Ave., will sing.

Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, chairman of the Program Committee, will be master of ceremonies for the occasion.

First Church Opens Sun. School Drive

February, the birth-month of Richard Allen, founder of the A.M.E. Church, has been designated Attend Sunday School month at First A.M.E. Church, Eighth and Towne.

The goal for the drive is to have every member of the church attend Sunday School during the month of February, according to Jesse H. Sterling, superintendent. Special devotionals and spirited class discussions have been planned for every department. Programs to commemorate the birthday of Richard Allen will be featured on Feb. 14.

Sunday School at Eighth and Towne opens at 9:15 a.m. each Sunday morning. Departmental superintendents in charge are Mrs. C. Harris, Cradle Roll; Mrs. Sallie Heath, Beginners; Miss Lavonia Scott, Primary; Mrs. Mary Person, Junior; Mrs. Grace Jackson, Intermediate; Miss Cordova Adkins, Senior. William Perry and Miss Barbara Bradley are assistant superintendents in charge of the adult and young people's departments respectively. All teachers and officers of the Sunday School are assisting in the attendance drive. Rev. Alvia A. Shaw is the minister at First A.M.E. Church.

Candle Light Service Slated At Hamilton

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Hamilton Methodist Church will have its annual Vesper Service, Sunday, Feb. 14, at 7:15 p.m., in the church auditorium. The theme of the service is "If every one lights just one little candle, what a bright world this would be." Each organization of the church has been asked to participate in the Candlelight Service as a symbol of God's presence, of life and light, and the passing of light to others.

The guild will present Mrs. Cora Jordan of Friendship Home, in a skit, "The Sower Went Forth," and Mrs. Maxine B. Scott in a solo, "I Believe." The entire service promises to be of spiritual inspiration. The public is cordially invited.

Reed School Classes Open

Inclement weather did not deter the Mid-Term Commencement of the Reed College of Religion and the exercises were very splendidly attended. The Rev. Roy Williams delivered the Commencement address. Thirty course cards, ten certificates of progress and six certificates of advancement were issued. The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon Rev. James B Carter.

The second semester of the school began January 26 and registration will be received until February 11. The school is located at 9309 S San Pedro Street. Dr. Granville W. Reed is president.

Club Women Hold Meet In Monrovia

Reciprocity meeting was held at Monrovia's Second Baptist Church, of which Rev. G. G. Bailey is pastor, last Sunday. Women from the Federated Clubs throughout the city attended the affair under the administration of Mrs. Ida Mae Robertson, third vice-president.

Mrs. Peggy Ann Grandy, the chairwoman, turned the program over to Miss Betty Ann Brown, of Monrovia, who was the chairwoman of the youth program for the afternoon. The junior choir furnished inspirational singing under the direction of Arthur Lee. Miss Janie Lockett co-ordinated the entire program.

The state chaplain, Dr. Mable L. Oliver, donated a love token to the junior choir. The Ammes H. Jones Club gave a public reception for all visitors.

Mrs. Bilbrew Is Music Director Of Hamilton Church Choir

Mrs. A. C. Harris Bilbrew becomes the Director of Music at Hamilton Methodist Church, 1376 E. 18th St., beginning Sunday, February 7. Mrs. Bilbrew's primary task will be centered around developing our Senior Choir into one of the finest singing groups in the nation. The pastor, officers and members are confident that Mrs. Bilbrew can do this since, last year, in less than 4 weeks, she developed the finest Women's Choir at Hamilton that their Women's Day program ever had witnessed.

As early as 1935, Mrs. Bilbrew directed the Senior Choir at Phillips Chapel, won the coveted victory over the great 90-voice First Methodist Choir in a contest. The Bilbrew group was ahead of the entire field by nine points.

For seven years, Mrs. Bilbrew directed the Radio Choir of the People's Independent Church and gathered unto herself and the choir national fame. While in the east, she organized and directed the Bilbrew Choir of 100 voices which took the East coast from Florida to Maine.

Having just finished 14 months of directing the Avalon Christian Church A Capella Choir, Mrs. Bilbrew continues her work of music and drama in a large field. The daughter of the late Rev. S. L. Harris, during whose administration the first Colored Methodist Church in Los Angeles was built, Mrs. Bilbrew keeps alive the enthusiasm for service, as did her father. She makes God real in the lives of multitudes through the medium of music and we anticipate a new musical worship era at Hamilton.

Santa Monica Bible Class 12 Years Old

Organized 12 years ago by E. G. Allen, the Men's Bible class at Santa Monica's Calvary Baptist church has consistently led all Sunday school classes at the church ever since its founding.

It is taught by the pastor, the Rev. W. R. Carter, and is popularly known as "E. G. Allen's Class" in honor of the founder and because of his faithful attendance and work with it.

The class has responded to many pleas from residents of the community for assistance and has done almost everything from finding homes to aiding the ill and distressed. The class consists of 60 men.

Knights Council At St. Odilias

The combined councils courts of the Knights of Peter Claver held its Fifth Sunday turnout last week at St. Odilias Parish. Breakfast followed in the church hall, with Council 87 in the role of host. Acting as Master of Ceremonies was Herman Faulk, who introduced guest speakers including special deputy, James Gibson and Dr. C. P. Dapermont, a Knight recently returned from service in Korea and now residing in Los Angeles. Father Patrick Shine installed the newly elected officers of the court and council and officers of the intercouncil coordinating council. A gigantic membership drive is planned. Initiation is set for about May 29.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles
Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Charles Neal Looking for Good Year With Tex. Club

By EDW. "ABIE" ROBINSON

Charles (Chuck) Neal, 22-year-old batting sensation for the Amarillo Gold Sox of the West Texas-New Mexico league during 1953, is preparing for his second year with the club.

The young right-hand hitting star became the first Negro to play in the West Texas league. He was purchased from the Wenatchee club in Washington last April and joined the Texas club a month later. The Amarillo baseball fans went wild over the 195 pound first-baseman. Neal was a big hit from the first game until the season closed.

In the first game he broke up the game with a tremendous home run to give his team a 3 to 1 victory. He was the team's second highest hitter with an average of .327, and batted in 18 home runs. He was fourth in the league standing for doubles with a total of 42 and had 80 RBI's.

Neal is currently working out every Sunday as a member of the L.A. Allstars which just won the annual Sawtelle baseball tourney. He is a graduate of Manual Arts where he was a 3-year-letterman in baseball and is the son of Herbert Neal, veteran postal carrier.

Neal is counting on returning to the Texas loop but expressed a desire to play Coast League ball in order to be closer to home.

Neal told this writer that the fans as well as the team treated him exceptionally well as a member of the West Texas club and that he would like to rejoin the club if he's not called to the majors.

Jackie Robinson Guest at Howard Athletic Banquet

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Jackie Robinson, star infielder-outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodger of the National Baseball League, was guest speaker at annual Howard University Awards Banquet held at the University's Baldwin Hall Tuesday.

The banquet honored 62 Howard athletes who competed in varsity sports during the fall of 1953 and other speakers on the program included Dr. J. St. Clair Price, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and chairman of the Board of Athletic oCntrol at Howard; Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of the University; and Mr. James T. Chambers, acting director of athletics.

Three of Howard's 10 varsity teams were honored at the banquet. They are the football, soccer, and cross-country teams. Twenty-four awards went to members of the football team which finished its season with a record of three wins, five losses, and one ties. The entire 30-man soccer squad, which went through the 1953 season undefeated, although tied by Queens College, received awards; while eight members of the cross-country team were honored. The cross-country team had a one and three record last year.

The Cosmopolitan Golf Club held its annual installation and presentation dinner Saturday in the Coral Room at Rancho Country Club, with the Cosmo Auxiliary and other golf notables as honored guests.

The program opened with President J. Cullen Fentress introducing Lillian Fentress, president of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Fentress responded with a brief but sincere appreciation speech following which she in turn introduced the members of the Auxiliary to the group.

Don Walker, president emeritus of Cosmo, was introduced and he expressed his satisfaction for the progress the club had made under the succeeding regime.

The Scotch Foursome Tourney Trophies were presented. The winners were the teams of Willie Rayson and Dorcas Riley first; Carolyn Cain and James Eggleston second. Oscar Walker and James Lee received the third place "Emmys."

James Eggleston also received the award for the most improved golfer. Eggleston, who has been a faithful contestant, has shown marked improvement over the past 12 months and rarely is above 85.

The inaugural presentation of the Vice-President's Trophy was made to A. "Shoeless Joe" Jaco, who defeated Clif Walker, Alonzo Permerton, Autrey Jones, Bob Williams and Oscar Moore.

Ed Shaw waded through five opponents also to achieve the President's Cup Award. This is symbolic of the Club Championship. In spite of the fact that Shaw met and defeated such golfers as Al McDaniel, Arch Hairston and Chester Carson. His toughest opponent was Jack Shepherd, who carried him to the final hole before succumbing to the Shaw's doggedness.

Geo. Heap, vice-president of the Southern California Public Golf Assn., was introduced and his stirring and very encouraging remarks stressed importance of developing and training of youth to carry on the golfing wars in the future, and the coalition of groups to carry our own load in our quest for a U.S.G.A. berth.

Heap commended the steps already taken by the Western States golfers, who have organized and are on the way to becoming a potent factor in golfing legislation of our nation.

Mr. Heap then installed the following officers: J. Cullen Fentress, president; Arch Hairston, vice-president; W. P. "Bill" Crayton, secretary; Frank Adams, treasurer; Threon Kirk, financial secretary, and Lionel Kelley, corresponding secretary, and Lonnie Eberhardt as parliamentarian.

Other prominent guests who were in attendance included Mrs. Mae Crowder, president, Vernondale Golf Club; Mrs. Mary Woodyard, Vernondale advisor, and Mrs. Percy Mae Thompson, ardent golf fan.

Bowling News

High tension prevails at the Studio Bowl as the Sunset Bowling League moves into the final rounds of the current season. Pressure is being applied and the high game sturdy bowlers are weakening.

After leading the league for three straight weeks Ted's Service team suffered its worst set back of the season. The Brown Motors, led by Ace Tony Mbore applied the juice with a brilliant 211-180-163 games for a 544 series. They had litle trouble in taking all three games and dropping the powerful leaders into second place.

Central Bar-B-Que moved into the leadership after beating Garrett Enterprise three games. Al Griffin's 180 game for a 544 series along with Ed McFalls 204-200 games helped the Lee Hi Hat to hang onto third spot by narrow edge. Kenneth Morris' efforts went all in vain as he attempted to bring his team up a notch. His sensational 182-179-212 for the week's high series was 573. But his team is still resting in sixth spot. Sav-Way-Tvers fell heir to a three game win by virtue of a forfeit from the King Pins.

Lil Broussard's sister and husband were due from Dallas Mon. but didn't make it, Lil went down her list, promptly summoned four couples to do planned justice to her Texas barbeque and 5-to-1 martinis. The ruckus was righteous.

In fact we carried on. I won't vouch for Lil's neighbors but others of us are sure ours aren't speaking to us now at all. Before they did manage a nod now and then. Seems like I don't always whisper good night! Especially at 5 a.m. Ah, well.

BRIDGE POINTERS

—By—

'Kenny' Scott

Under the Point Count System, an Ace has a value of four points, a king three points, a queen two points and a jack one point.

In order to have an opening suit bid, a hand must contain at least 13 points with a biddable suite. A biddable suit is at least a four card suit headed by the queen or one higher honor.

If a hand contains 16 to 19 points it may be opened with one no trump provided that its distribution is 4-3-3-3, 4-4-3-2, or 5-3-3-2. Any other distribution is considered unbalanced and the long suit should be bid first rather than no trump.

An opening suit two bid may be made with 22 or more points provided that the hand contains nine winners in a major suit or ten in a minor. This shows a very strong hand and forces partner to bid until game is reached.

Some examples are as follows:

1. S. Q 10 x x; H. A x x; D. K Q x; C. Q x x. This hand contains 13 points. Bid one spade.

2. S. K Q x; H. A Q x x; D. Q x x; C. K J x. This hand contains 17 points. Bid one no trump.

3. S. A K Q x x; H. A K x; D. A Q x x; C. x. This hand contains 22 points in high cards and two points in distribution. Bid two spades.

4. S. A K x x; H. A K x x; D. x; C. A K x x. This hand contains 21 points in high cards and two points in distributional values. However, the playing strength is very limited, so the correct bid is one club.

Remember that classes are being given weekly at the YWCA Tuesday evenings at 7:30. The students are using the new, simplified method, which demonstrates play by play, and brings out all hand patterns.

HOUND'S FEARLESS FORECAST

There will be no Interfrat Basketball series this spring . . .

Florence Smith, New York Thespian, will receive a top movie contract within the month.

Dansational Donna Rae Brown will replace a top dancer now appearing in the Oasis' "sugar hill review."

Mack Marrow and Shirly Johnson who are on this week's split up list will be back making "woomance" before a fortnight.

The people who don't wear "pajama Tops" to the Delta Pyramids dance Saturday night will receive more than a shock.

"Dance Master," Lon Fontaine will receive his big break sooner than the "beige crowd" thinks.

The westside wino who won the fight but lost his girl at the Hut the other evening is resting his heels at the city's expense . . . we predict he will "sap up" on her pate as soon as he is released.

WHAT IN THE WORLD DEPARTMENT

A formerly happy couple crossed the burning sands to matrimony this week . . . Long time friends, Barbara Garrott and George Lewis did things up in a quiet ceremony that had old time friends (old swains, etc.) crying in their soups . . . congratulations, kids.

Local lovers should have been ashamed to let prettys Billy Abner and her sister Cherry pay for their own lunch . . . we saw them polish off a salad and then pick up the tab . . . as we backed out of the door.

'Tis rumored that Bette Norman (who is now attending Fisk) is no longer romantically attached.

MAKING THE ROUNDS WITH THE HOUNDS

PIGALLE . . . Joe Adams' thriving business venture can't help but be the greatest thing on the scene with nightly talent, including Slappy White and Rudy Render.

Art Wong's California club is indeed the spot to enjoy really "down sounds" on Monday nights . . . if you make it you won't be disappointed.

The Pastel Room features some nice PROGRESSIVE sounds also . . .

Billy Nesbit's Pico-Dilly is the most intimate club in town, and "we ain't just-a-shuckin."

CARVER JR. HIGH PTA HOLDS MEET

People and Places

JOE ADAMS, west coast top record spinner and a guy who can be as gracious with words as a young debutante at her first coming out party, turned on the press with a pawtee, at the Pigalle the other eve! Joe the host introduced his week's new musical attraction, featuring Rudy (Sneaking Around) Render on the 88s and Laugh Riot Slappy White. Render may be drawing down the big paycheck but White is bringing the house down with slapstick comedy. It's a great bill at the Pigalle! Leory Baskerville is club manager and Chuck Jackson provides the crazy cocktails!

CRENSHAW DISTRICT: Residents in this area are up in arms over the methods certain W. Adams street real estate operators are using to rouse the ofay home owners out of their property so they can double up the price and sell to some poor unsuspecting Negro. A movement is afoot by several home owners, including Negroes, to bring this vicious practice to the attention of the Real Estate Commission!

SARAH VAUGHAN, divine princess of songs is packing 'em to the rafters at the Tiffany. She is the sweetest thing to hit town since strawberry short-cake. Her $1500 bejeweled and mink gown completely dazzled the crowd on opening and her songs put them in rapturous delight! We dig her the most!

WINI ORR, busy society damsel, isn't worried about rumors that have her linked with Sherman Jones because she is certainly finding pleasure in the company of Rice Richard, the big butter and sausage man for the Clear Brook Company! This easily could be!

MILOMO is featuring the terrific piano styling of Hiliard Patterson and Tricky Davis, the dapper host is greeting a lively gathering nightly. Understand bartender Bob Keith was given a two week notice. If true Louis Spaghetti may handle the terrific night business.

VON WINSTON WERTZ is telling close friends that it won't be long now for the new arrival. Which has caused his pretty wifie no end of ils. So we are predicting a boy for the Wertz's.

PERRY WILLIAMS, causing that traffic jam in front of the Pico Dilly. They are digging the noted piano virtuso no end.

HELEN PORTER, the slender, willowy brownskin breezed into town the other a.m. after a Eastern trek, where she upset the male populace in every city she visited!

DON BROWN, Courier's feature writer, will use the Town Club for his lavish wedding this month with movie star Linda Darnell acting as matron of honor!

BLACKMAIL: A well-known San Francisco figure is said to be walking around the Fillmore district with photostatic copy of an old police record of a top official in the Elks! He offered one newsman $500 to print same but was turned down because it's too hot to handle!

PHILIP LIEBMANN, the youthful 38-year-old president of the Rheingold Beer Company, which bought out Acme Brewery for 15 million bucks boasts a payroll that includes 30 percent Negroes. Two years ago in New York their annual Miss Rheingold was a pretty brownskin! The young president is a member of the Urban League and a life member of the N.A.A.C.P. The company's integration policy is easily ten years ahead of any beer company in the country!

JIMMY HAILEY isn't a boy. She's one of the cutest coffee-cream brownskins to come out of Denver, Colo. She's busy turning out crazy, modern, custom lamps from a downtown factory plus raising her young son!

GILBERT ROMERO, who paints the big white lines on our city streets, won't be eating in cafes anymore. He got himself married last week. When Gilbert isn't slopping paint around you'll find him at Paul's Liquor store at 103rd and Avalon. Drop in and tell him about the beauty of being hitched! Or the bruises!

"EX-BOXER." Tino Wilson, who thrilled thousands of Olympic boxing fans joined with Taffy Casey and formed a westside Recreation Club. Drop in and give them a play!

CLINTON WILLIAMS, despender of the spirits at the club Capri and Cleo Coleman are two good reasons for stopping in. We can't say the same for Carl Gipson whose operations is of the petty variety!

BOB BARBER, who inspired Helen Humes to wax Hay-Ba-Ba-Reba, a few years back, is in the chips again. He's sporting a classy Victoria Ford and greeting friends from behind the bar at the Broadway club!

MIXMASTERS MEET

WILLARD FERRIER, Director of California Cocktail Mixing Contest, which takes place at the Cosmopolitan Hotel Feb. 11, reflexes a surprised expression when Herman (Mr. Roses) Bruce informed him that Four Roses is America's finest bouquet and certainly is considered one of the best bases for most any type of drinks. The contest is expected to draw many of the city's outstanding mix-masters as well a ditinguished guests.

Buddy Collette, Local Product, Great Musician

In every sense of the word musician Buddy Collette is one of the best advertisements for the honored term. He plays equally well on alto sax, clarinet, or flute. And besides his warmness with a horn, he's pretty "cool" as an arranger. His ability to go from Bop to Bach and back again has made him a musician's musician.

His musical conquests have been many. To enumerate some, he was the first Negro to land a full-time berth on a national Negro network. He has been on Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life" show for three years and a half. He is the featured alto soloist on wax with Jerry Fielding's great orchestra. Their current offerings include Kinkajou, Faintly Reminiscent, It's April, and Cheerful Little Earfull (where he shows up on tenor).

With his flute he has made experimental Latin sides with Gaucho, the drummer, and the results have been very gratifying. Collette has been featured on "Evening On The Roof" concert series which were taped for release on KFAC, the symphonic music station of the southland. His Mozart flute concerto on this venture brought many kudos from the critics.

Formerly, he was with the Benny Carter and Louis Jordan aggregations as a sideman, but he has now come into his own.

As a giant of jazz, he can curently be heard (in the flesh) on the Sunday afternoon sessions at the Pastel Room. And he blends in nightly with John Anderson's crew currently appearing with the "Sugar Hill" review at Club Oasis.

Chess Club Slates Newcomers Tourney

The Cosmopolitan Chess Club is sparking its spring recruitment drive by staging a Newcomers Tournament. Play will get under way Feb. 10 at 8 o'clock, at the club's well-equipped quarters at 2180 W. Adams Blvd., and will continue weekly thereafter for six weeks. Entry fee in the tourney is $1.00, with cash prizes for winners.

Nationally known as an interracial group, the Cosmo Club offers a lively, year-round program for all interested in the Royal Game. Team matches with other chess clubs in the county, summer and fall tournaments, rapid transit tourneys once a month, and free instruction to beginners are among the benefits secured by members.

Marian Anderson Appearing At Philharmonic Auditorium Saturday Evening, Feb. 13th

Two outstanding vocal artists will return to Philharmonic Auditorium this month to give what music enthusiasts throughout this area are already proclaiming to be the finest song recitals of the year.

First of the artists on the February lineup for the Community Civic Music Association will be George London, bass baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, on Tuesday night, February 9.

Popular Favorites

The distinguished American contralto, Marian Anderson, will sing Saturday evening, February 13.

George London comes to Los Angeles after distinctive successes in the music capitals of Europe where, as the leading bass baritone of the Vienna Opera, he brought renown to American artistry at the very citadels of music culture. His remarkable successes were repeated in the famed La Scala Opera House of Milan, and at the Bayreuth and Salzburg festivals.

International Flavor

Critics from Los Angeles to Vienna have hailed his vocal prowess as possessing a "brilliant voice from top to bottom with a beautiful warmth in the middle register . . . and a deep inward authority of one naturally endowed with temperament, feeling and taste."

Marian Anderson's recital will again bring to local music lovers the rich warm voice of this internationally renowned contraltor in a delightful program of Bach, Schubert, Schumann, Strauss, Faure and, of course, her beloved Negro spirituals.

Proficient Presentation

The two recitals of George London and Marian Anderson will bring to a close the current series of the Community Civic Music Association.

The Ballet Theatre engagement of seven performances, beginning February 22, will be a special event for the season.

Tickets for all events are now available at the Philharmonic Auditorium box office.

Sarah the 'Most' Rates Big Toast At Club Tiffany

"The Divine One," Sarah Vaughan, returned to the West Coast for the first time in three years and opened with a smash at Jack Tucker's Tiffany Club, Eighth near Normandy, Friday night, offering five shows to capacity houses.

Sinsational

Lines waiting to get into the West Coast's favorite jazz bistro attested to the tremendous following the nation's leading song stylist has maintained despite her long absence. One of the top recording artists, The Vaughan has recently switched from the Columbia label to Mercury and her first two sides, "Easy Come, Easy Go Lover" and "And This Is My Beloved," were released this week.

"Swoon" Tunesmith

Sarah Vaughan's fabulous range and her inimitable "bent notes" are richly brought out by her accompaniment by her own trio which she brought along from the East, composed of John Malachi at piano, Joe Benjamin at bass and Roy Haynes on drums. Her generous repertoire runs the gamut from such all time favorites as her classic "Summertime" and "Tenderly" on to such typical "Vaughan-isms" as "Perdido," "Nearness of You" and "I Cried For You" and including her recent record hits, "Time" and "Easy Come, Easy Go Lover."

"Ripper's" Top Skipper

Sarah's engagement at the Eighth Street nightery, the only one scheduled in Los Angeles, is set for two weeks and Jack "The Ripper" Tucker is beaming at the prospects of bulging walls for the entire time.

Lawrence Stone Promising Star Amid Vocalists

Tin Pan Alley has become suddenly aware of an up and coming song plugger named Lawrence Stone. He's a young man in a hurry, who has a way with a tune, whether it's a blues or a ballad.

Locals first got an earfull and an eyefull of the diminutive songster when he appeared on the recent "Sepia Spotlight" TV series conducted by Roy Glenn. Larry is rushing toward the upper crust of the theatrical whirl, and he goes prepared with a voice that spells out BIGTIME in big bold letters.

His recent engagement at the Club Pigalle started after-darkers to talking in their sleep and their waking hours about, his distinctive vocal quality. He has etched two songs for Modern Records. They are "Please Remember Me" and "I'll Surrender Anytime."

It was at the Club Pigalle that soaring Sarah Vaughan had a chance to hear the lad warble. She agreed with others that Larry is a "new find" and a best bet for stardom.

BETWEEN THE ACTS!

The divine Sarah Vaughan. Looking real slick, continental, and cute with her new close-cropped locks. Hanging up the SRO sign at Jack Tucker's Tiffany lounge . . . The Nicholas Brothers, of dance fame, back in the area, after a successful tour in far away places. Jamaica was their last stop over! . . . Debonair Donnell Brown, Courier scribbler, confiding in a "stage whisper" his marriage plans to a lady with a French-sounding name. It's Le Segne, we believe. She's actress Linda Darnell's secretary, and Linda will be matron of honor. Mail from Jet-propelled Major Robinson explaining why he didn't make the trip to the coast. The praise agent's booming business forbid the jaunt! . . . Lon Fontaine's housewarming at the new number on West Arlington. A spaghetti pot was served with all the proper seasonings, and Ballantine's scotch was the order of the night. Item: The Fontaine dancers may go to Australia with the Olson and Johnson show . . . Dancers Donna Rae Brown and Harriet "Dee Dee" Young were at the party. We were saddened to learn that Dee Dee lost her baby! . . . Tiffany tapestry: Carrolle Drake, the statuesque lovely who is the Vibrato's current love sitting quietly (without Mr. B.) soaking in the vocallure of Vaughan-der-ful Sassy! . . .

NOW HEAR THIS!

Since there was so much fuss in order to lift Hollywood's movie censorship code, talent scouts may like to know that some of the most torrid love scenes in the movies are carried on by the "honey browns" in the balcony. Sign up more of the sepia folks, and not only will wide screens sizzle, but your boxoffice will bounce!

RINGSIDERS ARE TALKING ABOUT

The way Fluffy Hunter, the thrush double-talked with comic Redd Foxx while he was on at the Club Oasis a few nights ago. She took exception to what she termed as "digs" aimed in the direction of her party.

ON THE MELLOW SIDE

Skipping away from our bachelor's haven the other twilight to have dinner with newlyweds Bob Thomas (the kolyumnist) and his model wife Charity. Not only is Mrs. Thomas endowed with good looks, but she's at home "on the range" (bless her. WHERE THE ATMOSPHERE IS ATMOSPHERIC!

Hors d'ouerves were served and joy juice flowed last Monday evening at Club Pigalle. The press had a pawtee all through the courtesy of Joe Adams, Leroy Schecksnayder, and Alice Key. Indiana's ear-bender Rudy Render entertained from the piano bar, and snappy Slappy White's comedy was a howling success. This intimate lounge with the Parisian decor is hurriedly forging its way into the top ranks of the town's go-place. There's always a crowd here!

FROM THIS MOMENT ON

We'll be using an awful lot of very pretty adjectives to describe a very pretty girl named Olga James. So will a lot of newspaper people. Olga is a singer. Her home town is Chicago. She looks like a cafe-au-lait edition of Leslie Caron, the French star. And her superb

HARRY THOMPSON LANDS FILM ROLE IN 'THE EGYPTIAN'

Harry Thompson, former UCLA and now Rams' football star, was signed by Director Michael Curtiz today for the role of the Nubian guard who leads Gene Tierney's lion in Darryl F. Zanuck's CinemaScope Technicolor production, "The Egyptian."

Thompson made his screen bow in 20th Century-Fox's "No Way Out," and last appeared on the screen in the studio's first CinemaScope picture, "The Robe," "The Egyptian," in which Thompson will appear with such stars as Marlon Brando, Victor Mature, Jean Simmons, Bella Darvi and Miss Tierney, marks the handsome athlete-actor's tenth film role.

Versatile

Born in Memphis, Tennessee, Harry came to Los Angeles, with his parents, Viola and Abe Thompson, at the age of 11. He has two sisters and three brothers, only one of whom, brother William, who appeared with Harry in "No Way Out," ever appeared on the screen.

Thompson is happily married to the former Roda Smith of New Orleans, a non-professional. They have four youngsters—Brenda and Andrew, children of Mrs. Thompson's by a former marraige; and two-year-old Harry Thompson, Jr., and one-year-old Jetawin Thompson.

The strappling, handsome actor was nominated as an All-American tackle when he played football for U.C.L.A.

Archie Savage, who spent months on location in the Fiji isles during the filming of "His Majesty O'Keefe," may go to Mexico with the cast of "Vera Cruz" that stars Gary Cooper for Paramount. The O'Keefe flicker is getting rave reports from its run at the Paramounts. The dancer who plays a native chieftain is one of the main reasons why! . . . Palmere Jackson said to be pulling down a c-note per day as Pillsbury Flour's favorite cook. Pal's winging all over the country making personal appearances . . . Singer Lawrence Stone on cloud number nine after Sarah Vaughan told him she expects him to turn up as one of tomorrow's headliners in the vocal whirl! . . . Frances Neeley, the Oasis dance cutie, will be seen in the Glenn Miller Story. Her curves will decorate the celluloid.

LATIN LOVERS

SILVANA MANGANO and VITTORIO GASSMAN sparkle in their newest English language hit, "LURE of the Sila" now playing at the Los Angeles Theatre at 615 South Broadway.

CRITICS PRAISE GREAT COMEDY AT EBONY SHOWCASE

If one is to judge from the unanimous praises being heaped upon the current Ebony Showcase production, "Three Men on a Horse," by theatrical reviewers from all the weekly and daily newspapers, then the hilarious George Abbott-John Cecil Holm comedy is one of the greatest things to hit this town in many a year.

To a man — and woman — every critic who has seen the Ebony interpretation of the Broadway hit of several years ago has come out in print praising the production to the skies.

"Tops in entertainment, everybody is bound to enjoy it," quoted the California Eagle; "The all-Negro professional cast plays the ribald George Abbott comedy for all it's worth and you can be certain of a laugh a minute in all of its six scenes," said Roy Ringer in the Daily News.

Crowd Pleasing

These are just samples of the lavish press reviews given since the play opened more than two weeks ago. And the nightly crowds that are pouring into the popular Showcase are testimony enough that Nick and Edna Stewart and the entire Ebony play group have perhaps their greatest hit of all in "Three Men on a Horse." The production is staged nightly, except Mondays and Tuesdays, at 8:30 p.m. Reservations may be obtained by contacting Ebony Showcase Theatre, 2182 West Washington blvd., REpublic 6448.

WOOMANCE—That heavy play being given to that Western avenoo secretary by that equally heavy voiced brother out W. Adams way, must be of a ver serious nature. It's getting to be a hard task catching the shapely lass in her office these days! Wonder what's going to happen to the other brother!

MAYOR POULSON proved badly the mayor's office is in need of a good public relations man. The good mayor was guest speaker at the Consolidated Realty Board installatoin. And from what we got from his chat, he played his audience a change. What he said added up to nothing. And just think housing is the most vital need in this community!

BATTLE ROYALS broke out everywhere last week. One ofay invited another grey outside during the Consolidated installation and came back sporting a few knots and a bloody front. He had to take the platform too! The boys carried on a real wild one at a W. Adams sip parlor. Wardell Gray's music evidently didn't please a couple of customers because it appeared from where we were sitting that he had ducked a few blows at Santa Barbara and Western!

Oden Browne Set For 'Man Of Color' On ABC Sat. Nite

Oden Browne, one of four finest professional actors, will be this week's "Man Of Color," Saturday, at 6:30, KABC (the new call letters for KECA), 790 on the dial. The high spot of the show will be Oden's presentation of the character Shylock from "The Merchant of Venice," one of William Shakespeare's greatest works.

The competent Shakespearian dramatist came to our city some four years ago with the American Negro Repertory Players of New York for a season of repertory at the old Belasco Theatre here. The group was scheduled to present several plays, but there arose conflicts between their sponsor and their manager with the end result that, after only two weeks of the initial offering, "Angel Street," the disbanded. Yet, those who witnessed this production were most enthusiastic in their praise and predictions for these "uncommonly talented young actors."

Last year Oden helped to put the Ebony Showcase on the map with their premiere presentation of "Anna Lucasta"; and, more recently, he helped break in a new script by a young "woman of color" out at Ben Bard's Theatre: a production entitled, "A Twig Is Bent." This year, at the People's Independent Church, he rendered a sensational performance of Cassius' long speech to Brutus from the first act of Julius Caesar.

Before coming to the coast, Browne had done two short seasons with the Negro Repertory Players in 30 cities of 13 states. In addition to his acting chores as Mr. Manningham in "Angel Street," the absent-minded Dr. Bradman in "Blythe Spirit," and Oswald Alving in Ibsen's classic masterpiece "Ghosts," he was the group's assistant director, acting coach, and assisted with sets and props in each new place.

known among Negro voters until two weeks ago, his outspoken stand on civil rights and his expressed willingness to batter down all barriers in state government have won him a surprisingly large following both in the northern and southern parts of the state.

Carrel is well known among party workers but the public knows little about him. Patterson was once a strong favorite among Negro voters but his expeditions to the left have cost him most of his following. Cross is mayor of Berkeley but northerners are lukewarm about him and that hasn't helped him elsewhere.

Sam Yorty is away out in front as far as the senatorial race is concerned with little prospect that many Negro politicos will join the "stop Yorty movement" that is budding in the north.

Interest in the lieutenant governor's endorsement is at a low ebb with indications that many leaders would work up enthusiasm about the race if Judge Stanley Mosk decides to seek the nod. City Councilman Edward Roybal has many friends but nobody seems to know just what his intentions are.

Rex Whittmore and Judge Clayton Dills both want to be state controller but it is hard to get delegates or potential delegates to talk about this race with the top posts on the slate in doubt. Attorney General Pat Brown is without opposition for renomination.

The Democratic Council is only a semi-official body but its recommendations will probably determine who will make the various races.

Lincoln Univ. Athlete Dies

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Harry Stokes, outstanding high school and college athlete, died in Pittsburgh last week from a blood clot on the lungs, caused by injuries received in an automobile accident, Jan. 24.

Commissioned a second lieutenant in the engineers corps at Lincoln last June, Stokes was driving home from Fort Belvoir Engineer Center when his car hit a slippery spot 20 miles from Pittsburgh. The report stated that he jumped from the vehicle, which was badly damaged. Taken to a nearby hospital, the former Lincolnite died later.

Wiley Wildcats Cagers Rank 11th

MARSHALL, Texas — Coach S. R. Roberson's hustling Wiley five found their range last weekend as they turned loose their two scoring aces, Co-Captain Bernard Irvin and Hank Dooley in defeating a tough Texas College team 68-52 in two Southwest Conference games. These two victories, combined with the double win over Arkansas State, gave the Methodists a 4 won 2 lost record in Conference play, and a 12 out of 17 record in season competition.

Wiley ranks 11th in the nation among small colleges in team defense.

AID COLLEGE FUND—Lawrence H. Lightner, right, Supreme Commander of the American Woodmen, sparks the first Denver drive of the United Negro College Fund with the presentation of the Woodmen's check to W. A. Trent, Jr., of New York City, Executive Director of the Fund. Looking on is President E. Manley of Spelman College, Atlanta.

swift action to wipe out remaining segregation in post schools for service men's children, and had carried her fight "to the Cabinet level."

Mrs. Hobby was overruled by the President himself, who instructed Wilson to take decisive action to eliminate the remaining segregated schools. Eisenhower said last year there was no legal, logical or moral justification for discrimination in the use of Federal funds.

John A. Hannah, Assistant Defense Secretary, confirmed the Wilson order. He said a "firm order" had been issued to all services to end remaining school segregation by the 1955 fall term.

He said that some state or local school agencies probably would be "unwilling or unable" to operate unsegregated post schools because of local laws or "customs."

"It then becomes the responsibility of the Office of Education to take over and come to Congress for the money," he said. He added he expected a request for such funds to go to Congress next year.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP said when informed of the Wilson order:

"When segregation ends in schools on military posts, it will be a tribute to the honesty and integrity of Dr. Hannah, who has tried to carry out the President's program against stubborn opposition from diehards within the Government."

Of the 21 bases ordered to end segregated schools, ten are Air Force, eight Army and three Navy. They are:

Alabama—Maxwell Air Force Base; Arkansas—Pine Bluff Army Arsenal; Florida—MacDill, Eglin and Tyndall Air Force Bases and Pensacola Naval Air Station; Maryland—Andrews Air Force Base, Patuxent Naval Air Station and Naval Powder Factory, Indian Head; Oklahoma—Fort Sill; South Carolina—Fort Jackson and Shaw Air Force Base; Texas—Forts Bliss, Hood and Sam Houston, and Randolph, Reese and Sheppard Air Force Bases; Virginia—Forts Belvoir and Monroe and Langley Air Force base.

Last year, he continued, two drivers were killed.

The technique used by the bandits in the majority of the cases, according to Coyle, is to slip into the cab without permitting the driver to get a good look at them, give as their destination an address on a dark street, and as the cab arrives, grab the unsuspecting driver by the back of the neck and threaten him with a knife or a gun.

Estate Closing Gives Children Equal Share

The estate of the late Mrs. Ellen G. Wilson, a longtime resident of Oakland, who died in April, 1951 at the home of her daughter in Pasadena, was ordered distributed and closed here last week.

Mrs. Wilson, the widow of the late Dr. W. D. Wilson, left an estate of nearly $37,000 before inheritance taxes. Three sons, all of Oakland, were named as executors of their mother's will.

The deceased leaves a daughter, Mrs. Bernice E. Wilson, of 1196 Forrest avenue, Pasadena; and sons, W. D. Wilson Jr., Edward J. Wilso nand Dr. Clay M. Wilson of Oakland. The estate was divided in accordance with the will, in four equal parts. Atorney H. Leonard Richardson, appeared for the heirs.

HUSKIES CAGERS MEET HARBOR

Coach Dave Taylor's in and out ELAJC Huskies resume Metro conference competition Friday, February 5, against the Harbor Seahawks. Game time is 4:00 p.m. at Belvedere junior high.

The halfway mark in the conference race finds the Taylormen in fifth place with three wins and four defeats. Ahead of the Huskies are El Camino, Long Beach, Bakersfield and San Diego, while Santa Monica, Valley, and Harbor occupy the league basement.

CIO Calls for Passage of Ives Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON — The CIO last week called for action by the Senate Judiciary Committee to report favorably the Ives-Humphrey civil rights bill (S. 692) in place of what it called the "wholly inadequate" Dirksen Bill (S. 1).

In a telegram to Sen. Robert C. Hendricksen (R. N.J.), chairman of the Judiciary Committee's Civil Rights Sub-Committee, CIO Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey said the Ives-Humphrey measure deserves support because "it would establish an effective federal FECP employing investigation, mediation, conciliation, findings and finally, orders that would be enforceable through the federal courts."

Spingarn Will Head NAACP For 15th Year

NEW YORK. — Unanimously re-elected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his 15th consecutive year as president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn. The board of directors again selected him to head the organization at its regular monthly session here following the association's annual meeting on Jan. 4.

Officers Elected

Also reelected were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice-chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer; and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer.

In addition the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, Prof. C. L. Harper, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell, Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives re-named by the board were Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

For the first time in four years, Wilkins reported, the Association incurred no operating deficit and completed the year with a surplus of income over operating expenditures.

ARE YOU ILL?

Dr. F. Y. Lew

Good health is man's most precious asset. Without it all life is futile, so why remain in ill health when it is so easy to regain good health. The natural way is with CHINESE HERBS. Chinese Herb Doctors have cured hopeless cases long before the crude method of surgery was discovered because of their knowledge for centuries of the curative power of herbs.

A wonderful result from a hopeless case: let Mrs. Smith tell you all about it.

My doctor told me I had lung trouble and if I wanted to live very long I must have a change of climate. We sacrificed everything to come to California.

I was advised to use Chinese Herbs so I went to the CHINESE HERB CO. I found I had other troubles besides the lung ailment. I only took Herb treatments for a month, now I am a well person. If anyone has suffered as I have, I am glad to recommend the Chinese Herbs to them.

or just plain political apathy to rob us of the gains made during the past 20 years; nor prevent us from moving ahead to greater security and full civil rights."

As part of his program to guarantee first-class citizenship and economic security, the veteran legislator pledged continuation of the fight for full and fair employment; lower taxes on small-income groups; and increased social security, educational and veteran benefits.

Hawkins also indicated that at the special session of the legislature in March, he will push a program to speed up public works and expand industries to provide more jobs. Included in the projects favored by Hawkins for immediate action were: hospitals, child care centers, more adult education facilities, a new mass rapid transportation system for Los Angeles and big-league baseball at Wrigley Field.

Cuba Says Amoros Is Top Athlete

HAVANA — Outfielder Sandy Amoros of the Brooklyn Dodgers was named as Cuba's top professional athlete of 1953.

The speedy Amoros, who led the International League in batting with a .353 mark for Montreal last season, currently is playing winter ball in Havana and will report to the Dodgers' spring training camp at Vero Beach, next month.

Amoros, born in Matanzas, Cuba, received 35 out of 45 votes cast by local sports writers.

Cost of Bias Comes High

CHICAGO — More than $1,500,000 including police salaries and other expenses has been spent by the Chicago Police Department to protect residents of the Trumbull Park Housing project from recurring racial disorders.

Violence first broke out at the 462-family project on Chicago's South Side last August when a Negro family moved into the "all-white" community. Since the first disturbances, police details numbering anywhere from 200 to 1,100 men daily have been assigned to the project, which now includes four Negro families.

Dial, president of the NAACP Southern Area council, was named chairman. John Porter and Arnold Blackburn were elected vice chairmen, Mrs. Fredricks, secretary, Z. Taylor, treasurer, and George Black, sgt. at arms.

The Rev. John Faulks was named block chairman, with co-chairmen Willie Mann, Mrs. Ruth McGhee and Mrs. Rebecca Wilson.

GOLDEN STATE OFFERS NEW HOSPITAL PLAN

Following close on the heels of President Eisenhower's plea for Americans to assure themselves of "the best" medical care under voluntary insurance plans, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co. began late in January the sale of a new, modern line of family and individual hospital and surgical expense policies.

With the realization that a hospital stay can become a financial catastrophe, GSM policies provide cash payable to the insured to help defray costs of hospital room, surgery and a wide range of laboratory and medical services connected with hospital confinement. The insurer's offices in all cities in California are handling sales.

Keeping up with the progress in voluntary insurance plans called "striking" by President Eisenhower, the company has created policies which provide real economic value to the insured in meeting the financial crisis brought about by hospitalization.

Edgar J. Johnson, GSM's vice president-secretary, called attention to figures released by President Eisenhower on the high cost of sickness and accident insurance which placed the nation's private medical bill at more than $9 billion or $200 a year for each family, and rising. Johnson pointed out that up-to-date studies of hospital costs show that an appendectomy can cost as much as $600.

One of the largest insurers in the field of sickness and accident insurance, GSM has also introduced a new series of policies covering loss of time. These with new hospitalization coverage make it possible to provide its clients with complete financial protection for emergencies.

Since 1925, when it was organized, Golden State Mutual Life has paid $8 million in disability and Life insurance benefits to policy-owners and beneficiaries. Every day during 1952, GSM's disability benefit payments to policy-owners averaged more than $2,000. An old line legal reserve insurer, the firm's life insurance in force totals more than $79 million.

who were going off duty heard about the telephone request and without hesitation were on their way to the hospital. Officers Travis Willmon, Joseph Rondolone, Sterling LaBare and Louis Vancourt rolled up their sleeves and donated that precious life-giving fluid to a little tike who was so weak that he could only smile his thanks.

Heartening

The heartening aspect to this real-life drama is that over 1500 additional donors volunteered the following day as a result of the story about little Michael White who had to call the cops.

This spirit of generosity toward a total stranger is just a sign of the human kindliness that is a part of all of us. It is the living spirited of brotherhood—a timely kick-off to the annual celebration of Brotherhood Week—Feb. 21-28.

Supreme Court Review Asked In Housing Case

SAN FRANCISCO — Rebuffed by California courts, the San Francisco Housing Authority this week filed a petition asking the United States Supreme Court to approve its racial segregation scheme in public housing projects.

In its petition the Housing Authority claims, that segregation is permissible under the 55 year old Separate But Equal doctrine and asks the Court to reverse a contrary holding by California judges.

The move brought a quick response from the NAACP's West Coast Legal Regional Committee headed by Loren Miller. Meeting here over the week-end with Miller, Attorneys Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento, Terry Francois and Carl Metoyer of San Francisco laid plans to seek Supreme Court approval of the 1952 decision by Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin ordering the Authority to end all segregation.

The District Court of Appeal upheld Judge Cronin and the state supreme court refused to review the case. Evidence showed that the San Francisco Authority had only one permanent low rent project to which Negroes were admitted and that even Negro veterans were refused when that project was filled.

The so-called Negro project was built in 1942 and a segregated project for Chinese was completed in 1952. Orientals, as well as Negroes, are excluded from the "white" projects.

If the Supreme Court decides to review the case its decision will be binding on all Housing authorities all over the nation. The California courts held that racial segregation is forbidden by the Fourteenth Amendment.

Youth Group Asks Extensive Public Works

NEW YORK—The National Youth Legislative conference, sponsored by the NAACP in Washington last week called for defeat of the controversial Bricker amendment, extension of the vote to 18-year-olds, and immediate action by the federal government to relieve a "growing unemployment problem with millions of people throughout the nation already out of work."

A resolution on the latter point, adopted by the 200 Negro and white delegates from 19 states and the District of Columbia, urged three specific steps on the part of the U. S. government:

1. Extensive public works programs, especially in "economically depressed" areas, with emphasis on the construction of public housing, schools and hospitals;

2. An increase in the federal minimum wage law to $1.20 an hour, with coverage extended to all wage earners;

3. Increased job opportunities for youth by means of increased [illegible] aid, to vocational guidance, job placement services [illegible] and apprenticeship training available to [illegible].

Murder Charge Jails Parents As Baby Dies

Parents of a two-year-old baby, whose body was covered with burns and bruises and who may have died from drowning, were being held this week on suspicion of murder.

The couple, Leroy Webbs, 29-year-old aircraft worker, and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Webbs, were jailed following the death of their daughter, Opal Elaine.

Dirty and Unkempt

The three other young children of the couple were being cared for by juvenile authorities. Dirty and unkempt, the three tots reportedly were suffering from malnutrition and neglect.

The family house, 1104 E. 113th street, where the tragedy occurred, was littered with filth, police said, adding that the plight of the children has long been the subject of concern of neighbors.

According to one report, Mrs. Webbs put the two-year-old in the family bathtub as punishment for wetting her bed, and the child presumably turned on the faucet, when the mother went back to sleep.

Death Cause Undetermined

When police arrived at the home, the mother told them that baby Opal had died from "too much water." The small body was on a rumpled, dirty cot in the rear bedroom, and police advised they could not tell whether the "too much water" indicated that the baby may have drowned in the bathtub, or may have died from other causes.

An autopsy is being performed, but the coroner advised that results of their investigations will probably not be completed for a week.

Webbs called the Fire Department early Tuesday morning, when the child was unconscious, but the firemen's attempts to revive her proved futile. The firemen notified the police.

The other children are four-year-old Gloria and 19-month-old twins, Richard and Raymond.

Bunche, Ike to Spark Meeting At Freedom Rally

NEW YORK.—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, of United Nations fame, will join President Eisenhower on the platform at the one-day Freedom Conference which the NAACP is sponsoring in Washington on March 10.

In letters to the 1300 NAACP units throughout the country, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board of directors, and Walter White, executive secretary, called for representative attendance at the conference.

Sessions will be held in the Interdepartmental Auditorium where local and state leaders of the NAACP will work out with board and staff members further plans for the Fight for Freedom and for raising $1,000,000 annually.

Playground Wins; Factory Rejected

The all-out endeavors of the residents of the Long Beach-Compton area to obtain a much-needed park in the district seemed headed for complete success this week when the City Planning Commission turned down a request for a zone change to permit the erection of a factory.

In rejecting the appeal of J. V. Yankie to designate the disputed land for industrial use, the commission gave as part of its motivation the fact that the district needs the land for recreational and park purposes.

Split Decision

Decision of the commission came after a stormy session at the hearing Thursday afternoon, with three members refusing to authorize the change, against the strong opposition of the other two members.

Councilman Gordon Hahn, who has been active throughout in attempting to further the park plan, told the Eagle after the hearing that the city is now negotiating for purchase of the land. If this falls through, he said, he would request condemnation of the property so that a playground could be erected.

Organized Protest

When the plans of the Yankie company for building a factory became known, residents of the area organized in the East of Central Improvement Association, with John H. Dial, Jr. as its leader. It was the protests of these residents, plus the backing of Councilman Hahn and other city leaders which brought the issue out into the public.

On Feb. 5, the secretary of the Planning Commission ad-

Victim of Police Shot Arraigned At Hospital

Mathew Roberts, shot two weeks ago by a policeman at point-blank range, was arraigned at the prison ward in General Hospital, Tuesday morning, and charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Preliminary hearing in the case is set for March 2, at 1:45 p.m.

Although it was at first reported that Roberts was in critical condition and not expected to live, he has recovered sufficiently so that authorities now believe he will be well enough to be released within 10 days, or at least well in advance of the date set for his preliminary hearing.

Bail in his case has been set for $1500.

Roberts, 545 Crocker Street, is charged with having assaulted M. C. Hodge, 431 Rodger Young Village, as the latter was standing outside a Fifth Street cafe. Reportedly Roberts, in an

Publisher Again Controls 'Sentinel'

By GRACE E. SIMONS

"Wash" is back at the Sentinel, in active control of the newspaper he founded, worked for day and night for 15 long years, created and loved.

Mrs. Dora Moore, who has been in actual charge of the paper for the past five years, has been fired.

The news has been flashing back and forth the length and breadth of Central avenue, over to the West Side, out to Watts, ever since the word got out Saturday.

The Eagle telephone has buzzed constantly. "Is it true? Is Wash back? Is Dora out? What happened?"

Back on the Avenue

Wash, himself, a sight for sore eyes, the long-missed, infectious, happy smile upon his face, merry twinkle in his eye, back on the avenue. With a grand gesture he waved aside inquiries.

"How about a statement, Wash?"

"No statement. I have to consult my lawyer!" The grin that wouldn't wear off.

What happened?

Excitement

On Friday, there was an air of suppressed excitement among members of the Sentinel staff. To those accustomed to "sniffing" stories in the wind, it seemed there must be big news forthcoming. It lent interest to the stray wisps of gossip and rumor that have been floating around for the past 10 days.

Later, it was reliably learned that Mrs. Moore was in the office Friday, going through the files, taking out private letters, and that she officially turned in her office keys Saturday.

On Monday, the Eagle received a terse announcement "for immediate release" from the Sentinel office reading:

Terse Notice

"Leon H. Washington, Jr., publisher and owner of the Los Angeles Sentinel, has returned to active duty after a five-year absence.

"He will be assisted by his father, Leon H. Washington, in the capacity of business manager.

"Mrs. Dora H. Moore, former business manager, and Gurnie L. Moore, former advertising field representative, are no longer associated with the Sentinel."

Incompetence

The cause for the break reportedly was a charge of incompetence and mismanagement in the handling of the affairs of the Sentinel on the part of Mrs. Moore.

Although Mrs. Moore reportedly quit on Saturday, it was learned that, assertedly following consultation with her attorney, she returned to the office Monday morning, with the apparent intention of checking in every working day until the issue came to a head.

She did not have long to wait. On Tuesday, official notice was handed to her in writing, telling her that her services were terminated, effective immediately.

Long Feud

Whether the dismissal portends a lawsuit is not yet known. It was common knowledge, generally said to have stemmed from Mrs. Moore herself, that she had a contract with the Sentinel for seven years. On the basis of this contract, it is possible that she may contest the dismissal.

Leon H. Washington, Jr., who has been connected with the Sentinel in name only since he was taken ill five years ago, has long been at loggerheads with the policies and practitces followed by Mrs. Moore.

Policies Changed

Back in the summer of 1948, when Wash became ill, active control of the paper passed to Mrs. Ruth Washington, the publisher's wife. Within a few days Mrs. Moore was hired as business manager.

In the months immediately following, practically the entire staff assembled patiently

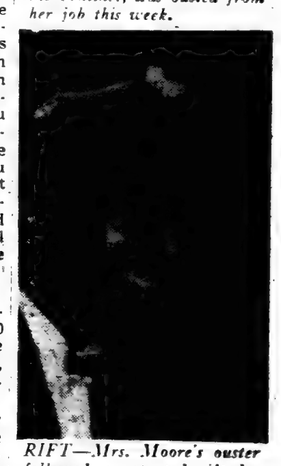
IN CONTROL—Leon H. Washington, Jr., after five years' absence, this week resumed control of the newspaper he founded, the Los Angeles Sentinel.

Crowd Greets Opening Event Of History Week

The largest audience ever to attend a Negro History Week event here heard Dr. Charles H. Wesley admonish Negroes to "learn your racial history and become proud of yourselves." The meeting was held at Bovard Auditorium on U.S.C. campus. Many of the overflow crowd stood throughout the talk.

Dr. Wesley, president of the National Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, declared, "Your history is full of content, full of action and full of accomplishment in every respect of human endeavor," he continued, "but you will not find them in the newspapers, on the radio nor on the moving picture screen and you will have to dig for them. But having found them, your shoulders will be thrown back, and that is the only way they will permit you to walk with the other men of the world."

200-Voice Chorus



Another feature of the meeting was the great chorus of 200 voices singing "Listen to the Lambs," by Nathaniel Dett, and the spiritual "Couldn't Nobody Pray."

Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow was chairman of the music committee. She shared direction of the several numbers with Walter Daniels, of Zion

Attempt to Use Negroes As Strike-Breakers Halted

NORWALK, Conn. — The use of unorganized Negroes as strike-breakers in a hat factory here last week was abruptly halted following intervention by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

As the strike-breakers, mostly Negro, began leaving the plant, race tension that had threatened to break out in riot proportions, noticeably eased.

The 1300 employes, the overwhelming majority of whom are white, of the Hat Corporation of America have been on strike for 30 days as a protest against the company's announced plan to move the plant to the South.

The strike-breakers imported by the Hat Corporation are primarily Negroes—many of whom are victims of discriminatory hiring practices and unable to secure other employment.

At first pickets tried verbal persuasion to keep the non-union workers from entering the strike-bound plant. When this proved ineffective, scattered violence broke out. Racial epithets were hurled by the white pickets.

Last week the NAACP stepped into the situation. Working through its national labor relations assistant, Herbert Hill, and Norwalk and Bridgeport chapters, the NAACP persuaded a number of strike-breakers to leave the plant. Intense efforts are being made to get the remainder of the strike-breakers out of the factory.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

FRESNO—The Fresno story of Negro participation in the Democratic State Council meeting, Feb. 6 and 7, is to be found elsewhere. Your columnist flatly states that this event marked the turning point of Negro participation in Statewide political decisions. It will be years before the full significance of this is understood even by the most alert Democratic leadership.

Jeff Fowler's political "partners for progress" dance and floor show Sunday was the largest political ostrich egg laid hereabout in 20 years. The indomitable Jeff, however, was reported in the downtown Goody Knight's headquarters the following morning with none other than Paul R. Williams, the architect, (politician) with some of the members of the cloth and other Republican big wheels knocking the new Goody Knight leadership in line.

Note to Al Mills: Get busy and stop the desertions now taking place within your organization. Too many of the members are getting scaird.

Registrations: Helen Crozier Greenwood, actress, politician, chairman of Special Activities commission, Friendship Democratic club, 62nd Assembly District, is a deputy registrar. She is registering non-voters and can be reached by calling RI 73388.

Helen is also selling California Eagle subscriptions. What do you bet that a lot of people who should have been getting the Eagle heretofore as subscribers, including downtown politicians, won't be signed up?

Next important Democratic meeting: Los Angeles county-wide endorsement convention on Saturday, Feb. 27, at the Palladium, 6215 Sunset Blvd. from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Delegates from all Los Angeles county Democratic clubs and Young Democratic clubs, Dime-a-Day, county committeemen, State committeemen and all elected Democratic office holders will make the decisions.

John Dial's latest political operation—he has two now—Women in Industry is holding a Cocktail for Freedom fund-raiser on Friday (Feb. 19) at the new UAW Hall, 8501 South San Pedro for the benefit of the Southern California NAACP Council.

His man Friday, Jerry Harvey, will see to it that the affair is a success financially as well as attracting maximum attendance.

John Dial has determined that he is going to use his time working on those problems which need attention, such as the zone change fight of the past few weeks which he led.

Vice President Richard N Nixon, is due to arrive here at Municipal airport Friday at 7:00 a.m., and local GOP notables are prepared to give him a rousing welcome.

William A. Easter, chairman of the Fifty-fifth Assembly District, county central committtee, announced the formation of a committees to serve on the overall welcoming committee for the 55th A.D. area.

Easter will head the committee with Attorney Rayfield Lundy acting as program chairman for the district and Lawrence F. LaMar in charge of publicity.

New Manager

Herman Hill, former editorial and managerial head of the Pacific Coast edition of the Pittsburgh Courier for 12 years, and founder and publisher of the Bay Areas Journal at Oakland, California., has assumed manager reins of the L. A. Star Review-News, a Watts-South Los Angeles publication.

Hill intends to continue the publication as a news shopping guide. He said he plans to enlarge the scope and influence paper, both in size and circulation at an early date.

The 63rd Assembly District Democratic Council will convene on Friday, Feb. 26, at 8 o'clock. The council will announce a candidate endorsement for the 63rd Assembly District. The meeting will be held at 3910 S. Orange Drive.

All prospective candidates for the 63rd Assembly District contact Mrs. Stella Berwick, WH. 0885, for appointment with the 63rd A.D.D. council interviewing committee. Voters registration deadline is April 15th.

Negro Delegates Help Choose Demo Candidates

By JAMES ANDERSON, Eagle Political Editor

More than 40 Negro delegates were among the 1500 Democrats who met at Fresno last week-end to choose a slate of candidates headed by Richard Graves for governor; Samuel Yorty for United States senator; Edward Roybal for lieutenant governor; and Pat Brown for attorney general.

Graves, whose drive was spearheaded by the politically astute Andrew Hatcher, wound up with the practically unanimous support of the Negro delegates and only Roybal's selection produced anything resembling a hassle.

The northren delegation was headed by Assemblyman Byron Rumford, Dr. Dan Collins, Hatcher and Mrs. Tarea Pittman. Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, Ethel Bryant, Gilbert Lindsey, Dr. J. A. Somerville, William E. Pollard and Mrs. Faustina Johnson were among southern participants.

Pollard was among those seconding the nomination of Yorty with Hawkins and Mrs. Bryant in the forefront of what was a determined tug of war for the senatorial nomination. Hawkins also seconded the nomination of Roybal, who won easily after a series of closed-door conferences and waves of rumors.

Hatcher, who was the mainspring in the northern California drive for Stevenson in 1952, is emerging as one of the state's sharpest politicos, was all over the place in the Graves drive and his pre-convention work was largely instrumental in shaping up sentiment for the gubernatorial nominee.

Brown, who is the only Democratic incumbent among state officers, had no opposition on any score and had the enthusiastic backing of the Negro delegates because of his fair policy during his term of office.

Candidates selected at Fresno are only unofficial choices and must win actual nominations at primary elections. In most cases they will be unopposed and will have no trouble getting majorities when the delegates go to the polls.

Next big hurdle facing the Democrats is the job, and it is a big one, of getting the claims of their candidates before Negro voters. Yorty and Brown are well known throughout the state while Roybal has a large local following. Others have not held offices which have brought them into contact with Negro voters and must sell themselves.

Graves' forthright stand on civil rights and other issues which agitate the Negro voter has already brought him a sizeable following among Negro public figures but his job is getting down to the grass roots so the man in the street will know him and know where he stands.

Travel Hearing

WASHINGTON—The prehearing conference on the complaint of the NAACP and 17 individuals against 11 railroad companies, a station and a restaurant has been postponed until March 3.

VISITING UNION OFFICIAL—M. R. Cobb, Columbus, Ohio, Union secretary, seated center, talks over labor problems with Los Angeles labor leaders at weekend conference.

Women in Southland to Fight Layoffs

Negro women in the Southland are among the groups of workers already seriously feeling the pinch of unemployment.

Women industrial workers in clothing, aircraft, civil service and department stores report that they are already finding doors that were previously open to them now shut tight. In addition, no new avenues of employment are available.

The workers feel that there is a definite move on foot to force them out of factories and back into domestic service.

Oppose Trend

In recognition of the need to fight against this trend, women in the area, under the leadership of the NAACP Southern Area Council, have organized into a special committee.

Representatives of the group met here Sunday, at 2830½ S. Hillcrest Drive, planned to make a survey of the present status in the various industries, and likewise completed arrangements for a "Cocktail for Freedom" party Friday night, Feb. 19, at the UAW-CIO auditorium, 8501 S. San Pedro street, to raise funds for the group.

Plan Survey, Dance

Among those present at Sunday's meeting were delegates from Palm Springs, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, as well as Los Angeles.

Geraldine Harvey, of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, CIO, is chairman of the group; Mary Conley, bookkeeper with the California State CIO, secretary; assistant secretary, Luteschia Brooks; and vice-chairman, Vesta Elda.

Vice-chairman in the various localities are: Helen Anderson, Santa Monica; Irene Williams, Pasadena; Dorothy Elmore, Palm Springs; and Mrs. Inez Fox, Santa Ana.

The NAACP area advisory committee for the group includes John H. Dial, Jr., Anne O'Farrell, Dr. A. R. Traylor, Woodrow Redo, E. J. Franklin and Gilbert Lindsay.

The Public Can Choose with Confidence

IN the smoker's interest Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company has maintained for 4 years an intensified, larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given to us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts—which Business Week Magazine says is "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country"—and eminent scientists from leading universities.

For more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobaccos . . . especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobaccos.

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobaccos today would improve smoking.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.

VOICE OF THE CENTURY — Marian Anderson's rich contralto singing will be heard here again Saturday night, Feb. 13, at the Philharmonic auditorium. Toscanini described her voice as one that is "heard only once in a hundred years."

Marian Anderson Sings At Philharmonic On Saturday

Marian Anderson, whose rich contralto voice is without equal, is returning this Saturday to the Philharmonic Auditorium in a song recital composed of classical arias and spirituals, as a feature of the current Community Civic Music Association season.

More than 5,000,000 people on four continents, including kings, queens, emperors and presidents, have heard America's greatest contralto.

She was the first Negro soloist to perform before a private audience in the White House. She sang for King George and Queen Elizabeth. Last April she sang for the Empress of Japan in Tokyo, and then went off to sing for the troops in Korea.

When Toscanini heard her in 1935 at the Salzburg Festival, he sought her out to tell her: "A voice like yours is heard only once in a hundred years."

The well-known writer, Fannie Hurst, wrote: "Marian Anderson has not grown simply great; she has grown great simply."

For her Philharmonic recital the singer will give selections from Bach, Schubert, Schumann, Strauss, Faure and the delightful aria, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delila" by Saint Saens.

Her spirituals will include the Hall Johnson arrangements of "Done Foun' My Los' Sheep," and "Honor, Honor"; "Glory in Mah Soul," arranged by McFeeters; and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hand," arranged by Forrest.

'Wash' Takes Over Control of 'Sentinel' and painstakingly by Wash was fired, one by one.

Repeated Tries

There was also a change in the policies of the paper. For a long period of time, the Sentinel carried not a line about the activities of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, or its struggles for equality for Negro people.

The paper, under the new management, opposed public housing, FEPC, failed to support such candidates for office as Dr. John A. Somerville and the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, and in the course of time became regarded in the community as the "Central Avenue edition of the Los Angeles Times."

No Key

Wash told his friends repeatedly how he tried to get the policies of the paper switched back on the right track. He complained: "They are ruining my paper. I can't even get a key to the building I bought with my hard-earned money.

"They are continually hiding behind my name, yet since my illness I have not been able to say one word about the policy of the paper."

By the first week in May, 1953, Wash had decided that something must be done to advertise his grievances. He knows the value of a picket line. He marched on them before in support of his "Don't Buy Where You Can't Work" campaign when the Avenue was young.

Electrified Community

Again Wash electrified the community. He had a huge placard made, spelling out his disagreements with Mrs. Moore, and early in the morning, the publisher and owner of the Los Angeles Sentinel marched up and down outside of 1112 E. 43rd street, picketing his own newspaper.

"All the things I have fought for and believe in," he told an Eagle representative, "such as FEPC, the NAACP, organized labor and everything that will make our community a great one, the Sentinel under the guidance of Dora Moore, has opposed."

Lull Before Storm

The five-point placard which Wash carried up and down on three days of the week was signed prominently "Leon H. Washington, Editor and Publisher."

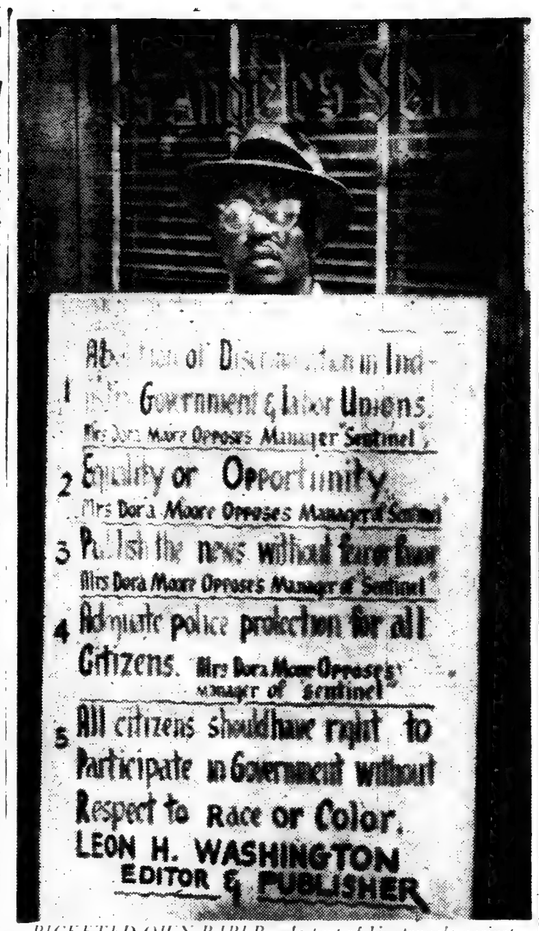
Since May, things have been quiet on the surface. But there have been rumblings. Reports that Mrs. Washington and Mrs. Moore had "fallen out." Other reports that the circulation of the Sentinel had taken a nosedive and that Mrs. Moore was firing members of the staff for economy reasons.

Then the whispered news, "Wash is coming back." The rumors persisted. This week the rumors were confirmed. Wash is once more at the helm. The well-loved smile will once more be familiar on the avenue.

Welcome back, Wash!

Shriners Hold Festive Annual Installation

The decorations carried out the mood of beauty and pageantry established by the Shriners at their first annual inauguration banquet, which was held Friday evening at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.



The elaborate banquet room, showing fully the hard work performed by the Egyptian Temple, No. 5, Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was decorated with the Shriners multi-colored banners of red, yellow and green, with each banquet table continuing in the same motif.

Introduced by the master of ceremonies, Chief Rabban Vince Monroe Townsend, many state and government officials present at the speakers' table lauded the outstanding work achieved by the organization.

Dignitaries included Illustrious Potentate William Goward, Jr., Councilman Don Allen, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, City Attorney Roger Arnebergs, United States Attorney Laughlen Waters, Councilman Gordon Hahn and representatives from the offices of Mayor Norris Poulson and John Anson Ford.

Guest artists performing were: Singers, Arthur Lee Simkins, Marguerite Chapman Buell Thomas and James Lucas, along with Mrs. James Lucas at the piano, and James Cowan displaying his organ artistry.

Introductions of court officers were announced by Dr. Lucile Goward, commandress of the Egyptian Court, and Assistant Rabban, Andrew W. Powell.

unprovoked attack, approached Hodge and slashed his neck.

Roberts was later identified by Hodge's brother, and pointed out to police. Police caught up with Roberts at a crowded intersection, and the shooting followed.

Eye-witnesses claimed that Roberts was unarmed, that both hands were in view, and that the shooting was without apparent cause.

Police, however, have stated that the suspect was reaching for a knife when the bullet was fired. He was hit in the stomach from a distance of only three feet.

Clergymen Join in Appeal for Wells

Local ministers and rabbis this week joined in the swelling movement of people urgently pleading for clemency for Wesley Robert Wells, condemned to die in San Quentin's gas chamber April 9 for the crime of throwing a cuspidor at a prison guard.

Emergency headquarters to save Wells have been set up at the Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley avenue.

The appeal to the governor signed by the ministers states: "The moral law which comes from God is a law of justice and mercy. The civil law which comes from man demands the rights of every man and woman shall be protected. In the name of both, we petition you to grant clemency to Wesley Robert Wells."

Some Good Candidates

The Democrats put their best foot, or feet, forward at the Fresno convention when they chose standard-bearers who seem to outrank their opposite numbers on the Republican ticket as far as the Negro voter is concerned.

Richard Graves' forthright stand on civil rights, unemployment, old-age pensions and kindred matters that are of grave concern to us all is in direct contrast to the polite platitudes of Governor Goodwin Knight. Whether he can get his message over to the people in the face of the eight-year campaign that has been waged by the governor is another matter.

Samuel Yorty, the Democratic choice for senator, has a record that is well known to Negro voters because he represented the old Fourteenth and now represents the Twenty-sixth Congressional District with their large number of Negro voters. Senator Thomas Kuchel, the Republican candidate, is an unknown among Negroes.

Councilman Ed Roybal and Attorney General Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, candidates for lieutenant governor and attorney general, respectively, are two other office holders whose deeds speak volumes for them as far as their beliefs and policies are concerned.

The real problem facing the Democrats is how they can communicate with the people to whom they must appeal. The GOP will have the money, and plenty of it, to hire the billboards, the radio and television stations and to get their propaganda across in the newspapers. The Democratic campaign must be a grass roots affair directed at the people who are favorable to them and who must be stirred into action.

As we have remarked before, the largest single bloc of votes available for Democratic candidates is that of the Negro. The records show, for example, that 85 per cent of California Negroes voted for Stevenson in 1952. These voters are still available for the Democrats but they must be reached and persuaded to go to the polls.

Although there are no exact figures the best estimate is that there are more than 300,000 Negro voters in the state. The Democrats can easily get more than 200,000 of those votes this fall and that number will probably be decisive.

It is certain too that the Negro voters can't be reached by the horse and buggy methods that Democrats have used in past state campaigns. As a newspaper that is convinced that the interests of Negroes, as well as of other Californians, will be best served by the return of the Democrats to power in Sacramento, we hope that the party will get on the beam, as the phrase goes, and rouse the voters who can send them there.

Third Time's The Charm

The Twenty-sixth Congressional District has another chance to send a Negro to Congress.

It had that chance twice, when much of the same territory was included in the Fourteenth District, and muffed it twice.

The first muff came when Tom Ford retired and left the race wide open. District voters turned down Negro candidates to choose Helen Gahagan Douglas that time and in all fairness it must be said that she made an excellent Congresswoman.

There was another wide-open race four years ago when Mrs. Douglas decided to make the race for United States Senate. Local politicos muffed the ball again that time and Samuel Yorty went to Congress and it must be said of him as of Mrs. Douglas that he did a good job.

The fact that both Mrs. Douglas and Mr. Yorty did good jobs in Congress doesn't alter the fact that this district ought to elect a Negro. We are certain that there are Negroes with the same ability and the same zeal to serve the public that Mrs. Douglas and Mr. Yorty showed.

Thus far it looks as if the District is getting ready to muff the ball again. Mr. Yorty, like his predecessor, has stepped out to run for the Senate and the woods are literally full of Lady Bountifuls and Mr. Do-Goods ready, willing and anxious to do and die for the Negro voters whose votes are the deciding factor in the District.

We are willing to grant for the sake of the argument that one, or even all, of these candidates possess as much ability and as much public spirit as either Mrs. Douglas or Mr. Yorty ever had.

However the realities of American political life are that Negroes, no matter what their abilities and no matter what their claims, cannot be elected to office in any district where the Negro voters are not in the majority or very close to it. That being so, a Negro should be nominated by the Democrats and that Negro should get the support of all labor organizations and all liberals.

Democrats, labor leaders and liberals shout week in and week out year after year that they favor the principle of Negro representatives in Congress. Here is a chance for them to translate their fine preachments into practice.

We can be sure that nobody will do anything about this problem unless the Negro voters take the lead.

And now that we have got that far it is time for us to say that we don't have any particular candidate to plug for. Emphatically—very emphatically—Loren Miller, publisher of this newspaper, is not and will not be a candidate.

Let's make the third time the charm and send a Negro to Congress this fall.

No Civil Rights

Senator Irving Ives, New York Republican, is authority for the statement that there is little prospect of civil rights legislation at this session of Congress. He should know.

The stumbling block is the attitude of the Republican Party as voiced by President Eihenhower to the effect that civil rights is a problem for the states.

That fits in neatly with the aims and designs of the Southern Democrats who know that if the problem can be tossed back into the laps of the states nothing can be done in the very areas of the country where the need is the greatest.

In return for having the states rights question turned over to them the Dixiecrat politicos are willing enough to play footsie with the Eisenhower administration on a few other domestic issues.

The net result is to weaken the Republican Party in the North where the Negro vote is strong and in many cases decisive. The Republicans were quick to blame the Democrats for the failure to get civil rights legislation on the books during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. As the party in power they can't voice that excuse any longer. They are in power and the failure is theirs.

Meanwhile, Negroes and all other Americans who believe in the democratic way of life, are the losers. They are caught in a squeeze between the reactionary Republicans of the North and the even more reactionary Democrats of the South.

Election Year Coming

Next year is election year and only those who are registered can vote.

It is time for interested citizens to get ready to put every eligible voter on the rolls.

We won't have the excitement of a presidential election in 1954 but we do have to choose a governor of the state, a United States senator and a full list of congressmen, assemblymen and other state officials.

These will be the men and women who will make laws and thus shape our destinies for the years to come. We will get the kind of government we deserve from the kind of officials we elect.

Let's resolve now to register and then vote in 1954.

The Big Sea

By Lester Bailey

NOT WITHOUT LAUGHTER

Here's one that's going around in the Bay area—a bit of satire, but nevertheless humorous:

In these days when the Soviet propaganda mills are striking telling blows at our soft undersides, the "race problem," our counter-propaganda is moved to counter, and so this story.

Lester Bailey

"What we need is the 'true story' of the Negro from the lips of a Negro. This we will broadcast to the world so that the majority group (people of color), will hear from a member of our largest minority that conditions aren't as bad as the Russians would have them believe."

War Not Yet Ended

Gulfport, Miss., was chosen as the point of origin for this momentous world-wide broadcast. Gulfport, as you know, is a small town in southern-most Mississippi where the Civil War has not yet ended. In fact, white and black chickens may not roost in the same henhouse. "Laughing barrels" are stationed on street corners for the use of the hapless Negro who might in a moment of indiscretion indulge an outburst of tittering.

If a Negro could say something good about the United States from the worst town in the worst state in the union, then the world would be convinced with such authenticity.

On the day of the broadcast, a shiny black Cadillac, as long as the street block where it stopped, pulled up in front of the radio station bearing Sam Johnson, sharecropper.

Just Say a Few Words

"What is this all about? What are you white folks goin' to do with me?"

"Now Sam, we just want you to say a few words over the air. Just want you to tell the radio audience how well the good white people and good colored people are getting along down here. Tell them how we all stay in our places and what good race relations we enjoy."

One minute before broadcast time: "You mean to tell me that when I speak into that thing there (microphone) that the people up North will hear me?"

"Yes, Sam, people in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois will hear every word you say. We just want you to tell how good we are treating you in this country."

Twenty seconds before broadcast time: "Will people hear me out in California too?"

On the Air

"Not only in California, Sam, people will hear you all over the world! In Europe, Asia, India and Africa."

About this time, the Mayor of Gulfport, the County Sheriff and the Chief of Police walk into the studio: "Now, boy, we just want you to tell them the truth."

On the Air: "And now we bring to you listeners in the world-wide radio audience a good word about the United States of America from the lips of Sam Johnson, a Mississippi sharecropper":

Sam Johnson: "HELP!"

Police-Eye View

By Sgt. Tom Bradley

THE PUBLIC INFORMATION DIVISION

What is the work of the Public Information Division of the Police Department? One of its activities is answering numerous questions about the Police Department and its activities, in short, it attempts to interpret the function of the department to the general public with the thought that if the public knows why certain things are done in a certain way their cooperation can more easily be secured.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

Across our desk daily come numerous questions by phone, postal card and letter. People want to know how they can assist in curbing juvenile delinquency, what precautions to take to prevent shoplifting, forgery and burglary, what does the training program for policemen include, is Jack Webb a real policeman, what is R and I so often referred to on "Dragnet," and a host of other things.

Burning Thirst

As a result of numerous appearances before groups ranging from elementary school children to adult political study clubs, we have found a trait common to all—they have a burning thirst for information about the organization and activities of the Police Department. Because of the nature of its work, the Police Department is perhaps the most fascinating phase of your city government. It appeals to the innate curiosity of man and to his interest in a cops-and-robbers thrill-packed drama.

The most striking observation about the effect of these speeches about the L.A.P.D. is the complete surprise expressed at the techniques, operation of the department, rigid standards required of officers and the quality of service which the administration strives to give.

Misconceptions

This probably results from the sharp contrast between the actual facts about modern police service and the stereotype of an old-time policeman, a muscle-bound brute with badge, billy and gun, dispatched to enforce the law with no training or code of ethics.

Many misconceptions arise because some people have come from other sections of the country and they associate all police service with the type provided in their former community. The outstanding police administrators and authors agree that L.A.P.D. is in most respects head and shoulders above other departments across the country and on an over-all comparison is second to none.

Others gain an unfavorable opinion of the department because of an unpleasant experience with one officer and thereafter they judge the entire group by this one man. Some have never had any contact with the police, but unfortunately accept rumor passed along by friends to mold their opinions.

Your Duty

We believe that it is the duty of every good citizen to become familiar with all major departments of city government. Social clubs, civic groups, church groups, fraternal groups, and others could broaden the interest in their meetings by promoting such an educational program.

Through this program there will be developed a mutual understanding and appreciation of the work of your civil servants and more efficient, responsive service will result.

For further information regarding speakers, films, and exhibitions by members of the Los Angeles Police Department, call or write Public Information Division, Room 2203 City Hall, MI. 5211, extension 2612.

Charity Solicitors

The Social Service Commission this week again warned against contributing to any charitable appeal unless the solicitor has the official information card issued by the department.

Georgia Sets the Pace

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

WELLS HEADED FOR GAS CHAMBER

After penalizing a man during most of his years for being without a normal home life, unable to take second-class citizenship in civil life or prison, unable to find a job upon his return to civil life and although his reactions in prison were altruistic, self-respecting and courageous — they now wish to end his life and forget it.

Leon Steward

While even the judge who committed him to prison wanted to help him, neither of the two governors of California appeared to want to touch his case.

Blood on Their Hands

And as his life is taken, in this writer's mind, if there is any blood involved, it shall be first upon those prison guards and administrators whose policy it was to blame him for anything with which he was in any way connected, so greatly did they fear what he stood for, and who finally put him in death row for years for that very same reason.

And next that blood is upon ex-Governor Warren and Governor Knight who haven't taken enough time to get this sorrowing man's own story upon which to formulate a fair opinion of him and therefore have not turned a finger to aid him.

Are We All Left-Wingers?

When we first heard of the news of Wesley Robert Wells' ill fate, the commentator added "there was some left-wing support for him" or something like that. We wondered whether men who are not white or men who love mercy are automatically "left wing."

Men throw that term around so carelessly that it is difficult to find out just what they do mean.

Caused Rage

Well, we haven't talked with any person black or white about the case who feels the man has had fair treatment. The announcement that he must die for throwing a cuspidor at a guard has caused a strange rage among Negroes whom we have been around.

The question on everyone's lips is just what has Wells done to merit any of the suffering he has had in San Quentin and Folsom prisons.

The record, we understand, reveals that at the age of 19 he was sent up for having clothes in his possession that he could not account for. Then he was released in 1932.

Wanted Work

At that time he lived with a younger sister. He spent days trying to secure a job, but to no avail. Finally the landlord raised his sister's rent because he was living with her. He wanted $10 more. Wells tried every way to earn money but money was scarce and he finally stole an automobile.

He says that the thought of going back to jail caused him to abandon it. When his sister broke into tears he thought maybe he could get a battery out of the car to sell. But when he approached the car a reception committee of alert police officers took him in and he again was sent back.

The Fatal Cuspidor

One day while in prison he had been beaten unmercifully and had become ill, both in body and in mind. As we recall it, this followed an instance when a friend asked him to go with him to a white prisoner to collect some money which the white prisoner owed. When the melee was over and the friend was killed, guess whom they blamed for his death—Wells. Funny reasoning, was it not?

When very ordinary men are afraid and confused as his guards appear to have been, their minds play them tricks. The guard who was responsible for his punishment began leering at and taunting him. Wells, in disgust, picked up the cuspidor and threw it at the guard. The guard was hit but not critically injured. It is for this that his life is being asked. Well, if that is not something for the book! With the guards being the kind of people they must be one would, in the light of this decision, think they pulled the wool over some people's eyes.

We hope Governor Knight sleeps well on the day they gas Wells. He will not, however, if the Negroes vote for someone who has not shown a crusty heart in the Wells case.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

There is good and bad in everyone, for no one person is perfect, but we find the fault more quickly in others, rather than in ouselves, a fault some of us are proud to admit.

The Negro people have come a long way out of the bonds of slavery to freedom.

They have offered their talent, skill, and labor to the building of this great America. Some have given their lives in wars to help protect America's freedom. It took all kinds of people to make America what she is today. It took all kinds of people with different ideas, skills, and what not.

The Negro is known widely in the entertainment field, and has achieved much success in the fields of Medicine, Art, Science, Teaching, Sports, Music, and many others. They are advancing more and more in these scattered fields which were once limited to the Negro, because of his color. Little by little the walls of segregation are being torn down, particularly in our southern states where these segregation laws have pevailed for so long, and to extents are yet prevailing. But day by day the Negro finds his part in America is becoming more and more recognized by his fellow Americans.

There is yet another problem the Negro faces in life today. The difference of the good and the bad, classified as the minority they must bear the burden and shame of one in his race who has violated the laws of

Payne College Dean 1st Church Speaker

Dr. Rembert E. Stokes, Dean of Payne Theological Seminary, of Wilberforce University, Ohio, will be the Allen's Day speaker at First A.M.E. Church, Eighth and Towne, Sunday morning (Feb. 14). The second Sunday in February is Founder's Day throughout the African Methodist Episcopal Church in honor of Richard Allen, founder and first Bishop of that great religious organization.

Dr. Seokes, a stirring speaker, has been dean at Payne Seminary since 1951. He is a native of Dayton, Ohio, and is the son of the late attorney W. O. Stokes and Mrs. Hazel Stokes. Dr. Stokes was graduated from Wilberforce in 1940 and Boston University where he received the S.T.B. and Th.D. degrees. He also studied at Harvard Divinity School.

Dr. Stokes was ordained an Elder in the A.M.E. Church in 1942. He was pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1942-1948, and of St. Paul in Canton, Ohio, from 1948-1951. Sojourner Truth Opens Golden Anniversary Year

Chosen to emcee the first Celebration Party of Sojourner Truth Industrial Club was Mrs. Honore Levy, daughter of the late Mrs. Etta V. Moxley, a charter member of the club. Mrs. Levy is a counselor at Jefferson High School.

The affair marked the first benefit for the golden anniversary which the club will formally celebrate in October. Miss Beverly Woffort, whose lovely vocal numbers opened the program, was followed by Jester Hairston, popular reader, and Mrs. Virginia McGee, George Johnson, Howard Gamble, Miss Kay Kubota, soloists. Accompanists were Miss Mary Ann Buford and Mrs. Estelle Saunders. Incidental numbers were played by Mrs. Richardson, of New York. The president, Mrs. Jayne Willa Holmes, gave highlights of the club's history and outlined briefly the Celebration plans.

Dr. Vada Somerville was celebration chairman, and among those assisting were: Mesdames Ardelia Anglin, Sydnetta Smith, Leonie Gamble, Bessie Dones, Betty Hill Hill, Mayme Dillard, Ruth Wilson, Sarah Judkins, Josie Llewellyn and Inez Miles. Sojourner's Harvard House was the charming scene of the Tea, and the enthusiasm displayed by members and friends of the club is indicative of fine things to come.

Methodists Support Fight for Freedom

NEW YORK. — Hailing the "courageous efforts" of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People "to rid America of Jim Crowism in all its forms," the College of Bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church this week pledged "moral and financial support" to the Association's Fight for Freedom campaign.

Meharry Gets $10,000 Gift for 'Miller' Fund

NASHVILLE—Dr. Harold D. West, president of Meharry Medical college, has just announced a gift of $10,000 from Mrs. Emma B. Miller, wife of the late and eminent Dr. Lloyd T. Miller of Yazoo City, Miss.

The money will be placed in a special fund to be known as the Dr. Lloyd T. Miller Scholarship Fund. The income from the principal will go each year to some deserving medical student.

Mrs. Miller's gift is probably the largest single donation ever made by an alumnus or relative of an alumnus of Meharry. Dr. Lloyd Miller graduated from Meharry in the class of 1893.

Dr. Miller pioneered in setting up private clinics in order to bring adequate medical service to Negro citizens in the south. His first 'sanitorium' established in 1893 grew into a modern hospital in 1927.

This hospital was built by the Afro-Sons and Daughters, a fraternal organization in Yazoo City. For almost a quarter of a century this hospital under Dr. Miller's administration was the chief center of all surgical service for Negro citizens of this area. Dr. Miller averaged over 65 operations each month and became known as one of the outstanding surgeons of the country.

In accepting the $10,000 gift Dr. West said that it "will be a perpetual memorial to the life of one of Meharry's most distinguished alumni."

Plea Made For Wells

Western State Baptist Convention; Rabbi J. Sarchi Rankorsky; Dr. D. C. Austin, moderator and minister of the Greater Cornerstone Baptist church; the Rev. J. T. Shiraishi; and Dr. H. B. Charles, president of the Baptist Ministers Union of Los Angeles.

Response of these clergymen came following an appeal headed by Dr. Jonathan L. Caston, the Rev. A. A. Peters, the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw and Dr. M. Mays.

Ask Mercy

The plea, in addition to pointing to the moral and civil law, stated:

"No man has ever been executed for a crime that did not involve the death of another.

"Mercy demands that no such sentence shall ever take place in our state, particularly in this case where the record reveals that two prison doctors shortly before the incident, had examined Welles and found him in an abnormal state of terror and fear requiring hospitalization and treatment."

Negro History Week Topic of AME Laymen

The Annual Laymen's Day observance at First A.M.E. Church Sunday, February 21st will be enlivened by an afternoon Panel Discussion on the subject "Should the Observance of Negro History Week Be Continued." Robinson is president of the Lay Organizatio of First Church and Miss Barbara Bradley is program chairman for this year's observance.

Panel discussants will be Mr. Wesley Brazier, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Urban League, Mr. Leon Stewart, well-known writer and fraternity leader, Mrs. Nellie Render and Mr. Fred M. Baker, both teachers in the local public school system. Rev. Brice U. Taylor, teacher and famed athlete, will be master of ceremonies.

At the morning services the speaker will be Attorney R. J. Reynolds of San Francisco, President of the Fifth Episcopal District Lay Organization of the A.M.E.: Church.

Death Mourned

MISS JARNAGAN

Santa Monica was shocked at the death last Tuesday of a long-time resident, Miss Henretta Jarnagan, of 1750 12th Street. She was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church. She leaves to mourn her a sister, Mrs. Arabella Preston; a brother-in-law, Charles Preston, Sr.; a nephew, Charles Preston, Jr.; his sons, Harrold, Jr., and Charles Freman, and a host of friends. Rev. W. P. Carter officited and interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Peters Wins Red Cross Honor

Mrs. Codye Peters, wife of Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of the Victory Baptist Church, this week gained the title of "Mrs. Red Cross" for this area.

The name was bestowed on her as she accepted the residential chairmanship of Area 4-A in the 1954 Red Cross fund-raising drive which seeks a chapter-wide goal of $3.009.150.

Her appointment was announced here by Nat Diamond, of the Empire Furniture Company, regional chairman for this territory.

Area 4-A has accepted a quota of $10.500 as its share of the annual campaign for funds.

Mrs. Peters, today, is in the midst of a gigantic recruitment drive, seeking as her key aides men and women who can canvass for funds from house-to-house and office-to-office when the drive gets underway March 1.

In commenting on the 1954 Red Cross drive slogan — "On Guard For You—Give"—Mrs. Peters said:

"For more than 70 years, Red Cross has been the American public's guardian angel. To remain on guard for you and me and our neighbors, Red Cross appeals to Americans once a year for funds needed to keep the organization strong, ready and alert.

"These funds come from only one source—your donation and mine. It was from such funds that Los Angeles last year was able to deliver more whole blood for life-saving transfusion use in civilian hospitals than any other single organization in the United States—a total of 110.198 pints. In addition, the Defense Department received 86.001 pints of blood from this area.

"By next July, the monthly civilian hospital blood quota will be boosted from 10.000 to 12.000 pints as Los Angeles steps up this phase of its community service program. Your contribution to the 1954 Red Cross fund appeal will guarantee the fulfillment of this project aimed to saves lives of the ill and injured, to provide a reserve for hemophiliac sufferers and to supply gamma globulin serum to protect youngsters against measles and hepatitis," Mrs. Peters concluded.

WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

"For four years I had constant headaches and a burning feeling in the uterus. My menstruation was very irregular and came as often as every few days. My medical doctor diagnosed the case as tumor of the uterus and said there would be no cure without an operation.

"I took the herbal remedy and within a week I discharged about twenty blood clots, each was at least the size of my fist.

"Now my headaches are gone and I do not have the burning feeling any more. I am now confident that natural herbs are better than a knife."

Sinking All Putts

By "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

By A. "Shoeless Joe" Jaco

The Negro golfers, in the Western States, have taken a big step in the campaign to secure complete recognition by the U.S.G.A. They have incubated an embryonic idea sown in the mind of and advocated for years, by Verne Gaskin, of Portland's Leisure Hour Club, and organized what is known as the Western States Golf Association.

The Negro golf clubs, on the Pacific Coast and far western inland states, have long been cognizant of the necessity for just such an organization, but each club waited for a so-called opportune time to make this an entity. Officials of the two major local clubs, Cosmopolitan and Vernondale, decided that it was a matter of now or never prior to the Labor Day Vernondale tourney, and other clubs were notified to have a representative on hand a day ahead of the opening tourney round. The response was unanimous. Representatives were here from ten clubs. Namely: Fir States, Seattle; Leisure Hour, Portland; Western Cosmopolitan, Portland; Bay Area Club, San Francisco; Desert Mashie, Phoenix; Paramount, San Diego; Pitch and Putt, L.A.; Postal, L.A., and the Cosmo and Vernondale.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mae Crowder, Ebullient from champagne, and the prime ribs being efficacious, a constitution was created and adopted and officers were elected. Cosmopolitan club president J. Cullen Fentress was elected president of this infant organization. Lee Marshall, of Postal club, was made its secretary, with Gay Smith of Pitch and Putt, assistant sec'y. Mary Woodyard, Vernondale ,treasurer, and Capt. Morris Henderson, Bay Area, General Handicap Chairman.

The four Vice-Presidents are Verne Gaskin representing the Pacific Northweast area; Orvis Knowles, Bay Area representative; Mae Crowder from the Los Angeles area, and Lawrence "Larry" Robinson, who looks after the San Diego-Phoenix locality.

This fusion is of prime importance, because it facilitates making of tournament schedules, eliminating conflicting dates, standardizes handicaps, and creates a body that is capable of bidding on any major national golf tournament.

The western states have long been in need of such unification. It detracts not one whit from the individual member clubs, but the affinity does add strength and gives guidance to the less strong clubs of the circuit.

A western states tournament will be held annually, with each member club acting as host in turn. The winner of this event will be recognized nationally as a major title holder.

This organization desires only to substantiate the theory that in unity there is strength, and each member club is cooperating wholly to prevent this from being an ephemeral gesture.

The various committees and their chairmen appointed by the president are: Publiicty—A. "Shoeless Joe" Jaco, Chairman. The aides are Louis Campbell of Oakland, Duke Browning of Seattle ,and C. M. Jackson, San Diego. The Budget and Finance committee is composed of Frank Adams, Chairman, a Cosmo, Andrew Lacy of the Bay Area, Harry Hardy, Portland, and Frank Huff, temporary representative of Tuscon.

Whiz Kids Cage Team Split Tilts With Mexicali

Fred Griffin's scrappy Whiz Kids basketball team, making their first appearance in Mexico, split a double bill winning the first game 69 to 60 and dropping the second 60-62 in games with the Mexicali 6-6.

The fast breaking Whiz Kids jumped into an early lead during the first game and fought off Mexicali's closing threat to win by nine points. The second game was played in weather featuring 115 degrees on a cement court. Polo Torres and A. Matus, Mexicali's terror twins, provided the visitors with all the headaches needed as they played brilliant ball to edge the Los Angeles team 60-62 in the thrilling second game.

Mexicali and the Whiz Kids are set for return games here sometime in March.

BOWLING NOTES

BOB WILLIAMS

The Sunset bowling league engaged themselves another one of those torrid weeks of action. Since each game counts heavily toward the league championship, the bowlers are feeling the pressure of each game. Central Bar-B-Que retained their loop league by a half game margin and although they have only been leading the race for two weeks they could go on and win the league. Central bowlers are a strong group with keen game skill. Browns Motors and some steady bowling by John Millon who racked up a 241 high game kept his team in contention.

Harold Johnson of Lee Hi Hats parlayed his 212-221-193 games for a 626 series to stop the bid of the King Pins. Garretts Enterprise, B & B's both took their victory in stride.

SO. PARK CAGERS TURNS BACK C.I.O.

The South Park Athletic Club maintains second place, tied with the Hoffman Radio Corporation team in the Fremont Basketball League of Muncipial Sports. In a spectacular game Friday, February 5 ,the South Park Athletic Club nosed out the CIO Packers, with a score of 44-40.

Outstanding players in this fast, hard-driving game were Roy Brewster, who scored 18 points playing all four quarters, and that tricky-quicky Donald Johnson scoring nine points in tow and one-half quarters.

Coach Joe Lewis, Director at South Park, says he is confident that the boys can take first place because they are playing better as the league play progresses.

GENE BAKER NIGHT

They are having a Gene Baker night Feb. 20, in the Magnolia Room of the Hotel Clark. It is sort of farewell get-togther prior to the scrappy infielder's leaving for the Chicago Cubs. The ex-Angels star is being honored by Chet Brewer, Buzz Mackey, Jesse Hubbard, Buster Hayward and Andrew Porter. Cocktails in the Le Caribe and Blue Room will be poured. For reservations call PR. 5357. Baseball fans are invited to be on hand to wish the former coast leaguer well.

Jackie Robinson Warns Athletes To Put Studies Above Athletics

WASHINGTON — One of America's most versatile athletes declared here last night (Tuesday, February 2nd) that if he had to re-live his college days, he would devote more time to studies and less to athletics.

The speaker was Jackie Robinson, star infielder-outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers and a four-letter man while a student at the University of California at Los Angeles. Robinson spoke at the annual Howard University varsity awards banquet.

Awards

Addressing the 62 athletes who received awards for fall sports, Robinson did not minimize the importance of athletics in college, but he did say that scholarly attainment should be the student's primary goal.

He called "teamwork" an essential for success and told the group, which included 24 football lettermen, "It isn't the line or the backs which wins the game, but a combination of both. So in life, it is the combined efforts of many which produce success."

The Brooklyn star paid tribute to former heavyweight champion Joe Louis for opening the field of sports to Negroes. He said that it was Louis' conduct both in and out of the ring that opened the doors for Negro youth.

Robinson also paid tribute to Branch Rickey, former Brooklyn general manager, for his "guidance" and to his (Robinson's) wife, who was present, for being a tremendous force behind me."

Robinson also took the occasion to explain what he called the "bad press" he is receiving. "During my early years in the majors," he said, "I had to suppress my thoughts and feelings. I got good press, but I felt miserable. Now," he contniued, "I can speak my mind. It doesn't always make for good press, but I am living better with myself."

Other speakers at the banquet included Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard; Dr. W. Stuart Nelson, dean of the University; Dr. J. St. Clair Price, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and chairman of the committee on athletics; Mr. J. Theodore Chambers, acting director of athletics; and Mrs. Louise T. Byars, president of the District of Columbia Chapter of the Howard University Alumni Association.

Varsity awards were presented to lettermen on Howard's football, soccer, and cross-country teams.

Bruin Cagers Bid for Title Against Bears

The Bruins' basketball team battles the California Bears for the Southern Division lead this week-end. California arrives here for two games with the Westwooders, while SC goes into Palo Alto for two with the Stanford Indians Friday and Saturday. If the Bruins edge the Bears and SC defeats Stanford in their games, the Southern Division race will be a three-way tie with only the Indians out of the running.

The Bruins, who are on the move having won five straight and nine in a row on the home court, are being figured to short-circuit the Bears this week-end.

SANTA ANITA — Santa Anita's $100,000 Added San Juan Capistrano Handicap, being held on the turf for the first time this year, will be lengthened to the full grass-course distance of approximately 1¾ miles next year, it was annouced by Dr. Charles H. Strub, executive vice-president of Santa Anita Park. This year, because of the newness of the new hillside infield grass course, the San Juan Capistrano was scheduled at 1½ miles as the first $100,000 stakes ever to be raced over the turf. Its running is scheduled for March 6, closing day of the current 1953-54 meeting.

RAMSEY

The $25,000 Washington's Birthday Handicap at 1¼ miles on the grass will precede it on Monday, Feb. 22.

Lengthening of the San Juan Capistrano is expected to prove a further attraction for owners of foreign horses to send their champions to Santa Anita Park. A considerable number of foreign-bred stars, whose reputations were made on the turf, have raced at Santa Anita this year. For four years, 1950-53 inclusive, the San Juan Capistrano distance on the dirt was 1¾ miles as one of the outstanding marathon stakes in the nation.

Presentation of the George Woolf Award to Jockey Ralph Neves in ceremonies before Friday's Lincoln's Birthday holiday program and Saturday's 16th running of the important $50,000 Added San Antonio Handicap, are highlights of Santa Anita's seventh racing week, beginning Tuesday.

In all, three stakes will be decided during the week and three additional events are scehduled over the hillside infield turf course. First of the stakes is the $15,000 Added Los Cerritos Handicap.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO—With nearly all the outstanding jockeys in the nation at beautiful Caliente last Sunday to honor the Iceman Jockey George Woolf Memorial, it was Zigana that won this annual event only to be disqualified back to third place. The crowd of over 9000 gave scrappy little Pete Moreno who had the mount on Mytal a fine ovation. Jockey Ray York started out to make a runaway race with Zigana and all but succeeded. She swerved into the path of Grey Jewel, who was swooping down the home stretch, knocking the Jewel who badly bumped Mytal who was on the outside. The stewards promptly disqualified Zigana, gave second place to Grey Jewel and Zigana third. Mutuel handle, $287,962.

No. Carolina 'U' About Faces When Finds Prep Ace Negro

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

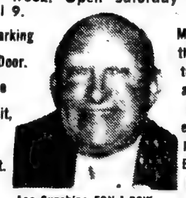
North Carolina University almost landed the prize prep basketball player in the southwest. There was only one thing wrong, he is a Negro, Don Byrd, slick hook shot and a tap-in artist of Cleveland High school who enlisted in the army before finishing his senior year became a standout player on the army team. Byrd still has half of his three year enlistment to serve, and he still has some work to complete to qualify for his high school diploma. But it was a cinch that he would be deluged by college basketball offer. And he has been.

Feelers Sent

One such feeler came from North Carolina, where Frank McGuire has been transplanted from New York to build a winning team for the Tarheels. Byrd was recommended to McGuire by a North Carolina alumnus. Shamefacedly, McGuire, who had coached Negroes while at St. John in Brooklyn, admitted that he had made a mistake. University rules prohibit Byrd's entrance. Apparently, the Tarheels were ready to wait a year and a half for the cage ace to complete his schooling. But the racial barrier was one that couldn't be overcome. Funny twist to this story is, eight of the 12 on the roster hailed from New York, New Jersey and in one case, Indiana. It's almost a certainty that all of them played with or against Negroes in high school.

Renteria, Armando Mixes Tues. Night

Two up-and-coming young boxers will tangle in the Olympic Tuesday night main event when Manuel Renteria and Armando Muniz meet.



Both fighters did remarkably well during the 1953 boxing season and showed plenty of promise and for that showing are getting a crack at the main-liner.

Renteria and Armando are both lightweights and crowd pleasers, both having been engaged in several pier-6 Olympic brawls. They should provide the fans with lots of actoion.

DELTAS HOPING FOR BIG DANCE

Something to look forward to is the Annual Sweetheart Ball to be given by Pi and Upsilon Chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Working diligently to make this affair most unique and interesting are general chairmen Jackie Sneed and Mary Carroll. Other chairmen and members of committees are Evalyn Grayce, prizes; Lillian Ferguson, Charlene Smith, and Zeresh Eberhardt, publicity.

Two Hundred Deltas and Mothers Observed Annual Founders' Day

Some 200 Deltas and Delta Mothers observed the 41st anniversary of the founding of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at their annual Founders' Day Banquet Friday at the Women's University Club.

Speakers' Table

The speakers' table capably presided over by Dr. Geraldine P. Woods, president of Nu Sigma, bore a profusion of roses and carnations carrying out the sorority's colors. Each soror found at her place a small yellow booklet tied with a red ribbon containing the evening's program. Dainty flower-shaped pearl earrings were the evening's souvenirs.

Founders Honored

Founders honored were Angelenas, Mmes. Zephyr Chism Carter, and Wertie Weaver. Sharing the spotlight were local chapters, Pi founded in 1923, Upsilon in 1924, and Nu Sigma in 1927. Dr. Geraldine Woods gave the story of the birth of Delta at Howard University in 1913. Then the history of the Los Angeles chapters was depicted in an ingenious skit titled "This Is Your Life" narrated skillfully by Doxie Mason. This playet was the source of much merriment. Several amusing anecdotes centered around Pi chapter were recounted by Soror Marian Carter McCard and the saga of the Los Angeles chapters was completed by Soror Ruth Sykes Webster who shared honors at the speakers' table. Material on which the skit was based was furnished by Mirriam Matthews, Marian Robinson McCard, Marian Carter Moore and Ruth Sykes Webster, music by Bernice Lawson, choreography, Harriet Jordan, choral arrangements, Danellyn Mabry and a special piano solo was rendered by Paulyn Glass.

National Hymn

One of the highlights of the program was the presentation of Soror Florence Cole Talbert who sang with simple beauty her composition, the Delta Sigma Theta National Hymn. Soror Mary Lou Tolbert, Far West Regional Director, cited several sorors for outstanding achievement including Alma Torrance who made Phi Beta Kappa at UCLA and Dr. Woods who received the same honor at Radcliffe University.

Presidents—Past and Present

The group was studded with presidents of the local chapters both past and present. They included Marian Carter Moore, past president of Pi, Virginia Pillow, past president of Upsilon, Juanita Miller, Honore Carey, pycine Webb and Mary Lou Tolbert, all past presidents of Nu Sigma.

Committee Lauded

Bouquets to Mimi Saunders and Tycine Webb, co-chairmen of Founders' Day Committee, and to the committee members, Jean Moffett, Cassandra Bradley, Floraline Ingraham, Bernice Lawson, Eula Dean Robey, Zenobia Carey and Mary Glenn.

Jabberwock Reception

Delta now looks forward to Jabberwock to be staged on May 23rd at Bovard Auditorium. All clubs and fraternities and sororities are cordially invited to a reception on Sunday, Feb. 14th, at 7 p.m. at the Alpha House on Western Ave. to discuss the theme "Avenues Everywhere" and possible skits. Valuable prizes will be given for the best skits on the night of the Jabberwock.

The Blenderettes Social club held their regular meeting in the popular Hotel Clark's Magnolia Room recently. Members and guests enjoyed cocktails after the meeting.

A panoramic history of Alpha Kappa Alpha was given with sorors Dr. Vada Sommerville representing the past; Mary King the present; and Lucille Bonett the future. Highlight of the evening was the impressive rededication ceremony as led by soror Bernice Barnum.

At the regular graduate chapter meeting, Saturday, special recognition was made of Founder's Day during the social hour. Soror Marie Flenoury, accompanied by soror Juanita King, sang "Grow Green Thou Winter Wine." Soror Edythe Owens played a medley of her favorite selections.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

Under the point count system using this new play by play simplified method the many students are now finding out the many different patterns of hands that are worked out for them as they play them, which now shows an entirely different pocture of how scientific bridge is played. The distributional factors and the many combinations of cards reveals the mathematical count. For example, this is another illustration of hands that was played in class:

S. 8-6-4-2	(0)
H. A-4	(4)
D. A-J-9	(5)
C. K-5-3-2	(3)
	12 Points

—E—
Pass N S Pass
—W—

S. A-5	(4)
H. Q-6-2	(2)
D. K-10-8-4-2	(3)
C. A-Q-6	(6)

Combined hands total 27 points, usually 26 is enough for game in major suits.

The opening bid was one diamond bid by West. North passes. East responded with two "No Trumps" and South passes. West bids three "No Trumps" using the point count valuation. Ace equals four, King equals three, Queen equals two and Jack equals one point. Voids equal three points, singletons equal two points and doubletons equal one point.

The classes at the YWCA which meet at 7:30 Tuesday evenings, are now skyrocketing right into advanced bridge with my new simplified method of bridge instruction.

Top Hatters Plans Calypso Carnival

The social committee for this event was: Norma Brown, Jackie Coleman, Caylia Brown, Jean Brown, Therese Matthews, Myrtle Davenport, Ethel Outlaw and Beuerlee Pickett.

HOUNDS LAMENT

Time brings about a change. That local lass who recently returned to town and toted her bag and baggage to the abode of her former swain was greatly distressed over the cold shoulder she received. He was busy at the moment (a Fun-Fest) but he (with his noble personality) swiftly ushered her off to a room in that West Adams hotel (such gratitude).

We're wondering if that picture on the latest Chesterfield poster is Billie Jean Weaver in Technicolor?

Speaking of off-colored pictures, it didn't take Ann Allen long to replace her last "lovah." Her latest flame is reportedly much more than a glow.

'Tis said in the gossiping circles that B. B. Baines and Raymond Croomes are house hunting. Wonder what happened to that "old old" torch of the latter's?

The christening of Frank and Bette Braxton's "lil" girl, Aleta Mignon, is a much-heralded event. Lorenzo Wallace, the child's godfather, might even be in the church.

On the blessed event "kick" this week are Norma Lee Robinson and Jean Benjamin. They expect in the near future.

People on the scene are expecting the Syndicators' Feb. 19 affair at the Diana Ballroom to be the most.

Everyone who has the word is wondering why that local lover decided to attend the northern school instead of one in this locality. We have it exclusively that he went there because he wanted to avoid payment of a debt that was paid by his 37th street gal pal.

We gasped when we caught sight of Wanda Stasher wheeling Ned Qualls' new Merc. down the Ave. (Central Avenue). Thought she didn't have eyes.

DELTAS' PAJAMAS TOPS

The question of who had the craziest pajama top at the Delta Pyramid Pajama Top Party was even difficult for your Hounds to decide. The PJ's worn by the feminine participants really wigged us. (Cest Si Bon). The two winners turned out to be Willie Collins for the men and Delores James for the women.

The guest list included: Sybil Thomas, Imogene Neuseom, Flo Ingram, Donzella Coulter, Craig Thompson, Sandy Lewis, Dauphlen Mabry, Kathryn Purdue, Alora Anderson, Morris Taft, Wallace Pugh, Walter Bruce, Evelyn Gray, Jackie Reed, Leroy Watson, Gracie Hill, Myrna Kimbrough, Wilbur White, Carol Bibble, Mary Alice Wilkin, Joe Swann, Lee Josephs and Jean Turner.

AFFAIR

Theresa Mathews, gal about [illegible] junked the AKA Ivy [illegible] their greatest achievement. Party at the Kappa house proved to be the "most." We weren't surprised that they found the proper guidance in Theresa. She's the spark they needed.

People included: Janice Shelby, Willie Naulls, Coyla and Buddy Maxwell, Barbara Weaver, Sammy Washington, Shirly Mathews, Le Chita and Leon McCarty, Larry Dugan, Beverly Pickett, Walker Bruce, Doris Worthy and Jackie Colemon.

MAKING THE ROUNDS WITH THE HOUNDS

The other a.m. we viewed Suzy Moore and Cairo Collins focusing attention (for the moment) on Eddy Dudley, the pianist at Dynamite's, also with them was Jack Thompson and his latest (excuse—we didn't get the lady's name).

The next eve we passed the Bar—But flung greetings and salutations at Cosmopolitan Hotel Barman Allen (Mickey) Jones.

Glimpsed lovely Jean Turner catching the show at the Oasis. She must really dig the act as this is her fifteenth time there.

Vivacious Florence Smith, who celebrated her natal day on the ninth of this month, was real happy over the beautiful mink stole gifted her by a secret admirer.

Handsome, Young

Oden Brown, the handsome young actor who seemingly electrified a whole audience recently with a Shakespearean reading and since has garnered much column mention as well as appearing on Bill Luke's Man of Color, had a brother, Jimmy, who was equally distinguished in his own career.

Jimmy, who passed over a year ago, was a State Department attache in Liberia before becoming one of the original staff members at the UN. Charming, urbane, musical and completely cosmopolitan Jimmy was one of New York's more interesting bachelor hosts when the urge struck him. Jimmy and Oden's sister is wed to one of D. C.'s very affluent, successful young medics, Charles Adams.

Merti Hathaway hanging half out of a car ogling at a disappearing Railway Express truck cries to us: "I was determined not to let another one pass without seeing that Mil Blount hat in the advertisement!"

A little further along, Ceth Lee in warm weather pink and white confides she wishes very strongly to get back to Mexico City for another whirl. She loves it down there. Even more so than Hawaii, in fact. She had fun, too, on her recent Berkeley holiday.

At the airport the other early a.m. we ran across husky Charles Brown, box lunch gingerly held in one hand. He muttered to us: "I sure wish you could play a piano, I'd send you to Dallas in my place!" He had been suffering silently all morning waiting on a delayed take-off.

We reminisced awhile of early times at Ivie's Chicken Shack. Last view I had of him, his broad shoulders, wearied no no doubt from counting his money, he was wandering off inconsolable.

Artist Wins Suit Against Record Co.

Charles Brown, well-known recording artist, last Friday won a victory over Aladdin Records, when a complaint charging him with grand theft was dismissed in Beverly Hills court.

The case grew out of a dispute over Brown's contract with the company. Brown, who was represented by Atty. Thomas G. Neusom, claimed that the company had refused either to give him a copy of a contract he had signed with them or permit him to take their copy to have it photostated.

When they showed him the contract, he advised them he was going to have a copy made.

Messner and Messner, owners of Aladdin Records, at Doheny Drive and Beverly Hills, thereupon filed the complaint of theft against Brown, 2292 W. 23rd Street.

A representative of the district attorney's office told the judge police had recovered the disputed contract from a photostatics shop, and advised the D.A. did not wish to prosecute.

Brown has threatened to file suit against the Messner brothers and Aladdin Records for malicious prosecution and

Show Business

If it's the tops in clubs and entertainment you want, just ask Francis P. Waller, Jr. I don't know how he does it, but he really picks 'em. Looking for something to enliven the evening? Then drop by the Ebony Showcase and enjoy an unforgettable presentation of "Three Men on a Horse."

Ebony's Best Bet

This rollicking Broadway hit has proved to be a success in Los Angeles. It is without a doubt the most hilarious comedy seen in years. Nick and Edna Stewart have scored again with another brilliant production. "Three Men on a Horse" is designed to make you laugh, and does it magnificently.

From the pen of John Cecil Holm and George Abbott comes this amusing tale of a meek little man (Nick Stewart) who has toiled for years writing verses for greeting cards. One day he discovers his uncanny ability to pick the winners. This is where bedlam breaks loose, when three gamblers, James Edwards, Johnny Lee and Sammy Gardner decide to make a mint from the little man's hot tips.

"Action" worth digging: A pulsating package of the "most" in music is Ross Burdick and Gene Norman's mellow "session" set for Sunday, February 28, at the "fine" Shrine Auditorium. Stan Kenton's band, Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker, Earl Garner Trio and June Christy will all be around to present the finest in "sound." —Z.H.

the land. Yet we are broad minded enough to know that there are good and bad in every race. Many such incidents have happened in the past few years, where one or two Negroes have violated or were said to have violated the law, the reflection must be carried on the entire race. Because of the sins of one or two we must not judge all men.

Much of our segregation and a lot of prejudice is caused by misrepresentations regarding the Negro race.

This problem can best be settled by the Negro people themselves. Our fault is we care more about ourselves and less about our next door neighbor. We are prejudiced to certain extents against one another, perhaps because one has a better position in a higher profession or housed better than the other, only simple things.

We must forget our own selfish and prejudiced ways if we are ever to really get anywhere, particularly since we face a problem concerning what color you are, not what you can do.

We must make the Negro race of people not great, but greater. By sticking together and helping the other, if we can accomplish this we can accomplish our other problems. If we become weak the race will become weaker.

In time all races will realize that you don't judge a person, all the time by the way you look or the color you are, for deep down inside there is some good in every one.

All New Houses Now Being Sold For $250 Down

More than 100,000 families who have to watch their pennies have found a way to own their own homes. The U Finish It House provides the answer.

Since 60 percent of the cost of building a house is in the labor, the U Finish It plan simply cuts several thousand dollars off that cost of the house.

Inexpensively Completed

The experts do all of the heavy work. They build the foundation, finish all of the outside, install all windows and outside doors, plumbing pipes, basic electrical work, etc. In fact they even provide bathroom fixtures, the asphalt tile for floors and finishing material for the bathroom.

After that it is up to the new owner to finish the inside—to his own taste. This part of the work, which anybody can do—but which is tremendously expensive when a paid worker is employed by the hour—can be done in the owner's spare time.

All Utilities Available

An excellent example of the U Finish It House can be found in a tract developed in Fontana by the Omart Investment Co., 1111 W Foothill Blvd., Azusa. Twenty new three-bedroom homes on lots 60 by 167 have all the heavy work done on them and are waiting for new owners to finish them.

Conveniently Situated

"This plan has been a dream of mine for 25 years," M. Penn Phillips, president of Omart Investment Co., said in discussing the homes. "I have never felt that the average wage earner could afford to make large down payments and then spend 25 or 30 years paying off the balance. Anyone who can scrape together $250 and hold a hammer can now own his own home."

Residents Win Zone Fight

vised Yankie of its decision regarding a zone change, and sent a copy of the letter to Dial.

The letter stated, in part: "In the matter of the request for a change of zone . . . please be advised that the City Planning Commission on Thursday, Feb. 4 recommended disapproval of the application. . . .

Not Justified

"The zone change cannot be justified in the interests of the general welfare, since there is a definite need for a park in the neighborhood. To grant the request would conflict with the master plan of recreation and parks which indicates the need for setting aside the area for recreational purposes in the district.

"The Board of Recreation and Park Commissioners is on record as endorsing the proposal made by residents of the district through the East of Central Improvement Association that this property be acquired for playground purposes."

The Yankie company was given 20 days to appeal the decision.

The area in question is a narrow strip of land between West Long Beach avenue and Honduras street, 46th street and 48th place.

New Freeway Dooms Sugar Hill

LANDMARKS FACE BULLDOZER—Among the many magnificent homes in famed Sugar Hill section of Los Angeles whose fate will be decided by the State Highway Commission this week are, from left, the Kappa Kastle, 2104 S. Harvard Blvd., home of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity; the residence of the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the city's Second Baptist church, and the Sojourner Truth Mansion, 2133 S. Harvard Blvd. City and State engineers, despite protests by hundreds of minority group home-owners, have recommended that the proposed Olympic Freeway follow a path cutting through Sugar Hill. Above houses are either directly in path of planned route, or in immediate vicinity.

Sugar Hill's Fate To Be Decided at Freeway Hearing

LIBRARY
WILSHIRE AVE.

Famed Sugar Hill, where many of the homes of the Negro great and near great are located, seemed headed for destruction this week, as city and state engineers picked this area for the new Olympic Freeway.

The final seal of approval, however, has not yet been placed on the proposal. Although the cards seemed heavily stacked against a reversal, there was an encouraging possibility that a victory might still be achieved.

Unique Situation

To plead the "unique situation" of the Negro and other residents of the area, three delegates of a citizens committee set up last September were leaving Los Angeles on Wednesday night for Sacramento.

Floyd Covington, Bernard Jefferson and John Saito were scheduled to appear before the Highway Commission today, Thursday, at 11:30 a.m., to protest the selection of the Sugar Hill route.

Unequal Basis

Covington told the Eagle that the 500-800 minority property owners who will be affected are not on an equal basis with others when it comes to the selection of new homes.

Covington said they will stress to the seven-member commission the undisputed fact that these families — Negroes, Japanese and members of other minority groups — cannot purchase comparable property in other neighborhoods of their choice because of the widespread discrimination that exists in the city.

The recommendation for the selection of the Sugar Hill route was made jointly by the city engineers and the state highway engineers and was submitted to the commission over the signature of George T. McCoy.

Adoption Expected

The matter will be considered by the commission, but, according to Hugo Winters, city engineer, it was expected that the commission would adopt the recommendation.

After that, there probably will be a public hearing, but the time is already late to prevent bulldozers cutting a wide swath through the center of the most prosperous, best kept and most beautiful Negro-owned property in the country.

What will happen to the families of Negroes and other minorities who now live in the path of the proposed freeway apparently did not unduly concern, the engineers. According to Winters, the decision was arrived at on the basis of cost, shortness of the route and "service to the community."

Terrible!

Winters estimated that there would be a saving of some $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 by using the Sugar Hill route as against other routes considered.

With regard to the relocation of the displaced families, the city engineer remarked that residents would have up to five years in which to obtain other homes.

Councilman Navarro, through whose district the new freeway will run, commented: "Ter-

Virgin Islands Governor Post To Alexander

WASHINGTON—Archie A. Alexander, famed Iowa engineer and bridge builder, got a choice Republican plum this week when he was named governor of the Virgin Islands. The appointment is subject to senatorial confirmation.

Alexander is a native of Iowa, having been born in Ottumwa on May 14, 1888. He attended a country school and later moved to a farm in Des Moines, where he finished elementary and high school. After a year of preliminary work at Des Moines University, he entered the University of Iowa in 1908, and graduated with a degree in Civil Engineering in 1912.

In 1914 he established his own general contracting firm, known as A. A. Alexander, Inc., which continued until 1929, when a partnership was formed with M. A. Repass, a classmate. The firm is now known as Alexander and Repass and specializes in building sewers, disposal plants, power houses, bridges, water plants and railroads throughout the country. Outstanding works included railroad bridges for the Rock Island Railroad, power house for the University of Iowa, and

YMCA Opens Annual Drive For Members

The public subscription phase of the 28th Street YMCA's Fund Drive began Monday night, at the "Y" with a Kick-Off Dinner for volunteer workers, Rev. Alvis A. Shaw, drive chairman, said this week.

The group of 100 volunteers was briefed on the job of raising $12,000 for the YMCA's Youth Services during the year.

Organized into two divisions of five teams each and a Special Gift division headed by Lonzie L. Jones, board chairman, this year's campaign should develop into a highly successful effort.

Report meetings will be held on Monday nights for three weeks following the kick off with a victory dinner scheduled for March 15.

In his remarks to the workers, Rev. Shaw brought out that the Youth of Los Angeles needs the YMCA for the development of their leadership abilities and their practical and recreational talents; and for the development of Christian personality through action.

Special Gifts Chairman, Lonzie L. Jones, echoed Rev. Shaw's words when he told the volunteer workers, "The 28th Street YMCA has more calls on its facilities than it can possibly take care of. This is due to a shortage of staff and funds. It is necessary to expand the Program in this rapidly growing area immediately. That's our job as Campaign Workers—to raise money to do so."

The top solicitors in last year's campaign were Rev. Paul D. Lehman; Lorenzo Bowdoin, Clarence Smith; Loyd V. Frantz, Jr., Conway Johnson and Tompkins Jennings. Their teammates this year will be challenged by a host of new workers who are anxious to show their ability by winning a big prize awarded to the solicitors this year. Citizens wishing to make a contribution to the YMCA may do so by mail-

J. L. Hill Given Post On State Board

John LaMar Hill, president of Angelus Funeral Home, was named to the State Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers this week by Governor Goodwin J. Knight. He will serve for a four year term until 1958.

The long-rumored appointment gives Hill the distinction of being the first Negro to serve on the Board and marks another step in his consistent advancement in his profession.

The new appointee took over the presidency of the Angelus Funeral Home following the death of his father and has gradually assumed full control of the organization. Last year he purchased the stock of L. G. Robinson and this year bought the Lorenzo Bowdoin stock. They were his father's original associates.

Married and the father of three children, Hill lives at 1225 Westchester place. He is a native of Los Angeles and his wife is the former Athenaise Houston. He was educated in Los Angeles public schools and is a graduate of Manual Arts High school and of the California College of Mortuary Science.

Hill is a veteran of World War II, a member of Westminster Presbyterian church, Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity and Pacific Town Club.

Fire Department Plans For Change In Policies Told

The Board of Fire Commissioners hopes to quiet demands for abolition of racial segregation in the Fire Department by the appointment of Negroes who are expected to qualify in a fireman's examination slated for March 10, the Eagle learned from unimpeachable sources this week.

The new appointees will not be assigned to Stations 30 or 14 to which Negroes are presently confined but will probably be sent to Station 21, located at 1187 East 52nd street, which is now a "white" station.

The belief among Commissioners is that the appointments can be made and the men assigned within the next five months to give substance to Mayor Poulson's Jan. 7 announcement that "commencing within the next six months there would be a gradual correction" of segregation practices.

Meanwhile, the NAACP's request to the Board for a change in policy requiring the end of all assignments and transfers on a racial basis will be quietly ignored, the Eagle learned. Such a request was made after the Mayor's announcement but

Fire Chief Ordered to Give Facts

Fire Chief John H. Alderson must appear at the office of Attorney Thomas G. Neusom on Feb. 27 to answer questions in a deposition designed to clear up racial segregation policies in the Fire Department.

The chief was ordered to appear after Deputy City Attorney James Sill failed to have the subpoena requiring his appearance quashed.

Neusom stressed the fact that no suit has been filed in the case and that the deposition is being taken only to get a clear statement from Chief Alderson under oath.

BRUISED—Lafayette teacher, Samuel DeBose, was bruised when hit by baseball bat.

SLUGGER—Carver's John W. Mills, athletic coach, slugged rival, Samuel DeBose, with baseball bat. Injuries of both were slight.

'Billy' Mills Clubs DeBose Of Lafayette

In a strictly extracurricular slugfest, Athletic Coach John W. Mills, of Carver Junior High school, Monday afternoon clubbed equally prominent Samuel P. DeBose, of Lafayette, over the head with a baseball bat, as their car zigzagged crazily down La Brea avenue.

The fight continued as the car came to a sudden halt when it met up with a light pole.

Jealousy, according to police, was the cause of the fight.

Alpha Veep

DeBose, national vice-president of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and a counselor at Lafayette Junior High school, came out of the affray with some hurtful bruises. Mills, 34, who lives at 3716 Arlington avenue, got a minor cut on the nose.

On Wednesday morning, when he met up with an Eagle reporter, Mills wasn't talking, either about his bat-swinging, his recent divorce from his wife, or his brief sojourn in the pokey.

Arrested

He was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

According to police, Mills,

Six Killed As Streetcar, Auto Crash

In one of the city's worst traffic tragedies, six people lost their lives early Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into a street car at the corner of 70th Street and S. Broadway.

So forceful was the impact that the auto was hurled more than 70 feet before the twisted wreck came to a halt.

Dead at Wheel

Ambulances, fire trucks, streetcar winch units and police cars converged upon the scene, as rescue crews struggled for an hour and a half to free the crumpled bodies.

Dead at the wheel of the auto, wedged behind the steering rod was Paul Anderson, 32, of 345 W. 118th Place. He apparently died instantly, as did his wife, Mrs. Ethel Lee Anderson, 30, who was seated beside him.

Others in the ill-fated car were Mrs. Ora Mae Moncrese, 31, of 234 W. 73rd Street; Marshall Cooksey, 33, of the same address; Mrs. Mary Frances Lewis, 27, of 972½ E. 46th Street, and James Henry Boykin, 21, of 1545 W. 36th Street.

Crossed Double Line

According to police, the car driven by Anderson was following another car, and pulled out across the double line directly into the path of the oncoming street car, a southbound No. 7 Los Angeles Transit Lines car, driven by Sterling W. Henderson, 721 E. 74th Street.

Henderson said that it all happened so quickly he didn't have a chance to apply his brakes. He said he was travel-

Fagan Sells Watts Auto-Hire Firm

The Watts Auto-for-Hire Company was sold this week, lock, stock and barrel, to Atty. Everett W. Leighton, with official transfer slated for Saturday morning. New offices will be located at 10206 Graham Ave., Watts.

Leonard Fagan, former owner of the seven-cab firm, is retiring from the business, and has wished his successor every success in the venture.

George "Jack" Butler, owner of the Metropolitan cab company, will be installed as general manager of the Watts company. Miss Marge Robinson will be stationed in the new offices as switchboard operator and receptionist.

Notification of the sale of the Watts company was published Tuesday.

Butler was former owner of the Watts company, which he formed in 1944. He sold it when he went into service, and when he returned, obtained ownership of the Metropolitan company in Willowbrook.

Both firms employ all Negro drivers.

SUGAR HILL DOOMED—Fate of famed Sugar Hill is in the hands of the State Highway Commission in Sacramento, following recommendation of city and state engineers that the line above, designated as "new," is the best route for the projected Olympic Freeway. The route marked "old," was under consideration, but was rejected. What happens to the families which will be displaced is anybody's guess.

AID ELKS REGISTRATION DRIVE—Herbert L. James, chairman of the AFL Voters League, and Mrs. Billie Lacy, chairman of the Friendship Democratic club, make plans for Registration Tea on the 21st at the Crystal Tea Room.

Watts Chamber Plans For Community Needs

The Watts Chamber of Commerce this week announced a 1954 program planned to fit the needs of the community, its people and its residents, as well as the business man.

President Al Kravitz, of the A C & L Market, has started the year's program with an understanding of the needs of the Chamber and the community. Newly elected officers of the Chamber in addition to Kravitz are: First Vice-President, Herb Atkinson; Second Vice-President, Nat Sussman; Secretary-Manager, Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson; and Treasurer, Sol Rosenberg.

The Board of Directors includes Harry Borkin, Ray DeArmond, Rev. S. O. J. Evans, Irving Feiglestein, Atty. Enid Fried, Earl Grant, Morrie Kallan, Walter Lions, Carl Pechuls, Lester Sidney, Bernard Yeskin, Arthur Abrams and Earl Edman.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

SPOTLIGHT REPUBLICAN DOINGS:

Fay Jackson, executive of the Woman's Political Study Club (Republican), is out as editor of the L.A. Herald. Clinton Arnold again has the reins. Clint believes in the non-partisan approach.

The push for Gordon Hahn's 26th Congressional District campaign at the Lincoln Day Rally was considered in bad taste by some of the leading local Republicans. They feel the 26th District Fact Finding Committee is the place to start.

The indomitable Betty Hill is back. She is looking good and operating at top level, has a private secretary, Belle Riley, Women's Political Study Club official. Mrs. Hill is interested in the 62nd Assembly district, she is backing Marque Neal for Gus Hawkins Assembly seat.

James Anderson

The 145th birth anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, the Great Emancipator, found Republicans and Democrats sharply divided, hurling emotional charges at one another. This time it's about the freedom of all Americans, "the freedom of the mind," and "freedom of life, liberty and the puruit of happiness." This time the Southerners will win, it will be the Southern congressional representatives whose voices in the Congress will most effectively defend the Union.

Lincoln Celebration

The Lincoln Day celebration found Louis Cole, Charles Berkeley and a few other local citizens joining in the estimated 500 people who heard Sen. Kuchel, principal speaker at the luncheon, Friday at the Biltmore hotel.

Jefferson D. Fowler is definitely in the heirachy of the Knight for Governor campaign committee. He, B. B. Bratton, Paul Williams, Louis Cole, Leon Giles, Iva Johnson, Betty Hill and well-known Negro republicans will hereafter call Knight's Negro campaign shots.

Heat Poured On

The hottest thing Democratically is the heat being poured on Councilman Ed Roybal to withdraw from the Lt. Gov. race. It has been going on without let up since Fresno, a week ago. Ed must be sadly disillusioned by now. This deal finds Calif. liberals in bed politically with California Dixiecrats.

'Sweetheart'

Toasting him as "a Sweetheart of a Guy," leaders in the labor and management fields united in a "history-making" tribute to Governor Goodwin J. Knight at a $50-a-plate testimonial banquet in the Hotel Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove last Thursday night.

Some 1,000 persons took part in the Valentine-type tribute for Governor Knight's 20 years of public service which, the Governor said, "I just couldn't miss" in spite of a severe attack of laryngitis and the advice of his physician to remain in Sacramento. Top Hollywood Stars at the affair included toastmaster Bob Hope..

Among those attending the dinner were Atty. James N. Reece, Paul R. Williams, B. B. Bratton, Jefferson D. Fowler, Norman O. Houston, State Court Justice Douglas Edmonds, Appelate Court Justice Thomas P. White, Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson, W. J. Bassett of the Central Labor Council, Louis B. Mayer and Charles P. Skouras of the motion picture industry, Los Angeles County Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and, Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker.

Treasurer of the dinner committee was William Rosenthal and Murray Stravers served as banquet coordinator.

15th District

The 15th Congressional District Democratic Party Council announces that it is ready to interview prospective Democratic Candidates for Congress. The Council has set up Fact-Finding committee to interview all candidates and present an objective report on each to the Democratic convention Feb. 28 at the Wilshire Federal Savings Building, Fifth street, just west of Western avenue. The candidates who receive the majority votes will become the nominees of the Democratic Party.

Any Democratic is eligible for the nomination. The Fact Finding Committee invites all who might have aspirations for the Democratic Party's support to appear before the Fact-Finding Committee. The committee will meet on Thursday night, Feb. 18, at 8:30 p.m. at the Wilton Place Elementary school auditorium, 8th street and Wilton Place.

In an effort to aid the Elks' Civil liberties registration drive, Herbert L. James, chairman of the AFL Voters League, and Mrs. Billie Lacy, chairman of the Friendship Democratic club, are sponsoring a registration tea Feb. 21, at the Crystal Tea Room, 4818 Avalon blvd, at 3 p.m.

Negroes Fired In Government 'Cut-Backs'

SAN FRANCISCO—Charge that government "cut back" orders are resulting in discrimination against Negro workers at Bay area government installations have been made by the NAACP West Coast regional office here.

The NAACP office last week began a series of hearings on complaints of discrimination against Negro workers at Alameda Naval Air Base.

Mrs. Tarea H. Pittman, association field secretary, said "cut backs" ordered by Washington officials have led some plant supervisors to file "a series of trivial charges against Negro workers as a means of forcing their dismissal."

FIFTY-DOLLAR-A-PLATE BANQUET—Among those attending the Republican $50-a-Plate banquet Thursday night at the Ambassador hotel, honoring Gov. Goodwin Knight, are Gov. Knight, B. B. Bratton, Dr. Jefferson D. Fowler and Paul R. Williams.

Franklin Ave. PTA Honors Custodian

Honors and highest praise came to Charles Norman, Sr., of 324½ N. Westlake, at the regular meeting of the Franklin Avenue Parent-Teachers Association last Wednesday.

Ceremonies in which the Franklin Avenue PTA president, Mrs. Mary Rovetti, and custodian Charles Norman, Sr., were awarded life memberships, marked the high spots of the meeting.

For many years Norman has been at school at 5:30 a.m. of every PTA meeting day, in order to prepare the rooms used by the organization. He contributed this effort on his own time, rather than on time paid for by the Board of Education.

Parents who expressed their appreciation to Norman said he knows every student in the school by name, that he takes an active interest in the games of the children, and that he has for many years helped students when the going got rough.

Gratitude was expressed by many parents who stated they were deeply indebted to Norman for his help in raising their children, instilling into them respect for character and principle, and love for their fellowman.

Several children have been assigned each year to help Norman with straightening benches and desks and with other minor duties. Children in the school vie with one another for this assignment.

Norman is a graduate of Rosemont Grammar school, Belmont High, and Virgil Junior High school. His wife, who was present, is membership chairman of PTA at Belmont, and music chairman at Rosemont. A son, Charles, Jr., graduated from Belmont and received a scholarship to Occidental college. Another son, Donald, recently graduated with honors from Belmont.

Elks Stage 'Log Rollin' Rally Sunday

PASADENA — All signs point to Pasadena, Sunday, Feb. 21.

It will be the focal point for all Elks, daughters and friends to rally for the third annual "Log Rolling" sponsored jointly by Sunset Lodge, 1198, E. K. Billue, exalted ruler; Rose Garden Temple, 847, Juanita Green, dtr. ruler; and Pacific States Association, James Stewart, president.

The day will begin with appropriate worship in Community Baptist Church, 1157 N. Fair Oaks, with pastor, Rev. J. W. Coleman in the pulpit. The entertainment fare will start at 1:30 p.m. with acts from the stage, screen and television performing at Masonic Hall, 1475 Lincoln avenue.

Pat Brown Opens Headquarters

The Southern California Committee to Re-elect Edmund G. "Pat" Brown as Attorney-General has announced the opening of the "Pat" Brown Workshop at 833 West 6th Street.

The Workshop, located at the northeast corner of Figueroa and 6th Streets in downtown Los Angeles, will serve as central headquarters for the Los Angeles County area and all departments of the Los Angeles County campaign will be quartered there.

Elks Pushing 'Register Now' Voting Drive

The Elks Civil Liberties Department of Golden West Lodge No. 86, IBPOEW, is now in its sixth week of its gigantic registration campaign. The Elks have adopted as their slogan "Fifty Thousand More in '54," and in order to reach this goal, they are asking the full support of the community in urging everyone to register. This year the county is paying each deputy registrar 15c per name for each person they register, and you can become a deputy registrar by calling either of the Elk's headquarters—ADams 7578 or ADams 9613.

Many organizations have already endorsed this great civic program, including the AFL Voters League, NAACP, A.M.E. Ministerial Alliance, American Council of Human Rights, Inter-Denominational Alliance, Dining Car Waiters Locals No. 465 and 582, Urban League, CIO, Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations, United Civic League, Friendship Democratic club, Langston Law club, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and the Tweedmen Social club. Each of these organizations has become a part of the executive committee of the campaign.

Adolphus B. Clay, director of Elks Civil Liberties, serving as general chairman, states that we will never obtain our full civil liberties and first-class citizenship until we all become vote conscious. "First we must register," said Clay. "Our voting strength in the coming spring election can well shape our destiny in this coming recession."

Plan Change In Policy of Fire Dept.

the Board has made no reply.

The Board itself is split on procedure, according to the Eagle's informant. Two of its members are entirely willing to go along with any program that the mayor desires while another will follow that lead "reluctantly." Two other members of the Board will resign rather than give approval to a non-segregation policy, it was said.

One of the opposition members is personally financing an elaborate inquiry into the political beliefs and associations of the lawyers who have presented the NAACP case with a view to discrediting them. The investigation is being made by an organization that formerly made such probes for State Senator Jack Tenney, it was learned.

The investigation is the result of beliefs of the Commissioner that the whole attack on Fire Department policy is inspired by "outside" agitators and that the Negro firemen are satisfied with the racial segregation that obtains. It is his belief that the NAACP itself is a "communist outfit."

The Eagle also learned that the most vigorous champion of integration is Deputy Mayor John J. (Jack) Irwin, former assistant United States district attorney, who is said to believe that solution of the problem requires abandonment of all racial segregation.

Suggestions that an opinion be requested from the city attorney as to the legality of racial segregation in the Fire Department have been bypassed because at least one member of the Board fears that such an opinion will be unfavorable.

A vigorous post card campaign is under way with cards being sent to the Board and to Fire Chief Alderson urging the continuance of present segregation practices. The card campaign is being directed against Mayor Poulson with signers pledging themselves to "vote against" the mayor at the proper time.

The real hope of the Commissioners is that the entire campaign against racial segregation will blow over in time and that no drastic change will have to be in Department policies.

Why gasoline is a real bargain today

Two facts lie behind the low price you pay for gasoline: oil companies work constantly through research to improve products and keep prices low, and they compete intensely for your patronage. That's why Standard opened the West's first petroleum research laboratory 32 years ago—and invests about $6 million annually in research today.

One result you see here. Thanks to competition, gasoline prices (aside from taxes) have risen only 20% since 1925 . . . less than half as much as practically anything else you buy. But there have been other benefits for you, too. Research, motivated by competition, has resulted in a steadily improving gasoline. Two gallons of modern gasoline do the work that required three in 1925, and this improvement has paved the way for lighter, much more efficient car engines that give you more power, performance and economy. Competition and research have led to better gas station service, as well, and to the world-wide search that has discovered the largest known oil reserves in America's history. Last year alone, Standard Oil Company of California invested $225 million in exploration, new oil wells, and improved facilities to keep pace with our competition. The net result to you is better gasoline at prices which make it one of the real bargains in your family budget.

75 years of planning ahead to serve you better

'History' Program Points to Future

An unusual program, pointing toward the future instead of the past, was held by the League of Allied Arts last Sunday at the Cosmopolitan Hotel in observance of Negro History Week.

A panel of local speakers in new fields for Negroes described untapped horizons in job opportunities.

On Panel

Appearing on the program were Herbert Duckett, of the Division of Inspection and Enforcement of the Air Polution Control Board of Los Angeles County; Conner Ward, senior mechanical design engineer with RCA; Durmant Cromwell, chief chemist with Sinclair Paint Co.; Fred Black, in the field of nutrition and bio-chemistry at the Bio-Chemist Research School of Medicine at U.S.C.; James L. Peck, in the Los Angeles office of Engineering Publications, consultant with Convair Areonautical Co.; and Mrs. Alice Jackson Houston, a Ford Foundation graduate student at U.S.C. in the field of television communication.

Less Than 50

Mrs. Houston, an English teacher at the Maggie L. Walker High school in Richmond, Va., was awarded a year's study through the Foundation for the Advancement of Learning Fellowship. The fund is a subsidiary of the Ford Foundation.

Mrs. Houston, who took her M. A. at Columbia university, gave an extremely informative and interesting talk on the tremendous possibilities in the expanding television field.

"There are less than 50 trained Negroes in television production," she stated, adding, "and most of these have come up from the ranks—that is, they received their training in the studios.

"The need for trained personnel is great," she continued. "Immediate preparation is important in order to get in on the ground floor of this infant profession.

"The demand is sufficiently great—and the color factor is negligible," she pointed out.

Walter Winchell Joins Fight to Save Bob Wells

Walter Winchell Sunday made a dramatic appeal to California's Governor Goodman Knight to save Wesley Robert Wells from death in the gas chamber for hurling a cuspidor at a prison guard who taunted him with a flashlight.

Urging the governor to give him five minutes Winchell revealed on both his radio and television prgorams that he had confirmed his facts by checking with the courts, and found that Wells is doomed to death next April 9 for a crime that was not committed "outside of prison."

Winchell's renewed interest in the case coincides with the issuance for a call for an Emergency Conference at Victory Baptist Church, 48th and McKinley, on March 7 at 2 p.m. Rev. Arthur A. Peters and Dr. Marcel Frym, members of Attorney General Pat Brown's Crime Commission Panel, are actively interested in the campaign to save Wells' life. Rev. Peters is pastor of Victory Baptist Church.

Reflecting the broad and representative character of the national campaign to save Wells, over 200 ministers and rabbis authorized a plea to Governor Knight. The call to the conference is signed by businessmen and women, labor leaders, doctors, lawyers and leading ministers. Included are: Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, Walter Gordon Jr., Mrs. Vaino Spencer, Williard Harper, Rabbi Aaron Wise, Jess Nathan, Leo Branton Jr., Rev. D. C. Austin, Dr. Fred Feldman, Mrs. Adell Erenberg, Marshal Denton, William Anderson, Robert Ellis and Dr. Murray Korngold, Psychologist.

Five-Alarm Harlem Fire Routs 200

NEW YORK.—A wind-swept five-alarm fire in the heart of Harlem drove 200 residents of a crowded tenement into the freezing early morning cold Saturday.

Billowing smoke and a temperature so low that the streams of water from the fire hoses froze almost as soon as it touched the ground kept the fire-fighters busy for two and one-half hours before they could get the flames under control.

The fire started in a feed store on W. 125th Street. Choking smoke quickly filled the six-story tenement at 295 St. Nicholas Avenue.

All tenants were evacuated, but none were injured. They were given temporary shelter in nearby hospitals and schools.

Seven stores were damaged by fire, smoke and water. The alarm was sounded by Roosevelt Richardson, building porter, at 6:47 a.m.

S.P. Segregation Practices Charged

SAN FRANCISCO — A vigorous protest against Jim Crow seating arrangements as practiced by the Southern Pacific Railroad was lodged with the California Public Utilities Commission by the NAACP this week.

"Negroes are assigned only to seats in the front or rear of the coaches in more than 80 per cent of the cases studied and in many instances, Negroes are assigned to non-existent seats," it was charged by Franklin Williams, West Coast Regional Director, in a document filed with the Commission.

Case histories of discriminatory seating arrangements on the Southern Pacific's Daylight and Starlight trains operating between Los Angeles and San Francisco were filed.

Two of the complaints charged that they had been sold seats that did not exist on trains while another charged that she had been assigned to a car that was not even included on the train.

The affidavits describe a series of incidents in which Negroes assigned to non-existent seats were placed together in undesirable parts of trains they had boarded.

The Commission was urged to forbid such practices.

One Month Has Passed

More than a month ago—on January 7—Mayor Poulson announced that his Board of Fire Commissioners was going to launch a plan for gradual elimination of racial segregation in the Fire Department.

Following that announcement the NAACP appealed to the Commissioners to effect a change in Department rules and regulations forbidding the assignment of firemen, or their transfer as between stations, on the basis of race. The Commission has not acted on that request.

The plain truth is that there has been absolutely no change in Fire Department policy, or practices.

Probably the Commission justifies its lack of activity on the ground that the Mayor's plan was to be put into effect in six months. The fallacy in that attitude is that even though time may be needed for administrative adjustments to a new policy there will be no effective changes in practice unless there is a change in policy.

In other words, the Commission ought to announce a policy change now and then use the time at its disposal in making the changes effective.

As long as there is no change in policy there will be no changes in procedure.

The Commission's attitude in this matter is the same as that maintained by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Welfare, when President Eisenhower ordered abandonment of racial segregation in schools on military reservations.

Mrs. Hobby gave lip service to the request but spent all of her time trying to devise gradualist procedures that put the promised changes in the pie-in-the-sky classification.

When it became plain that Mrs. Hobby was going to do nothing, President Eisenhower interfered directly and the result was an order from the Department of Defense setting a date on which all Jim Crow schools are to be disbanded.

The Commission ought to follow the same plan and set a date on which Fire Chief Alderson must abolish Jim Crow in the fire stations. If the Commission does not take that step Mayor Poulson should do exactly what President Eisenhower did and intervene directly.

Racial segregation has no place in Los Angeles municipal functions and while the Fire Commissioners may delay its elimination they can't preserve it by their policy of dragging their feet.

Shame On Us All

Refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review the Florida conviction of a man named Walter Lee Irvin last week got little attention, and no headlines.

Probably few readers noted that his conviction carried the death penalty.

Yet few men have ever been more unjustly arrested, convicted and persecuted than Walter Lee Irvin.

He is one of the Groveland, Fla., defendants whose trials excited so much attention a few years ago.

He is the victim of a frame-up that has few parallels in a region of the nation where the framing of Negroes has been a tradition.

Four young Negroes were originally sought for the rape of a young Florida housewife under circumstances that defy belief.

One of the four was shot during the course of attempted arrest.

The other three, including Irvin, were subjected to tortures that hark back to the middle ages.

One of them, a 16-year-old lad, was sentenced to life imprisonment and did not appeal his sentence.

Irvin and a co-defendant did appeal and the United States Supreme Court reversed that first conviction in a scorching opinion during the course of which Jutsice Jackson said that such trials made mockery of justice.

On their way from the jail to the new trial granted by the Supreme Court, Irvin and his co-defendant were handcuffed together and while so handcuffed both were shot by the sheriff who had them in custody. The co-defendant died. Irvin lived to go through the mockery of another trial that was fair on its face and rigged against him.

And now Walter Lee Irvin, having exhausted his legal remedies, must die. And when he does die, for a crime he did not commit, every American ought to pause a moment and hang his head in shame.

Pig-Headed San Francisco

The decision of the San Francisco Housing Authority to seek a Supreme Court review of court decisions that racial segregation is illegal in public housing projects doesn't fit in very well with that city's proud boast of having found solutions for its racial problems.

It is ironic that San Francisco, which likes to claim that it is the most cosmopolitan city in America, should seek to maintain a Jim Crow rule that is being swept into the discard everywhere outside the South.

Some good may come of this pig-headed attitude however. If the nation's highest court does decide to review the case, there is little likelihood that it will sustain San Francisco's position. The trend is in the other direction.

A Supreme Court decision voiding San Francisco's claim that it has the right to Jim Crow Negroes in public housing would also affect similar racial segregation all over the nation.

No matter what good ultimately comes out of San Francisco's stubborn attitude we are still a little ashamed of the fact that it stands with Detroit as the only major cities in the nation, outside the South, where the right of an American citizen to occupy public housing is curtailed on the basis of race.

An Excellent Decision

The City Planning Commission deserves congratulations for its refusal to permit zoning of property in the Compton-Hooper avenue area for industrial purposes.

There is already too much industrial use in the so-called Central Avenue area and we hope that this latest decision marks a reversal in a trend that has been under way for many years. It has been comparatively easy in the past for any manufacturer who wanted a change to get approval from the Planning Commission.

The community is already pretty well spotted with industrial plants but the need for homes is so great that every effort should be made to preserve present housing.

The Big Sea

By Lester Bailey

Each year I experience increasing philosophical protest to the observation of Negro History Week. Last week, while addressing several audiences on the subject of the Negroes' contribution to the development and growth of the United States, I found myself confronted with a dilemma not unlike that presented by the prospect of complete social, economic and political integration.

Lester Bailey

While we struggle daily for economic and political integration, we are as backward and as bigoted as any prejudiced white person on the question of that which inevitably accompanies the aforementioned: social integration. In the case of all phases of integration, there can be no turning back. It seems that some of us will have to be dragged, kicking and screaming, into this new era.

Segregation

As for Negro History Week, we cannot carry it forward, at least in its present form and with its present implications. It has become an institution of segregation giving formal credence to the isolation, deletion and distortion of vital events, periods and phases of American history. We can no more perpetuate out of the context of American history something to which we attach the misnomer "Negro history," than can we return to the dead, recent past in which we established and maintained a white and a black army.

Moreover, Negro History Week was first inaugurated to set the record straight. Too, it was a form of militant protest by a group of Americans whose forebearents' contributions to the national heritage were conveniently ignored by the free-lance and commissioned historians, later accepted as the authorities for our curricula.

Defense Mechanism

After twenty-six years of "Negro History Weeks," we find the primary and essential purposes and objectives aborted.

For some this week each February affords a defense mechanism through which we attempt to justify our American pedigree. So-called "race leaders" seize this opportunity to toy with a civic plaything during one "safe" week out of the year.

Authorities, who direct and decide academic curricula and who commission the contemporary historians, find salve and succor, for what must be a burning guilt complex, in the antics of those who have reduced Negro History Week to a ridiculous social even for "the race."

Year 'Round Job

Further, I do not believe that in the short space of one week we can undo the gross misrepresentations expounded in the nation's classrooms during the other fifty-one.

I have recommended to the sponsoring groups, before which I spoke, that rather than close our books, fold our displays and steal away for another year, that we immediately attack with the same energies expended in promoting Negro History Week the problem of integrating American history. Until this becomes a year 'round objective and activity, we are but building higher the wall we will one day, ourselves, be called upon to tear down.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

It isn't always easy for the resident of a Negro neighborhood who is deeply interested in the affairs of his whole city and nation to keep up-to-date on the close-at-home affairs of his own neighborhood. For instance, odd as it may seem, it is a pretty rugged job to keep up with developments in New York's Harlem on a large scale.

Lester Granger

So often there are so many trees set out by our newspapers and propagandists that it's hard for the public to see the forest. There's so much emphasis on the spectacular and transient that the long-time, more solid growth of the Negro community is obscured. Thus it is always a public service when wide-awake individuals and organizations (and newspapers) come out with capsule-size information that reports on overall, year-by-year growth in the Harlem district.

In this respect the Harlem Mortgage and Improvement Council performs a service that should be used by more New Yorkers — and could with helpful results be widely copied in such cities as Los Angeles, Chicago, St. Louis and Detroit. For in these cities, as in New York, ever-growing Negro populations again and again run up against brick walls erected to handicap their residential spread. Too often, in angry attempts to break down or by-pass such obstructions, our more flamboyant spokesmen make dramatic protests that are apt to hamper, rather than forward, our efforts.

Too Much Talk

For instance, too frequently we "accentuate the negatives" and "eliminate the positives" of Negro community life. In our protests against racial injustices and their sinister results we are apt to make these the sole topic of our discussions with outside leadership. In so doing, we play directly into the hands of our enemies who skillfully and insistently portray Negro neighborhoods as hotbeds of poverty, vice and crime. After we've joined in their theme song by chorusing our agreement, we wonder reproachfully why our neighborhoods get bad reputations — why investments by outsiders are infrequent and loans to Negro would-be investors even more so.

The Harlem Mortgage and Improvement Council makes this attitude its prime target. This non-profit organization seeks ways to encourage capital to invest in the Harlem area, whether that capital comes from residents or outsiders. Some of us are still short-sighted enough to grumble over "invasion" by outside capital. We lack the funds to renovate our own neighborhood ourselves; the longer the process of deterioration goes on, the more our own too-small investments lose value; yet some of us, dog-in-manger style, growl ferociously when some enterprising outsider seeks to make a profit by rebuilding and thereby strengthening our neighborhood.

Good Business

Nothing in this attitude makes sense and, therefore, the Council is vigorously combatting it. Recently it has performed a public service by distributing an article entitled "Understand Harlem and You Will Invest There." The article is written by Irving S. Marcus for the Appraisal Bulletin of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers of Columbia University. The article accents the positive of Harlem conditions. It points out that 350,000 Negro residents of Harlem spend a per capita average of $581 a year on the 7,000 businesses serving the community. It stresses that this is a contradiction of the stereotype of a neighborhood of the poverty-stricken. The writer describes Harlem as being populated in the main by industries, decent working people who are in offices, professions, skilled crafts and laboring jobs. He cites the churches and banks and the civic and educational institutions that work to make the area a better place to live.

It is good to have this kind of information written about us by outsiders. It is also helpful to have it distributed in Harlem to remind ourselves that it's good business to "accentuate the positive."

Teamwork Needed

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

REAL COMMUNITY COOPERATION

As this story is being written the final project of Negro History Week is under way at the Elks' Hall. Since there is no reason to expect that it will not be well attended, we we are ready to proclaim that more people attended the projects of this celebration than of any previous one.

Leon Steward

That is as it should be, because more people participated in this year's Negro History Week celebrations than ever before. Even in the Saturday afternoon Youth program at USC's YWCA, despite the rain, the youth of both races were present and participated enthusiastically in the discussions.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Why has every year for the past six years been better than the last from the standpoint of attendance as well as program?

The answer is rather easy. We would say that, in the first place, the other years have led people to realize that they should be concerned about Negro history.

But a greater reason than that is the fact that a small group of women convinced people they they meant business and, under the leadership of Mrs. Vassie Wright, who, even better than she realizes, does the job of selling people the idea which so greatly possesses her. And don't you let anyone tell you that she is not the real genius behind this community-wide project.

Selfless Devotion

And the reason she and those working with her never have any differences with others is because they are quite sincere in their interest, and selfless devotion to the worthwhile job they are doing. When they give a group a part of the job to be done there are no strings attached except that they get to work and do the job.

If you will look over the souvenir program you may count on one page 15 committees and some 40 well founded organizations, agencies, churches, businesses and what not which have dispatched their representatives to Our Authors Study Club to serve on the city-wide planning committee.

Community Project

They met for seven Sundays prior to the "Week." You will see on the same page words of appreciation for services rendered by Mayor Poulson, the president and chaplain of USC, the Board of Education (which sent out orders that the week be observed in the schools), two supervisors, the Chamber of Commerce, the libraries, the churches, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., ministers, choirs, clubs and the Los Angeles Art Association.

Just who do you think went to see these people? Do you know where the news releases were written before the week? By none other than the head of Golden State Mutual public relations department, Mrs. Vena Hickman.

Well, this is one of the most completely community projects we have ever seen. In fact we cannot recall one in which the entire community has taken a part before.

Even An Art Show

Even the art show on Wilshire Boulevard was a howling success and well attended. The chairman and co-chairman of that committee are two artists, Mrs. Beulah Woodard and William Smith. Music night was well done by the Greater Los Angeles Music Alliance under the leadership of John Gray and was well attended by the community.

Youth Orations night was not as well attended at Polytechnic High as it would doubtless have been elsewhere. Mrs. E. K. Mays and Lillian Williams were chairman and co-chairman.

Business and Professional Night, under the chairmanship of Kenneth Morris and R. R. Wright, was very well attended and Church Night, under the leadership of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, packed Independent Church to the doors as we advised you it would. And Youth Group Work, under the leadership of Brice Taylor and Alice Lynch, was quite successful despite the rain Saturday. And we dare say that the All States Tea will close the week with glory at the Elks Auditorium. Mrs. Glover Madden is its chairman. What do you think of this city-wide success?

Police-Eye View

By Sgt. Tom Bradley

There's a strange effect which an iron monster, the automobile, has upon our relations with others.

How often do we leave home in the morning so intent upon our own problems that we are impatient with all who interfere in the slightest way with our plans.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

This attitude of lack of consideration for others is accentuated by the psychological robot which seizes and controls us the minute we sit behind the steering wheel of a car. We violate rules of etiquette which would make us social outcasts if they occured in our homes.

Many Factors

We cut in front of our neighbor, refuse to let him pass, race to beat him to the next stop signal, and curse him if he thoughtlessly turns in front of us without giving a hand signal.

Many factors contribute to this unbecoming lack of good driving manners; personal problems, a spat with one's mate, or a varying degree of mental or physical illness.

Most of us are fortunate enough that our driving primarily consists of a trip to work in the morning and return home at night. Others are less fortunate because of the nature of their work. People who drive all day for a living such as truck drivers, cab drivers, and bus drivers are under constant exposure to unpleasant traffic conditions. They have the additional problem of adjusting themselves so that their attitudes and actions will not be unduly influenced by these pressures.

Stiff Training

The city employees of the Department of Public Works who drive our rubbish and garbage trucks are examples of drivers who have these pressures from many sides.

When hired, they go through a short, but intensive, training program at which times they the taught the art of driving, preparation of their routes, department personnel regulations, public relations techniques can-

Carolina Churches Ask Aid in School Case

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Protestant churches in this state declared last week in a joint resolution that South Carolina must "maintain its public school system unimpaired" regardless of how the Supreme Court rules on school segregation.

The statement, addressed to state legislative and administrative officials, was adopted by the South Carolina Fellowship of Churches and the South Carolina Division of the Southern Regional Council.

A similar statement, adopted earlier by the Virginia Council of Churches' executive committee, expressed dread of the consequences should its sister state of South Carolina turn over the public school system to private operators to avoid following a Supreme Court directive to stop school segregation.

Last month, the Texas council of churches adopted a resolution asking all Protestants in Texas to "accept" whatever ruling the Supreme Court makes on school segregation.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

The Soul Stirrers (shown above), the Five Blind Boys of Mississippi and the Pilgrim Travelers will be presented at Embassy Auditorium tonight (Thursday) by Brother Clarence Welch at 8 p.m. The auditorium is located at 9th and Grand streets and there will be a donation of $1.50 at the door.

1st Church Laymen To Present Att'y

Attorney R. J. Reynolds of San Francisco will be the annual Lay Day speaker for the morning service at the First A.M.E. Church, Eighth and Towne, Sunday. Prominent in church circles, Reynolds is president of the Lay Organization of the Fifth Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Philip M. Robinson, president of the Lay Organization at First Church, has announced that the laymen of that church will be in charge of the program for the entire day. The program committee under Miss Barbara Bradley has arranged a 4 o'clock forum on the topic, "Should the Observance of Negro History Week Be Continued?" Speakers will be Wesley Brazier, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Urban League; Dora Moore, Leon Stewart, vice-president of the local Negro History Week Organization; Nellie Render and Fred Baker, local public school teachers. Brice U. Taylor will be master of ceremonies.

Atty. Reynolds is a native of Kansas and was graduated from Washburn University at Topeka. He practiced law there for 17 years before going to San Francisco six years ago. In addition to serving on the Trustee Boards at St. John in Topeka and Bethel in San Francisco, he is an active worker in the NAACP, Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, and many other civic organizations.

Featured as guest soloist at the morning service will be Mrs. Ann Hunter Craig, who for two years sang with the Metropolitan Opera Company, of New York. Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

RULES THAT SHOULD BE ERADICATED—

BERKELEY—There're a number of rules in both the collegiate and prep ranks, which undoubtedly, should have long since been eradicated. . . . The ones which governs the eligibility of athletes are some of the most unjust, impracticable and illogical of 'em all, we believe.

If a mid-term graduate wishes to play in the Shriners' North-South All-Star game in the L. A. Coliseum he either has to delay entering college until after he has played in the contest, or if he enters college during the spring semester and plays in the All-Star contest he'll lose a year of eligibility.

Pray tell us Mr. Rule makers what purpose is the above regulation suppose to serve.

It's all well and good for the local colleges to play baseball against the local and visiting pro squads. But college basketball players aren't permitted to play on their Frat clubs during the off season. Willie Naulls and Johnny Moore, two current UCLA cagers almost lost a year of eligibility last spring for breaking the above standard. . . . To our way of thinking the aforementioned rules and several others that space doesn't permit us to comment on, are things sports can do well without. . . .

PYE'S PICKUPS—

Bobby Pounds—the ex-UCLA cager is still pounding 'em in for the Fort Ord Army five. . . . Lefty O'Doul declares Tom Alston the erstwhile star of San Diego, who was purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals for a reported $100,000 is "the best fielding first baseman in baseball." . . . Charley Davis, a promising fullback on the Cal varsity grid squad last fall, told friends here, he's not planning to return to school. . . . Incidentally, Charley and his lovely wife Lillian are infanticipating. . . . She's the niece of this sheet's star Turf writer, George Ramsey. . . . USF's Bill Russell and L. A. State's John Barber will undoubtedly join the Harlem Globetrotters when their collegiate career is over. . . . Russell was the Trotters' guest at their last SF showing. Willie Davis, the Alameda High boy is rated the best college cage prospect in this area. . . . At this writing Davis has scored 171 points for a 28.5 average.

According to F. J. Donovan noted southland boxing fan he claims the ideal fighter is cool, calm and collected, the cynosure of all eyes. A meticulous stickler for strategical procedure, and the antithesis and nemesis of the rambunctius, turbulent club fighter, is an alert, elusive and hard-hitting counter-puncher, who can take it. He also stated that the ignorant, ineffectively aggressive and vulnerable novices, successively, arrayed against the aforesaid, futilely essay to their detriment and frustration, to crowd, cope with or vanquish him in the ring, but happily, throughout the trying ordeal, he remains, unscathed, his pose, retaliation and masterful dominance prove a formidable deterrent, and each opponent succumbs to his wily, adroit and relentless manevering, and the astute wizardry and crafty artistry of his ring generalship.

The Cosmopolitan Golf Club held a board meeting last Wednesday evening at Bill Nesbit's Pico-Dilly Lounge. The principal item disposed of from the agenda was the dues for the ensuing year. The general belief is that the club is attempting to, and is doing bigger and better things, and perforce needs a larger fund to operate with.

An initiation fee of $2.50 was recommended, plus a $7.50 yearly due will be asked from a new member. Not bad at all if the attractive program which Cosmo has planned is carried out. What with the affiliation with the Western States Golf Assn. and its annual tourney; the excursion to Pebble Beach for some 12 to 14 worthy foursomes; plus the Cosmo Invitational to be held in July; plus the monthly Cosmopolitan Sweepstakes, which begin in March with the Auxiliary entertaining. Brother, it seems as if you've caught the brass ring. This club is undoubtedly the best thing offered the golfing public since Hellenic civilization was supplanted by our present day culture. With a bit more support from the general body for the various committees assigned to a particular task, the organization should go well over the top this year and all years to come.

Lloyd La Beach Out of Reach With 'Aussies' Over Deal

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

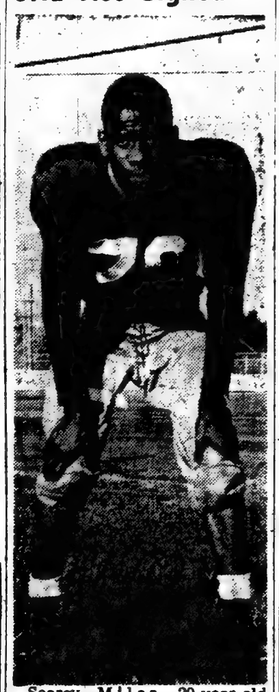
In Melbourne, Australia, Lloyd La Beach, firey Panamanian sprinter and now a naturalized citizen of these United States as well as a resident of Los Angeles, is madder than a wounded lion.

The Victorian Athletic League barred the former Olympic sprint champion from the World Professional Footracing. Earlier this week the league claimed that reason for barring the California sprinter was due to his weight; releasing a story.

Stays Trim

This was hard to believe here as La Beach was a familiar figure on the oval of the La Cienega playground. Just before departing for Melbourne the sprinter told this writer he was in perfect running order and when we questioned him regarding his weight he remarked: "I have not added a pound in months."

La Beach is a good competitor and a fighter. According to our reports he is storming the streets in Melbourne attempting to secure a lawyer. La Beach claimed the real reason for the league's decision was not his condition, but rather his refusal to sign a contract to stay after their big footracing event which is a world series of races such as our baseball series. La Beach refused to sign any contract to stay any longer than he was first advised.



If the sprinter would have signed as the officials wanted him, he would have to remain in Australia for five weeks. La Beach is presently employed with the McKesson and Robbins Distributing Company and was on a leave of absence. La Beach could not have possibly been overweight as first claimed because he sought a leave from his job long before the races in Australia came due.

His company at first refused but later granted the sprinter time off. La Beach is seeking legal advice against the Victorian Athletic League after league president Kenneth E. McCracken okeyd the baring of the American athlete.

Dissapointed Dasher

La Beach arived in Melbourne a week ago and was barred four days after his arival. The two-time Olympic games champion must be a very disappointed lad as he's been training diligently for the past two years for these races.

San Jose State Grid Ace Signed

Searcy Miles, 20-year-old prize footballer of San Jose State College, became a member of the San Francisco 49ers this week. When young Miles affixed his signature, his former coach at San Jose State accused Buck Shaw of luring his star backfielder away from the campus.

However, Miles informed his college coach that he was getting married and needed money to marry the girl he loved.

Miles was voted San Bernardino High School's most valuable player.

He served three years in the U.S. Air Force and starred on the football team.

Upon his army discharge he entered State College at San Jose and hit the headlines as one of the best running backs on the coast.

Loop Leading City College In Title Bid

Glendale's cellar-cast Vaqueros provide Ed Carmichael's Los Angeles City College cagers with their final conference test of the season Friday night when they meet the front-running Cubs in LACC's home gym.

Tip-off is scheduled for 8:00.

Having topped all Western State Conference opposition through their first eight league contests, LACC expects to utilize Friday's tilt as a tune-up to its opening round bout in the vital State Tournament opening March 3rd at Sacramento.

Los Angeles whipped the Vaqueros in first half play at Glendale, 74-59.

The Cubs chalked up their 11th straight victory of the fast-closing season against UCLA's Frosh hoopsters last Saturday, 76-61, to finish their practice schedule with a remarkable 13-4 record.

Not since Metro Conference leaders, Long Beach, edged them in an overtime period at the Modesto tourney, 59-54, have LACC cagers been on the short end of a score. (Long Beach went on to trounce West Contra Costa in the tournament finals to win first place honors.)

The second meeting with Glendale, Friday, concludes LACC's 27-game 1953-'54 basketball schedule, to be ranged among the finest seasonal records ever established by a local quintet.

However, the most astounding factor concerning this year's squad is that not a single member had any varsity experience last season! And should the Cubs beat Glendale, they will have achieved the school's first undefeated conference slate since the 1940 aggregation went through a 10-game league program unscathed.

Gene Baker To Get Huge Plaque Sat.

How good, or how bad, Gene Baker will fare with the Chicago Cubs is not important at the moment. Everyone is talking about the night he'll be honored with a plaque before departing for the major loon.

The spectacular shortstop is being given this honor by veteran baseball players as a token to inspire the ex-Angel on to greater achievements while in the big circuit. Many of the Old Timers and members of the young crop of players will be on hand to congratulate fleet footed Baker Feb. 20, in the Magnolia Room of the Clark Hotel.

- Davey Faces Aragon -

CHUCK DAVEY, top-ranking welterweight, preps on the light bag in preparation for his 10-round bout with Art (Golden Boy) Aragon tonight (Thursday) at the Olympic. One of the year's largest crowds is expected to jam the turnstiles tonight. Aragon is a solid 2 to 1 favorite to polish off the easterner.

Willie Naulls Outplays Cal's Great Bob McKeen

Johnny Wooden, cagy UCLA basketball coach, switched his players around so effectively last week-end that they raced on the courts and gained a two-game sweep against California Bears, defending division champions. Wooden moved Willie Naulls into the starting role and the big center played two of his greatest games of the season.

Talented Trio

In the first game the Bruins just ran off and left the Bears with Naulls, Morris Taft and Johnny Moore playing heads up ball. And the Bruins ended up on the long end of an 82-54 victory. Saturday night featured tight ball playing as the Bears defense found a way to slow down the fast-moving Bruins. But big Willie Naulls found a way to keep Cal's All-American Bob McKeen intact by playing the big center so skilfully that the big Bear was rendered helpless.

Fire House Five

Naulls' brilliant playing over the week-end easily rates him as one of the most improved players on the squad. While Naulls showed his defensive skill against Cal, other Bruins doing equally well in their department were Don Bragg, Ron Livingston, Morris Taft and Johnny Moore.

WESTSIDE GYM HOLDS DRILLS

Arnold Hoffman, well known west side business man and owner of the Blooms Liquor Stores, hit the nail squarely on the head with the opening of his 39th street gym. Hoffman presents the opportunity to potential fighters to exercise their ability and ambition.

Located at 39th and Western Ave., the gym welcomes all boxers to train and work out.

Willis Joyce, familiar in the boxing profession, is in charge of the training program. All avid boxing fans are invited to drop in and see professional fighters train. The gym is open week days from 1 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SANTA ANITA: It is derby week starting Tuesday at beautiful Santa Anita, with two other stakes to be decided before Saturday's 17th running of the $100,000 winter classic for 3-year-olds. The mile and one-furlong derby, in which colts carry 11 pounds and fillies five pounds less, looms as an open affair. It will see Calumet farms strike for victory in the event with the brilliant prospect, Duke's Lea, that has yet to be tested against stakes company over a distance.

RAMSEY

Other stakes in the week's racing are Wednesday's $15,000 added El Encino handicap, under optional claiming conditions at a mile and one sixteenth, and Friday's $15,000 added Los Feliz stakes at seven furlongs, for 3-year-olds.

Mrs. Harry Curland's major speed, with Willie Shoemaker in the irons, accomplished one of the season's most impressive drills on the five-eights training track, taking his final serious work for next Saturday's $100,000 Santa Anita derby. The colt went the full mile and one-furlong distance in 1:55 handily. His fractions were 49-3/5, 1:16, 1:42 1/5 and 1:55.

Liangollen farms Porterhouse, being readied for an early start in an overnight event, had his most serious work out of the winter on the main track. Last year's 2-year-old champion went six furlongs in 1:12 3/5, handily. Vying for the role of favorite with Duke's Lea in the Santa Anita derby, will be two locally-owned runners. Impressive victories have been registered by A. J. Crevolin's Determine and Mrs. Harry Curland's Major Speed. Jocky Johnny Londgen observed his 44th birthday last Sunday. Johnny has ridden 4350 winners to date.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO. Cactus Mike and Apprentice Edmond Strickland, a pair who have fitted each other, staged one of Caliente's most consistent racing streaks of recent months. They found the charmed circle in the featured Lincoln Day handicap. An overnight rain made the track a little sloppy and made to order for the son of Don Mike — Cactaceous who was given an alert ride by Strickland. He won by two lengths paying $11.40.

One of the largest daily-double in many months paid $423.20 when Texas Collins and Pride O' Tony won the fourth and fifth races. The Quinela backers of Ready Standard and Diamond V. received $69.60. Attendance was 6000. Mutuel handle $191,333.

BOWLING NOTES

BOB WILLIAMS

Despite the heavy downpour over the week-end the bowling happy members of the Sunset League were right on deck. Some teams came, saw and were drenched during the down pour of heavy pins. Ted's Service is still leading the league with a narrow half game in the win column and a half game on the losing side of the ledger. However, they maintained that lead by fighting off the bids of every challenger.

Floyd Lawrence was in rare form, bowling the week's high game with a 527 series. Al Griffin's 573 high game series was the reason for the High Hats team resting in second place. Kenneth Morris' 201 and Waco Jackson's 204 were more than enough weight and pressure for Ted Ballard's King Pins.

Money Trouble

Sunday Morning Breakfast Club rather than chance last week-end's waterfall weather postponed their monthly breakfast (Clark Hotel) until this coming week-end. Michael Fanning is to guest speak.

Finances holding up publication of Hattie McDaniel biog. Harry Levette, whom I believe has done some work too on that manuscript, has enough poems of his own for book length. Visiting-from-Cleveland Grace Thorne left Tues. An earlier view of her she was dragging so many minks across the Watkins lobby that I did fear the front of the building would sag.

Thirty Boys and Girls Attend Youth Confab

Youths recommend that school and recreation programs provide opportunities for them to become acquainted with the culture of other races and nationalities. The schools and playgrounds should make every effort to provide exchange experiences in dancing, food, and problems between groups of their youthful participants. Each of the various ethnic groups of teenagers have their own style of social dancing and that opportunity for learning these styles ought to be provided by recreation programs. The selection of dance music for teen age socials should be done by youthful representatives of all groups that will participate.

Such were the recommendations of the Youth Council of Lafayette Center in their annual mid-winter retreat at Clear Creek Camp. Thirty teenagers, representing the social clubs at Lafayette Center, a Los Angeles Board of Education Youth Services project, spent two days in the mountains discussing their problems and making activity plans. Participating with the youth were Mrs. Lela McLinn and Trinidad Ledesma, recreation directors; Miss Pauline Silver, playground director; Anthony Nunn, a teacher of the Los Angeles City Schools. SERIOUS THOUGHTS DEPARTMENT . . .

We're wondering why the many organizations which boast of being civic as well as Social don't wake up to their civic responsibilities and attempt something "really" constructive. As a suggestion, it came to our attention recently that the Eastside and Westside as well as the Watts area have the lowest percentage of registered voters in the city. Wanna do something? Become active members in an already organized voters league that finds potential voters, or if necessary start our own. (Maybe this is just wishful thinking).

YES, WE CAN READ . . .

In fact we just completed the last chapter of Ruby Berkely Goodwin's book, "It's Good to Be Black" . . . made us feel extra proud of our racial heritage . . . recommended reading for everyone.

THE LOCAL SCENE . . .

They act like there is no tomorrow. We're talking about Pat Prescott and Uly Carter, who are as fight as a size 5 shoe on a 9 foot.

Also on the "really in love" list are Wilbur Webb and Ruth Thompson, who from all appearances will be doing "that" thing come summer time.

'Tis said that jealous women are behind the smear campaign directed at the RO-KA-WI gals club . . . the girls don't seem to be too bothered.

Bothered but undaunted are Vivian Jones and '54 Merc Pilot Robert Armstrong, who after a million years of "go together" have chalked it up as an experience . . . kinda shocking.

Shocking is the linking of playboy Jack Thompson's name and that of scribe Marceline Sykes. . . .

Marilyn Miller, "sassiety" gal from Philly, is the most down-to-earth debutante these scribes have ever met . . . and she's lovely.

James (Candy) Barr wasn't kidding when he said he was gonna walk that last mile down the aisle to meet the preacher. He and his new wife, Joyce Tucker, are honeymooning at one of the plusher resorts.

We're extending a "get well soon" note to Rudy Bowen, who is in the hospital.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT . . .

That new MG being piloted by the loveliest gal in the world, the wife of Frank Harvery, who answers when you say "hello Norma."

Sessions at the Californian are drawing larger crowds on Monday nights than any of their competitors.

The SWANKS coming fandango at the Beverly Hills Hotel . . . a suite has been procured and only intimate friends will be invited.

That knock-down drag-out brawl at the home of dancer Lon Fontaine . . . he was given two weeks to vacate.

Having fun at the Tweedsmens cocktail party this Sunday. It will be held at 1918 Harvard . . . you know where that is.

Being rich . . . that's what the Athenians are after their Sunday night Elks affair.

LUPENIANS PARTY . . .

Those sweet and lovely gals who are members of the Lupenians Social Club pitched a ditty at the Cosmopolitan Hotel the other eve that will long be remembered by the local funfesting set.

Musolit Club Enjoys Negro History Week

Rev. and Mrs. Sue Kinsey were hosts to the Musolit Club of which Mrs. Gladys Allen is president, at the beautiful Westchester home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Eggleston. The feature of the afternoon group affair was a special observance of Negro History Week, highlighted by talks by R. C. Jackson on the early colonial and pioneering Negro contributions and on the American African background by E. R. Drew.

Mabel Scott Lathans interpreting "My Valentine" with music and rendered other songs. Letitia Hoard dramatized "When Malindy Sings." Short talks by Mmes. Ida B. Moore, Margaret Owens, Lillian Gomez also enlivened the afternoon affair. Guests later retired to the patio and enjoyed an elaborately served dinner with a Valentine motif.

Deroloc Charity and Social club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Jaqueline Coleman. Ora Lee Chocolate, the group's president, and the membership carried on a lively business meeting. The next meeting is slated for Saturday at the home of Thelma Grimstead.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

Under the hand point count valuation, the game is usually assured if one side has 25 or more points, plus a favorable place to play the contract.

In bridge, and especially duplicate bridge, it is usually most advantageous to contract for game in a major suit. In this article we should like to discuss suit bids.

South holds:

S. A, K, 10, x, x
H. Q, J, x
D. x, x, x
C. A, J

This hand contains in high card points seven in the spade suit, three in the heart suit, none in the diamond suit, and five in the club suit, for a total of 15 points. In addition one point may be added because of the doubleton club. This gives the hand a total value of 16 points under our point count system.

Hhere is the bidding:

2S	P	3S	P
4S	P	P	P

North shows by his bidding that he has at least nine points, but not more than 13 because he made no jump bids, and he also has a fit in spades. Thus the combined hands will have a total of at least 26 points, which should make game fairly certain.

Here is North's hand:

S. Q, x, x
H. x, x, x
D. A, K, x, x
C. Q, x, x,

This hand has two points in spades, no points in hearts, seven points in diamonds, and two points in clubs, for a total of 11 points. There are no distributional points in this hand. The two hands have a total of 27 points plus a fit in the trump suit which promises a good play for game.

These two hands will probably lose two heart tricks and possibly either a club trick or a diamond trick. With the Scott method of demonstrating hands, we could show the opponents' cards in a variety of combinations, but everything would have to be wrong in order for this hand to go set.

Of course the greater number of points a hand has, the greater the chance to make the contract. This hand holds a combination of 27 points. If two points were added to either hand game would be assured. We could add two points to the South hand in three ways. We could change the jack of hearts to the king, we could add the queen of diamonds, or we could change the jack of clubs to the king. Any of these would add only two points, but would insure that four, if not five, spades could be made.

Every Tuesday evening at the YWCA, I am demonstrating hands such as these using the Scott Demonstrater which makes it easy to show all types of distributions. These classes in point count begin at 7:30 p.m. and all are welcome.

BIG BUZ is the way a well known westsider caused a certain Movie Studio to refuse to hire Negro maids in the beauty shops! Seem like the old sister got ambitions when she eyed an opening in another department. So, to keep others out she eyed the ears of the ofays! After hearing some so much trash he rid the joint of all maids! Sure, Labor Unions got good grounds for a fight. But here is another lesson for us. Workers got to learn to grow up and push each other to top jobs and not so much of "me" first!

JIM GOODRICH, Ebony Mag's west-coast top man, took in the enchanting voice of Sarah Vaughn Sunday evening and carried a ton of dead weight with him. It's not like the dapper Chicagoian. Who always travels alone or with the ruling class.

MARGARET SOTO, she's a warm blooded latin with the proper amount of curves to cause even Marilyn Monroe to feel uneasy in her presence!

DORA GALAVIZ is telling the crowd down Hotel Clark way about the new Sportsman club being formed. They boast such members as: Terry Perez, Amanda Jimenez and a host of others. Meeting time is weekly at the La Caribe and Larry Sweetwine is pouring. . .

MOTORISTS can make Standard Oil Company on Western and Adams hire Negroes or close up shop. Across the street Bert Kenner is one of our few Union Station owners, being a Negro, it's a tough struggle. He has to depend on our trade so let's give him a better play. We may be opening up new doors to employment, for others!

VON WINSTON WERTZ is telling friends its only a matter of days before he hopes to be passing out the cigars. Wertz, the stocky Rubaiyat Room bartender has been so confused the past nine months. He's beginning to doubt the tale about males don't suffer labor pains!

GEMS! GEMS goes to personable Horace and Betty Clark for the Gene Baker night. Baseball fans should make it a must to be down here on Feb. 20, and wish a nice off to the big league. He'll need most of your encouragement to help him stick it out in the big tent!

JELLY! JELLY! and the noted bobby sox wonder is taking in the sports these nights and his gal friend is looking much like the model they say she use to be!

STICK UP. Bert Kenner says the guys who tried to rob the cash box the other eve were just sneak thieves and former employees. They'll be sneakin around on the county farms for a few months after the ill attempt!

LEON H. WASHINGTON, JR. maybe cited by Western Union for getting more telegrams than the United States president on his return to his paper! He got an office full!

NOTICING that most of our top female artists seldom hire a Negro beautician to style their locks. Wonder why? They used to fry it before they moved to the upper bracket! Several ofays moved into the billion dollar class but still they retained the same maid.

PACIFIC TOWNERS, Brotherhood dinner for Jackie Robinson in their plush club house was so exclusive that they even excluded the hard working guys and gals of the press.

Anniversary Highlight

Through the continuous 'flow' of 'solid sud' by suave Schuyler A. Nelson, Jr., Thomas "Crip" Palmer and Frank "Politico" Smith, stellar sales representatives of the Los Angeles Brewing Company who supplied Pabst Blue Ribbon and Eastside Beer, a capacity crowd consumed hundreds of gallons of "lucious liquid."

Suzette Harbin Finest "Filly" in 3 Men on Horse

Suzett Harbin's sexy portrayal of the ex-showgirl friend of Patsy, the racetrack playboy enacted so convincingly by James Edwards, in the hilarious "Three Men on a Horse," playing nightly at Ebony Showcase Theatre, is being compared with Marilyn Monroe at her sexiest.

Critics have raved over the extra amount of "oomph" which Miss Harbin puts into the top feminine role, made famous by Shirley Booth on Broadway some years ago. She was never more appealing and her sympathetic handling of a difficult part has stamped her as an actress of excellent capabilities.

"Three Men on a Horse" is now in its fourth consecutive week at the popular Showcase, 2182 West Washington Blvd., and has been loudly acclaimed by all who have seen it. It is one of the funniest, zaniest, fastest moving stage plays produced here in years.

In addition to Edwards and Miss Harbin, the cast also features Johnny Lee, Frances White, Ted Lange, Nick Stewart, Betty Amos, Sammy Gardner, Mary Emma Watson, Reginald Armstrong and Morris Buchanan.

Good seats at popular prices are available nightly except Mondays and Tuesdays. The Frolican Social Club has bought out the house for next Sunday evening, February 21. However, seats can still be purchased for the special matinee performance Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

For reservations and other information call REpublic 6448.

"Chazz" Crawford's "SOUND TRACK"

A syndicated gossip claims that Sammy Davis and Eartha Kitt, who were "madly in luff" a few paragraphs ago, are now avoiding each other. The man says the pair had a serious squabble two weeks ago, and aren't speaking. Not only are they not talking marriage, but they're not talking! Ce La Vie!

RINGSIDERS ARE TALKING ABOUT

Last week's closing nite at Club Oasis, and the howlarious way the Sugar Hill thrillers "buried the show." . . . Gals donned the boys' attire, and the fellows squeezed into the feminine finery. . . . Frances Neeley's take-off on Redd Foxx's comedy routine was masterful. She passed a jug around the ringside, telling patrons to "have a taste" but "don't kill it." . . . In the "Tragedy En Paree" Lon Fontaine was a riot in Sylvia Moon's role, and Foxx was a circus-style "shoot 'em up" Sal in a take-off on Florine Collette. . . . The "real bruiser" came when sexy Donna Jean tossed Lon Fontaine in this scribbler's lap, and said, baby, don't lose your notes!

Sax man Stan Getz's following feeling pretty blue this week over the news of his confinement in Seattle due to narcotic poisoning. As we went to press, the modernist was said to be in bad shape. Shirley Shannon over at Ben Waller's agcy. shaping up a benefit for the tenor's wife and kids. Vido Musso, Roy Brown, Shorty Rogers will participate, and Billy Berg and Jim Nelson will donate the five-four ballroom. They're awaiting union clearance.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

We know it's none of our business, but if the rumor is true that a newshawk we know has parted company with his sheet, then we expect that tabloid's circulation to take a dive. Inasmuch as the gentleman scribe's presence on that sheet gave it a good deal of goodwill, it's our opinion that in order to flourish, all newspapers need that valuable substance.

The near-donnybrook that took place at a dancer's apt. last week may not get the hush-hush treatment as we expected. This bystander was willing to forget all about being an eye-witness, simply because we were requested to by the hoofer. We were going to kid him though about scolding us not too long ago for being a "softie" when it comes to favoring close pals. Love ya madly, muh boy, but there's a leak somewhere!

Incidental Info: Mrs. Nick Stewart (Edna) of Ebony Showcase never sees a complete production over there till the final night of its run. Then she dolls up like a first nighter, and sits out in the pews with the rest of the cash customers! . . . Dorothy Dandridge should wire a posie to Mirror kolyumnist Edith Gwyne. On the strength of "Bright Road" Edie selected Dotty as one of her five nominees for "best performance by an actress" in the Oscar sweepstakes.

Before Rudy Render closed at Club Pigalle, several of his celebrated chums dropped over to catch his act. Among them: Debbie Reynolds and Dick "Night Train" Lane. . . . Ernie Andrews fills the new bill, having been brought back for a return engagement. It figures. It would also figure to bring troubador Lawrence Stone back in real soon. His drawing power has made a sharp rise now that he's so much better known.

Roy Stone, whose astute guidance has navigated soprano Georgia Lassiter's career, visited Marian Anderson backstage after her concert.

Affair Planned For Getz Family

Stan Getz, the modern Gabriel on a saxophone and recent winner of the annual Downbeat awards for his virtuosity on his chosen instrument, is very ill in Seattle. He is suffering from a condition known as narcotic poisoning.

"Getz," as he is known to progressive sound enthusiasts, has a wife and two children and Mrs. Getz is expecting another child momentarily.

Funds Lacking

The musician's family is sorely in need of aid. So a group of wonderful people, headed by Shirly Shannon of the Ben Waller agency, are planning a benefit. At present, they are awaiting Union clearance.

Billy Berg and Jimmy Nelson have said they will donate their 5-4 ballroom. Vido Musso, Roy Brown, Shorty Rogers and other all-stars will lend their talents for the event. Additional information which comes to the attention of your reporters will be put on the presses "post-haste."

rible! Terrible! Terrible! I wish we had a way of being able to convince them that another route would be more economical. All they care about is dollars and cents."

Facts of Life

Navarro also hoped that the "State Highway Commission gives this very thorough consideration before they make up their minds," but he made no suggestion for action by the City Council.

Among the many homes that will either be torn down as directly in the path of the new construction or whose value will be adversely affected because of the increased noise, traffic and congestion are the Kappa Kastle, the Sojourner Truth Home, the residence of the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson and the four-apartment building owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Adams.

In presenting the seriousness of the problem the freeway creates to members of the City Council and the city and state engineers during the past few weeks, representatives of the citizens' committee have pointed out the large number of minority homes that will be affected.

White Only

They have stressed the fact that prejudice still operates in Los Angeles despite the legal ban against race restrictive covenants and that occupancy by Negroes is strenuously resisted in so-called "white" areas.

It was emphasized, moreover, that owners in many communities are unwilling to sell to "non-Caucasians," that real estate boards, banks and lending institutions seek to prevent sales or rentals to Negroes in many neighborhoods, and that many sub-dividers and builders in the new suburban communities follow a "white only" policy.

The proposed route would cut a path approximately 500 feet wide through Sugar Hill, bypassing Berkeley Square, and then splitting into two segments the highly concentrated Negro areas east and west of Crenshaw Blvd. It would connect with the Harbor Freeway at Toberman and Washington Blvd., and then follow a wavy line west in the neighborhood of 21st Street.

STAIRWAY TO THE 'BARS'

Zengerelli, center, dependable driver for Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer for over thirty-two years, who has 'stacked suds' in "filling stations" and "package houses" throughout Southern California. Through the invincible efforts of Schuyler Nelson for over ten years, Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer has added dozens of other 'brown' sales representatives who are making this "liquid" a household by-word.

SOUND TRACK

It's great to see "Wash" back in the saddle again. Not surprised, though! Astrologers will tell you that folks born under the sign of the ram never say die! Saludos, amigo, to the man who was first to take an interest in this scribbler's prose. . . . Sarah Vaughan guests on Spade Cooley's TVer this Sat. at 8 p.m. That's KTLA's Channel 5! . . . Adams, the photographer and yrs. dutifully were Buddy Colette's guests on Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life" show last week.

The musician has been with the show on the network for 3½ years. That's one of those firsts for a Negro. Incidentally, Adams' markmanship and Groucho's Marx-manship resulted in some fine shots of the comic and the horn blower. The pics will hit the mags and papers soon. . . . Wot hoppened to LuCille Horne, who was supposed to make the trip with us? . . . Songstress Mabel Scott is heading East again. The bombshell leaves Tuesday to open at the N.Y. Apollo March 5. Then she'll play the Howard Theater in the nation's capital!

Louise Beavers will more than likely snag a role on a new tee-vee series tentatively titled "Dr. and Mrs. Marlowe" which will star Jane Wyman as a pediatrician. Louise says they made the pilot film last week. And incidentally, La Beavers was a rare treat as a guest on last week's Platterpanel!

LOUIS H. JONES has joined the sales organization of the Simon Levi Company, Ltd., wholesale liquor dealers of many well-known brands, such as: Hill & Hill, Black Gold, Old Grand Dad, Calvert Reserve, Lord Calvert and Haig & Haig Scotch. Louis has a great following of associates and friends, especially among the Prince Hall Masonic Group — having served his lodge as Master in 1946 and as Potentate of the Shrine in 1949 and 1950.

WOMAN'S COMPLAINT
"For four years I had constant headaches and a burning feeling in the uterus. My menstruation was very irregular and came as often as every four days. My medical doctor diagnosed the case as tumor of the uterus and told them would be no cure without an operation.
"I took the herbal remedy and within a week I discharged about seventy blood clots, each was at least the size of my fist.
"Now my headaches are gone and I do not have the burning feeling any more. I am now confident that natural herbs are better than a knife."

ing about 20 miles an hour, and estimated the speed of the auto at about 45 miles an hour.

Only two street car passengers received injuries, both of them minor. Mrs. Sadie Edler, 66, of 323 E. 102nd Street, fainted, and her daughter, Mrs. Arlene Buck, 29, same address, complained of a back injury.

Identified Bodies

The step-father of Mrs. Moncrese, E. L. Fater, of 722 E. 81st Street, identified the body of his daughter, who was the mother of two boys, nine and 12 years old.

He also identified the bodies of some of the other members of the death car.

Mrs. Moncrese was born in Merrauge, La., and has been in Los Angeles for two years. She worked as a power operator at the Guild Lingerie of California. Although at first plans were made to have her remains shipped to Louisiana for burial, it was later decided to hold services here at the Angeles Funeral Home at 10 o'clock Friday.

Bodies Shipped

The bodies of Anderson and his wife have been shipped to Monroe, La., for burial by Angeles.

The funeral of Mrs. Lewis, who was also apparently killed instantly, was held Wednesday at 1 p.m. from the chapel at the Angeles Funeral Home, with burial at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery.

MRS. ORA MONCRESE

Funeral services for James Boykin were to be conducted today, Thursday, at 11:30 a.m., by Angeles, with burial at Lincoln Memorial. Boykin, who worked at a furniture store, is survived by his brother, Willie J. Boykin, 700 E. 23rd Street. He was born in Greenwood, Miss., and was a graduate of Jefferson High School.

Marshall Cooksey, who was found by police on the street, died at the scene of the accident a short time later. His burial is being handled by Avalon Funeral Home from their chapel at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, with burial at Paradise cemetery.

Golden State Claims Men Meet Here

Golden State Mutual Life claims representatives from the firm's California, Illinois and Texas districts are in Los Angeles this week for a three-day training conference that began Monday. The training included orientation in new services and internal procedures connected with processing policy benefits.

George A. Beavers, Jr., chairman of board-treasurer, stated that almost $8½ million in life and disability benefits have been paid to policyowners and beneficiaries since its establishment in 1925. Policy benefits last year totaled more than $1,100,000. The California-based company is one of the largest insurers in the field of sick and accident insurance.

tered around efficient service and courtesy, safety measures and compliance with traffic regulations. After going to work, they are constantly under scrutiny of the public as well as their supervisors.

The health and cleanliness of the city depend upon these men meeting their regular schedule of collection in the face of unusual traffic conditions, rainy weather and other obstacles.

Courtesy Needed

They must concentrate upon many things including safetey and care while making many stops and then pulling away from the curb.

Their job can be made considerably easier if the driving public will consider the driving problems of these men and give them a break in traffic. We don't mean by this that they are due favortism; just common courtesy.

An additional problem they face is the increased chance of committing traffic violations because of the amount of driving they do. We all have a tendency to relax or take a chance, at times, while driving and occasionally it happens when a policeman is looking.

Everybody's Business

The City seal on the vehicle is no license to violate the law and these drivers are cited just as any other violator. If they seem to accumulate a fairly large number of tickets, it can perhaps be attributed partly to the amount of exposure . . . They drive eight hours a day and the truck is conspicuous.

Perhaps the occasion for these situations where the men feel a need to hurry, thus violating a traffic law, can be lessened by more consideration for others by all drivers. These same driving habits can contribute toward a solution for our troublesome traffic problems.

Remember, courtesy and safety are everybody's business!

Push Drive for 3 Million Negro Voters in South

BIRMINGHAM — When Alabama voters go to the polls for the May 4 Democratic primary to nominate congressional candidates, a governor and other important state and county officials, more Negro citizens are expected to cast a vote in the state than at any time since Reconstruction.

A register-to-vote campaign now underway in Alabama under NAACP auspices has drawn crowds of both races to registration places.

The campaign is part of a regional drive to get 3,000,000 Negro voters in the South by 1956.

after seeing his former wife, Mrs. Althea Mills, leave DeBose's auto outside her Second avenue home, began the chase.

He caught up with DeBose when the latter waited for a stop light at Adams and La Brea, and started lashing out with his bat.

DeBose told Wilshire police:

Car Followed

"I dropped Mrs. Althea Mills off at her home on Second avenue. As I drove off, I noticed a car following me. When I stopped for a red light, the driver of the car got out with a baseball bat and struck me on the head.

"After the second lick, I grabbed the bat and he jumped in the car. I tried to drive off, but he grabbed the wheel. He continued to strike me, as he guided the car very recklessly down La Brea."

Evidence

The bat, it was noted, was taken into custody by police as evidence.

DeBose, who lives at 4636½ W. 21st street, was elected national vice-president of Alpha Phi Alpha at the Detroit meeting of the fraternity in 1953. He is very active and well-known in fraternal and civic organizations.

He and his former wife, Texas school teacher, Theresa Hicks, daughter of the Rev. W. P. Hicks, of Austin, Texas, were married July 2, 1953, but were divorced in January.

All-Around Athlete

Mills, an all-around athlete, member of the Royal Syndicator club and the Associated clubs, was one of the first Negroes to play football on the Santa Monica Junior college team, back in 1936 and 1937.

He later attended Xavier University in New Orleans, where he was one of their big stars. There, too, he met his wife, Althea, a student on the campus.

Parents of three girls, they got a divorce aJn. 5. Mills lives at 3716 Arlington avenue. He was loaned to Jefferson last year as assistant football coach, and is slated to be basketball coach there next year.

Jim Crow Follows Negroes to Grave

Forest Lawn In Glendale for 'Whites Only'

Jim Crow in death as well as in life is the fate of Negroes who die in Los Angeles and whose relatives seek to have them buried in the beautiful, nationally famous expansive Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Forest Lawn is not alone in its discriminatory practices. With the notable exception of Catholic institutions, all other cemeteries in Los Angeles refuse to bury Negroes, other than Lincoln, Evergreen and Rosedale. And even Rosedale has a "white only" section.

Arouses Criticism

But Forest Lawn's practices have aroused special criticism in the community, partly because of the wide acclaim the fashionable burying ground has attained; partly, also, because of its attempt to evade the issue by making available another, entirely separate burial ground which its officials will tell you is "interracial."

This "interracial" cemetery is far removed from Forest Lawn in Glendale. It is located in Burbank, in the Hollywoodland Hills.

The Eagle has been unable to learn just how many bodies have been buried in this non-segregated plot. The remains of at least one Negro lie there. There may be more — but not many. There may also be some whites interred in the Burbank soil, but Forest Lawn officials became vague when questioned about this.

Flimsy Excuse

Reason for the segregation, Forest Lawn explains, is the fact that the many plots of land that have been sold there during long years past contained restriction clauses. Admission of Negroes, they tell you, would make Forest Lawn liable to an untold number of lawsuits from the owners of the various plots.

The argument is a flimsy one, especially in view of Supreme Court decisions on race-restrictive covenants. These decisions have outlawed court enforcement of covenants and have subsequently refused to authorize damages against signers who have ignored the covenants.

There seems little or no likelihood that the Supreme Court which has ruled that property owners cannot be held liable for breaking restriction pacts would reverse itself and make an exception to apply solely to burial of the dead.

The subject is a sore one. There is a widespread feeling that death, at last, levels all distinctions, and that the remains of loved ones should be accorded dignity and serenity, free from the turmoil, travail and inequality that is all too frequently experienced in life.

State Jobless Rise 12 Percent

FREEWAY HEARING SET

Sugar Hill's Residents to Plead Cause

Following vigorous fact-filled protest by members of minority groups, the State Highway Commission in Sacramento Thursday stopped short of making a decision on the proposed freeway route that would destroy famed Sugar Hill.

This means there is still time for the residents who will be adversely affected to make their protest count.

Public Hearing

Final action by the commission on approval or rejection of the engineer's proposal has been postponed until following a public hearing scheduled in Los Angeles for March 23.

In a hard-hitting, 20-minute presentation, the representatives of Los Angeles citizens on Thursday placed the issue of the past and present evils of segregation squarely in the lap of the commissioners.

The delegates' able marshalling of facts, figures and charts was undoubtedly, one of the main reasons why the commissioners paused to take a second and long look at the problems that the proposed freeway spotlights.

Sympathetic

Following the hearing, the commissioners individually commented that they were

Seek State Troops To Prevent Riot in Chicago Project

CHICAGO — Federal action and the sending in of state troops was demanded here this week to protect the lives of Negroes in Trumball Park Homes, and prevent the outbreak of a new "Cicero riot."

Demands were made to President Eisenhower and U.S. Atty. Gen. Brownell and to Illinois Gov. Stratton by the NAACP on behalf of the six Negro families in the federally-owned project, scene of another rock-hurling demonstration last week.

New Outbreak

Bombing, rock-throwing, vandalism and harrassment have occurred frequently since the first colored family moved into the project last August.

The angry, threatening mob last week numbered well over a thousand.

The Chicago branch of the NAACP pointed out that the rights of American Negro citizens living on U.S. property are being violated, and urged federal intervention "to the end that these violations cease and that the rights of the Negroes involved or who might become involved be protected and extended."

Ask Public Statement

It also requested the Governor to announce, publicly that he will furnish state troops if necessary to "quell any riotous disturbances resulting from Negro citizens exercising their legal rights to move into any section of the City of Chicago.

"It is our belief that such an

'No Thanks,' Says Leader To Mrs. Hobby's Offer

WASHINGTON — "No, thanks," Urban League's Paul Phillips, of Grand Rapids, Mich., reportedly told Mrs. Ovetta Culp Hobby last Thursday when she offered him the job in her Health, Education and Welfare Dept., from which Mrs. Jane Spaulding was fired last month.

Phillips is said to be the second Urban Leaguer to turn a deaf ear to the $9,600-a-year job. Soon after the Spaulding dismissal, Lester Granger, executive director in New York and an admitted supporter, denied what he called "inspired" reports that he would accept the post.

Mrs. Spaulding was fired from [illegible] after she refused to [illegible] with known racial [illegible] the proposed [illegible] other [illegible] Mrs. Hobby's Health, Education and Welfare Dept.

not mention the Spaulding incident. He said he rejected the offer because of racial discrimination in Washington.

"It would be unwise and unfair," he said, "to ask my family and especially my one-year-old son to live in and attempt to adjust to the rigid pattern of racial segregation that exists there."

Granger, earlier this month, said he did not desire any government employment outside of his voluntary work in aiding elimination of segregation in the Navy. He scored "inspired" reports that he would join Mrs. Hobby's Health, Education and Welfare Dept.

Lawyer Loses Law Suit for Bus Jim Crow

I. H. Spears, Pasadena lawyer, was denied damages by Federal District Judge Leon R. Yankwich because he was forced to sit in the rear section of a transcontinental bus in seats reserved for colored persons, when the bus reached Tennessee, somewhere between Memphis and Jackson.

Spears sued the Transcontinental Bus System for $50,000.00 for violation of civil rights. He bought his ticket at Los Angeles last April. His route was San Francisco to New Orleans.

He traveled, sitting in any portion of the bus he chose, changing buses twice. In Tennessee, the driver of the bus asked Spears, who was sitting in a seat towards the front of the bus, to move towards the end reserved for Negroes. When he refused, the driver stopped the bus. After some discussion, Spears agreed to sit in the back and the bus continued its journey.

The evidence showed that the Transcontinental operation ends in New Mexico but that other corporations in which it owns stock control, operate other parts of the route.

Each corporation has its own Board of Directors who control operations. Tickets given to passengers state that the selling carrier is not liable for anything beyond its line; that "the selling carrier acts only as agent and is not responsible beyond its own line."

Judge Yankwich held that the local concern was not responsible for the segregation which its subsidiary was compelled by law of Tennessee to practice.

This law compels carriers to segregate passengers according to race, makes it an offense to fail to do so, and gives a conductor the right to remove a passenger who sits in the wrong section.

Monday's Blaze Is 49th; Arson Squad on Alert

Forty-nine fires have flared up in the Watts-Willowbrook-North Compton area in the past few months in an outbreak of incendiarism which has alarmed residents and which has kept the County's Fire Department and the Arson Squad on the constant alert.

The 49th fire occurred early Monday morning in a barber shop and cleaning shop at 1716 N. Willowbrook avenue. This followed by only two days a fire in a machine shop at 12401 Alameda street early Saturday.

Firebug Suspected

Arson investigators express the belief that a firebug is responsible for many of the fires, though exactly how many is not known.

While many of the victims of the blazes have been Negroes, there appears no indication that any particular race has been singled out for attack. The arson squad reported that most of the fires were set from alleys, availability rather than race determining selection of the site.

Wads of Newspapers

In many of the fires, investigators found rolled up wads of newspapers which apparently had been lighted and hurled into the shed, garage or automobile. None of the blazes have taken any lives, and damage in most cases has not been excessive.

A jittery feeling, howeevr, pervades the area, for it is never known where the pyromaniac may strike next.

Probers said that the only suspect is a young Mexican, about 24 years old, who was seen on one occasion running from the scene of a freshly set fire. He was not caught, however, and his connection with

Nab Girl, 13, In Lurid Sex Crime Case

By EDDIE LEE KING

In one of the most unusual crime cases ever to occur in Los Angeles, sheriff's deputies on Wednesday arrested a 13-year-old white girl and six Negro men on a series of sex charges, including prostitution, child molesting and statutory rape.

Unusual, even in similar cases, were the age of the young girl, the fact that she reportedly operated from the city's newest and most fashionable downtown hotel, the Statler, and the fact that she allegedly made $1500 in a three-week period.

Additional Charges

The men arrested are Wilbert Gauthier, 25, 1046 E. 49th street; Jimmy Brooks, 30, 215½ W. 43rd place; George Elbert Johnson, Jr., 23, 4906½ Wadsworth avenue, who also gave 215½ W. 43rd place as an address; Alvin Charles, 22, 3202 W. 18th street; Ervin Bell, 28, 211½ E. 53rd street; and Randolph Dickens, 27, 3003 S. Mrs. L. G. Robinson Dies, Services Set for Friday

Mrs. Mary Pearl Robinson, wife of L. G. Robinson a well known citizen of this community, died Monday night after a long illness which finally confined her to bed for nearly three years. She was in the Queen of Angeles Hospital when the end came, where she had been for three months.

Louis G. Robinson brought his bride of three years to Los Angeles from Barnesville, Georgia, on January 1, 1904. While he has been active in community life, his wife felt it her part to take care of her home and her very active husband and son.

MOURNED — Mrs. L. G. Robinson died Monday at Queen of Angels Hospital, after lengthy illness.

Robinson was for many years in charge of many County employees but in the more recent past he served as president of the Angelus Funeral Home, which he organized, until a few years ago when he retired from business to take better care of his own and his wife's health. Mrs. Robinson is survived by a son, John W. Robinson, who in turn is father of Mrs. Jean Andrew, the wife of Dr. Russell Andrew.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have for many years been active members of the Pioneer Club, all of the members of which have been in California for 40 years or more. The Robinsons were also members for many years of the Scott Methodist Church of Pasadena, of which Robinson once served as pastor. Funeral services will be held at the Angelus Funeral Home with Rev. Turpeau and Rev. L. E. Lehman in charge. The services will begin promptly at one o'clock Friday.

EAGLE'S NEWEST NEWSIES — The Eagle's newest group of newsboys, from the city's west side, were photographed Saturday just after receiving new kites, and just before attending a show at the Bill Robinson theater, all for free. In the front row are Phillip Oliver and Mary Fowler. In the second row, Wallace Crooks; Joseph Howze, Jr.; George Bierderman, manager of the Bill Robinson, who helped entertain the young guests; Berry Bryant and Floyd Henderson, Jr.

Deplore Use Of Negroes to Break Strikes

NEW YORK—In a statement published in the Norwalk, Conn., papers, the NAACP branches this week "deplored the current practice of the Hat Corporation of America in using some Negro workers for strike-breaking purposes. An investigation has disclosed that the corporation has approached employment agencies largely patronized by Negroes and has solicited unemployed Negro workers for strike-breaking by other means."

Negro members of the union, Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant of the NAACP, pointed out, have steadfastly refused to cross the picket line and have maintained a solid front with the white union members.

Word Battle On Freeway March 23

"concerned" and "very sympathetic."

Representing Los Angeles citizens at the hearing were Bernard Jefferson, Floyd Covington and John Saito.

Pointing up the "unique" situation of the 1600 families—approximately 5,000 people—who will be affected if the engineers' recommendation is accepted, Jefferson told the commissioners:

Discrimination

"We are limited in Los Angeles to certain areas where we may live. In our opinion, any action by the commission which would displace some 1800 families in the Adams street area would constitute discriminatory action, creating a housing problem for minorities.

"The residents in the area in question have restricted mobility. We do not have equal opportunities to move elsewhere, a right which Caucasians enjoy."

To back up their arguments, the citizens' delegates exhibited an official map of the City Planning Commission showing the distribution of non-white dwellings in Los Angeles.

Heavy Population

They also brought out statistics regarding the greater denseness of population in the minority areas on both the east and the west side of town, as compared to so-called "white" areas, and pointed to the resistance of whites to the moving of members of minority groups to other neighborhoods.

This resistance, which already causes serious tension, would be greatly increased if the 10-mile, eight-lane stretch of the Olympic freeway is permitted to follow the proposed course, they stated.

It was emphasized also that new housing being put up and the large new subdivisions that spot the area follow exclusion policies.

Hits Orientals

The facts as far as the Negro community is concerned were substantiated by Saito, who detailed his experience as a real estate operator in attempting to find homes for Negroes and Japanese. He called attention to the small number of listings he receives for Orientals and Negroes.

It is a little easier for Orientals to find homes, he said, but the problem is essentially the same.

The recommendation of city and state engineers to the State Highway Commission provided that the new Olympic freeway would join with the Harbor Freeway at Washington, and follow a wavy line in the vicinity of 21st street, bisecting Sugar Hill and the densely populated minority areas adjoining it.

Although there was a strong note of optimism in the community here this week regarding the possibility of having an alternate route adopted, skeptics pointed out that work is already taking place at La Cienega and 21st street, and expressed the opinion that the freeway may even now be "backing into" the Sugar Hill area.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

SPOTLIGHTING SUGAR HILL

The residents of Sugar Hill should direct their protest politically. Freeways are politics. The governor, the mayor, the councilman might be the places to start. It seems to this writer that a glance at the master plan of the City Planning Commission might show that considerable taxpayer's money is being wasted because some business men were able to put down enough pressure to keep the traffic from being speeded up by a Freeway in front of their businesses. Maybe a resolution opposing the route through Sugar Hill could be introduced and passed in the City Council.

James Anderson

Hottest Thing Politically: It is possible that the Watkins Hotel Group will get angry enough at the new Goody Knight campaign director to switch their support to Richard Graves, the Democratic candidate for governor. This column stated some time ago that there would be a large number of red faces among Democrats who jumped on the Knight bandwagon. Wonder if we will be proven right before June.

Some of Allen Woodard's friends are pressuring him to run for Congress against Gordon L. McDonald in the 15th Congressional District. Woodard has had considerable political experience supporting candidates like Helen Douglas, Bill Rodges, Jimmie Roosevelt and practically all other liberal candidates for the past 15 years. He has also been in the forefront of civic activities such as the restrictive covenant fight and served for years as a member of the executive board of the NAACP, the YMCA, church and fraternal organizations.

Not Running

Mike Fanning is not running for Congress simply because he is not willing to subject himself and family to the unprincipled attacks that men of his type are subjected to when they offer themselves for public service. There are many Negroes qualified for leadership who feel the same way. They, too, are unwilling to participate in the 63rd Assembly District and the 15th Congression District political organizations. This also includes the attitude of the citizens of the 26th and 18th Congressional Districts.

Assembly Notes

The fight for the 63rd Assembly District's seat now held by Delbert Morris (Republication) is beginning to shape up. George Thomas, executive of the County Conference, would have the support of most of the interracial organizations and possibly organized labor. Harold Scott, city health inspector, has a substantial number of Negro voters within the district urging him to run. Scott talks the language of the man in the street and would have strong voter appeal. Leon B. Thompson will not run unless he is honestly drafted, something that just can't happen this century. Thompson will support Scott, Thomas or any liberal Democrat regardless of his race although he would like to run and believes that a qualified Negro would make a successful race against Norris.

Los Angeles Information Service Bulletin

Mayor Norris Poulson and John Anson Ford, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, have named a 45-man blue ribbon citizens traffic and transportation committee to make an area wide survey of traffic and transportation problems that did not include a Negro or any person capable of discussing the problem as it affects the three congested Negro areas of the city. All other areas of the city and county seem to be properly represented.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn this past week was elected vice-president of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Commission for 1954.

Hahn's name was placed in nomination by Supervisor Roger W. Jessop and was seconded by Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

Councilman Ed Roybal stated this week that come what may he's in the Lieut. Governor's race to stay.

Jimmy Roosevelt received a good reception at his brotherhood week appearance at the Bethel A.M.E. Church on Sunday. This reception possibly means that Jimmy's in the 26th Congressional race whether it makes people happy or not.

Mr. Richard Graves, ex-President of the League of California Cities and the Democratic nominee for Governor of California, will be the keynote speaker for the 15th Congressional District Democratic convention. The convention will be held on Sunday afternoon (Feb. 28) at 12:00 noon. It will take place at the Wilshire Federal Savings Building Auditorium, located on 5th Street, just west of Western Avenue.

The 63rd Assembly District Democratic Council interviewing committee, after weeks of intensive interviewing of prospective candidates, will convene Friday to announce its endorsement in the 63rd Assembly. The meeting will be held at 3910 S. Orange Drive.

Atty. Gordon Gives Address At Holman

The congregation of Holman Memorial church, 4361 McKinley avenue, last Sunday heard Atty. Walter L. Gordon during the regular 11 o'clock services speak on the needs for a "greater participation on the part of the people in their government."

Rev. L. R. Ferguson, pastor, introduced the speaker and lauded him for his civic interest. The pastor observed that Gordon's topic dealt with the need for all citizens to register and vote in public elections.

Atty. Gordon warned his audience against lapsing into that state of apathy that gripped us several decades ago. He challenged his hearers to go "forward with quickened faith, to the end that we all shall share full and equal citizenship in this nation which belongs to all of us."

Lundy Seeks Assembly Seat

Rayfield Lundy, South Los Angeles lawyer, announced this week that he will seek the assembly seat in the 55th district now held by Vernon Kilpatrick. He is a Republican.

Lundy, who says that his health is excellent, is a veteran of World War I who got his legal training at Howard University. He is married and has five children.

On the platform side, the lawyer said that he favors FEPC, the vote for 18 year olds increases in aid to the aged and, of course, reduction in taxes and public expenditures.

Lundy sought his party's nomination in 1952 but lost by a close margin. He served several years on the Willowbrook Board of Education.

CHILD PRODIGY—Jon Robertson will display his piano genius for a capacity audience Sunday (Feb. 28) at 3:00 o'clock in UCLA's Royce Hall under the sponsorship of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity.

John Doran Enters Race For Sheriff of L. A. County

John C. Doran, 38, son of Appellate Justice William C. Doran, this week announced that he would be a candidate for sheriff at the June primary.

JOHN C. DORAN

Doran, who polled 400,000 votes when he ran for sheriff in 1950, said that he agreed to run for the office in the coming election in response to a widespread demand from citizens throughout the county.

"So many people in Los Angeles County who are interested in good government and law enforcement have urged me to run for sheriff that I have decided to be a candidate," Doran said.

"With the great growth in the population of Los Angeles County, there has been a corresponding increase in crime. To meet this situation, I feel that the sheriff's office needs to be run by an energetic, active sheriff who at all times will personally administer and supervise all of its law enforcing activities."

Child Prodigy Concert Set For Sunday

Child prodigy Jon Robertson will be heard in a piano recital in UCLA's Royce Hall at 3:00 p.m. on Sunday (Feb. 28). The recital is sponsored by Kappa Alpha Psa fraternity and its scholarship awards will be presented by Eddie Cantor during intermission. The youngster is the son of a former pastor of the Wadsworth Church of Los Angeles.

Jon was first place winner of the Young People's Concert Audition Contest, Glendale. Jon appeared as soloist with the Glendale Symphony Orchestra, playing the Haydn D Major Concerto under the baton of Scipione Guidi.

The talented pupil of Mme. Ethel Leginska made his New York Town Hall deput in October of '53. The Sunday concert will mark his only local appearance before he leaves the States to appear in concerts in Australia and Cuba.

Proceeds from the UCLA recital will go to the scholarship fund of the fraternity. Each year this leading fraternity, with recognized chapters at UCLA and USC—Upsilon and Beta Omega, respectively—presents a talented local artist as a special effort to make scholarships possible for needy Los Angeles youngsters.

announcement by the Governor of the State would constitute a marked deterrent to the forces of lawlessness and violence in this and other areas of the city," the message added.

City Blamed

A letter sent to Mayor Kennelly reiterated a request for an NAACP conference with him on the Trumbull Park Homes situation, and asserted that "repeated attacks, bigoted attitudes and acts of violence against Negroes in the project" continue without "effective preventive and counter measures being taken by the City of Chicago."

edly were additionally charged with procuring.

The girl, Carolyn (last name withheld), started her recent orgy on Feb. 6, after running away from her Compton home. Her mother, Mrs. Bertha Bartholomi, told police that Carolyn had run away from home on Jan. 30, and was last seen Feb. 4, at which time a runaway juvenile report was filed.

Ran Away Before

Mrs. Bartholomi said Carolyn had run away on a number of previous occasions, and had always been found in the company of boys.

The first of the arrests occurred Sunday afternoon when Deputy A. Tanner and Dets. G. F. Sewards and G. E. Rowley spotted Gauthier's 1946 car on 60th street and Hooper avenue. Carolyn was seated between Gauthier and Brooks.

Tanner signaled the car to a halt, and noted the resemblance between the young girl and the missing Compton child. He questioned her, and she gave her name as Marie Johnson, adding that she was 19 years old. She said she lived alone, and then gave her mother's name and address, stating that her mother had given her permission to live by herself.

Tanner checked by radio and established Carolyn's identity and true age. Arrests of the other men followed.

Acting on a motion of Supervisor Burton W. Chace, the Board of Supervisors, Tuesday, approved an appropriation of $75,000 to the City of Long Beach for lifeguard services.

General Hospital Faces Bias Charge

Serious charges of biased hiring and upgrading policies were leveled against the County General hospital Tuesday by the Southern Area Council of the NAACP.

A letter dated Feb. 23 over the signature of John H. Dial, Jr., council president, and addressed to the County Supervisors, states:

"The Women in Industry Committee of the Southern Area Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of the six NAACP branches of Los Angeles County, petition the Board of Supervisors for an investigation of the hiring, upgrading, and general personnel practices of the Los Angeles General hospital.

"For more than two years, our organization has been receiving complaints from its members regarding personnel practices of various supervisorial personnel. We are convinced that there does exist a discriminatory policy of:

"(1) Limiting the employment of Negroes in the General Hospital;

"(2) That once Negro personnel is employed at the General Hospital, the established rights of transfer from one department to another are denied Negro employees solely on the basis of race;

"(3) That during the probationary period there exists a systematic practice of elimination of the most competent Negro employees by many of the departments especially where it is felt that the individual employee will seek advancement;

"(4) We charge that there exists in the General hospital departments where the practice is not to hire Negro personnel, such as at the Registrar's office, headed by Mrs. Zora Hansen, one of the largest offices of the hospital, which has no Negro clerks or other employees.

"At the telephone switchboard, the supervisor has been reported as stating that as long as she is supervisor no Negroes will work in her department. The Nursing Office and the office of the Nursing School also reportedly follow discriminatory practices. Mrs. Bond, head clerk, will hire Negroes but only for the most menial jobs. She is reported as saying she will not advance any Negro to supervisor.

"Our information is to the effect that where Negro personnel does hold responsible positions there exists systematic practice of overloading and adding work for the purpose of making County employment undesirable to them.

"We cite the case of Mrs. Bertha Jones, 778½ E. 43rd Pl., clerk typist employed October 15, 1953. Mrs. Jones received good reports from her immediate supervisors until she applied for employment and was interviewed by the probation department of the County. Mrs. Jones was given a good verbal recommendation by phone to the probation department; yet, immediately afterwards she was subjected to hostilities from her supervisor and received a series of demerits resulting in her dismissal on or about February 18, 1954. The rules governing temporary employees do not allow redress; therefore most of these abuses are not reported.

"We have on file reports and complaints from employees now in the employ of the General hospital. These are being withheld because of the desire not to work additional hardships on the Negro personnel.

"The Council alleges that there does exist a condition of discrimination against Negro personnel; that many of these individuals are subjected to cruel and inhuman treatment by prejudiced supervisors; that there is a general feeling on the part of the personnel department that too many Negroes are employed at the General hospital; that County Civil Service rules and regulations are being set aside and violated.

"We further charge that a general condition of incompetence and mismanagement prevails in the personnel department of the General hospital.

"We respectfully request an immediate investigation of these charges by the Board of Supervisors. The Council will assist the Board or any authorized representatives of the Board in establishing these allegations in any way the Board feels necessary."

Mass Meeting To Aid Wells Set for Mar. 7

Plans for a mass meeting to further the fight to save the life of Wesley Robert Wells, sentenced to die in San Quentin April 9, were laid Tuesday night at the Victory Baptist church.

The meeting reviewed the history of the case. Speakers referred to Sunday's talk by Governor Knight on the case over Freeman Lusk's television show. The governor, it was stated, demonstrated in his remarks that he is unfamiliar with all the facts leading up to the death sentence, despite all the publicity the case has attracted.

Among those present at the meeting were Rev. A. A. Peters, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, and Attys. Xenophon Lang, Leo Branton and Walter Gordon.

This week, also the United Packinghouse Workers, District 4, in Kansas City, went on record supporting Wells' fight for clemency. The district services some 10,000 packinghouse workers in the midwest area.

Also meeting with Attorney General Edmund G. "Pat" Brown this week were more than 300 ministers and rabbis from both Northern and Southern California, to present a petition to the Attorney General to intercede with Governor Knight in behalf of Wells for commutation of Wells' sentence.

On the local scene, a citizens' committee, led by Dr. Jess Nathan, editor and criminologist, is preparing to meet with Governor Knight within the next two weeks to present further pleas for clemency and commutation of sentence.

Sunday afternoon, March 7, at 2 o'clock p.m., a conference to gain clemency for Wells, will be held at the Victory Baptist Church, 47th and McKinley.

The Chairman will be Dr. A. A. Peters, church pastor and moderator of the Western Baptist Convention; Dr. Marcel Frym, director of Criminal Logical Research at SC and Los Angeles State College, both members of Atty. Gen. Brown's Advisory Committee on Crime Prevention, as well as Dr. Nathan, and representatives of 70 sponsoring civic and professional organizations.

N. O. Houston Elected to 'Y' Nat'l. Council

Norman O. Houston, member of the Board of Directors of the 28th Street YMCA, was unanimously elected to the national Council of the Young Men's Christian Association this week. His election represents the top choice from the 24 branches in the Los Angeles area.

The national council is composed of approximately 300 representatives from local associations, elected by districts. It meets annually. Through it, local associations set forth policies and programs in which they wish to cooperate for their mutual benefit.

The council also elects the national board, which is the corporate body of the movement.

Houston is president of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company and has been actively associated with the 28th Street YMCA for the past 20 years as a board member. As a lay leader, he has served as president of the branch's Board of Management and is presently treasurer of the Pacific Southwest Area council.

The national council will hold its next annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Penn., in May. Houston will be an official delegate to this meeting and will be one of four elected delegates from this area.

that fire or others has not been definitely established.

In Compton

Monday's fire on Willowbrook was the first of the alarming series which occurred in the City of Compton. All others have been in the County. Damage to the barber shop and cleaning shop, which are Mexican operated and Mexican owned, was estimated at $2250.

Authorities reported that the flames started in three different places in the shop, and definitely gave the appearance that they had been set by human hands.

An explosion 10 days ago, also in Compton, which seriously damaged a home recently purchased by a Negro veteran, was found to be unconnected with the series of shed and garage fires. Authorities reported that it was definitely the result of a gas leak.

All of the repeated fires which have occurred in the Compton-Willowbrook area are being investigated for evidence of arson. The investigation is continuing.

Memorial Talk Pays Tribute to Dr. L. T. Wright

Dr. Wright, former chairman of the Board of Directors of the NAACP, gave 30 years of service to Harlem hospital. At the time of his death in 1952, he was director of surgery at the hospital and chairman of its medical board.

The Bricker Amendment

A substantial portion of the sentiment lined up in support of the proposed Bricker Amendment to the Constitution comes from those who fear that treaties entered into as a by-product of our membership in the United Nations will undermine racial practices in this country.

That fear flamed out when the California District Court of Appeal held the Alien Land Law invalid by reason of United States assent to the Charter of the UN. That decision was reversed but it set Southerners, and other proponents of Jim Crow, to wondering what might happen to segregation laws.

It is significant that the United States has never ratified several United Nations proposals which were designed to protect the rights of individuals in all nations. The Senate has even held back on the so-called genocide pact which was proposed in order to outlaw such conduct as Hitler's drive to exterminate Jews.

Quite aside from these attitudes, opposition to the Bricker Amendment also stems from isolationists who have never quite got it into their heads that ours is One World and that, whether we like it or not, whatever happens anywhere is our concern.

The claim that some time, some unnamed and as yet un-elected president is going to plunge the nation into catastrophe unless we hamstring treaty making powers is unwarranted. We don't need the Bricker Amendment and the Administration is on sound ground in opposing it to the very limit.

The Elks Look Forward

The Elks are doing an admirable work in joining the drive to put eligible voters on the voters' rolls. Because of their close touch with the average man, the Elks are in a good position to reach many persons who can't be reached by other organizations.

The American Federation of Labor is already in the field and has enlisted the cooperation of numerous organizations and individuals and chances are bright that we will have more voters in the Negro communities this year than ever before.

We hope that still other organizations will look around to see what they can do to help.

Only a portion of the job is done when eligibles are registered. There remains the task of seeing to it that every person gets out on primary and general election days and casts his ballot.

Negroes have probably spent more time and effort than any other group in America in fighting for the right to vote. Now that we have this precious right it is up to all of us to see that it is exercised by every possible person.

The Same Old SP

The complaint filed by the West Coast NAACP against the Southern Pacific Railroad is warranted.

Southern Pacific is, and has been for years, neck deep in snide segregation practices. It gets by with these practices because they are difficult to nail down and prove.

Every Negro passenger has had the experience of getting a subtle run-around to ascertain his race when he buys a ticket on the SP coast trains. Every possible effort is made to shunt him to an undesirable seat wherever that is possible.

Nor is it a happen-stance that Negroes are always assigned seats together.

We don't know whether the NAACP will be able to prove these latest charges or not. We will hazard the guess that if the charges are proved the SP will simply go a little deeper underground and keep right on treating Negro passengers with contempt.

We wonder how long SP thinks it can treat Negro passengers as it does and still retain a measure of their custom.

A Good Appointment

The appointment of John L. Hill to the State Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers seems to us a good move by Governor Goodwin Knight.

Mr. Hill is a young man whose conduct of the Angelus Funeral Home indicates that he is possessed of sound business judgment and with that concern for public welfare which is so essential in an office-holder.

His term will not expire until 1958 and that will give him ample time to demonstrate his fitness and ability for the job that he has undertaken.

Every such appointment is important as a step toward the integration of Negroes in government.

We are sure that Mr. Hill will serve with honor and distinction and that all Californians, regardless of race, will benefit by the sacrifice he has undertaken in a very laudable effort to serve the people of this state.

Let's Get Together

"Let's get together" is the slogan for this year's Brotherhood Week sponsored by the Conference of Christians and Jews.

In late years the Conference has spent a good deal of time and effort in trying to implement its program. Those who are critical of that program are fond of charging that too much of it is pleasant talk that never gets translated into action.

While we are convinced that action programs are the prime need of our times we do realize that such organizations as the Conference perform a needed work in constantly telling all Americans who will listen that brotherhood is an integral part of the American creed.

If Brotherhood Week serves to convince only a few more Americans that we need to get together in order to preserve and strengthen our American way of life it will be worthwhile.

Our YM Deserves Help

The 28th Street YMCA is in the throes of its annual subscription drive and we hope that everybody will give what he can to this very fine community institution.

Institutions such as the YMCA do a lot of good jobs quietly and sometimes without the contribution they deserve to the community and to the young men and boys of the community.

Kenneth E. Morris, the present secretary at the local YMCA, has worked wonders with the institution during his stay here. We know that if he has additional funds and wholehearted support he will make a very useful institution an even more useful one.

Give what you can.

The Big Sea

By Lester Bailey

COMMUNIST PARTY USES NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

Exploiting the deep emotional appeal of Negro History Week among Negroes, the Communist Party expertly turns this annual observation into a medium with which to grind its own ideological axes and to recruit new blood for its "front" organizations.

Lester Bailey

Working through local committees for Negro History Week, the followers and disciples of the party promoted and presented their own peculiar brand of Negro history. In areas where local non-Communist committees could not be infiltrated or taken control of, workers for the party set up their own committees. Many persons, moved to righteous indignation over the fallacies and omissions in accepted American history, were swept into the fervent efforts "to tell the Negro's role" in the growth and development of this country.

Garbled

In keeping with the doctrine of "self-determination" (the black republic), Negro speakers were supplied with "background" material given a slant hardly subtle to the keen-minded and well-informed observer. One such meeting, of which I received a verbatim report, was treated to the standard format of the propaganda speech.

The speaker, who was obviously not working with material he had prepared himself, began with a factual, if garbled, chronological narrative of the Negro's contributions to American history. Skipping briefly and frivolously over the immortal personalities of Nat Turner, Frederick Douglass, Harriet Tubman, Booker T. Washington and the like, the speaker then went into great detail and emphasis to extoll the virtues of the contemporaries of the Communist Party who have, for various reasons, become martyrs and heroes of the Red propoganda mills.

Attacked NAACP

The speaker did not know who Dr. Ralph Bunche is nor in what capacity he serves with the UN. Needless to say, he did not speak of his world-famous role as a mediator for peace. Walter White, A. Philip Randolph, Thurgood Marshall, Charles Houston and others who are giving, or have given, their lives for human rights, were no doubt highly complimented, by not having been mentioned.

Religiously following the format of his canned address, the speaker then launched into an attack upon the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The NAACP was founded, he lied to the audience, by wealthy white people as a "compromise" organization to take the place of the "militant Niagara Movement."

Defend NAACP

Luckily, there were a number of persons in the meeting who knew the NAACP story.

There was an almost violent reaction on the part of the speaker and his "plants" when factual rebuttal was given. The NAACP is a constant target of the party because it has so effectively resisted infiltration and because it is THE civil rights organization giving the Red fronts and agencies competition.

Many of us will mourn the belated passing of Negro History Week out of sheer nostalgia and/or racial nationalism; the Communist Party will gnash its teeth over its demise because it serves as a "blind side" approach into the unsuspecting ranks of the Negro, and as a most potent propoganda factor "Made in the U.S.A."

By Lester B. Granger

Mayor Cobo of Detroit and Mayor Pankow of Buffalo, by their recent actions in sabotaging their own commissions on human relations, have gone a long way toward justifying a comment made in this column several years ago, which was so resented by some of the Enthusiastic Edgars of race relations.

Lester Granger

The point which I made in that column was that merely the creation of a municipal commission on human relations does not guarantee progress in this field. For when such a commission is appointed by the Mayor, and if the Mayor is himself dishonest or reactionary in his racial views, he will take good pains to see that his commission is shackled, or stacked, or reorganized when it shows signs of doing a good job.

In Buffalo, the Board of Community Relations has, since its beginning, been headed by an able young executive, Charles Livermore. Mr. Livermore has been recognized as one of the best in the field of municipally-created commissions. Yet, last month, Mr. Livermore was fired—fired by newly-elected Mayor Pankow because he wants "his own man" in the post. Mr. Pankow was at least frank in stating that the change was politically motivated because this was clear warning to Buffalo that the Board would operate on a politically-acceptable basis or not at all.

Detroit's Mayor Cobo was not so honest. Mrs. Beulah T. Whitby is the only Negro director of a municipally-supported human relations commission. (The New York Committee, headed by Mrs. Edith Alexander, is supported by private funds, though appointed by the Mayor). Mrs. Whitby has been Acting Director for many months, since her predecessor resigned to accept a better paying post in Philadelphia. The Mayor has been squirming around ever since that time, trying to find a way to duck the appointment of the woman who was the former Assistant Director and the real brains of the operation throughout its ten-year existence.

Detroiters say bluntly that the Mayor did not want to appoint a colored woman. Negro members of the Commission were stupid enough to play his game by refusing to insist on the elevation of the obviously qualified person already doing an excellent job for the past year. Last month, in trying to get off the hot spot, Mayor Cobo stupidly jumped onto an even hotter one. He explained to the press that he was rejecting Mrs. Whitby as full-time director because "she has been very close to organizations in the past which are not in keeping with our thinking."

Of course, the press immediately jumped to the assumption that Mrs. Whitby was being accused of association with red organizations. The Mayor did nothing to clear up the confusion until, pushed by Mrs. Whitby, he explained to her that she was chairman of a committee of the Detroit Urban League which was working for an end to racial segregation in public housing projects. The Mayor is wedded to housing segregation, and he accepted Whitby's committee position as being opposed to his official administration policy.

In other words, in Detroit there is a city administration which believes in jim-crow housing. It is impossible for that administration to approve a human relations commission and director which actively oppose jim-crow housing. This in turn makes it impossible for the Detroit public to have any faith in the commission or director who will be eventually approved by the Mayor—not unless some serious changes are made. Fortunately for Detroit, Mrs. Whitby has courage, as well as integrity. She did not meekly step out of the picture when the Mayor launched a smear attack on her record. She insisted on getting the record clear and, thus clarified, the record shows that Mayor Cobo is a very small-time politician indeed, and a very weak reed on which to lean in the matter of racial relations.

There is the public's lesson from the happenings in Buffalo and Detroit—that should be remembered in any community which is tempted to consider a "mayor's committee" as the be-all and end-all of racial reform.

Year 'Round Need

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

BROTHERHOOD WEEK IS ON

So this is Brotherhood Week! Yes, and each of us should do something about it. By "we" we refer to the Americans we call Negroes for lack of a better term. It is not directed toward any other person or group because we are getting to the place in our thinking where it appears to us that our time is better invested in aiding this group to prepare for integration by practicing treating other people with the respect and countesy which we wish them to show us.

Leon Steward

As we go places over the city we see evidences that other people are growing more brotherly as the years pass. We regret that we cannot say more of the Negroes whom we observe in similar situations.

Surely they are becoming more intelligent in appearance and better dressed. We are especially impressed with the improved carriage and demeanor of our women. Generally speaking the men are not far behind them but both appear to us to move about the city as though we expect some one to deny our right to do so.

Good Laboratory

The world about us is moving further towards the ideals of brotherhood, but having been in our struggle for so long we appear hesitant to change our approach. Now the fact appearing to this writer is that we must go forward expecting the best and, according to my own experience, we shall not be disappointed.

These observations have been taken from many different aspects of life over a good many years. The last 10 years have found us back in California and it is here that we wish to make these suggestions. There are two places where you may find good laboratories for observing These are on the streetcars and on the highways and streets of Los Angeles.

EXHIBITS A AND B

On the streetcars we find that on too many occasions the streetcar operator finds himself accused of being unbrotherly by simply asking that a person who has not done so pay his fare. We appear hesitant to sit next to other people. This we judge to be because we fear a discourtesy towards us. We are inclined to talk too loud about personal or any other matters, to the disturbance of others on the streetcar or bus. When we do take that seat we appear ready for anything that might happen. Maybe you can add to this list.

In driving an automobile it is a very unusual experience to find a Negro who will yield the right of way to you under any circumstances. So often do we stand awaiting someone with a brotherly spirit to get us out of a traffic difficulty. He or she is never a Negro. One day another man was yielding the right of way to us to make a left turn and as quick as a wink a Negro jumped in front of us. This is childish. This is unbrotherly. This is a moral sin from where we stand. Let's change this. We ought to and we can.

ONE FINE THING

When a pedestrian we have found, however, that the Negro is more likely to stop so that you may cross the street. WE do not care to make any remark as to why he does it but we cannot take that from him and we would not try. We have on many occasions remarked: "The only place where pedestrians have a chance is on Central avenue." Just like these evidences of courtesy on the streets and highways give a fellow a rather good feeling why not try giving a motorist a break as well ?

These remarks are made by one who is in dead earnest in his desire to see the Negro advance and he writes these observations in that same spirit.

By Sgt. Tom Bradley

Each successive week as I approach the task of preparing this column, my sense of humility increases and I find increasing change in my former attitude of finding fault with newspaper reporters. This same self-reappraisal and change of attitude applies in general to sales clerks, waitresses, streetcar conductors and people in all types of occupations.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

It is easy to sit back and criticize the other fellow, to feel that he's obviously a stupid dope or he would not make such mistakes, or to feel that you can do the job more efficiently. Since no two people are likely to express a single idea in the same way, it's especially easy to find fault with articles written in the newspaper.

Not So Easy

My respect for working newspaper writers has gone up immeasurably since I started this weekly column several months ago. Finding something to say, and organizing one's thoughts so as to produce an article that is, to some degree satisfactory, is a real task. Assuming the job without benefit of previous writing experience, as I did, made things just a little more difficult.

If you have the habit of being impatient with any degree of imperfection on the part of others, I suggest that the best cure is for you to try the other fellow's job for a while.

A somewhat frightening aspect of writing this column is the delayed realization that people are critically appraising the things I have to say. Friends and strangers from near and far have commented about the column.

Got Eagle

Two weeks ago, while visiting friends in Portland, Ore., I learned, to my surprise, that they get the paper every week and have been following my column. Tim Tillman, the head of this wonderful family, is a former resident of Los Angeles. His father was a contractor here before moving to Seattle, Wash., many years ago. Although Mr. Tillman has not been back to visit his friends, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, the Harvey Brothers, and many of the oth-

Palm Springs Peonage Charges Hit By NAACP

PALM SPRINGS—The local NAACP branch issued a strong blast here last week against the "gross misrepresentation of facts and deliberate untrue fabrications" on the part of the left-wing People's World and the People's Council in a case wherein two Negro girls living in a nearby desert city with a white family were reported by the newspaper and the council as being held in "peonage," "slavery," "slave girls."

The NAACP statement released to newspapers and publicly announced charged:

"A gross misrepresentation of facts and deliberate untrue fabrications in the case of the two Negro children living with a local family have been circulated by public statement nad word of mouth from an organization known as the Palm Springs Peoples' Council or Palm Springs Peoples' Progressive League and in various news stories appearing in the Peoples' World.

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has conducted an investigation of the facts in this case through its Palm Springs Branch and its Southern California conference. We have concluded that there are no grounds for the charges that the two children are being held in 'peonage,' 'slavery,' as 'scullery slaves,' 'kitchen help,' 'slave girls' or in any other fashion which would be unlawful or indicate maltreatment or mistreatment. To the contrary, our investigation indicated that the children are being cared for in a loving and concerned family atmosphere. No person, authorized to represent or speak for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here in Palm Springs or in the Southern California Area has issued any report to the contrary.

"Further, the Peoples' World, in apparently constructing a case to fit the purposes of their philosophy and ideology attempted and did identify the NAACP with their plan and cause. At no time has this Association identified with either this Council, this alleged newspaper or their acts of misrepresentation in this case. We charge both the Council and the Peoples' World with gross misrepresentation and irresponsibility of such a degree as to clearly indicate again their insincerity in proclaiming interest in the fight for equality and justice. We reject them and their leadership and charge that their actions in this case have damaged seriously the cause of civil rights in this area."

er pioneers of this city, he keeps abreast of things through the newspaper.

As a result of these comments, I have suddenly become sharply conscious of a writer's responsibility for care and attention to what is reduced to print. I suppose it's similar to the sensation one would feel if, after disrobing for bed at night, he suddenly realized that the window shade had been up all the while and the neighbors were sitting in the yard watching the show.

THE CURFEW ORDINANCE

In response to an invitation to ask for information of most value to you, the inquiries indicate that a discussion of the curfew law rates high on the list.

Despite the fact that the curfew has long been in effect, there is still a surprising lack of knowledge about it.

Police records indicate that a youngster who is out late at night often has no plan for his activities, but has an abundance of energy which can be exploded in the direction of unlawful activify upon the slightest suggestion.

To Prevent Crime

Therefore, the curfew ordinance is designed to deprive juveniles of the opportunity to commit crimes and to remove them from situations which may be dangerous to their physical and moral well-being.

Briefly, Section 45.03 of the L. A. Municipal Code prohibits persons under the age of 18 from loitering about public streets, alleys, parks, and other public places after 10 p.m. unless accompanied by an adult having legal custody or control. It also makes it unlawful for any person who has legal control over such juvenile to permit such loitering unless the adult is with the juvenile.

On the first offense, the child is usually questioned, warned and released, but subsequent violations may result in the child being referred to the Juvenile Court for lack of proper parental supervision. It is also possible for the parent to be arrested.

One of the most important factors in control of juvenile delinquency and prevention of crime is the parents' knowledge of the whereabouts of their children at all times.

'Who's Who' Meet Held in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA — A Who's Who in Santa Monica program shared interest with a report on the housing situation at the meeting of the local branch of the NAACP here last Thursday night.

The meeting, with Pres. E. G. Allen presiding, was held at the Calvary Social Hall.

The analysis of who's doing what and where in the bay area industrial, business and professional fields was presented by Mrs. W. P. Carter. Purpose of the analysis was to enable members of the community to become better acquainted, to be better informed about prevailing conditions, and to aid in possible job placements.

The housing situation was discussed, following a report by the branch's housing committee. The committee, consisting of Chairman Joe Allen Reese, Frank Barnes and Earl Evans, reported on a meeting with the City Housing Authority, and outlined a constructive program.

A rising vote of thanks was given the committee, and the executive board was instructed to appoint a committee to work closely with the Housing Authority.

Episcopalians Claim Gains Among Negroes

NEW YORK — Increasing numbers of Philadelphia's Negro population are joining the Episcopal Church, according to the current issue of Episcopal Churchnews Magazine. One of the reasons given is the sound attitude of the Rt. Rev. Oliver James Hart, Bishop of the Pennylvania Diocese and a North Carolinan by birth.

Although most of the Negro population is Baptist, statistics show Negroes comprise 10 per cent of Episcopalian communicants and, reports Churchnews, the figure is rising.

Among the two most popular churches in Philadelphia are the Church of St. Thomas, generally regarded as the oldest incorporated church of any denomination in America, and the cathedral-like Memorial Church of the Advocate which is a mixed congregation with Negroes in the vestry and choir.

Baptist Group Plans Meeting

Good Tidings Baptist Church will hold public recognition services beginning Sunday (Feb. 28) at 3:00 p.m., with a gigantic Youth and Civic Day program and will feature many youth and civic leaders of this community. Laughlin E. Waters, United States attorney for the Southern District of California and former California State Assemblyman, will be the speaker. Herbert A. Greenwood, Police Commissioner, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The McGruderliers, a talented and youthful chorus group from Pasadena, under the direction of Mrs. Bernice McGruder, will present "Great Music" of the masters. Also appearing on this Youth and Civic Day Program will be the outstanding young vocal artist, Miss Barbara Pulliam. These services will continue nightly through March 5 at 7:45 p.m., in the sanctuary of the Mount Bethel Baptist Church, 5425 South Main Street, Los Angeles.

Adventists Set New High In Church Gifts

Giving by Negro members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church on the West Coast reached an all-time high in 1953, according to a report released today in Glendale by Dr. Owen A. Troy, departmental secretary of the Pacific Union Conference of the denomination.

Contributions in tithe and mission offerings totaled $390,809, more than $23,000 above contributions during any previous year. Tithe, which represents 10 per cent of the income, amounted to $303,278 in 1953 and gifts to foreign missions was $86,530.

The report by Dr. Troy also revealed a 10 per cent gain in Negro membership last year in California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and the Hawaiian Islands.

Church Section Planned For Local FEM Magazine

A complete church section inclusive of pictures and interesting articles on events, happenings and personalities in West Coast churches is one of the key features of FEM, Libby Clark's purse-size pictorial magazine which will be on the newsstands March 17.

Under the caption "Get the Go to Church Habit" FEM will list monthly the names and locations of various churches as well as the minister and the hours of worship.

FEM is a monthly magazine primarily directed toward the Negro woman. However, its 25 different features will include articles and items of an interracial nature.

SANTA ANITA: The 17th running of the $100,000-guaranteed Santa Anita Handicap on Saturday promises to be a colorful racing special with the possible establishment of new records. In anticipation of an attendance of 60,000 or more there will be a half-hour earlier start than usual with gates opening at 10:30 a.m. and the first race starting at 12:30 p.m.

RAMSEY

Post time for the big 'Cap will be around 4:45 p.m. Pacific standard time. Outstanding features will be Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well, high-weight at 130 pounds and probable favorite, striving to repeat his victory of last season to be the first horse to win more than one running. With two stakes for $55,500 already won at the meeting and a likely starter in the $100,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap on the grass on closing day, March 6, he'll be shooting to break his record of $199,050 net earnings here last year.

Mark-Ye-Well, now eighth among the world's greatest money-winners, will also have an opportunity to move up on the list. Eddie Arcaro will be up.

Thirteen of Diamonds may start as an entry with Indian Hemp. Longden will be booting for his fourth winner of the event and to increase his lead in riding more winners than any other jockey in North America. John de Blois Wack flew in Neville Sellwood, champion Australian rider, across the Pacific to pilot his Australian Derby victor, Deep River II, but the horse has not trained up to the race and will be reserved for the $100,000 grass classic on March 6.

VICTORY POISE—Master Mike McKee, Student Quentin Booker and Asst. Charles Horbst, members of the Cavaliers Fencing Club, just defeated Pomona College in bouts held on the Cavaliers court. Booker is the first Negro to hold a membership card in the Amateur Fencers League of America.

Quentin Booker First Negro Admitted to Fencing League

Fencing, which means "the art of fence," both offensive and defensive, originated as a form of deadly combat before the Christian Era, and continued as such for 20,000 perhaps more years. Dr. Graeme M. Hammond formed the Amateur Fencers League of America in 1891.

Last year the West coast branch of the A.F.L.A. admitted its first Negro, young Quentin Booker, who is a fencing member of the Cavaliers. Booker has been fencing little over four years and got in three years at the University of Washington before coming to Los Angeles.

A devoted fencing great once said "fencing always has been and always will be enjoyed by a highly intelligent minority"; the sport attracts those possessing the moral courage, the self-discipline, the quiet determination required to become proficient in a sport that calls for the highly perfected technique of the golfer, the explosive energy of the sprinter, and the split-second decisions demanded of the boxer and the tennis player. Young Booker possesses these powers and because he does he is rated as one of the bright stars of the sports.

In his first matches he started as novice and amazed the veterans with his skill by reaching the finals. Booker's favorite weapon is the Sabre but pointed out that all great fencers master all three weapons, the Foil, the Epee and Sabre. Booker's ambition is to fence well enough to make the United States Olympic team and figures it will take him at least five years of hard work.

As a member of the Cavaliers Fencing Club he is getting instruction from two of the top coaches on the coast, Master Mike McKee and his assistant, Charles Horbst. In all types of fencing bouts, the idea is to wound (or touch) an opponent with the sword without being touched. The bouts take place between a strip 5 feet 10¾ inches and 6 feet 6¾ inches and 40 feet in length.

In this space skill prevails as Booker is kept pretty busy defending himself from eight different points and is called upon to make eight different parries against his attacker, who is aiming above and below the arms and inside and outside of either arm.

It costs money in this sport. Booker earns his keep as a bartender at Dynamite Jackson's Cocktail Parlor. Everytime he breaks a sabre blade it can cost him as low as $7.50 or high as $15.00. Not to mention a mask $4, a padded vest $4, gloves from $2 up, and the prices keep moving upward.

BOWLING NOTES

BOB WILLIAMS

Just as any other sport, bowling can be as unpredictable as any. It even happened in the Sunset League last week when the last-place Sav-Way TVers upset the league-leading Ted's Service team. John Gardiner led his teammates to a surprise victory by posting a 204 lead-off game. The leaders were dropped to third place.

Kenneth Morris and Hubert Pickett, bowling in rare form, had enough power for the B&B's to turn back Garrett's powerful bowlers as the combination came up with a 536 and 522 series, respectively.

The King Pins gave way to the Central Bar-B-Q, dropping two games as they moved up into the leadership. Lee Hi Hats and Brown Motor Shop ended up in a tie, at a half game each.

These two teams put on a real tight battle as high game honors ended in a tie between Tony Moore and Floyd Lawrence with 213 each.

	Won	Lost
Central Bar-B-Q	40	26
Lee's Hi Hat	39½	26½
Ted's Service	39½	26½
Brown Motor Shop	38½	27½
Garrett Ent.	29	37
Sav-Way TV	25	41
King Pins	23½	42½

The powerful Cubs cage team is now leading the league and is almost certain to wrap up the division title in its league. Watch for Norman's series on these pages starting next week.

Whiz Kids Cage Squad Is Best In Seven Years

Medical Whiz Kids basketball team, winners of the junior AAA Municipal League title, represents one of the best teams in their seven year history. The team was organized back in 1946. Coach Fred Griffin at that time saw many prep graduates' basketball careers cut short before they really had a chance to fully develop. He thought by joining the Municipal league it would give the kids a chance to improve their game as well as a chance to continue their schooling through an athletic scholarship.

Griffin stresses good, clean players with the will to win as a team. Each year a team is awarded the Sportsmanship trophy and this year Whiz Kids stand high on the list as eligibles to take home the coveted honor.

This year's squad is perhaps one of the best, having played 28 games and suffering only two defeats. Highlights of the team's popularity came when they were invited to Mexicali where they split a two game series with the Latins. College scouts always make it a must to catch as many Whiz Kids games as possible.

Sinking All Putts

By "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

When people play games for amusement and recreation they are known as amateurs. When one becomes proficient at a game and he atttempts to make a livelihood from it, he becomes a professional.

Golf is one of the most enjoyable games in existence, from the participants' point of view. It is rapidly becoming one of the major sport spectacles from the viewers standpoint. The golf pros are making a magnificent crusade for their ehosen sport. The large galleries they attract converts more followers to the actual participation in the sport than all the vocal and verbal ballyhoo in the world.

It has been said that whoever can make two blades of grass grow upon a spot of ground, where only one grew before, deserves better of mankind. If a pro can, by his prowess and demeanor, make one more person interested in golf than was before, he, too, deserves something. In short golf needs pros, but pros need money. In order to follow the tournament trails and provide thrills and entertainment to the lovers of the game, they must get funds. We humans have acquired an annoying little habit of eating.

The three leading Negro professionals of the land, Teddy Rhodes, Bill Spiller and Charles Sifford, have been invited to compete in the Mexican National Open, to be held in Mexico City starting Thursday (they will be on their second round when this comes off the press.) This invitation is definite and positive proof that at long last the Sepia golfer has gained big time recognition. It also gives these intrepid campaigners the best opportunity that they have ever had to annex a major championship.

True, there are bulkheads to penetrate before they can reach the upper decks, but if they are made to realize that the race is supporting them materially and not with just a lot of abstract sentimentality, either of these three men is capable of writing a stirring chapter in golfing history that all Negroes will be proud of.

We all know that not a single Negro professional can boast of ever having had a sponsor, in spite of the fact that Negro golfers spend hundreds of thousand dollars annually on golf equipment. Several of the Negro golfing contingent are capable of belonging to any one of the major sporting goods houses advisory staff.

Bill Spiller, a highly respected local family man, informs the column that the heavy financial burden incurred in "road play" has made it an impossibility for our three standard bearers to continue competing in events, which privilege Joe Louis, Walter Winchell and many others fought so hard to secure. We have our foot in the door; let's not lose our advantage now.

A professional golfers' relief fund organization has been set up with Bill Watkins, owner of the Watkins Hotel, as its temporary head. Cooperating with Watkins are such prominent local sports enthusiasts as Chester Washington, local man-

John Thomas Becomes Second Negro Calif. Boxing Referee

John Thomas, former great lightweight boxer became the second Negro boxing referee in the state of California last week. Thomas took and successfully passed his examination and according to Clayton Frey, secretary, who supervises matters of this nature for the California State Boxing Commission, the former boxer will receive his official credential through the mail this week.

Thomas began his boxing career as an amateur in 1938, winning the 126-pound novice title and in the same year taking the state AAU title. In 1939 he won the tri-state golden gloves crown.

In 1941, Thomas started his professional career and ran up a string of 32 straight victories before facing defeat, establishing a new record for a lightweight boxer. Thomas's greatest year as a boxer came in 1944 when he was on the threshold of a world title bout but Uncle Sam stepped in and halted his boxing career by packing him off to the army. Although he resumed his fighting after his army release he lost much of his brilliant boxing skill which he quickly realized and was advised to hang 'em up by his manager Bert Lewis. Since his retirement Thomas has been operating a fast growing poultry business.

He retired from the rings in 1947 after having engaged in 78 bouts, losing six and drawing one while earning more than $108,000 in six years of boxing. Thomas as a boxer enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best liked boxers in the game as well as never having one of his 78 bouts questioned.

Thomas joins Dynamite Jackson, veteran referee who was the first ring official assigned by the commission several years ago.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY united a popular Southern California couple at Saint Paul Church Sunday afternoon when Josephine Jordan and George Yelder took wedding vows.

Josephine Eileen Jordan and George Robert Yelder Wed

Amid a profusion of white orchids and bridal flowers, Josephine Eileen Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clifton became the bride of George Robert Yelder on Sunday at 3 o'clock p.m. at Saint Paul's Baptist Church. Dr. John L. Branham officiated at the ceremony.

Through a white candle lit aisle, graced with a white carpet, petite and lovely Josephine entered the wedding chapel on the arm of her father. The bride was exquisitely gowned in a custom made dress by Lucille's, of white slipper satin with Beauty roses. The petite flower girl, Patricia Lumpkins, wore a dress of white taffeta and nylon net with seed pearls at the neckline, by Eva.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR—Dr. Geraldine Jones has been named Woman of the Year by Zeta Phi Beta sorority.

The gown of her maid of honor and only attendant, Bernice Catherine Wright, was also an original by Lucille's. She wore blue sunburst taffeta with a redingote of pale blue nylon tulle. Her chapeau was of blue velvet and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of American tiered cascades of pleated nylon tulle and magnificent chantilly lace. White sequins and pearls accented the neckline and Elizabethan collar. The chapel train was lavished with nylon tulle, and her fingertip veil was capped with lace and pearls. The bouquet was white orchids and bouvardia.

Other members of the wedding party, including the best man, Bradford Dawson, wore formal afternoon attire. The ushers were N. W. Tukes, Luther Scott, Arthur Mitchell, and Irvin Brown. The impressive and beautiful wedding music, with Mrs. Lloyd Shepherd at the organ, was sung by Mrs. Ruth Wyatt and Mr. Allan Jackson. Mrs. C. S. McKinney directed the wedding.

To greet the host of friends and guests at the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fisher, 2227 Virginia Road, Mrs. Henry Clifton, the bride's mother, wore a naussau blue iridescent taffeta dress with a decollete neckline studded with rhinestones. She wore white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The grandmother, Mrs. Eva Brooks of Salina, Kansas, chose blue lace and nylon tulle over pink with matching accessories. A pink rose corsage completed her costume. Ice blue lace and blue faille with matching accessories were chosen by Mrs. Ellen Rhodes, cousin of the groom. Her corsage was also of pink roses.

The entire two story swank home of the Fishers was beautifully decorated with the wedding motif. "Newlins" used lilies, carnations with lace collars, stock and mums.

The dining room was appropriately decorated with large white wedding bells and white lilies. The three tier wedding cake, "The Wedding Slipper," was supported by a white dove stand originally designed by Jimmy Davis. Orange fruit punch with sherbet floats, iced green, yellow and pink sheet cakes, assorted mints, and nuts added color to the table with the wedding bell napkins.

Persons assisting at the reception were Mmes. John Moore, Harry Davis, Allison Jackson, Randolph Lomax, Howard Johnson, Claude Ellison, N. W. Tukes, Horace N. Mays, Rudolph Prim, Randall Hoxie, Oswald Hylton, Mrs. Izella Allison, Flordia Johnson, Marie Sheffield, Sadie Patterson, Selina Foster; Misses Willa Owens, Earlie Mae Owens, Eddie Mae Armstrong, Gwendolyn Dusuau, Freda Hodge, Vatchye Winston, Jacqueline Smith, Millie Proctor. In High School, she was elected "Miss Industrial High," president of the Girl Scout Patrol of Campus, class officer, and honor student. At Howard University she was selected as "Alpha Queen" and attendant to "Miss Homecoming" and was voted best dressed girl on campus and girl most photographed in her senior year.

Famed Sprint Star Surprised

By KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

"Once upon a time there were three bears" who came out in full force to the Tweedsmens cocktail soiree. Can't blame it on the Tweedsmen, though; they have no control over who comes to their pay affairs . . . we even made it.

Horrible broads and their grandmaws were overshadowed by the "bootifull fems" (Pat Anderson, Rose Bunn, Joan Southern, Shirly Grahahm, etc.) who were in abundance.

EXCERPTS

The "purty," attired in the ankle length red coat, reminded us of the first time Fisk U. student, Bette Norman, appeared on the scene . . . couldn't get a decent viewing of her for all of the raving friends surrounding her . . . We did get a good look at Billy Benefield and Stan (Square) Roberson (what a bring down) who were tending bar . . . draped over the aforementional object. We fixed our steadfast gaze upon notables Jimmy Gilbert, Price (just returned from Frisco) Cobbs, Dorothy (should be in Frisco) Cain, Vernon Dancy, Walter Smith and Bev Wilkerson, Bill Baily, Millie Pilkington, Ted Schaffer and nobody.

Ex disc-jockey and club member Roy Loggins did the chores on the music box while Robert Armstrong and Vivian Jones danced in each others arms . . . again. While Uly Carter and Pat Prescott, Cairo Collins and Suzy Moore, Al Glover and Harold Machum looked on.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

The raid on a local motel that netted a young east end newshen and a number of her socially prominent club buddies.

Julious Boyd and Zelita Le Blanc who are engaged in the process of house hunting . . . they'll be married by and by.

Darling Scotts coming down the aisle to matrimony.

The excursion to Mount Baldy where members of the RO-KA-WI club were guests of some of the city's top bachelors who threw snowballs at them. (All in fun, of course.) Many of the things that happened on this trip were quite amusing . . . We understand Mary Ann Vandange got colder than she ordinarily is and Joan Southern, who rented a pair of skis didn't ski a mumble peg when she saw the docs bringing the folks down from the lift in baskets.

Shirley Johnson, who may or may not be a semi-opportunist. It seems that she received an engagement ring from a dentist whom none of the friends had heard of and was the basis for her rift with long time lover Mack Marrow.

Barbara Garrott Lewis' fabulous wedding reception. We understand that she and her husband, George, have already moved to their new apartment.

Howard Morehead's description of Marie Varner . . . He says she's the "tuffest thing since horse meat."

The President of the Lupenians Social and Charity club. She's Gaynell Claude, the gal voted most likely to succeed in hooking the most discriminating man in the world.

Millie Bennett has sued her Detroit mate, Dr. Bob Bennett, for separate maintenance. Rev. Clarence Cobbs leaves on the 14th for home. He bought a house in Cuernavaca. Ailene Kaiser is off to St. Loo in June visiting. Golfbug bit Virgie Benson hard. He plays four and five times a week.

The Earl Foleys of Columbia, Ohio, left Mon. for home. They had a luxurious stay in these parts including leisure at Palm Springs.

Rousing late - Sunday - night parties come and go no doubt but that version presided over by able Betty Howard and Tony Hill with Tom and Leonard Brady at the latter pair's sumptuous home last Sunday was absolutely the most! We hung from the rafters, the gin was wonderful, the two bars never seemed to shut and the crowd was pure delight.

Going Strong

Talented folk sang and played. The buffet was handy, sizable, endless. We left after 2 a.m. and this mad party was going strong then. I don't truthfully know who got the biggest kick out of it all, Betty, Tony, the Bradys or the whole quartet of them! And I don't know when I've hated to leave such fun as much as I did even at 2 a.m.

Many had such a marvelous time I expected any moment for him to go into a merrie monday routine all his own, but ALL of us would gladly joined in. It was indeed of a party triumph.

As I left for Berkeley a few hours later I wondered even then if I was missing much more of the fun.

Publisher's Wife Guest at P.T.A.

The P-TA of Thomas Jefferson High School celebrated Founder's Day by featuring as speaker a former alumnus of the school, Mrs. Juanita Miller, known throughout the city not only as the charming wife of Loren Miller but also for her own outstanding part in social, civic and artistic affairs, who covered the problems of P-TA quite thoroughly on three levels. She viewed the P-TA through the eyes of her eight-year-old son; she considered the viewpoint of her 16-year-old son, and she drew in retrospect from her own memories of high school days.

Mrs. William Terry, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speaker, and was able to secure and introduce as soloist Miss Beulah Terry, who contributed two numbers.

An honorary life membership was given to Mrs. Myrtia Christopher, faithful veteran of P-TA work. Mrs. Christopher, white-haired and pink-cheeked, pleasingly attired in gray and purple, made a very distinguished looking honoree.

Plans were made for a variety concert to be given in May at the school by the A Capella Choir under the direction of Mr. Larsen, but look for more news of that later.

The meeting ended in friendly fellowship over tea and cake.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

In our previous discussions we have paid particular attention to high card strength and just a slight amount to distributional strength. This week we shall devote the entire column to a discussion of some of the key phases of distribution.

Suits are divided in hands so that there is always one suit of four cards or more. If a hand holds a pattern of 4-3-3-3, or 4-3-4-2, it is considered balanced. If a hand holds a pattern of 5-3-32-2, or better, it is considered unbalanced. With a balanced hand it is usually a good plan to try to play a contrat in no-trump. With unbalanced hands a suit contract is usually preferable.

H. K-J-x	(4)
H. A-J-x-x	(5)
C. A-Q-x	(6)
	17

This hand is usually much better played in no-trump than any suit because of the evenness of the distribution. Only if partner has a very unbalanced hand with a long major suit should it be played in that suit.

(1) Example
S. A-10-x-x
H. K-x-x
D. Q-x-x
C. J-x-x

(2) Example
S. A-x-x-x-x-x
H. x-x
D. Qx-x-
C. J-x

Hand one is balanced and is better played at three no-trump. Hand two is unbalanced with a long spade suit and is definitely better played in a spade contract.

Distribution aids in defending hands. Opening leads are designed to give information to partner which will enable him to determine exactly how that suit is divided around the table. Leads such as fourth best in a suit or the high card of a doubleton are examples of distributional leads.

S. Q-10-4-2

The lead of the deuce is an example of a lead of the fourth best card in a suit.

S. 9-x

The lead of the nine is an example of a lead from a doubleton.

The demonstrating board which I use in my classes brings out all these factors of distribution. I hold classes every Tuesday night at 7:30 at the YWCA.

FIVE THOUSAND ATTEND TUSKEGEE CONFERENCE

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told the 5,000 persons gathered at Tuskegee Institute last week for the 63rd annual Tuskegee Farmers conference, that the new program proposed by the administration will promote stability and prosperity and a larger measure of freedom in agriculture.

He was assisted in the repeat service at the Parkway Ball Room by Rev. Jos. Evans, the present pastor of Good Shepherd. Among the "alumni" couples joining in others.

Mr. Kingsley also visited a birthday luncheon of the Guild, the woman's oragnization that originated the famous "Teas." He also preached at Good Shepherd Feb. 14. He was the dinner guest during his stay of four days of Mrs. Essie Westbrooks, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Owens, Mmes. Naola Mae Smith and daughter Geraldine Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Sawyer and his four Chicago sisters, Mmes. Ruth Fullwood, Thelma Battley, Irma Johnson and Helen Hopper.

LEAGUE MEETS

Mrs. Martha Jones of S. St. Andrews Pl. and Miss Pauline Slater of Victoria Ave. were hostesses to the Assistance League. President Mrs. Venye Corporal was elated over the response of the league's endorsement of the Association's new Breakfast club idea to be sponsored by the various city clubs.

At the February meeting the League observed Negro History week by presenting Dr. Leonard Stovall, president - founder of O.L.H.A., who reviewed outstanding personalities in the field of medicine. Among the visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan of Wichita, Kansas.

The hip-tossing luscious princess who was once a Hollywood movie dance director, is appearing on British tee-vee and the B.B.C. (British Broadca ting Co.) . . . New Club Oasis Rocks the Town With Roy Brown

There will be some "Good Rockin' " at the Club Oasis beginning this Friday night (Feb. 26) when America's most exciting blues stylist, Roy Brown and his "Mighty, Mighty Men" open at the West Coast's Jazz Haven, Western at 38th.

Platter Favorite

Roy Brown, the foremost blues exponent of rockin' rhythm whose King records are rocking the nation, began singing as a youngster, following the lead of his mother, who was a church organist. Roy led a young spiritual quartet when he was 12 and his musical career suffered a nearly fatal setback when his mother gave him the grandfather of all "lickings" for jazzing up spiritual songs. Roy became a boxer when he finished school and sang strictly for pleasure, until he entered an amateur contest in 1944 at Los Angeles' Million Dollar Theater and won first prize.

Oasis Exclusive

The blues singer really got started in the big time when his first compositions, "Good Rockin' Tonite" and "Lollypop Mama," became national hits. He writes most of his great rockin' blues, and set an all-time record of having four best sellers in Billboard magazine's top ten at the same time.

The Oasis engagement marks the very first night club appearance in Los Angeles for Roy Brown and his "Mighty, Mighty Men."

Ebony Showcase Theatre Seeking Greater Support Of 'Neighborhood' People

BY "WALLER"

Ebony Showcase Theater, 2182 West Washington Boulevard, 'our' only professional legitimate house in the country, recently ended its first year of continuous operation and in its initial public report disclosed that only five out of every one hundred patrons who have supported the project thus far have been America's largest minority.

Widely Acclaimed

Freeman Gosden, Harry Ackerman, Harold Roach and other high officials in the Hollywood film and television industries have tabbed Ebony Showcase one of the finest projects of its kind. Drama critics of the daily and weekly press have acclaimed every production staged by the Showcase thus far.

However, according to Showcase directors, 'neighborhood' public as a whole has lagged far behind other groups in patronizing the plays.

Nick Stewart, who along with his wife Edna, founded Ebony Showcase back in 1952, pointed out that their boxoffice records reveal that Caucasians have comprised an average of 95 per cent of the nightly crowds that have attended each performance.

Vitally Needed

"We know this is far from being a healthy sign," Stewart stressed. "Ebony Showcase was organized for one main reason, in order to give 'our' talented actors and actresses a chance to develop our own talent. We have produced four hit shows during our first year of operation — 'Anna Lucasta,' 'Right Where You Are,' 'No Exit,' and now 'Three Men on a Horse.' Our Showcase has given employment to scores of colored artists, affording an outlet not only to the semi-professional but also to the veteran actor. These have shown clearly that Negro artists are perfectly capable of enacting any kind of role, from serious drama to comedy, when given the chance. Surely this kind of opportunity could hardly have been gained in Hollywood or elsewhere."

The calibre of plays that the Showcase has produced would normally cost from $18,000 to $50,000 if put on elsewhere, and each has been a well cast, well staged production comparable to the shows one customarily

The Hotel Manor One of Many Fine Bay Area Hotels

Hotel Manor Plaza, 100 room hotel, is one of the largest Negro owned in the Bay area. It is located in the upper Fillmore district where the surrounding area is quiet and peaceful and only a few minutes from downtown San Francisco or a half hour from Oakland. Carrie and James McCoy, well known business couple bought the site several weeks ago. This is the last of the sound-proof, Class A, fireproof hotel built in the city with automatic self-service elevators and steam heat.

being applied to many of the Negro lush salesmen by the package store operators. The operators enter into a gentleman's agreement to give Negro as small an order as possible while the ofay boys get the fat ones. Then they turn to the company and point out that Negroes are not the answer to coining the Negro market.

FIRE HAZARDS that exist in alley in the east 400 block between Vernon and 43rd Place should certainly draw the attention of our alert fire department. It places several homes and the huge telephone building in a very dangerous spot should fire break out.

SECRETARY, tall and willowy from Houston operating in the Western Avenoo could be interested in learning the game of golf by the company she keeps!

SAM HUDSON, personable handshaker, is now gripping the paws at the Club Capri along W. Jefferson!

EARLINE RATTEN, who stops traffic at the corner of 55th and Broadway every morn, will be blowing out 23 candles come Monday.

MARGE ROBINSON is the very chesty receptionist answering the phone in the Watts cab company's office. She's an ex-model from New York!

BETTY HOWARD and Tony Hill teamed together the other Sunday eve and came up with a lavish spread for L. J. Brady at his fashionable Ellendale home. It was one of those crazy come after 11:00 p.m. affairs with plenty of everything. Martha Davis, Hal Brown, Joe Cooper, Ike Royal, James Lucas, Eddie Dudley and Lee Simmons provided the jump tunes when they felt the urge. Wini Orr, Edith Huston, Evelyn Coleman, Reba Butler, Aileen Kaisier, Connie Turner, Mary Alice Johnson, Ella Hurd, Lila Reese and Nellie Brown were the reasons why hubbies were out late that night!

SY JONES, who looks more like a college student than a Schlitz beer salesman, got together the other eve with Dynamite Jackson and surprised Lloyd LaBeach with a dinner. LaBeach returned to the States after his ill-fated trip to Australia.

EDDIE ATKINSON just put 800 miles on his new Buick as he and his charming Tony relaxed in San Francisco along with our hard-working lawyer, publisher-boss and his Juanita!

MAJOR ROBINSON'S pretty missus is expecting twins. If so, they will be named Jet and Jetta!

REV. HENRY ARMSTRONG may have landed a multi-millionaire to sponsor his Boys Town as a result of his recent New York TV appearance. The ex-triple titlist will preach at Harlem's Metropolitan church before leaving the big city!

LONESOME GI, and a kid can get an awfully sick feeling when no letters arrives for him. Pfc. Allen McGuire, 1337227, Company Supply Hg. Co. Hg. Bn. 1st Marine Division FMF c-o F.P.O., San Francisco is suffering loneliness and want some one to drop him a line!

ETHEL GORDON is due in town to settle business matters which indicates she may give up her West Coast home!

JERRY KEMPHILL'S voice is beaming from a Record Shop on Vermont Street and it looks like the lad is on his way up!

HERMAN BRUCE, stellar pusher of the popular Four Roses brand is getting a big play from stores like Arnold Hoffman, Jax's Liquor and Super Liquors

SCHUYLER ANELSON, JR. Pabst Blue Ribbon beer's "solid" sales representatives headed a terrific trio of Tommy "Crip" Palmer; and Frank "Political Timber" Smith, stole the show at the Bartenders Ball at the fine "free beer" at the Sosmopolitian last Thursday. Amazing how many "drinkers" enjoy being sponsored by Four Roses and Pabst.

SHIRLEY BUSH, is that cute little Chicago lass running the males' blood pressure up when she strolls lazily in and out of the lobby of the Statler Hotel. She's on her way to New Orleans and the Mardi Gras. And squiring her about the city were Jerry Brouusard, Clive and Ruby Rice.

BIG PUSH, when a well known ofay's car stalled the other a.m. he put in a call to his brownskin buddy to come give him a push. Buddy wasn't home so wifie decided to help a friend in need. Without driving license, she backed the family hack into the street and arirved on the scene of the stalled car. The ofay explained that she would have to get his car up to 45 mph before he could get the car started. She backed her car up and raced into the rear of the ofay's car at 45 mph! Damages to both cars will run close to $500! And the lady was only trying to do a good deed!

GRATITUDE, and the sons-of-hams out at NBC certainly should be one of the first groups to join the Urban League unanimously as the league was most instrumental in securing the jobs they hold out at NBC. And speaking of the NBC Negro employees, they don't make with a healthy sight, grouping themselves in little gangs! While attempting to be exclusive!

Showcase

sees at the Philharmonic or on Broadway.

Unequalled Opportunity

Showcase officials further pointed out that Ebony Showcase came into being as a result of an intense desire to create something wherein Negroes could help themselves. Opportunities have been afforded in all phases of production, including acting, writing, set designing, stage managing, publicity and the like.

'Neighbors' Unappreciative

"We deeply appreciate the wonderful support many people have given us, particularly that of the California Eagle through its invincible theatrical section," continued Stewart. "However, we would feel so much better if the eastside, westside and southside neighborhoods' public as a whole would show more of an awareness of what we at Ebony Showcase are trying so earnestly to do for our own people. We know we are on the spot. For years many of us have been crying for more dignified parts for Negroes in films and on the stage; we have been begging for better treatment and less stereotyped theatrical projects. Now we have something of our own. We can produce the kind of shows we say we want. Something has been created where we can help ourselves. But we need more patronage from our own community. If we fail in this venture, it won't be just Ebony Showcase failing. It means that once again Negroes, as a race, will have failed themselves."

Let's Get With It

"Three Men on a Horse" is currently being staged at the Showcase only on weekends, Fridays through Sundays, 8:30 p.m. curtain time. Popular prices prevail. For reservations and other information contact Ebony Showcase Theatre, 2162 W. Washington Blvd., REpublic 6448.

HOPS WEST

"BREWING IN" operations this past weekend marked the official start of production of Anheuser-Busch's Los Angeles brewery. Inspecting imported hops used in the firm's Budweiser beer are (left to right) K. B. Goetsch, resident brewmaster; Paul von Gontard, general manager of the modern $20,000,000 brewery; John Flanigan, regional sales manager, and Frank Schwaiger, vice-president in charge of brewing. Budweiser is proudly "pushed" in all "plush parlors" and "package houses" by Earl John Griffin.

Anheuser Busch Brews 'Bud' Suds In Western Home

"Brewing in" operations this past weekend marked the official start of production at the modern $20,000,000 Anheuser-Busch brewery in the San Fernando Valley (Van Nuys), it was announced by Paul von Gontard, general manager of Budweiser's new home in the West.

Readying For Summer

In the announcement, Mr. von Gontard revealed that it was the first time in the more than 100-year history of the brewing firm that Budweiser had ever been made west of St. Louis.

Guiding the initial brewing operations were Frank Schwaiger of St. Louis, vice president in charge of brewing and K. B. Goetsch, resident brewmaster.

The new brewery is expected to be in full production in early summer. Present plans call for production of 920,000 barrels of Budweiser annually. It is estimated that when in full operation the brewery will bottle 750,000 botles a day.

Finest Fermintation

"The same long aging process that has been developed and perfected in St. Louis will be used in the valley brewery," Mr. von Gontard said, "Therefore, the first Budweiser will not be ready for bottling until early summer."

According to Mr. von Gontard, facilities of the St. Louis brewery have been duplicated to assure Budweiser's high quality consistency.

tells us that his employer, Murray Randolph, will purchase the Last Frontier in Las Vegas, and there will be some changes made! . . . Incidentally this is off-the-record, but a noted booking agent was unable to peddle a top Negro comic talent to the Vegas bunch last week.

Many of our sepia acts are facing an acute unemployment problem due to narrow-minded club proprietors. . . . Pianist Ike Royal accidentally inflicted an ugly gash on one of his digits awhile back, but the piano hand quickly healed, and he's holding forth at the Hillcrest Club! . . . A Hollywood actor kiddingly played himself down to an interviewer the other night by telling him he's one of those two-expression players. Hat on and hat off!

PUTTING THE COLUMN TO BED!

Nice meeting Emmett Hoxey recently. The "brown hope" of the theatrical booking business. He's affiliated with Ben Waller! . . . "Darktown Strutters Ball" is the number one song in New York right now. The vocalist sings part of the tune in French, and maybe that's the reason why! . . . Amanda Ambrose, luscious kitten on the keys who canaries too has come out of temporary retirement to open at Joe Graydon's supper club in Long Beach. Boom, knock 'em! . . . Amanda almost decided once to quit the business and just stay home with happily married spouse, Duffy, and their offspring!

Dick Aubrey, who has been doing a great job heading a youth group, is lonesoming for wifie, who is vacationing! . . . Sight for more eyes: Comic Johnny Lee doing an imitation of the late Bert Williams! . . . Harry Belafonte is a singing rascal on his calypso discing "Hold 'Em Joe." . . . We saw a slim, ebony gal with a million dollar figger and an Iitalian hair-do wheeling a convertible around Jefferson and Western. And we did a triple take, cause she looked so much like model Enid Mosier who married her artist and settled in Europe a few years back!

WRAPPING IT UP!

Tennistar Bob Ryland squired Althea Gipson around while she was in town for Alice Marble's "This Is Your Life" show. Bob's gaining a lot of momentum on the courts! . . . Mary Emma Watson's chirping "Shopping Around" is the strongest advice the gals have had since Pearlie Mae Bailey warned 'em to quit while they were ahead! . . .

CHIC "SLEEK" . . . Display on shelves of retailers throughout Southern California is the newest in fine line of Jo Van Ronkel Company. Inexpensively satisfying for the entire family.

Van Ronkel Co. Adds 'Soft' Line For the Family

Reflecting an important new trend in the buying habits of the nation, the Van Ronkel Company, prominent importers and distributors of fine wines and liquors, has this month introduced a completely new and different beverage to Southern Californians. CHIC (pronounced "Sheik"), a unique, low calorie drink, is being distributed exclusively in Los Angeles and Orange Counties by the Van Ronkel Company as an expression of a mushrooming nationwide development in the soft drink industry.

Many soft drinks have been offered to the Van Ronkel Company through the years for distribution, but CHIC is the first one it has agreed to represent. The reason is that CHIC constitutes one of the most significant and constructive developments in the history of the soft drink industry and answers a growing public demand for a highly palatable, non-fattening, low calorie soft drink with no after-taste.

Great on Weight

In the light of the fact that sales of dietetic foods and beverages skyrocketed to astronomic figures in 1953, the Van Ronkel Company feels that the sales potential for CHIC is unlimited. It is clearly a product that the weight and diet conscious public wants.

CHIC contains 94% less calories than most other soft drinks and enjoys the added distinction of being salt free. This is accomplished with no sacrifice of taste appeal because of a scientifically improved new manufacturing process. CHIC is made from the purest, highest quality ingredients and comes in five tantalizing flavors—Lemon and Lime, Black Cherry, Cola, Root Beer, and Gingerale.

Easily Obtainable

Because it is non-fattening, CHIC has already won enthusiastic endorsement from the medical profession, and dentists are hailing it as a boon to the health of children's teeth.

CHIC is sold by markets, drug and liquor stores and can be ordered in restaurants and clubs.

Economical

Based on Southern California market research in behalf of Dimitri, Van Ronkel disclosed the notewotrhy fact that vodka sales are almost evenly distributed among the various income groupings in the population. Dimitri appeals as much to consumers with average incomes as it does to men and women who patronize expensive restaurants and night clubs.

LAWRENCE SWEETWINE, marvelous mixologist at the Paradise Cocktail Lounge for over five years, returned last week as co-owner and operator (along with Rouland Hamilton) to this popular "parlor." Make it a must to stop in and congratulate two enterprising young men and also support them in their newest venture by constantly and inexpensively sampling "solid spirits" and delicious dinners . . . amid an atmosphere of contentment.

WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

"For four years I had constant headaches and a burning feeling in the uterus. My menstruation was very irregular and came as often as every few days. My medical doctor diagnosed the case as tumor of the uterus and said there would be no cure without an operation.

"I took the herbal remedy and within a week I discharged about twenty blood clots, each was at least the size of my fist.

"Now my headaches are gone and I do not have the burning feeling any more. I am now confident that natural herbs are better than a knife."

ber of the Pittsburgh Courier; Willie Jackson, owner of the Club Intime; Sonny Maddox and several others.

These fellows have kicked off on this enterprise simply because they realize the need of such an organization to keep the pros in competition until that time when they shall be able to match shot for shot with the Sneeds, Mangrums and Fergers. It is up to the various golf clubs, civic and social clubs, and even individuals, to carry the ball from here.

The pros are in turn willing to contribute a certain amount of their time to golf clinics, exhibitions and to swing lessons for youths who are interested in the sport. They hope that in the very near future some Negro may win a major golf title and have his name inscribed on the Walker or Ryder Cup.

How about a benefit "golf ball" to start this thing rolling in a big way, with Eckstine, T-Bone, Dandridge, Slappy White and all ye golf lovers appearing?

Willie Naulls Sparks Bruins

Westwood campus co-eds are singing the praises of coach John Wooden fast-breaking win-happy Bruins basketball team this week. The Bruins arrived on the campus Monday morning resting in first place as a result of their clean sweep against the Stanford Indians over the week-end. Willie Naulls, UCLA's rangy center, played superb ball during the two games. His great defensive work and skillful backboard play was the deciding factors in the Bruins victories.

Forward Johnny Moore's uncanny accuracy, along with pint sized Ron Livingston and Don Bragg led the powerhouse firemen with the buckets. The Bruins meet their cross-town rivals in the final games to decide the division championship. The Trojans turned back California twice to move into the second spot and will have to beat the Bruins twice to get a tie for the title.

Project, Named For Nickerson, To Be Opened

William Nickerson, Jr., Gardens, Southeast Los Angeles' newest and largest public housing development, will open Monday, March 1, at 9 a.m., with 84 apartments available for immediate occupancy.

Thereafter, new blocks of buildings will be readied periodically until the entire 1110 units of the huge project at Imperial Boulevard and Compton Avenue are completed some time in October. All apartments are in the permanent low-rent category.

The development is named for William Nickerson, Jr., founder and first president of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Feature of the new development is a large community building which will be finished during the summer. It contains an indoor-outdoor stage and a large hall suitable for indoor games, dancing or meetings. The hall will seat over 1000 people for entertainments or meetings.

The building also is equipped with a kitchen, stall showers and lavatories and four meeting or activity rooms fronting an outdoor patio.

Adjacent to the community building will be a large playground accommodating a full-size baseball diamond, a softball diamond and basketball and handball courts, as well as swings, slides and sand boxes for the younger set.

All these facilities, both on the playground and in the community building, will be in charge of two full-time directors furnished by the Department of Recreation and Parks, and will be fully available to the entire neighborhood as well as to residents of William Nickerson, Jr., Gardens.

Nickerson, long a leader in the civic affairs and business life of the community, was born in San Jacinto County, Texas, January 26, 1879, and educated at Bishop College in Marshall, Texas. He organized the American Mutual Benefit Association in Houston and took care of its affairs until 1921 when he came to Los Angeles and set up a branch of the company here.

In 1925 he founded the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company and remained as its president until his death on November 14, 1945. His widow, Mrs. Bertha Nickerson, serves on the Board of Directors of the company and a son, Victor, is an officer of the corporation.

Chairman of the Board of Golden State is George A. Beavers, Jr., who also serves as chairman of the Los Angeles City Housing Authority.

The new development will contain one, two, three, four and five-bedroom units and will serve exclusively families of low income. Rents will be based solely on family income, regardless of size of apartment. Each apartment will be supplied with range, refrigerator and circulating heater. Gas and electricity are included in the rental. Applications are now being taken at the Housing Authority's Applications Office at 224 N. Main Street.

There will be a teacher's course on "Organizing and Arranging Displays in Classrooms" to be held at Foshay Junior High School every Monday from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m., according to Mrs. Faye Frederick, course leader.

TO THE VICTOR—Members of Division "B," top ranking group who helped push the 1954 Urban League membership drive "over the top," smile happily as they tabulate their final reports. Campaign workers (seated from left) include Mrs. Mayme Lewis; Mrs. Ella K. Mays, division chairman; Gaines Niles and Mrs. Clara Murcee. Standing: James E. Brown, Leon Thompson, Kermit Brown and Alfred Norman. More than 3,000 members were signed.

Ted Jones Heads Foshay Students

Ted Jones is the new student body president at Foshay Junior High School. Girls' vice president winner was Pauline Sanchez, while the office of boys' vice president went to Ted Tokaji. The position of Lower Division Chairman went to Mario Mendosa.

There was stiff competition for the office of Commission of Foshayettes and Foshaymen. Elected were May Osugi and Robert Miller.

DOG LAW

Los Angeles' proposed dog vaccination law, drafted on orders from the City Council, was this week taken under advisement by the city health commission.

L.A. Urban League Goes Over the Top

It's "over the top" for the 1954 membership drive of the Los Angeles Urban League!

Unofficial reports tabulated at a meeting held last Thursday at the Watkins hotel showed a total of 3,150 new members who contributed the sum of $6,550. With hundreds of renewals pouring into the Urban League office, indications are that the drive will soar far over the estimated goal of $4,000.

Wesley Brazier, executive director, Los Angeles Urban League, presented a trophy to Membership Campaign Chairman Lorenzo V. Spencer, commending him for "brilliant and unsurpassed leadership in the 1953 and 1954 membership drives."

Accepting his award, Spencer said: "I am extremely grateful for the co-operation of my Division Chairmen, Mrs. Ikalina Savoy, Mrs. Ella K. Mays, Alfonso Mills and Celeste King, III, and of every individual who participated in this drive."

Division "B", headed by the dynamic Mrs. Mays, reported the largest number of new memberships, while the Urban League Guild, spearheaded by Mrs. Bernice Watkins, was the winning team.

Leon Thompson, cited as the individual bringing in the most members, accepted an award for the South Los Angeles section for "splendid and outstanding work in the current membership drive."

The Urban League, a Community Chest agency, strives to secure equal job opportunities for qualified workers, develop effective community planning, without segregation, in the fields of housing, health, education, and recreation.

Mayor Names R. Mason On Committee

Roger Q. Mason is one of a committee of 22 named by Mayor Poulson to study divergent proposals of city and county engineers. He is one among a well-known group of men and women who will hear evidence and make findings in Los Angeles' sewage disposal situation.

Mason is the only Negro on the committee representing a cross-section of various occupations.

Battle Involves Church Policy And $115,000

Even as on earth, there is sometimes discord in heaven.

This week a long-smoldering feud in Father Divine's church broke out into the open. Involved is a matter of violations of church doctrine—and a sum of $115.000.

Chief antagonists in the case, which Friday necessitated a deposition by Father Divine in Philadelphia, are Miss Happy Word and Miss Purity Love, president and ex-president, respectively, of the Circle Mission Church Home and Training School of California.

Authority Denied

The civil suit charges that Miss Purity Love had church property in Santa Monica valued at $115,000 transferred to her name illegally. Miss Purity Love, whose worldly name is Mrs. Irene M. Prattis, however, claims that authorization for her actions came directly from the Father.

Friday, Father Divine stated in sworn testimony that he did not give her such authorization.

Trial date is set for March 24.

According to the tenets of the church, no installment purchases are permitted. Transactions must be handled entirely in cash. That is why when Father Divine has purchased huge estates in the East involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, banks have sometimes closed their doors so that tellers could count out the required stacks of folding money.

Down Payment

The difficulty in Father Divine's Santa Monica heaven first came to light some nine months ago when it was learned that the then head of the local organization, Miss Purity Love, had purchased an expensive piece of property, the Merle Norman Cosmetics building, 1659 17th street, Santa Monica.

White Magic Split Daniels Marriage

Wife Complains Of Dozens of White Women

By CHAZZ CRAWFORD

"Other women, dozens of them, and all of them white, broke up my marriage to Billy Daniels," Martha Braun Daniels says in the new issue of a national magazine.

In an article "White Women Broke Up My Marriage to Billy Daniels," the former Lowell, Mass., society girl says "I want to make it plain at the start that the color of his skin had nothing to do with our troubles. It was other women, dozens of them, blondes, brunettes and redheads, chorus cuties and society belles straight from the bluebook, married and single, beautiful, homely and in-between. And all of them white."

In blaming women of her own race, Mrs. Daniels adds: "They chased him individually and in squads, coyly and with the brazen candor of nymphomaniacs . . ."

Claiming that she finally had to go to a Brookline, Mass., hospital because she was on the verge of a nervous breakdown brought about by Billy's old black magic, Mrs. Daniels adds: "I hope Bill finds what or whom, he wants," and concludes, "I know it's not me and I want it understood I'm carrying no torch."

In the article, which appeared in "Confidential" magazine, Mrs. Daniels cites as one of the many examples of Mr. Magic's meanderings, the slashing he received from carrot-top actress Ronnie Quillan, in her Hollywood apartment. The unsavory incident made headlines from coast to coast.

Mass Meeting Seeks to Save Robert Wells

Robert Wesley Wells, sentenced to die for throwing a cuspidor at a prison guard, will be taken to the gas chamber at San Quentin prison on April 9, and put to death.

There is only one man on earth who can halt the execution. That man is Gov. Goodwin Knight of California, who alone has the power to grant a reprieve.

Emergency Action

On Sunday at 2 p.m., Los Angeles residents are gathering at the Victory Baptist church, 4802 McKinley avenue, in an emergency conference to voice a united plea to the governor to spare Wells' life.

Superior Court Judge A. A. Scott, who started a chain reaction when he sentenced the condemned man for the theft of an automobile and who recently referred to the death penalty given Wells as a "terrible injustice," will be among

Walter White Tells Senate FEPC Need

WASHINGTON — So far as Negroes are concerned, the depression is already here, Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, told the Senate Labor Committee at an FEPC hearing last Thursday.

Pointing out that the Bureau of Employment Security believes five percent unemployed marks the danger point in the economy, White cited census figures for unemployment which showed that in January while unemployment was 3.5 percent for whites, it was already 6.1 percent for Negroes, and even worse for Negro men.

7 Percent Idle

Unemployment for colored male workers had already reached seven percent in January, as against 3.5 percent for white men.

White also sharply criticized the postponement of the present hearing from its original date of Jan. 12.

Racial discrimination in employment has been accentuated by growing unemployment, White continued.

Doubly Penalized

"We have been carefully watching the affects of unemployment throughout the United

Unjust Picketing

(EDITORIAL)

Bond's Market at 103rd street and Central avenue has one of the best employment policies in the city.

It hires Negroes, Orientals and other Americans without reference to their race.

A couple of months ago a local free-distribution newspaper inspired a boycott and picketing campaign against Bond's on the ground that it did not advertise in Negro newspapers.

BOND'S DOES ADVERTISE

The picket-boycott campaign was justified on the ground that "the advertising boycott against Negro newspapers is a method of discrimination."

Bond's Market does advertise in Negro newspapers now—in the California Eagle and the Star-Review.

But the picketing hasn't stopped.

The appeals for a boycott haven't stopped.

The Southeast Interracial Council sends out weekly appeals for picketing and boycotting of Bond's. The newspaper keeps up its baseless hue and cry.

UNJUSTIFIED

The only possible complaint against Bond's now is that it hasn't seen fit to advertise in the newspaper that began the campaign against it.

The boycott-picket campaign is now without the slightest justification. It is worse than that: it is an attempt to use the people of this community to gain selfish ends.

The people themselves can, and should, repudiate this cynical attempt to use them, by the newspaper and its stooge, the Southeast Interracial Council.

They can do that by giving their patronage to Bond's Market. We urge them to do so.

Local Demos Back Choice of Richards

By JAMES H. ANDERSON

Local Democrats joined the overwhelming majority of fellow party members at the Philadelphia last Saturday to choose Richard Richards as the official Democratic nominee for state senator from Los Angeles county.

Richards will oppose Jack Tenney, the incumbent, who is in bad graces with Negro voters because of his sponsorship of a state constitutional amendment that would have repealed the civil rights act, denied the legislature power to enact FEPC legislation and permitted enforcement of race restrictive covenants.

Dr. John A. Somerville, Mrs. Ethel Bryant, Herbert L. Jones and Gilbert Lindsay were prominent local politicos who aided Richards in his bid for the endorsement. The vote was 886 for him and only 24 for Paul [illegible].

In his acceptance speech Richards described Tenney as an "embittered failure" and scored him for his acceptance of the vice presidential nomination of Gerald L. K. Smith's Christian Nationalist party in 1952.

Unity was the theme of party figures and endorsees for statewide offices, all of whom told the delegates that chances for success are bright this fall.

Richard Graves, candidate for governor, and Edward Roybal, who seeks the lieutenant governor's post, arrived together to spike rumors of a rift between them and joined in urging unified support for all official candidates.

Other candidates who spoke included George E. Johnson, candidate for state treasurer; and representatives of Attorney General Pat Brown and George Collins, who is running for controller. Paul Ziffren, national committee man, predicted the

Chief Alderson Will Tell Race Policy Monday

Fire Chief John H. Alderson and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners must appear in Department One of the Superior Court Monday to testify about racial segregation in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

The hearing was set in response to a petition by a group of NAACP members headed by Dr. H. Claude Hudson who said they wanted the testimony to discover the facts about the Department's racial policies. Attorneys Herbert Simmons and Edward Maddox will appear for the petitioners.

Jim Crow Told

Charges that racial segregation exists in the Department were first aired in a hearing before the Commission last Oct. 5. It developed that Negro firemen are assigned to only two of the city's 81 stations. At that time Mayor Norris Poulson

SPOTLIGHTING DEMOCRATIC ACTIVITIES — The past week found more than 5000 Los Angeles County Democrats participating in numerous conventions and club activities. The 63rd Assembly District led off with an endorsement of Walter Ballou, Democratic candidate against incumbent Republican, G. Delbert Morris. A report on Saturday's Los Angeles County Convention in which more than 900 delegates participated is to be found elsewhere. Sunday, the 15th Congressional District in a day long convention where more than 100 delegates participated, Frank O'Sullivan was endorsed as the Democrat against Republican incumbent Congressman Gordon L. McDonough. The 26th Congressional District Arrangement Committee met to interview candidates and set the time and place for its convention. More than 250 persons participated in the endorsement of George Arnold for Congress in the 24th. In Paramount, local Democrat Faustina Johnson was one of the wheels who socially entertained more than 1,000 Democrats in a 23rd Congressional District activity. Richard Graves and Ed Roybal were guest speakers at most of these affairs and made the rounds together.

Your Columnist reported rumors of a division within the Democratic Party over Roybal's endorsement for Lt. Governor. We were all wet. No such division exists Graves and Roybal have worked out a complete understanding on the conduct of the campaign.

From the reception given these two candidates, California will witness the most effective Democratic campaign for Governor and Lt. Governor within the last 20 years. Graves will talk governmental and economic sense to the California voters. Roybal will give the millions of California common citizens a direct individual stake in California government.

ANNOUNCEMENTS: The 66th Assembly District Club will present Edward R. Roybal and Charles H. Wilton, endorsed Democratic candidate for Assembly, 66th District, at the AF of L Iron Workers Hall, 6511 South Broadway on Friday, (March 5) at 8:00 p.m. There will be refreshments and admission is free. Sponsors are: the Florence-Main Democratic Club, Inglewood Democratic Club, Hyde Park Democratic Club, Westvan Democratic Club, Women's Democratic Club, Southside Democratic Club and the 66th A. D. Young Democratic Club.

The 66th Assembly District's Young Democrats will launch their primary election campaign with a Cabaret Social Saturday, (March 6) 8:00 p.m. at the UAW Hall, 8501 South San Pedro. Everyone is welcomed to come and meet state and local candidates.

Yorty for U.S. Senate Campaign Committee announced the appointment of Los Angeles Attorney, Francis C. Wheelin, as Chairman of the speakers bureau. Mildred Younger for State Senator announced the acceptance of Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish and Leonard K. Firestone, business and civic leader, as co-chairmen of the Mildred Younger for State Senate Committee.

Chairman V. John Krehbiel announced the endorsement of United State Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and all Republican incumbents in national, federal and state offices with the exception of Lieutenant Governor and State Senator for the June 8 primaries by a county-wide meeting of the Republican Central Committee of Los Angeles County. The delegates refused to endorse State Senator Jack B. Tenny on the grounds that his Republicanism was in question because of his Christian Nationalist activities of 1952.

Citizens Committee to elect Ray Lundy (who we predict will win this year) announced the acceptance by Jackie Robinson and George Brown, world famous sport figures, as co-chairman of a Sports Committee to rally support to Lundy, candidate for Assembly, 55th District, against incumbent Vernon Kilpatrick, Democrat. Brown is the 1952 Olympics record holder in the broad jump and will be discharged from the Army soon. Headquarters have been established for Lundy at 11206 Wilmington Avenue, 1566 East 103rd Street, and 10326 South Compton Ave.

Eagle publisher, Loren Miller, Phillip Dunne, screen writer, Harry Girvett, author and Professor of Philosophy, discussed the next steps for liberals at the Greater Los Angeles Chapter, American For Democratic Action meeting Wednesday, at the Hollywood Athletic Club. The ADA will hold its national convention in Chicago, April 9 and 10.

United Nations Forum Topic

Edith Sampson, Chicago attorney and former alternate delegate to the United Nations, will head a panel that will discuss the work of UN on the Tribune Forum Monday night at Golden State auditorium.

Others on the panel will be Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, Councilman Edward Roybal and Chet Huntley, radio commentator. Lucius Lomax will act as chairman of the affair which is sponsored by the American Association for United Nations. The public is invited.

Herman A. English, respected young Watts attorney, was elected president; Glen Holmes, active in civic and fraternal circles, was elected 1st vice-president; Mrs. Catherine Mitchem, long time Republican leader, 2nd vice-president.

E. Johnson, Atty. Spencer Address Realty Meeting

Edgar J. Johnson, vice-president and secretary, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., and Atty. Vaino H. Spencer were the principal speakers presented at the February meeting of Consolidated Realty Board at Wilfandel Club Thursday evening. They were introduced by Mrs. Emily Johnson, chairman of the organization's Board of Directors and educational committee.

W. Robert Brown, President of Consolidated Realty Board, stated the speakers were the first on CRB's educational program which will bring to brokers and salespersons leading figures in fields related to the real estate business.

The Consolidated Realty Board also approved the applications and admitted to membership Travis T. Lott and Reginald Harang, head and sales manager, respectively, of the Travis T. Lott Realty firm.

Johnson brought to the group an informative discussion on mortgage cancellation insurance. Emphasizing the importance of this type of insurance to property owners with mortgage obligations, he urged brokers to acquaint themselves with the various policies offered.

Atty. Spencer spoke on contracts. Pointing out a wide variance in judicial interpretation of what constitutes a valid contract, Atty. Spencer cautioned brokers to be specific and include in deposit receipts as well as in escrow instructions all terms and conditions that are a part of the real estate transaction before signed by seller and buyer.

DISCUSSES CONTRACTS—Atty. Vaino H. Spencer discussed precision in contracts at Realty Board meeting.

SPEAKER—Edgar J. Johnson, vice president and secretary of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., addressed Consolidated Realty Board meeting Thursday.

West Point Said Hotbed Of Jimcrow

WASHINGTON—Charges that West Point Negro cadets are victims of a rigid jim-crow system were made this week by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in an open letter to Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson.

In his letter, Rep. Powell refers to a report from Irving Wolfson, 38 Gramercy Park, N. Y., whom he quotes as asserting that "at the United States Military Academy at West Poinf Negroes are rigidly jim-crowed, segregated and discriminated against by being forced into categories of domestic servants."

Powell continues: "I am sure that this condition is unknown to you. I am therefore equally sure that you will take steps immediately to abolish this.

"There is a growing resentment on the part of these segregated Negro soldiers plus a guilt complex on the part of the cadets because the cadets feel that they are blamed for this condition."

Brownell Asked to Probe Las Vegas Housing Bias

LAS VEGAS—Meeting this past week-end in what is termed "the Mississippi of the West," the Southern Area Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called upon U.S. Atty. General Brownell to investigate racial bias in public housing in this area, and urged the American Public Welfare Association not to hold its annual conference as planned in this famous desert resort.

In a letter to Miss Lulu Dunn, national director of the American Public Welfare Association, the NAACP charged that a "general policy of exclusion, segregation and other forms of racial discrimination is practiced by motels, hotels, restaurants and places of recreation in the City of Las Vegas.

"We urge the APWA to move its Western Region annual conference from the State of Nevada to some other western city and state where all delegates, regardless of race, color or national origin, may meet and hold sessions in an atmosphere in keeping with the letter and spirit of our American democracy," the NAACP requested.

Contents of the NAACP's request to the U.S. Atty. General to investigate racial segregation in public housing in this area were being held as "confidential" pending reply from Mr. Brownell's office. Lester Bailey, who remained here through Monday stated, however, that names of "some local housing officials and specific instances of discrimination" were cited.

Chief Alderson

called racial discrimination "abhorrent."

On Dec. 10, the Commission flatly refused to make any changes in its policies and adopted a resolution approving Chief Alderson's contention that he has a right to make assignments on a racial basis "for the best interests of all the people."

After a closed meeting with Mayor Norris Poulson on Jan. 7, the Commission announced plans for a "gradual" change within a six months period but has taken no steps in that direction.

Attorneys stressed the fact that no suit has been filed to test the segregation policies as yet and said that the Monday deposition is only an attempt to elicit the facts under oath.

The Houstonians Social and Charity Club held its regular meeting at the home of Ora Lee Jones. The group discussed plans for its second annual breakfast to be held at the Crystal Tea Room March 21.

Poll Shows 80 Percent Back Vote for Washington

WASHINGTON—The Gallup Poll, issued Feb. 27, shows that 80 percent of the people of the nation favor the vote for residents of Washington, D. C.

At present people living in the capital of the country are denied the right to vote in all except national elections.

The 12 percent who opposed home rule for the district (eight per cent had no opinion) did not mention the Negro as the reason for their opposition. "It would lead to political collusion," "never have voted," "political jobs" were some of the reasons given.

It is an open secret, however, that in the past the resistance to granting the ballot to Washingtonians stemmed from the fact that a large number of Negroes live here, and a realization among the Southerners that if the Negroes had the vote, jim crow would soon be given a knockout blow.

Jobless Increase 58,500 in Week

WASHINGTON—In the week ending Feb. 13, there were 58,500 more people claiming unemployment insurance than in the first week in February, according to the Labor Department.

Total unemployment in mid-February was stated to be 2,179,000.

'Gang' Truce Efforts Bring Officer Award

Deputy Probation Officer Alva T. Collier of the Group Guidance Unit of the County Probation Department this week received the Owl Service award as the individual who has rendered outstanding service to southern California youth during the past year.

Collier received public acclaim for his success in achieving a truce meeting between youth "gangs" with a long history of fighting and conflict. He was presented the trophy by H. C. Bender, president of the Owl Drug Company, at the "Award of Champions" banquet sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He received a standing ovation at the affair attended by 150 civic and youth leaders. The committee selecting him from more than 30 nominees consisted of Juvenile Court Judge William B. McKesson, Tom Conlon, Chairman of the Youth Services Division of the Welfare Council, and Mauri Luxford, President of the City Park and Recreation Commission.

Since receiving his appointment with the County Probation Department in 1948, Collier, 34, has been a member of the department's carefully selected staff of 10 deputies assigned to the Group Guidance Unit for highly specialized work in the difficult youth "gang" areas of the county.

City Commission to Ask Funds for Needed Park

The City Recreation and Park Commission this week announced definite plans to create a much-needed park in the Long Beach-Compton area on a site where owners had hoped to build a factory.

In reply to an inquiry from J. V. Yankie, owner of the land, the commission advised that it is including a request for funds in the next budget it will submit to the Mayor to acquire the property for park use.

The property involved is a narrow strip of land on the west side of Long Beach avenue, and is bounded by Honduras, 46th and 48th streets.

The commission advised:

"1. That the property referred to is considered suitable for park development.

"2. That no other property in the district is so well suited to park purposes.

"3. That the commission will include in its budget request for the fiscal year 1954-55 which is now being prepared for submission to the Mayor and the City Administrative Officer and subsequent approval by the City Council a recommendation for an appropriation for the acquisition of the site for park use."

Protests by residents of the area, headed by John H. Dial, Jr., aided by Councilman Gordon Hahn, resulted in the rejection of a request by Yankie for a zone change to permit the erection of a factory on the site of the former temporary government housing.

Army Worker Loses Job After M'Carthy Summons

WASHINGTON—First Negro to lose her job under the whiplash of the McCarthy investigating committee was Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who was suspended last Thursday from her post in the Army Signal Corps.

Mrs. Moss is a victim of the senator's attack against the Armed Forces which he accuses of "coddling Communists." She was fired, however, even before she testified before his committee.

Not Identified

An undercover FBI agent, Mrs. Mary S. Markward, had informed McCarthy that she recalled the name of a Mrs. Annie Lee Moss as a dues-paying Communist early in the 1940s. She could not, however, identify Mrs. Moss as the person in question.

Mrs. Moss, nevertheless, was notified on Wednesday that she had been suspended as of Thursday, "pending the adjudication of her case."

When she appeared before the McCarthy committee the previous week, she was accompanied by her attorney, George E. C. Hayes.

McCarthy, on that occasion, remarked ". . . that Hayes didn't look like the ordinary Communist lawyer."

Noted Attorney

Hayes is one of the best-known Republican Negro attorneys in the capital. He is an associate of Perry Howard, Republican National Committeeman from Mississippi, and is a former member of the Washington, D. C., school board. He was one of the attorneys who represented Negroes in the Washington, D. C., school case, now before the United States Supreme Court together with the other separate-but-equal school cases.

Attorney Hayes stated that Mrs. Moss, a former waitress, has already testified before the House un-American Activities Committee, and is preparing to repeat her testimony under oath before McCarthy's committee that she is not a Communist and has never been a Communist.

When Mrs. Moss appeared before the senator, he warned her of possible perjury. When she burst into tears, he suggested she was too ill to testify, and the hearing was postponed.

The Army has stated that Mrs. Moss has never handled secret codes or had access to the code room.

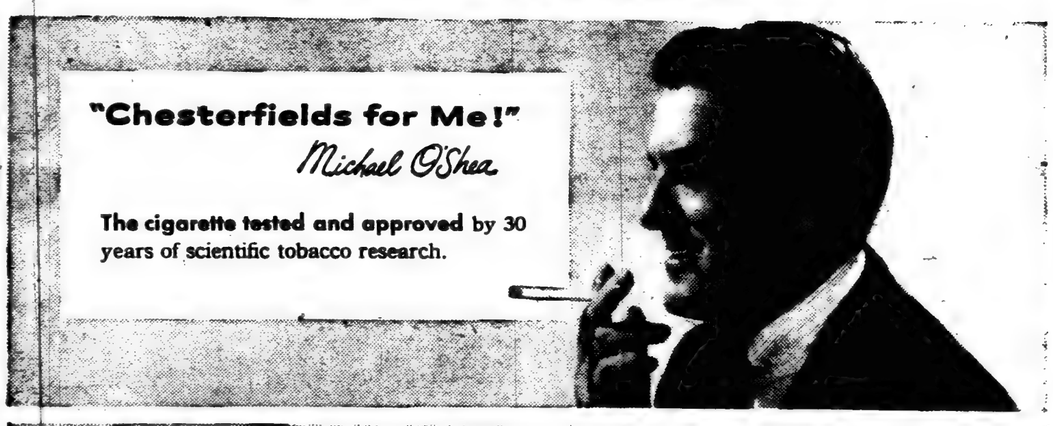
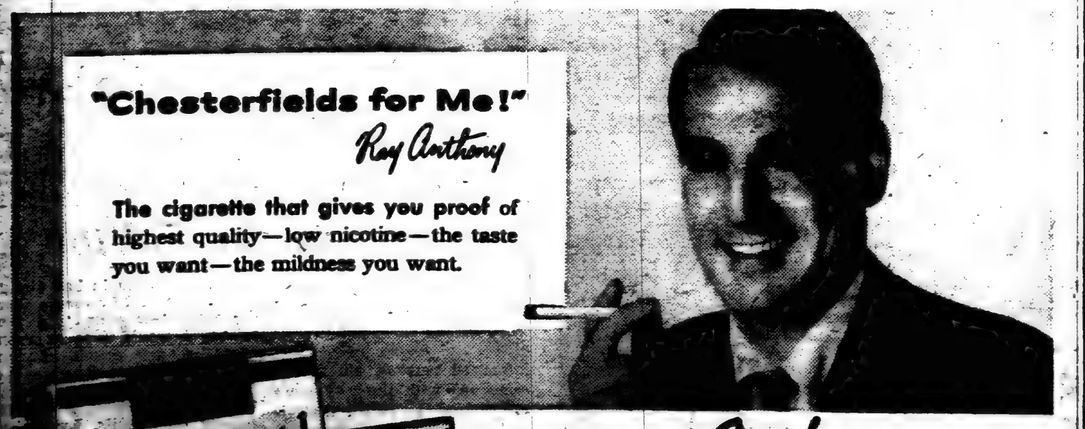
and had made a down payment on it of $3,000, with an understanding to make additional payments of $12,000 each in 30, 60, 90 and 120 days.

The first such $12,000 payment was made. It was then that church members reportedly rebelled, deposed Miss Purity Love and installed Miss Happy Word, of 1305 W. 53rd place, as their leader.



Miss Purity Love, it is charged by Miss Happy Word, violated the church constitution and by-laws by her installment purchase of the cosmetic building.

For Sale



It is further charged by Miss Happy Word and the church, through their attorney, David Welts, that Miss Purity Love had property purchased with thousands of dollars donated to the church registered in her name, and that the controversial cosmetics building was also registered in her name.

It now appears that no matter what settlement is made with Miss Purity Love, the $21,000 paid for the Santa Monica property is just money down the drain. Because the terms of the contract were not fulfilled, the property reverted to the former owners. Miss Happy Word told the Eagle this week that she had passed by the building a few days ago and noted a "for sale" sign on the building.

3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

Not Enough Voters

A gratifying number of Negro political leaders have been participants in the various Republican and Democratic nominating conventions that have been held in the state this year. However, the number is short of maximum participation which Negroes might have had in either party.

Back of the comparative lack of Negro participants in the activities of our political parties lies the fact that too many Negroes are not yet registered voters and that organization is at a low ebb among both Republicans and Democrats.

Pointing up the lack of registration is the situation in which the 62nd Assembly District finds itself. It is one of the three Assembly Districts in the 26th Congressional District. Its population compares favorably with that of the other districts. Its registration is a meager 40 per cent as high as the best-registered district.

On the Democratic side of the picture the 62nd Assembly District has only one party club. Both of the other districts have far more such organizations. We haven't taken a look at the Republican organizational structure but offhand we would hazard the guess that 62nd District Republicans are as illy organized as their Democratic brethren.

This lack of registration strength and this failure to organize tend to defeat our claims for a voice in party affairs and to dim hopes of nominations for capable Negroes who want to hold public office.

Over here at the Eagle we are pretty well convinced that the best interests of the Negro voter will be served by the election of Democrats to state and national offices but we think that Negro Democrats and Republicans alike would render invaluable service to the community if they got together and drummed up a register-and-vote drive that would reach every potential voter in the community. A number of organizations are already engaged in such a campaign and they would certainly welcome the active aid and assistance of party leaders and workers.

Elected state, city and federal officials pay far more heed to those who back up their claims with votes than those who do not.

The Job Ahead

The West Coast Region of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has just issued its annual report. It lists many advances in civil rights in the states of California, Idaho, Nevada, Washington, Utah, Oregon and Arizona and the Territory of Alaska which comprise its region.

Significantly, too, the report shows that there are many tasks ahead of us Westerners before we reach our goal of first-class citizenship.

Four of the states—Utah, Nevada, Arizona and Idaho — do not even have civil rights laws proscribing discrimination in places of public accommodation. Only two states—Washington and Oregon, and Alaska—have fair employment legislation. There is not a single effective fair employment practices ordinance in force in a single Western city.

The report also points out that there is a high degree of residential racial segregation in all large Western cities that grew up in the days when racial covenants were enforceable and that is being maintained through the policies of real estate brokers and financial institutions.

On the bright side of the ledger is the fact that the Western Region of the NAACP took the lead in securing court decisions ending racial segregation in public housing and in outlawing damage suits between signers of racial covenants.

Arizona has ended a part of its school segregation and indications are that other aspects of that state's Jim Crow policy will be ended.

What the report adds up to is the fact that militant and vigorous action on the part of the NAACP has brought important victories, and that more needs to be done. The successes of the past are proof enough that we can win more victories in the future if we give the NAACP the kind of support it needs. Westerners have a chance to make our region one of the best in the nation in the area of civil rights. We should seize that opportunity.

Retire Jack Tenney

Whether Democrats or Republicans, Negro voters have an excellent opportunity to end Jack Tenney's tenure in the State Senate this year.

On the Republican ballot Mr. Tenney is being opposed by Mrs. Mildred Younger. His Democratic opponent will be Richard Richards.

Mr. Tenney has long since outlived his usefulness as a public official. He has gone over to the proponents of racial segregation lock, stock and barrel.

During his present term, Mr. Tenney joined the so-called Freedom of Choice movement which proposed to amend the California constitution to set us back a half century. He introduced an amendment in the State Senate which would have had the effect of (a) repealing the civil rights statute, (b) forbidding the legislature to enact fair employment legislation, and (c) permitting the enforcement of racial restrictive covenants.

Not satisfied with that stab in the back to civil rights, Mr. Tenney accepted the vice-presidential nomination on Gerald L. K. Smith's Christian Nationalist party in 1952 and made an active campaign for that party.

We hardly need stress the fact that (the Rev.?) Smith is the most active peddler of the white supremacy racket in America. He is plugging for the kind of a nation in which none but native-born white Protestants would have either civil rights or civil liberties. His platform bears more than a passing resemblance to the Ku Klux Klan propaganda of the 1920's.

It is hardly likely that Mr. Tenney will make an active drive for Negro votes with that kind of a record but Negro voters should do more than take a passive attitude toward his candidacy. Every Negro voter should get out to the polls to retire this man who represents a positive danger to democracy.

Bonds We Need

We hope that the move to put auditorium bonds on the ballot again this year is successful one.

Los Angeles is the largest city in the country which lacks the kind of facilities that such an auditorium would supply.

As the matter stands, we don't have a place in the city large enough to house a major convention. We don't have a decent meeting place for cultural events or for sports contests.

It has been demonstrated time and again that such a building would be self-supporting and would earn enough to repay its initial cost in a short while.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

They didn't exactly laugh when he sat down to play, but the self-annointed liberals fussed and fumed all over the place when Albert M. Cole was named Administrator, Housing and Home Finance Agency. They just knew that the whole national program of housing was ruined.

In the first place, Brother Cole was a former Republican congressman who had been defeated for reelection. To a certain type of political opinion, a successful Republican is an object of hatred and a defeated one an object of ridicule. In the second place, the new Administrator had a voting record in opposition to many of the housing programs sponsored by the Truman Administration.

Lester Granger

Thus, for a double reason, trumpets were blown against his appointment up and down the land, as those who had voted joyously for a Sparkman for Vice President insisted that a Cole in Housing would imperil American Democracy.

The Record

To urgings that I add my voice of protest, I turned a cold shoulder. I had supported the Truman housing program because it had been the best then available. That program had not been strong enough, in my opinion, to answer the needs of Americans in general nor of colored Americans in particular.

Like the opposition to Albert Cole, I was afraid that the man's record boded ill for the improvements and reforms in the federal housing program that I keenly desired. But unlike that opposition, I took the trouble to look up his record and find out what kind of a man he was.

Honest Conservatism

The record proved to be in his favor. He made no bones about being a conservative in his political outlook, but his position was one of honest conservatism. And when I have to choose between a consistent, honest conservative and a slick, opportunistic "liberal," I never have to hesitate before choosing the honest chap regardless of label.

Thus, when the newly-nominated Cole stated frankly that he had been opposed to several phases of the federal housing program as legislated and administered, but that, if confirmed as Administrator, he would do his best to carry out the program assigned to him, efficiently and honestly, I was ready to take the man's word.

Relief From Exile

Quite a few dirty looks were cast in my direction by personal friends and professional associates. I had "betrayed the cause"—the "cause," I suppose, of cussing out all those who would change one jot or tittle of the program from 1932 to 1952. But recently there has been a lightening of my exile from favor.

One reason is that Administrator Cole has been delivering in a fashion most pleasing to those of us with the special housing interests of minorities at heart. A couple of weeks ago, on February 8, Mr. Cole delivered a speech to Detroit's famous Economic Club. The club is dominated by the most conservative business interests of the Motor City.

No one would go there looking for fanatic defenders of "open occupancy." (which is the current euphemism for non-segregated housing.) A speech consisting of banalities would have been received far more agreeably than an appeal for elimination of the Negro neighborhood, as such.

Roundhouse Swing

Yet the Housing Administrator made the housing needs of racial minorities the principal point of his address. He deplored these groups' "exclusion from the greater and better part of our housing supply." He warned that "no program of housing or urban improvement" can be successful "until we open up adequate opportunities to minority families for decent housing."

He took a roundhouse swing at financing policies that create for Negroes consistent and shameful "difficulty in getting financing on reasonable or even equal terms." Then he provided the clincher by warning that the President means business in this matter and that the Housing and Home Finance Agency "certainly will not approve Federal assistance to any community unless the affected minority families are adequately rehoused and are fairly treated."

See what I mean? It takes an honest man to strip away the double-talk of politics and explain the racial aspects of housing policy so simply and clearly. It takes a courageous man to make this kind of a statement to an audience in which he might be expected to find the keenest opposition. Meet Albert M. Cole, housing administrator for the American people—honest and courageous public servant.

Police-Eye View

By Sgt. Tom Bradley

The telephone at the complaint board of the Los Angeles Police Department rang—"Police Department," said the officer who answered it.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

An excited female voice blurted out, "Hello, this is Sadie Jones—that husband of mine is drunk again and is tearing up the joint — come down here and get him." "What's that address, ma'am?" asked the officer. "You know where I live—you've been here before."

This woman who had called the police several times before had no idea of the complexity of the Communications Division of the Los Angeles Police Department. She assumed that she has talked to the same officer each time, and that he would surely remember where she lived.

The LAPD radio network, with call letters KMA-367, is the biggest in the United States. It must be big, and efficient to protect the lives and property of over two million people scattered over 453 square miles of territory.

3,000 Calls

The headquarters are in the City Hall and the total complement of 64 police officers and 119 civilian employees is headed by Captain W. R. Hagenbaugh.

Some indication of the size of the operation is the total number of telephone calls which come through the police complaint board. Approximately 3,000 calls per day are handled by experienced police officers who are in a position to evaluate properly the nature of the calls, offer advice where necessary, or dispatch a radio car.

Communications Division handles about 140 local teletype messages daily, between all police divisions in the city, as well as 200 state-wide messages. If you've wondered about those attractive girls you've seen driving cars with police equipment, they are the 15 messengers who deliver all inter-departmental mail to every division and office of the department.

24 Hours a Day

Los Angeles also operates radio telegraph service between the Southern California area and other points throughout the United States. If San Diego wishes to send a message to Washington, D.C., they teletype LAPD and the message is sent via our radio telegraph service.

The most obvious function of this division is the broadcasting of police calls to the cars in the field 24 hours a day.

The City Hall radio broadcasting room is manned by women employees who dispatch the calls. They are seated around a semi-circular desk, each separated by glass panels.

'Hot Shot' Connection

All messages which come through the complaint board are screened by the officers.

In cases of robbery, burglary in progress, and aggravated assault, a "hot shot" connection between the complaint board, Detective Bureau, and mikeroom, permits all three to listen at the same time and a

"NO-DREAM"

OVER THE MOON!

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

THE WEATHER CHANGETH

Yes, the weather appears to be getting warmer everywhere. We in Southern California know that we have had some real scorchers recently. It was during one of these that we picked up a copy of Coronet in a hospital waiting room and turned the pages once or twice and then came upon a caption screaming "Our Weather Is Changing" by Norman Carlisle. Being a bit hot and bothered, we began reading. We thought you, too, might like to read some of Carlisle's ideas as to why the weather is changing. So here it is.

Leon Steward

Some years ago no climatologist would have dreamed of such changes of weather as we have been having since a few years ago, but now the evidence is in that there is something wrong with the northern glacier.

Escapes Icy Tomb

Back in 1928 a young aviator got a notion to fly from Rockford, Ill. to Stockholm, Sweden. When over Greenland he came to the horrified conclusion that he had missed the refueling station. He and his co-pilot set the big ship down on the great ice cap and started for the coast, where they were finally observed and picked up.

Sixteen years later, a Navy reconnaisance plane was flying over the ice pack. Below, something strange caught the pilot's attention. Later, when a landing was made, a confused pilot found himself beholding a 1928 plane, nosed over by the wind. This story quickly reached all over the world.

This was not only a very interesting story to the scientists but a matter of real concern. For, in the long years in which it stood there in that desolate frozen waste, the plane should have been buried deep in an icy tomb. The fact that it was not meant that the howling blizzards were no longer building the ice cap.

Scientists Find Answer

From a staggering mass of continually mounting evidence, most of it from detailed scientific study but some of it accidentally discovered as was the plane, scientists have come up with the stunning answer to the question millions have been asking: Is our climate changing?

If they had been asked that question a few years ago, climatologists could only shake their heads. But now, as new observations pour in, they have to admit that our climate is changing and fast. The world is really getting warmer. Month by month, year by year, the tropics are creeping northward, the great glaciers are melting, the Artic is coming out of its cold embrace. Temperatures are going up.

"We know for certain," says Dr. George H. T. Kimble, famed geologist and director of the Meterological Observator at Canada's McGill University, "that important changes in the climate are going on at the present time."

Evidence

Evidences of these changes in the weather brought unusual conditions throughout the world in 1953, inflicting discomfort, disaster, and death upon millions. Frightful drought in our own Southwest . . . unprecedented downpours on the East Coast. . . . Kansas City sweltering 80-degree heat in March. Tornadoes slashing paths of destruction from Texas to Massachusetts . . . blistering heat waves and drought in South America . . . record rainfalls in dry South Africa . . . fog the year before in London, so dense that it astonished even the London inhabitants.

Glaciers Melt

Some of the most striking evidence comes from the world's great weathervanes: the sheets of ice which still cover 6,000,000 square miles of the earth's land surface. In 1900 nine of the glaciers in Glacier National park each covered a square mile or more. Today there is only one big ice sheet left, and it covers little more than half a square mile.

In 1952 a U. S. Coast Guard icebreaker pushed its way through open water and crumbling ice to a spot only 508 miles from the North Pole—the furtherest north a ship has ever penetrated. Thus we conclude—The Weather Changeth.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I, a native of California and a Negro of our community, along with many, many other interested persons, am deeply concerned with the way news—if it may be called that—is handled.

I am speaking with regard to the Mills, De Bose affair. I think, and you may disagree with me, that before you print the worst, some of the background and results should be considered. I know both of the aforementioned men, and considering that Negroes in all States find a hard enough time to gain a position of prominence, I think the reporters, as do doctors, should try to find out why certain events happen and not just spread banner lines about the happening itself. I do not condone barbarous actions, but all of us are born with that primitive instinct and will let it out in some form or another. Your accounts were even in bad slang if I must say so. I do remember the word "scrammed" in the article. I would just as soon read the same article in your paper in the tone of sympathy for a mistake, or of men taking action before realizing the effect or the results. Remember these things can happen to the best of us. At least get the true facts if you must print anything.

Thank you for your time.

A Native Angeleno.

Editor's Note: Although it is not our custom to print anonymous letters, we are making an exception in this case. We would like to call to the attention of "Native Angeleno," however, that he undoubtedly is confusing the Eagle account with one printed elsewhere. The word "scrammed" did not appear in the Eagle story. Also, as is our custom, the story was checked for accuracy before it was printed.

Bishop Charges Catholic Group Guilty of Bias

CLEVELAND—Charges of racial discrimination were hurled at the Knights of Columbus by an auxiliary bishop of the Catholic church this week.

The charge grew out of refusal of the Knights to grant a charter to a proposed interracial chapter in this city.

Bishop Floyd L. Begin was quoted in the weekly newspaper of the Diocese, the Universe Bulletin, as saying an interracial council was refused the charter because Negroes were involved. The paper quoted him as saying:

"The only reason they're keeping them out is their color.

"Anyone who denies that is a pussyfooting liar," he added.

The newspaper said the bishop "announced that he himself is planning to transfer to the interracial council . . ."

Three Negroes were turned down last year when they applied for membership in the Cleveland K. of C. Council. Later the supreme council for the organization refused a charter to the interracial Cleveland group.

Bishop Begin declared those who voted against admitting the three into the Cleveland council were "traitors."

He said, "As Americans they're wrong, as Catholics they're wrong, and as Knights they're wrong.

"The K. of C. should either identify itself with the Catholic Church and the lay apostolate or cease to call itself a Catholic organization," he said, adding:

"I want to remain a Knight . . . but I'm afraid the real Knights aren't running the order any more . . . either I have to say Negroes are second-rate Catholics or I must say the Knights are not acting as Catholics. The decision is obvious."

Luke Hart, St. Louis, the Supreme Knight of the K. of C., said the charter appeal was turned down because the proposed council was organized on a racial basis.

Noting the three Negroes had been voted down by the Cleveland council, he said the interracial council apparently was an attempt to "evade the ballot box."

Raymond Booth, one of the three co-founding pastors. Dr. Booth at the time was secretary of the Council for Civic Unity and later went to Avalon Community Church on Catalina, where he died recently.

Dr. Booth, an expert on intergroup relations, was a close friend of the charter members of the church. Mrs. Bettye Hill, Mrs. Marie Frederick, Robert Z. Hardon and Mrs. Minnie Lomax have been asked to bring tributes. Brief reports will be also made by church representatives to recent denominational gatherings. Members born in March will serve the Fellowship Dinner at 6:30.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. Trade Mark.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

THE SPRING SPORTS'RE HERE—

BERKELEY—The spring sports are here—and up and down the Coast a galaxy of Negro athletes should undoubtedly come in for their share of laurels. . . . Thelton Henderson and Don Smith are currently on the University of California varsity horseride roster.

Don is the 139-pound halfback who was such a sensation in Cal's last home game in '53. He was an all-around star at Belmont High, and if my memory is working, he was the first Negro student body prexy of the aforementioned school. . . . Thelton won top laurels in both baseball and football at Jeff High, along with Jerry Drew.

Brad Pye, Jr.

Guy Blackburn, perhaps the greatest sprinter in the history of Jeff High, makes his final bid this semester for national honors with the Cal spike squad. . . . Bill Rumford, a track point winner for Jeff High, a couple of years back, is currently attending CCSF. . . . His dad, Byron, is a state assemblyman from Berkeley.

The recent Johnny Bratton-Johnny Saxton national TV match can best be described as the "hugfest" of the year, as far as we're concerned. . . . We're elated to see Ezzard Charles, the former champion, finally get a shot at Champ Rocky Marciano in Yankee Stadium June 17. . . . After Charles' last two smashing wins over Coley Wallace, the movieman, and Bob Straffield, he must be considered a threat.

HERE 'N' THERE—

With second team All-Southern Cal JC QB Big Ed Sherrill and fleet-footed halfback Louie "Snake Hips" Augustine around L.A. State should virtually field the greatest grid team it has ever had. Big Ed, Louie and Jimmy "Skippy" Dyer (now a Marine PFC) were stickouts on the fabulous "undefeated, untied and uninvited" East Los Angeles Junior College football machine.

Stanford's cage coach Bob Burnett says Willie Davis, the Alameda High hoop sensation, "might even be more dangerous" than his own Ron Tomsic.

PYE'S PICKUPS—

Doug Peters, the big fullback via West Contra Costa JC, who is currently enrolled at UCLA, besides being a top footballer is also a better-than-average broad-jumper. Peters and Sam Brown, the Bruin tailback, were mates on the North's squad in the first North-South prep game and at WCCJC. . . . Incidentally, Brown is considered to be a tremendous baseball prospect in this sector. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

Huskies, Tartars Clash

Coach Ray Smith's ELAJC Huskie track team, with wins over Chaffey, Muir, and the Whittier frosh, and a lone defeat at the hands of the Whittier varsity, was preparing to welcome Compton College in a dual meet at the Huskie stadium Friday, March 5.

Sinking All Putts

By A. "Shoeless Joe" Jaco

The Giants are at it in Phoenix again; the Angels are getting with it at Fullerton; and the Cosmopolitan Golf Club opened its 1954 season with a bumper crop of divot diggers at the remodeled Western Avenue Golf course.

This, the first monthly sweepstakes of the year, accommodated more than twice as many members as arranged for. Starting times for eight foursomes had been reserved, but 65 players showed up. All of them got out but darkness overtook five groups and as a consequence the final results are not available. The leaders among the finishers in their respective flights are: A flight—Willie Rayson 68 (6) 62, Lorimer "Matty" Mathews 75 (9) 66. Al McDaniel went out in 33 and was one over on the incoming nine up to the 17th hole. Al could birdie in for a half with Rayson.

The finish in B flight saw just the Jesses showing their heels to the rest of the pack, with little or no chance of being overtaken. Jesse Tarrant fashioned an 80 (14) 66 to get in the driver's seat. Jesse Brown dead-heated with an 80 (12) 68, so he will have to be content with a relief assignment. Alonzo Pemberton has a three-stroke cushion over his brothers C flighters. Pemberton punched out an 88 (22) 66. (Cliff Walker will never hear the end of it.) Dr. P. R. Beal took runner-up honors with 91 (22) 69.

The tournament committee, composed of Le Roy Jennings and Herman Parker, performed a miniature miracle by getting 15 foursomes and a fivesome off the tee in the time allotted to the club. The club is offering a prize for all eagles made in tournaments. Is there any one besides Jaco who got an eagle Sunday? If so, kindly contact A. Pemberton, chairman of budget and finance.

LONG JOHN THOMAS smiles approvingly as he listens to big plans to honor him in becoming the second referee in the state of California. Thomas was named to the post last week. Thomas gets his first assignment tonight (Thursday) when he will work the amateur boxbouts at the Hollywood Legion.

JIMMY CARTER, holder of the lightweight championship of the world, will defend his crown at Madison Square Garden Friday night against Paddy De Marco. The bout marks the first championship event of the year for the Gardens.

Whiz Kids Cage Team In Tourney

Fred Griffin and his scrappy Whiz Kids basketball team travel to Riverside to play in Riverside YMCA's big basketball tourney. This marks the first time a Southern California team has been invited to play in the huge tourney.

SANTA ANITA—Santa Anita's new hillside infield course, which has been the feature of racing here this winter, will be the setting Saturday (Mach 6) for the San Juan Capistrano Handicap, the first $100,000 race ever run on the grass. The season's largest crowd; expected to exceed 60,000 lovers of the sport of kings and a contest with international lustre will close the meeting in a blaze of color and excitement.

RAMSEY

With a revision of weights and added distance of a mile and one half on the infield turf, the San Juan Capistrano is being billed as a re-run of the Santa Anita Handicap at 1¼ miles on the dirt.

The field, starting on the hillside across the main track by the old Lucky Baldwin winery where the width of the course is 130 feet, may number 20 or more. Morse, the Irish-bred, Indian Hemp, High Scud, Cyclotron, By Zeus and others figured contenders in the big 'Cap are counted on to be in the line-up against Thirteen of Diamonds from Ireland and Deep River II, the 1952 Australian Derby winner. Preceding the Capistrano's first running over the new course will be Wednesday's $50,000-added San Luis Rey Handicap at one mile for 3-year-olds. Likely starters in the San Luis Rey are Determine, winner of the Derby; Duke's Lea, Travertine, Major Speed and James Session.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO — Big Brownie, the pride and joy of William and Waters Stable with Willy Harmatz, star apprentice of the Santa Anita meeting, came from far back to capture the featured Azalea Handicap south of the border down Mexico way last Sunday. Installed as the favorite by over 7700 fans, the son of Pere Time-Solital came like a bolt to sweep the entire field in the exceptionally fast time of 1:42, only four-fifths of a second off the track record. Big Brownie paid $4.60. Attendance, 7794. Mutual handle, $258,862. Caliente's future book on the big 'Cap went in the red.

BOWLING NOTES

BOB WILLIAMS

In the run of the champions, the race between the bowlers of the Sunset League is nearing the wire. The Lee Hi Hats fought off the bid of the Central Bar-B-Q team behind the stretch drive of Milton Pope's 212 game after the Eddie Irving five split frames and Floyd Lawrence short count behind a four-strike series. They fell short of pins and dropped their team back into the second spot.

Ted's Service took an early lead but sturdy Kenneth Morris' 223-233 and Hubert Pickett compiled the same score for a 634 series, dropping the losers into the fourth spot behind the Brown Motor Shop who won over the King Pins. Garrett failed in their bid to move up in the standings as they turned back TVers in two games. With only six weeks to go before the final games, interest is mounting on each pin.

The standings:

	Won	Lost
Lee Hi Hats	41½	27½
Central Bar-B-Q	41	28
Brown Motor Shop	40½	28½
Ted's Service	39½	29½
B & B	32	37
Garrett Ent.	31	38
Sav-Way TV	26	43
King Pins	24½	44½

Joe Perry Wins NFL Ball Carrying Crown

Joe Perry, San Francisco 49ers jet backfield star, won the ground-gaining championship of the National Football League last season with the best performance since Steven Van Buren was doing the running for Philadelphia in 1949.

Perry, a hard-running fullback, is the first back since Van Buren to roll up more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Official statistics show that Perry carried the ball 192 times for 1,018 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The former Compton Junior College star led all backs in scoring touchdowns. He has been among the top five ball carriers every season since 1950.

Perry was fifth in 1950 and 1951, and third in 1952. Last season he emerged as top man in the department. Five times during the season Perry gained more than 100 yards in a game. His best effort was 153 in the first of two games with Green Bay. His longest run was a 51-yard touchtown jaunt.

Dan Towler of Los Angeles, defending ground-gaining champion, finished second with 879 yards on 152 attempts. His total yardage was within 15 of the number of yards he gained in 1952 to lead the league. The former Washington and Jefferson back gained 205 yards against Baltimore, the most any back earned in a single 1953 game.

Voolney Quinn of Los Angeles, who finished thirty-third in 1952, vaulted to third place last season with 705 yards on 97 attempts, with Charley Justice of Washington (616-115), Francis Rogel, Pittsburgh (527-137), and John Huzvar of Baltimore (515-119) next in line.

San Francisco won the team ground-gaining title for the second year in succession with 2,230 yards gained on 443 ball carrying attempts, an average of 5.3 yards per attempt. Los Angeles was second with 2,148 yards on 426 attempts and the Detroit Lions third with 1,812 on 427 tries.

City College Cage Star Leonard Pollard Is Tops

By OZIA NORMAN, JR.
Collegian City Editor

It takes a lot of something to make an underdog team sweep 14 consecutive games, and City College has shown it has found the right ingredients. Not for 14 years has a Cub team gone undefeated, but Coach Ed Carmichael's "miracle" five has done it.

What makes a team such as this click? Is it spirit? Coaching? Players?

Settled among the Western States Conference champions for 1954 are three outstanding players without whom the LACC team could not function. Leonard Pollard, rangy guard; Sammy Davis, speedy 5-foot 6-inch forward; and Kenneth Brandon, rapid-fire guard.

This trio is among the 10 cagers who are preparing to play in the California Junior College State play-offs tonight in Sacramento against Fresno JC. It is now that they should be brought to light individually to show their amiable credits.

In a series of three articles, readers will get a better look at the team's backbone.

Leonard Pollard was just another kid basketball player when he attended Ninety-sixth Street School, but from John Adams Junior High, Polytechnic, Humbolt State College, and LACC, this talented cager has become known over most of Southern California for his paramount rebounding tactics that caused his teams to excel. He was voted All-WSC guard by Collegian sports writers.

A native of Los Angeles, Pollard was practically born in athletics, although he would prefer to use his booming baritone voice for singing rather than calling plays. He is also known from Poly for the 440, 220, and relay in track. His 51.6s quarter-mile in high school shows he doesn't have to devote his energy just to basketball.

This set-shot artist is readily recognized by his "O" shaped goatee around his mouth. His 22-game average of 10.5 points in the conference is fourth best on the Cub roster, but he holds 215 points to his credit.

His efforts in the high school city basketball tournament in 1591 52 landed him a scholarship to Humbolt State where he aided the team in numerous wins in the northern city.

"I enjoy playing basketball immensely, but I hope to advance in my career of being a professional singer," the 175-pound Angelino said.

Pollard is adept at the finer arts as far as vocalizing is concerned. Studying singing for the past three years, he is almost equally as popular with the entertainment set as with the athletic world. Gifted with the talent of also playing the trumpet, the casabaman prefers progressive jazz to the other forms of melody.

"With all this activity, I still have homework," he commented. "I always manage to find time so I can remain eligible for athletics," he continued.

Chavez Faces Sligar At Olympic Tuesday

Carlos Chavez, veteran featherweight boxer, will attempt to spoil Otho Sligar's debut Tuesday night when they tangle in the 10-round feature event.

Chavez' name used to send chills down the backs of young boxers some 15 years ago when he was at his peak.

However, age has slowed down the once rapid punching, hard-hitting Latin to almost a walk.

Bill Smallwood

Notes From Me to You Via S.F.-Berkeley: A recent week-ender up here was Paul Williams. Dr. Keith Pittman (he's the veterinarian) has about decided to settle in L.A. after inspecting the Bay area. His brother is also a "vet," recently built a fabulous home in Omaha near Boys' Town. It's one of the most spectacular homes I've been in on my travels.

Here in S.F. is still another spectacular house which floors me, that of the Dr. Carleton Goodlets (Willette). Built on four (or is it five?) levels it has an incredible view of S.F. and the Golden Gate Bridge. They live in the area high above St. Francis Woods.

Week-ended with them and, gosh, we hated to leave!

But, then, that's the sort've wonderful hosts Willette and Carl are. How the latter survives such a rigorous daily schedule always did baffle me, incidentally. He publishes his weekly, attends to his practice, heads the NAACP, misses nary a civic meeting, has a firm finger in other business, entertains often AND is still a devoted husband and father!

Berkeley: Home for us here is always with Connie and Hugh Beaty. They're folks who love life, friends, laughter, each new day. Incidentally at one of Connie's informal little supper parties we mentioned her salad dressing. Discovered she got the recipe from Angeleno Lydia Shores. Gosh, it was sure delicious.

Add S.F. highlights: Bill Allen graciously and expertly played at a salon gathering given in a hillside town house setting by Rhoda Kellogg, a statuesque velvet-wearing woman with great charm and distinction in her drawing room. She heads the Golden Gate Nursery Schools.

A delightful occasion, this. There, the Bob Flippins (Catherine) sent love to the Sterling Wagoners (Jenadora). Brandied coffee at their house next day (near Golden Gate Park) and someone there asked of Chappie Bryant and her mom, Fannie and medic Bill Ozier (he practiced here briefly) and Elois Davis, as I recall now.

Add Angelenos asked-after: The Bill Watkinses, Frank Jackson, the Dr. John Colemans, Seth Lee (always stays in Berkeley), Abie Robinson, the Allen C. Woodards III.

Before I do leave here I must catch Sarah Vaughan. We just missed her in L.A. by minutes at that legendary party given by Betty Howard, Tony Hill and the brothers Brady. Oddly, one doesn't see ex-Angelenos Sam Morgan in S.F. any more. Nor Capt. Tommy Long. They seem to have vanished somehow. Or hibernating perhaps.

Doggone it, I missed being in L.A. for Beulah Arnaud's hostessing the Widows Club last Sunday afternoon. Their affairs are always gay, stimulating, much fun. The S.F. Links received Sunday in downtown atmosphere and had me speculating on fact they seem more active than their L.A. sisters. And they do have a flair.

S.F. amazes me with midweek dances. How anyone makes time the next morning is beyond even me. Scotch one day, dinner the next in the Fairmont with Cal Bailey who really loves this town! He's making quite a name. He flies East in May briefly. Also has become quite a camera bug. Before I leave, Cal, Bill Chase and I are having a three-man reunion deluxe. Bill doesn't miss N.Y. too much, likes his work on the S.F. Chronicle.

While here recently Marian Anderson was told her portrait (part of a mural) will be hung this summer in the new Youth Center of St. Benedict the Moor Mission being built at Lyon and Grove. She had an informal gathering in her hotel suite.

Restless Bus Lee alternating between selling Calvert and playing golf. He and his wife (she's Angelique Bratton's sister) and his stepson live in Berkeley. Asked-after, too: Charlene O'Bryant. We agreed her smile has terrific impact

A young lawyer fast gaining widespread recognition in Civil Liberties, Attorney Leo Branton won honors in that field. Community Health could only go to Dr. Leonard Stovall. For organization in the community, Kappa Alpha Psi's Bob Green took the honors. Tried and true Gus Hawkins was honored for work in government. Interracial Understanding came in for its share with George Thomas taking bows. For his memorable work while Postmaster of Los Angeles in the field of minority group integration. Michael D. Fanning was given an award. John H. Dial, Jr., who steadily climbs in the Labor realm, was the honoree in his field as was Supervisor Kenneth Hahn for good politics. A special award to a member of the professional field went to Architect Paul R. Williams. Other honorees were George A. Beavers, who has done so much in Social Welfare with his particular efforts toward the housing situation; Wesley Brazier on behalf of the Urban League for a wonderful part it plays in Social Service; Mal Whitfield, all around famous sportsman; Carnella Barnum for her devotion and efforts in Youth Projects.

Saddle Club Plans Party

Beta Pi Sigma Holds Luncheon For Adele Addison Concert Here

By LEE ELLSWORTH

The Alpha Chapter of the Beta Pi Sigma Sorority entertained friends of the press and local women's organizations at luncheon on Saturday to announce the forthcoming concert by Adele Addison, noted young soprano of the concert and operatic stage, who will appear here on April 4 at 3:00 p.m. in the Forum Theater, under the auspices of the sorority.

This delightful affair was chaired by the Reverend Arthur Garner who introduced, in turn, Essie M. Robertson, chairman of the Public Relations Committee, and Helen Gaines, President of the Chapter, who stated that support of young artists is a civic and cultural responsibility in order to insure that the future will afford the same bright lights of the arts as the present holds.

Mrs. Gaines introduced Louise Glover, Concert chairman, and Albert J. McNeil, both of whom gave personal accounts of the works and merits of Miss Adele Addison. Mrs. Glover was personally acquainted with Miss Addison in Springfield, Mass., her former home. McNeil recounted his pleasure at having heard Miss Addison perform the soprano aria from the Bach B Minor Mass under the direction of the late Serge Koussevitsky at the Berkshire Music Festival at Tanglewood. Both speakers described Miss Addison as a warm and talented singer who considers that her voice is a gift to be given to those who will hear and enjoy, "A delight to the eye and a joy to hear" in the opinion of both speakers.

A letter of commendation and congratulation from Georgia Lassiter was read by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. Miss Lassiter was present at Miss Addison's Town Hall debut in New York City.

Each speaker urged support of the first Los Angeles appearance of this outstanding young artist. Old-time Angelenos reminisced that Marion Anderson's first local appearance was attended by less than two hundred persons. It was pointed out that Miss Addison, at twenty-four years of age, is far along the path to the same international recognition that the beloved Miss Anderson enjoys.

Miss Addison was starred on the operatic stage with the New England Opera Company, on the concert stage as soloist with the Chicago, Detroit, and Boston Symphony orchestra, on the radio with the United States Steel Hour, and on tour in France with the Cecilia Choir Society of Boston, singing at the Cathedral of Notre Dame with full symphony orchestra, and at the Palace of Versailles.

The sororers and guests were led in song by the Reverend Garner and two solo sections were sung by Jay Loft-Lynn, accompanied by Mr. McNeil on the piano.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

The forcing two bid in a suit is one of the most basic bids in bridge and also one of the most abused. It is a bid which demands that partner bid until game is reached. It is a bid which shows a hand at most but one trick off game even if partner has nothing.

The minimum number of points to open two is 22. However, considering the above requirements, it is well to realize that points alone do not determine an opening two bid. Distribution is very important. In fact, sometimes the distribution is more important than the number of points in the hand.

S. AKQxxx	(9)
H. AK	(7)
D. AJx	(5)
C. xx	(1)
	22

This hand has a solid trump and should take at least nine tricks played in spades. It is excellent for an opening two bid.

S. AKxxxx	(7)
H. AKxxx	(7)
D. Kx	(3)
C. ----	(3)
	20

This hand is two under the minimum number of points mentioned above, but its distribution warrants an opening two bid. This is one time when it is allowed to count on partners hand, because unless he is void in both major suits, a game is guaranteed.

S. AKxx	(7)
H. AKQ	(9)
D. AJxx	(5)
C. Qx	(3)
	24

This hand has two points over minimum, but is not an opening two bid. On a hand of this type it is necessary to count on partner for too much. It is better to open this hand at one club. This has the double advantage of allowing partner to bid at the one level and trapping the opponents if they should make a rash overcall.

It is well to remember that if partner has anything in his hand he will bid it. Therefore, keep the bidding as low as possible to start with, even with hands like the above. A moment of thought on the first bid may save a big penalty later. On rock crushers, such as hands one and two, make forcing bids because you hold good, solid strength. With deceptive hands, such as number three, go slower. Those face cards look good, but all that gliters isn't gold.

Bridge is a partnership game. Remember that it takes considerable courage for your partner to make two or more bids, each successively higher, when holding no face cards. Be sure that he knows that when you open for two, you have it. It results in a better game and a higher score for you.

and lights up a room so wondrously. Incidently Charlene and Henri O'Bryant's choir robes are rapidly becoming Bay area phenomena as they are everywhere else.

Quick cuff note: I'm told definitely not to leave town this trip without catching the sensational folk singer Stan Wilson at the Hungry I. Hi-Fi is another rage in this section. It does seem to go well with these sweeping vistas from high-flung windows. Many folk, wearying of collecting Caddies, mink stoles and plane tickets, are Hi-Fi equipment dilletantes nowadays.

Well, one thing I am pretty sure. I "just gotta" be back in L.A. in time for the Fannie Benjamin-Albert McNeil testimonial at Park Manor on the 10th. That gets a heavy underscoring on the nearest calendar.

Thumbs up, L.A. style: For Lurline (L.A.) Alexander's unchanging habit of being just a real wonderful person to those folks she finds endearing. On third thought I think one day soon I'll sit down and make a list of such "heart line" regular Angelenos.

We've been asked to have a drink and meet an honest-to-goodness Belgian Congo prince and one of his wives. They're in S.F. on a brief visit. NEWLYWEDS—George R. Yelder and his bride of one week, the former Josephine E. Jordan, are honeymooning in San Francisco. The popular couple exchanged wedding vows last week at Saint Paul Church. They will return to their 622 East 51st street home March 21.

ZENITHS STAGE BENEFIT AT 'GARDENS'

ZENITHS: The dictionary says zenith means the highest point. Eagle staffers Chazz Crawford, Zebba Howze, Kerry Jackson and Ad-Man Francis P. Waller are ready to agree after attending the club's press pawtee kicking off its benefit set for Florentine Gardens March 5. Be on hand Sunday when the club presents the West Coast's newest singing sensation, Lawrence Stone and New Orlean's pretty dramatic star, Zena Aye.

HILL TOPPERS: Prexy Jerry Nicholas may think legitimate protest is just argument and that she doesn't have time to listen. Maybe so. But people aren't great because of what they think of themselves, but because of what other people know about them.

ADVENTUROUS GENT: Donald Desvignes and his ex-Downtown clan do a good job of keeping the spirit of New Orleans Mardi Gras alive in Los Angeles. The Gents should place heap more emphasis on masquerade appearance as non-maskers' spoil the whole affect!

Louise Beavers Amazes Public With New 'Slaves'

Louise Beavers, long identified in the starring role of "The Beulah Show" on television and featured in dozen of top films, this week began her daily radio program, "The Louise Beavers Show," on KOWL, Monday through Friday, 11:30 to noon.

The program includes a potpourri of interesting chatter, home hints, movie and entertainment news and one record of special interest, all aimed at the homemakers' audience.

Trouper

Louise Beavers' warm, cheerful personality was displayed to fine advantage in the first 10 Danny Thomas video shows, "Make Room for Daddy," and she was seen in such recent films as "My Blue Heaven" with Betty Grable, "Blandings Builds His Dream House" with Cary Grant and "Good Sam" with Gary Cooper.

The new program is immediately followed by the 3½-hour show of "The Mayor of Melody," Joe Adams.

New Faces 'Flick' Clicks As Eartha Kitt 'Finest' Hit

"New Faces," the first musical production filmed in CinemaScope, previewed by Zebba "Showbusiness" Howze, Sr., produced by Edward L. Alperson and based on Leonard Sillman's laugh-packed, tune-stacked hit stage review that rocked Los Angeles' audiences and is now drawing capacity crowds in Eastern cities, opens Friday, March 12, at the Fox Wilshire Theater, where the fast-paced hit, filmed in new Eastman color and with Stereophonic sound, will show exclusively. Current show is "Red Garters." Western satire in wide-screen and Technicolor, in its final week.

Kitt Was "It"

Intimately and faithfully transcribed from the original smash stage show by Director Harry Horner, "New Faces" stars Eartha Kitt, year's top show business sensation, in a display of varied and sundry hits including such numbers as "Santa Baby," "C'est Si Bon," "Monotonous," "Uskadara" and others. Co-starred and introduced on screen for the first time, are these "new faces": Ronny Graham, zany serio-comic and writer of many of the hit tunes; Robert Clary, diminutive French sensation; Alice Ghostley, inspired comedienne; June Carroll, writer-actress co-star of the production; and buxom Virginia de Luce, dizzy blonde in a series of hilarious take-offs.

Family Enjoyment

Also Paul Lynde, in some specialty numbers besides more than a dozen other fresh and talented young dancers, singers and thespians all from the original stage cast and all making their motion picture debut.

Zenith Charity Clubbers Conduct 'Press' Rehearsal For Sunday's Benefit Ball

Zenith Charity and Social Club's huge Benefit Talent Show is shaping up as one of the season's most outstanding affairs and certainly most noteworthy. The purpose of this show is to provide and assist the Exceptional Childrens' Opportunity School for Retarded, located at 1086 West 34th St.

Star Studded Show

Louise Beavers, nationally known stage, screen and radio figure will MC the show which is loaded with talent which includes: Elizabeth Jones, Buell Thomas, Eddie Beal, Ralph Billingslea, Juanita Cruz, Tommie Butler and Leonard Davis to name a few.

Larry Stone Booked

Highlight of the evening's entertainment will be the Zenith's presentation of young Lawrence Stone, who is being touted as the singing discovery of the year.

Valuable Prizes Offered

In the "hidden talent" portion of the program wherein gifted amateurs will vie with honors with the above named professionals, Ishmal Evans, proprietor of Jenkins Chicken Market will donate the first prize; Atty. Walter L. Gordon, Jr. will present the second award, and the door prize will be generously donated by Herman J. Bruce, the stellar salesman of Four Roses Whiskey.

'Press' Rehearsal

In a special 'Press' rehearsal last Sunday (which virtually became an Eagle exclusive what with "Chazz" Crawford, Lee and Paul Ellsworth, Zebba Howze, Sr., Edward "Abie" Robinson and Francis P. Waller, Jr., covering the affair) the Zeniths showcase their gigantic charitable undertaking and it was enthusiastically agreed by the capacity gathering that their many innovations will make this one of Los Angeles' finest efforts.

Everyone is earnestly urged to attend the Zenith 'Garden Party' Sunday from 5:00 to 10:00 p.m. at 5955 Hollywood Boulevard, because these unfortunate youngsters most certainly merit your support. Get tickets now by telephoning Eulalia Evans at REpublic 4-3015.

Neighborhood Community's Obvious Lack Of Interest In Ebony Showcase Scored

Shocked at the apparent community apathy toward what she calls "one of the finest projects ever launched in this city," Mrs. Leontyne King, prominent social leader and one of the nation's top fashion experts, this week went on record as a strong supporter of Ebony Showcase Theater and chided those who have failed to patronize the popular community playhouse.

Unequaled Opportunity

"When I read in the California Eagle last week that 95 percent of the patronage of Ebony Showcase was coming — not from our own community—but from such far off places as Beverly Hills, North Hollywood, Laguna Beach and the like, I was very much upset," she said. "After all, I believe Ebony Showcase is a community project and apparently was built in order to give our own men and women and others a chance to demonstrate their talents before the public. If this is the case, then surely the Showcase deserves first of all the undivided support of the Negro public itself."

New Club Oasis Western Ave. Mecca Of Fun and Music

The nation-wide fame of the Club Oasis, Western at 38th, as the jazz mecca of the West Coast, under the marvelous management of Bill Robinson, is merited more and more as top jazz names of the nation sign for forthcoming appearances. With "Good Rockin' Tonight" Roy Brown and his "Mighty, Mighty Men" currently holding forth, jazz fans are enjoying one of the rhythm and blues field's hottest attractions.

A spectacular achievement is credited to Brown, who holds the all-time record of having four discs in the top 10 listed by Billboard Magazine, bible of the show world. Currently on King label, Roy specializes in a bouncy, rocking blues. Louis Revera's Trio is also appearing during Roy's Oasis engagement.

Slated to open at the popular Western avenue spot on Friday, March 12, is the ever tops, Earl "Fatha" Hines.

Downbeat Room Ready To Reopen At Forty-Second St.

Announcement of the grand re-opening of the Downbeat Lounge on world famous Central avenue, that was once affectionately known as Swing Street, has aroused a great deal of speculation on the village green. In the very first place Harry Berg, the amiable new proprietor of the lounge, has made it known that he intends to feature his joy juice at very popular prices. For the daytime crowd, the highballs will go for forty cents a throw, and for nightlifers, one thin dime more brings the tariff up to an even four bits.

Choice Drinks

Where that's an all-time low in "likker" prices, the all-time all-timer at the club will be its huge circular bar. It will be the largest of its kind in the state and seat anywhere from 28 to 38 patrons.

There will be a backdrop of plush booths to house the overflow sit 'n' sipsters. Entertainment will be provided by a stellar keyboard genius whose name is yet unannounced.

Piano Stylings

The Downbeat with its sharp new "front" and such solid backing should appeal to all happy-go-lucky locals. And every Joe and his Jane will take note of this cozy nook, that drawing card's low priced "giggle juice" and high type fun.

HIBBLER AT TIFFANY

Caught the opening show of Al Hibbler at the Tiffany Club. Al, who calls himself (Albert, George, Edward Windsor Hibbler) thrilled us to no end with songs like 'Danny Boy,' 'Little Brown Book' and many new ones. The set ran well over schedule and the audience was still clamoring for more when our genial host 'Jack The Ripper' Tucker (that's Mr. Tiffany to you) had to tear him away from the bandstand for a rest. "Jovial" Jack Tucker informed me that, at this writing you will have only three (3) more days to dig Charlie (yard-bird) Parker who will be blasting away on the same bill with Hibbler. Catch Hibbler this weekend!

'Wax' Favorite

Incidentally Al's new album titled "Hibbler Sings Ellington" will be released April first.

We moved on to the Oasis Club to pick up on Roy Brown and his Mighty Mighty Men who blew the roof down. Roy is quite a showman with his good ol' Rocking Blues. The band also features a new young sensational guitar player named James Davis. On the same bill is the "Luis Rivera Trio." Congratulations to Oasis Mgr. Bill Robinson and Jewel Fox. You've got a real crazy show. Luis Rivera, organist at Oasis will be seen on Joe Adams' new TV show, "Wonderful World" March 14th.

Just Jazz the Most

Saw one of the finest Jazz Concerts ever presented in our fair city, at the Shrine Sunday nite—featuring Stan Kenton and a host of stars. Presented by Gene Norman and his very capable assistant, Ross Burdick. Hundreds were turned away at the door.

Everyone is talking about the new and beautiful Paradise Cocktail Lounge at 55th on Central. That was the scene of a most elaborate grand opening last week-end. Sweetwine and Hamilton, co-owners of the club, are keeping the people happy.

Church of Divine Guidance presenting what promises to be a most delightful afternoon of organ melodies. Featuring James Cowan accompanied by Charles Owens. Sunday, March 7 at 4050 West Pico Boulevard, 5 p.m.

THINGS TO COME:

Dig the Zeniths at the "Gardens" Sunday from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Good deal for great cause. Come "flush" and bring own "lush."

Earl "Tenor" Bostic at Embassy next week. Another 'Just Jazz' presentation by Kene Gene Norman and Ross Burdick. Lazy Susan at Vernon and Avalon presents Frances Gray and her Gay Blades for your delight.

CREEPING IN: We notice an increasing number of grey faces holding jobs once held by members of the community in a neighborhood where their buying power accounts for 100 percent of the sales. Yet each day hundreds hit the bricks with job hunting all in vain because employers aren't hiring your shade! So it's up to you to do something about jobs right in our own backyard. Support the business that is supporting your Eagle, your community. Your very existence depends upon it. We don't have many Negro owned establishments and the way we give them our support we won't have them too long! Our Central Avenoo Liquor Stores, Cocktail parlors, drug stores, grocery stores and hash houses should be getting the bulk of the Negro biz so let's start producing in our own back yard!

RAY MILLS, after building up a terrific business at the Red Hut Broiler, just had the Western Avenoo joint sold right from under him without any notice. An ofay comes in as the new manager. Mills is now toying with the idea of a Western Avenoo Waffle and Chicken Shack for the "After-Hour Crowd."

Job Situation in California Serious

W. Miller Barbour, director of the National Urban League Western Field Office, who recently returned from an extensive tour of California, stated this week: "There is evidence of a serious, growing unemployment problem among Negroes.

"Much of this is the result of their being employed primarily by Government and defense industries, where cutbacks have been the greatest.

"Studies indicate that this is not due to the old policy of 'last hired, first fired' but to over-concentration of minority personnel in these industries, rather than in domestic industries."

In order to get the most out of these services, it is necessary that the public do its part. If you need the police, dial the emergency operator 116—be brief, but explicit; give accurate address, including the number, street, east or west, apartment number, and general vicinity such as near Slauson and Broadway. "Thus a colored individual is penalized doubly because of his race. He is arbitrarily denied employment at a job for which he may be qualified and thereafter is put on a job requiring little or no skill. This makes him an employee who may be most readily sacrificed in time of retrenchment."

The movement southward of many large industries has also sharpened job discrimination, White charged. "Often companies which have good employment policies in one location become some of the most timid and discriminatory in other locations," he asserted and cited as examples Western Electric, General Electric, Lockheed, and the Telephone Company.

"IF I DIE..."

FOR THE SOLE CRIME OF THROWING A CUSPIDOR AT A PRISON GUARD, WESLEY ROBERT WELLS WILL DIE APRIL 9, 1954, IN THE SAN QUENTIN GAS CHAMBER... UNLESS THE PEOPLE AND THE GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA SAVE HIM...

IF HE DIES, JUSTICE IN CALIFORNIA DIES WITH HIM!

If Wesley Robert Wells dies for this unprecedented reason, California justice will die with him. Many thousands—judges, criminologists, lawyers, ministers, rabbis, doctors, civic leaders and people from all walks of life—have declared Wells must not die. In California and the nation Wells has become a symbol for those who seek justice for all people before the eyes of God and the laws of man. On a coast-to-coast hookup, famed columnist-commentator Walter Winchell has pleaded with Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for "just five minutes of your time" to show that Wells' sentence rests upon "legislation constitutionally condemned."

from the judge, the criminologist, the psychiatrist:

"HE MUST NOT DIE"

"TERRIBLE INJUSTICE..." Superior Judge A. A. Scott, who sentenced Wells on car theft.

"THIS IS NOT the kind of process that comports with 'the deepest notions of what is fair and right and just.'" Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who halted the execution in 1950.

"DENIAL OF DUE PROCESS OF LAW... MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE..." California Supreme Court Justice J. Edmonds, who voted against the death sentence.

"RACIAL HATRED and legalistic red tape have robbed him of the consideration due a human being." Dr. Burt F. Howard, Folsom prison psychiatrist.

"...ESPECIALLY TRAGIC... I most respectfully request the granting of executive clemency." Dr. Marcel J. Frym, criminologist member of Attorney-General's Advisory Committee for Crime Prevention.

"THE IMAGE OF GOD"... "No man has ever been executed by the State of California for a crime that did not involve the death of another. The dignity of the human person as the image of God cannot be served by setting such a precedent." —From a clemency plea to Gov. Knight by over 300 California religious leaders of every denomination.

Demands $100,000; 'Lies—Dirty Lies!' Says Arthur Freed

EXCLUSIVE

Mrs. Mary Norris, self-styled mistress of top-flight Hollywood producer, Arthur Freed, filed suit Wednesday in Superior Court, demanding $100,000 damages from the movie magnate.

In the suit, filed by Atty. Xenophon Lang, Mrs. Norris accuses Freed of false imprisonment and assault.

"Dirty lies," Freed commented to the Eagle when queried on Tuesday as to whether or not he had known Mrs. Norris intimately over a three-year period, as she alleged.

Nothing to It

"Most terrible lie I've ever heard in my life," he commented, adding that it was a "crazy, vicious accusation" and a bold-faced attempt at blackmail.

Freed's attorney, Joseph Greenberg, when asked about the assertions made by Mrs. Norris, said: "Nothing to it. The woman, I think, is ill. There's nothing to it at all."

But Mrs. Norris, in an exclusive interview with the Eagle and in a notorized statement to Atty. Lang, related in voluminous and graphic detail her story of a stormy, frequently interrupted, alleged romance with the well-known director.

Gifts

He had given her a 1950 Cadillac, she said, a '53 Buick, Ko-

Man Hacks, Kills Wife after Fight

By EDDIE LEE KING

Mrs. Willie Vern Williams, 33, of 112 Fuego Court, Channel Heights, San Pedro, was hacked to death Saturday morning in front of 458 N. Meyler. Police have charged her husband, Willie, 46, with the brutal slaying.

The victim, mother of a 14-year-old son, had been separated from her husband only two days.

She and Williams had attended an all-night card party and, according to a witness, began fighting shortly after they left. The witness said Williams dragged his wife out of their car, threw her to the ground, choked her and kicked her.

Draws Knife

"Suddenly he drew a long knife and started hacking away on the woman," the witness told police.

Two other witnesses reported to police that they stopped to offer aid thinking the woman had been hit by an auto. They said Williams told them it was too late for any help since "I've just finished killing her."

Mrs. Williams' body was peppered with knife wounds. The left side of her face was gruesomely carved and bits of flesh littered the street.

According to Lt. Ralph Weyant, Detective Sgt. T. N. Schmitz and Detective Sgt. H. A. Thornberry, Williams surrendered to police at San Pedro station. He wanted to know "why the cops are looking for me," the officers said.

Investigators said Williams claimed his clothes were blood soaked because he had been fighting with another man who had called him a dirty name.

Williams was booked on suspicion of murder.

— Worked Her Way Up —

SMASHED BARRIERS—Mrs. Cozetta Cheers, given a chance to prove her merit at Carson, Pierie Scott & Co., one of Chicago's largest department stores, worked her way up in three and one-half years from stock girl to assistant buyer. Mrs. Cheers is in Los Angeles seeking comparable work here.

BUYER MAKES GRADE; BEGAN AS STOCK GIRL

Trim, attractive, convincing Mrs. Cozetta Cheers told the Eagle this week how in the brief period of 3½ years she had risen from a stock-control girl to assistant buyer of two departments at Carson, Pierre, Scott & Co., one of Chicago's largest and oldest downtown department stores.

Mrs. Cheers, here on leave from her job, hopes to be able to locate at one of the Los Angeles stores so she can make her home here.

Surprised at L. A.

She was surprised that in a city the size of Los Angeles, with its large Negro population, the downtown stores are so far behind the times that they still refuse to hire Negroes for responsible positions.

"Even if I'm not able to get a job myself," she said, "I hope that I will be of some help to others in breaking down the barriers."

The smartly dressed, crisp young woman ran into the same jim-crow block here in Los Angeles against which the community has been fighting for the past five years.

Met Resistance

When she first started selling at Carson's, she relates, she met some resistance on the part of a few older employes. And when she was promoted to supervisor of sales, with 10 full-time and five short-hour girls working under her—all white—the opposition mounted.

But Mrs. Cheers was lucky. She was still working under the same buyer who had promoted her. This buyer called the salesgirls together and told them that Mrs. Cheers had been at Carson's for a couple of years and was very capable, and urged cooperation.

More Than Half Way

"I know it was going to be hard," she commented, "but I met them more than half way. And pretty soon the resentment began to disappear. At first two of the women were very open with their resentment. But that lasted only two months. When I came out here,

Lawyer Given Labor Post In Ike's Cabinet

WASHINGTON — J. Ernest Wilkins, Chicago lawyer, was named assistant secretary of labor in charge of foreign labor affairs by President Eisenhower last week.

The selection of Wilkins is subject to Senate confirmation. He would succeed Spencer Miller Jr., whose resignation, effective March 10, was announced recently.

He is the second Negro to attain cabinet status. William H. Lewis served as assistant attorney general in President Taft's cabinet.

Wilkins, who is active in church circles is now serving on the governing body of the Methodist church. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and is a former president of that organization.

He is 60, and a native of Farmingham, Mo.

He received his AB degree at the University of Illinois, his law degree at the University of Chicago, and a doctor of laws degree at Lincoln University in Missouri.

Wilkins has been a practicing attorney in Chicago since 1921. He is a former president of the Cook County (Chicago) Bar Association.

This is the second time President Eisenhower has called on Fire Chief Tells His Race Policies

By CLINT JACKSON

Fire Chief John H. Alderson put on a dazzling display of double talk at a deposition Monday afternoon to Wednesday designed to demonstrate that racial segregation isn't racial segregation at all, unless you say it is. Not in the Los Angeles Fire Department at least.

The chief's fancy verbal footwork came in lengthy interchanges between him and Attorney Thomas G. Neusom, representing the NAACP, before Commissioner Clinton Rodda in the Hall of Records. He admitted that the assignment of all Negro firemen to two of the city's 90 stations "wasn't an accident." But he continued to insist that the Fire Department did not follow a policy of racial segregation.

No Change

Commissioners C. F. Joscelyn, W. H. Lollier and Richard K. Yeomans agreed that all Negroes are assigned to stations 30 and 14, but only Yeomans admitted that assignments were made on a racial basis.

All of them said that there has been no change in department policy since the conference with the mayor, and that none of them knew of any plans to make any change.

Were they assigned to those two stations because of their race? Why no, bristled Mr. Alderson, it was all "for the best interests of all the people of Los Angeles."

Had any white firemen been assigned to the two Central

Dope Suspect Charged With Killing Informer

J. B. Brown, who faces trial as a narcotics pusher, was booked on Monday on a charge of murdering Frank J. Stafford, dope addict, who reportedly fingered peddlers and users to the authorities.

He was hit in the back by two bullets as he stepped outside his home, 1136 E. 27th street, last Wednesday. As he reeled, and fell to the ground bleeding from fatal wounds, he was heard to mutter, "Brown did it." He died on the way to the hospital.

Denied Accusation

"J.B.," who was out on $5,000 bail awaiting trial, was accused of the killing.

He denied the accusation, naming Charles Vienn, 1162 Western avenue, as his "alibi."

When Vienn went to the police station to substantiate Brown's story, he, too, was nabbed and held in jail. He was released on Monday.

Bail Increase Denied

On Tuesday, U. S. Atty. Manley C. Bowler, chief of the Criminal Division, appeared before U. S. District Judge William C. Mathis and made a motion to have Brown's bail increased on the grounds that he is a dan-

Blonde Ends Life; Lover Faces Music

Beautiful, blonde Diane Wells, 31, Tuesday left her lover, jazz drummer Johnnie Warren, to face the music alone. Accused with Warren of the murder of her millionaire husband, Cecil, 51, in Fairbanks, Alaska, last year, Mrs. Wells took her own life in the Hollywood Plaza Hotel by swallowing an overdose of sleeping pills.

The society beauty and the handsome 31-year-old drummer were scheduled to face trial together April 5. Now, Warren will do a solo.

The excitement caused by the slaying of the wealthy auto dealer and civic leader faded into the background when police arrested Mrs. Wells and Warren. They were charged with doing away with Wells because they were in love with each other.

Secret Affair

Warren's insistence that he and the beauteous blonde had carried on a secret love affair set Fairbanks back on its heels. Mrs. Wells denied the intimacies, but the musician boasted that she tried to get a divorce from her husband but was unsuccessful.

This claim was enough for government attorneys who pressed for and won a murder indictment against the pair. They were freed under $10,000 bond. Warren remained in Fairbanks supplementing his income from night club stints

EVERYBODY Wants to be Helpful in 26th District

By JAMES ANDERSON

The 26th Congressional district which normally gets as much attention from politicians and newspapers as a pimply faced girl gets from hep-cats at a junior prom was the object of everybody's affection this week.

The political and newspaper woods were full to overflowing with assorted characters eager to issue statements attesting their burning zeal to save the district from a fate worse than death, taxes or Joe McCarthy.

The man who put the district on everybody's tongue was Jimmy Roosevelt who got the nod Sunday as the Democratic candidate for Congress. Jimmy's popularity, or lack of it, revolves around letters he wrote to his wife in which he [illegible] an even dozen marital sins.

And, as explained elsewhere, Jimmy triumphed chiefly because the 22nd district, one of [illegible] assembly districts in [illegible] stood by him and [illegible] though votes to raise [illegible] against competitor for [illegible]

[illegible] Congress from the 26th district.

But Ned was not alone. Lined up solidly behind him and with him were the Hearst newspapers, the Los Angeles Times, and all Republicans and some Democrats, with spare typewriters or press agents.

If Redding has any Negro supporters they haven't showed up yet but some may be flushed out as the campaign develops.

One time vice president of the Democratic central committee, Redding quit that post when he developed a burning love for Goodwin Knight, GOP candidate for Governor, and enlisted under Goodie's banner.

After [illegible] leap to Knight's bandwagon, Redding had supported Norris Poulson, one time Republican congressman, when [illegible] made his successful [illegible] mayor last spring. His

Freed 'Friendly' To Girl Reporter

By MRS. ZEBRA HOWZE

In an exclusive interview with Arthur Freed in his office at the M.G.M. studios in Culver City, the motion picture producer emphatically denied having ever had any close relations with Mrs. Mary Norris.

He said that Mrs. Norris approached him in his office looking for a job, and then proceeded to harass and worry him on numerous occasions.

Not Too Often

He replied to a question that she had not been there "too often."

I asked: "How did Mrs. Norris manage to get up to your office, when it took me all of 15 minutes to even get past the downstairs office, although I had an appointment?"

Freed replied somewhat hesitantly, "Well, ah, I mean she worried my secretaries to death."

He wanted to know Mrs.

62nd District Aids Roosevelt Victory

By JAMES ANDERSON
Eagle Political Editor

The 62nd assembly district threw its weight around Sunday afternoon to make James Roosevelt the official Democratic candidate in the 26th Congressional district. Other assembly districts in the 26th are the 61st and 66th.

Roosevelt emerged victor on the second ballot of the convention of Democratic organizations when he polled 91 votes as against 77 for Jerry Pacht, the runner-up. The 62nd district favored him by nine votes, 32 to 23, while he had a one vote minority in the 61st and broke even in the 66th.

Earlier, Jimmy told the delegates that he was seeking to clear his name and that the Congressional post would be "the last office I will ever seek." Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins was slated to nominate Roosevelt but sent a wire saying he was detained at Sacramento but wishing the candidate "every success."

The 62nd district's final majority for Roosevelt came after a long afternoon of jockeying between Hawkins forces who were aligned with him and labor delegates, led by William Pollard, who wanted Pacht as the nominee.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away, Pacht moved to make the Roosevelt nomination unanimous and got a second from another defeated candidate. The convention cheered as Chairman Paul Ziffren noted that the motion had carried.

One candidate, Ned Redding, did not seek the convention's approval and has announced that he will make the race in any event. All other candidates pledged their support to Sunday's victor.

The Republicans have not yet chosen a candidate and Saturday Councilman Gordon Hahn announced that he will not run. The Democrats have an overwhelming registration and there was speculation that the GOP will do nothing more than offer Roosevelt token opposition.

Jefferson Teacher At Child Confab

Jefferson High School teacher Marie Fielder will act as moderator at one of the March 30 sessions of the Conference on Childhood and Youth to be held at First Congregational Church.

The theme of the conference is "Striking a Balance in a World of Tensions" and will open March 29 with Judge William McKesson presiding at Immanuel Presbyterian Church. The closing breakfast will be held at the Ambassador Hotel Wednesday, March 31.

Edith Sampson Will Address Democrat Club

Edith Sampson, Chicago lawyer and former alternate delegate to the United Nations, will wind up a series of local appearances with a speech to the Democratic luncheon club today (Thursday).

Here at the request of the National Council of Negro Women, Mrs. Sampson addressed a meeting at Pepperdine college Sunday afternoon and explained the working of the UN at the Tribune forum Monday night.

"The United Nations offers the only hope of peace in this troubled world," Mrs. Sampson told her audiences. She urged widespread support for the UN and urged her hearers to join the local branch of the American Association for United Nations.

linsky furs, a $1200 diamond ring, and on various occasions had sent her money to return to Los Angeles after her various flights from the city when she "got mad" at him.

The relationship broke up with a bang shortly after the first of the year, Mrs. Norris continued, when two men in his office tried to get her to sign a statement to the effect that she had attempted to get money from him under false pretenses, and that he had never touched her.

Told to Leave Town

"We heard you ask him for money," one of the two, who said they were policemen, reportedly told her, ordering her to "sign here."

She refused, and finally, according to her story, Freed gave her $100 to get out of town and the two men escorted her from the office. One flashed a pistol, shoved her, warned her to leave the city, and not to return, Mrs. Norris reported. They then, she claimed, followed her to her home, and to the bus station.

Freed is one of the best-known producers in Hollywood, winner of an Academy Award, and the man who has masterminded some of MGM's most widely acclaimed motion pictures. At one time or another, he has directed Lena Horne, Judy Garland, Tony Martin, Gene Kelly, Cyd Charisse and Fred Astaire.

Mrs. Norris said that she was formerly married to a man by the name of Cleveland, and that she is also known as Mrs. Mary Cleveland, but she refused to give either her address or her telephone number.

Many of her alleged rendezvous with Freed, she asserted, occurred at the Dunbar Hotel, although at the time she was living on E. 48th street.

She had gone to see him in the first place, she said, to see if she could get a bit part in a movie. But that job never materialized.

A tape recording of the entire proceedings is being forwarded to the governor.

Impassioned Appeal

Sunday's meeting was followed on Tuesday by the presentation of 45,000 signatures on petitions asking clemency for the condemned man.

A warm and impassioned appeal for Wells was made by Atty. Charles Garry, of San Francisco, one of Wells' lawyers.

In a dramatic, tense speech, Atty. Walter Gordon brought down the house in words addressed directly to Governor Knight.

Deafening Applause

"Mr. Governor," he said, "I know that you are a humane person." He paused. The audience was breathlessly quiet. Then he continued: "Prove it!" Applause was deafening.

Dr. Marcel Frym, J.D., director of criminological research at the Hacker Foundation, declared emphatically that Wells was not responsible for the cuspidor-throwing incident, which is the basis for the death sentence. The man was in a state of hysteria at the time, he said, and was incapable of acting with "malice aforethought," as is charged.

At Victory Baptist

Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the Second Baptist church, also appealed for the sparing of Wells' life.

The meeting was held at the Victory Baptist church, 48th street and McKinley avenue, which was donated with all of its facilities. The Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of the church, welcomed the crowd.

Ex-Guard Speaks

A surprise, but significant, speaker was Richard H. Thompson, a former guard at Folsom Prison, who was in charge of the solitary confinement portion of the prison during part of the time Wells was held there. Although he did not definitely state that prisoners are subjected to cruel treatment, he did remark: "Wells was never incorrigible while under my care. If I could get along with him, it is hard for me to see why others couldn't.

Others who participated in the program were Atty. Lee Branton, who acted as narrator of the "Open Letter"; Bob Ellis; Leonard Steward, who discussed Wells' youth; Mrs. Ella K. Mays; Murray Korngold, clinical psychologist; and Mrs. Pat Alexander.

Norris' whereabouts, and said he would appreciate it very much if I could give him that information.

Never Bought Cadillac

I asked him if he ever bought her a Cadillac or gave her monies in the form of checks or telegraphed money to her.

He said "no," to all the queries, adding he didn't believe Mrs. Norris ever worked, so couldn't understand how she acquired a "Caddie."

The interview was very friendly, so friendly, in fact, that Freed said he would take an ad in the Eagle to the tune of $150 congratulating our paper on its 74th anniversary edition, to be published March 25.

He added: "I'd like to take a full page, but I think it might look a little too conspicuous, don't you?"

I thanked him. "Oh, that's all right," he said, patting the back of my neck. "I'm glad you came. Keep in touch me, and be sure to bring me the anniversary edition of the Eagle."

Byron Rumford To Run Again For Assembly

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William Byron Rumford on March 4 announced his candidacy for reelection in the 17th Assembly district, in Berkeley.

Rumford, a registered Democrat, said he will crossfile and seek the nominations of both his own party and the Republican party in the June 8 primary election.

The Berkeley assemblyman, who will be campaigning for his fourth successive term, has established a distinguished reputation in the lower house of the legislature for his outstanding activities in behalf of governmental reorganization, veterans, housing, welfare, and civil rights.

He has fought for a Fair Employment Practices Commission and was a leader in the battle that saw segregation abolished in the California National Guard.

He is a member of the Weinberger Committee whose investigations revealed conditions calling for sweeping reforms in State liquor control and administration.

Rumford is chairman of the Assembly Public Health committee and headed that group's recent interim probe of the illegal narcotics traffic.

all of them hoped I would come back."

How about the customers? Was there any customer resistance?

"There was absolutely no trouble," she replied. "For one thing," she went on, "I had people taken care of right away. And if there wasn't anyone else to do it, I did it myself."

Sales Increased

Management, she continued, was extremely cooperative, and firmly believes that sales have shown a definite increase since Negroes were given good jobs in the store.

Carson's changed their hiring policy in 1950, breaking through the lily-white employment policy which all of Chicago's large department stores had followed up to that time. There are now Negroes in responsible positions throughout the store. One has complete charge of wage administration, another is an auditor. Mrs. Cheers' sister, Mrs. Rose Marie Wright, who came here, with her, also worked in the auditing department. And sales clerks are found in practically every department.

Anxious Moments

One of the most difficult moments, Mrs. Cheers said, was her first visit to a salesroom in the Palmer House, where she had to compete with other buyers, and make her own merchandising decisions.

There were five white buyers there, and she spent anxious moments, fearful that she might make the wrong decision. The salesmen put her at her ease. And then she summoned to her aid all of her experience and all of her judgment. It was a tough ordeal, but she came through with flying colors.

Rapid Promotions

Starting in September, 1950, in seven months she was promoted to clerical assistant to the buyer in the notions department. In April, 1953, she assumed the duties of assistant buyer in the art-needlework department, and in the ribbons, laces and trimmings department. In August of the same year she was placed in complete charge of all selling operations in these two departments with the title of assistant buyer.

Here in Los Angeles, Mrs. Cheers is living with her mother, Mrs. Mae L. Chapman, who is here for the winter, at 1139 W. 36th place, her sister, Mrs. Wright, and her own six-year-old daughter, Gwynn Ellen Cheers. Another sister, Mrs. Frances Johnson, lives at 210 W. 50th street.

NAACP Launching Membership Drive

The annual membership campaign of the local NAACP branch is scheduled to be launched March 14 with interest centered around Dr. J. F. Evans as director of the drive.

Co-chairman in the drive is Dr. J. D. Fowler, Meharry schoolmate of Dr. Evans, long-time resident of this city and recent recipient of the George Washington Carver Memorial Institute Award for "outstanding contribution to brotherhood and human welfare."

Ten separate divisions outlined to solicit members from 10 varying sources have as their leaders Rev. P. D. Lehman; Lorenzo Bowdoin and C. L. McPherson; Dr. H. C. Hudson and Atty. Thomas G. Neusome; Dr. George M. Sealy and Atty. Herman English; Mrs. Marnesba T. Tackett; L. A. Mazique; Miss Loella Hardiman and Miss Dorothy Galoway; Mrs. Estelle Van Meter and J. L. Thompson; Mrs. Lillie Montgomery; E. J. Franklin and William F. Anderson.

Dr. Evans is a member of the American Medical Association, the Los Angeles Medical Association, California State Medical Association, Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Society, Charles Drew Society, Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, Second Baptist church and other local groups. He has worked extensively with the NAACP and the Boy Scouts back in Kansas before coming to Los Angeles.

A. P. Randolph Speaker At S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO — A. Philip Randolph, international president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, AFL, will deliver the principal address at the March 28 mass meeting which will climax the NAACP Freedom Fund drive in this area.

The drive, now entering the home stretch, was designed to raise funds for the continuing fight for full and complete civil rights.

by working in a grocery store.

Mrs. Wells obtained permission to come to Los Angeles for medical treatment. She had told officers on the night her husband was slain that two men invaded their home, beat her and killed her husband, fleeing with the contents of his wallet.

Country Club

According to Warren, Mrs. Wells gave him the "come-on" with her big, blue eyes one night at the swank Fairbanks Golf and Country club.

"And her eyes led me to believe that she might appreciate attention," he told officers after he was arrested in Oakland, Calif., for questioning in the Wells slaying.

He said he phoned her the next day and was invited up for drinks.

"She said she was interested in me even before we looked each other square and deep right in the eye. She said she got to studying me during a strip tease act when I yawned while the teaser was doing her stuff. That was the man for me," she said.

Farewell Note

That began a secret and intimate affair, Warren said.

In one farewell note, Mrs. Wells, the mother of a four-year-old son, wrote:

"For one thing, I am guilty too, for ever seeing Warren, and if Warren is guilty, one thing for sure, Cecil is dead. And I must be the cause of it, one way or another."

On a torn page from the classified phone directory, she had drawn an arrow through a heart. She had printed the message, "Happy Valentine. I love you."

Ike Says He's Still Opposed To Federal FEPC

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is still opposed to federal fair employment legislation with enforcement features.

That's what he told Washington newsmen last week in response to an inquiry as to whether or not he backed the plea of Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell for enactment of such a measure.

The question came up at the President's news conference because Secretary of Labor Mitchell had sent a letter to the chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare endorsing the Equal Employment Opportunity Bill, which carries enforcement powers.

Sponsors of the bill include Senators Irving M. Ives, Republican, and Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, both of New York.

The President was asked whether Secretary Mitchell expressed the view of the Administration. In reply, the President said he had made his position clear many dozens of times.

He then repeated his opposition to the punitive or compulsory approach but added that not only was Secretary Mitchell allowed to have views different from him, but also any other Cabinet officer was so allowed, and so authorized, and he did not consider it any matter of disloyalty to him.

Eisenhower concluded by nothing that Secertary Mitchell had expressed his own personal views, and that he respected his personal views, but did not want around him a bunch of "yes" men.

During the 1952 campaign, General Eisenhower spoke out firmly and frequently against discrimination on account of race, creed, color, and religion, but did not advocate compulsory legislation.

gerous man and should not be out on the streets of the city.

Atty. Walter Gordon, representing Brown, resisted this motion and declared that the murder complaint against his client is a "sham."

After listening to the attorneys, Judge Mathis refused to grant the government's motion, and permitted bail to remain at $5,000.

Common Name

When Brown was booked on the murder charge, corridor opinions were expressed to the effect that the case against him was a weak one, that the evidence against him was entirely insufficient.

Atty. Gordon told the Eagle that "J.B." is not the only man by the name of Brown whom "Sleepy" Stafford had fingered to narcotics agents. Another man, Jessie Brown, was also arrested on a dope charge on evidence supplied by Stafford, Gordon stated.

He also pointed out that the muttered words of the dying man in no way had the force of a legal statement, and further noted that a witness to the shooting, who saw the gunman flee from the scene, reported that the murderer sprinted away with the agility of a youth. Brown is in his early forties.

Hearing on the murder charge has been set for Monday, March 15.

Brown's trial on the narcotics rap has been continued until April 6. He was arrested for the crime of possession and sale of heroin on Oct. 8, 1953. Stafford testified against Brown at the original trial. The guilty verdict of the jury was set aside because of prejudicial remarks made by the judge, and a new trial granted.

zeal was rewarded with the presidency of the Board of Public Utilities.

Just to complicate matters, Assemblyman Gus Hawkins whose support got Roosevelt the Democratic nod Sunday also labored valiantly for Poulson. Hawkins' brother and chief political advisor, Ed, is also serving in the mayor's official family as a member of the Board of Public Works.

Vote Getter

When he ran for governor in 1950, Jimmy proved that the name Roosevelt is magic with Negro voters by swamping Earl Warren in the Negro precincts.

Samplings of public opinion in the 62nd district this week indicated that the candidate's marital difficulties will have little effect on his vote getting ability. Most of those interviewed shrugged the matter off and said they were far more interested in Jimmy's stand on public issues than in the question of how many women he named in letters to his wife.

The 26th Congressional district was gerrymandered by the Republicans to include three solidly Democratic areas and wanders aimlessly from Alameda street to the Venice beach, to take in areas with large Negro and Jewish populations.

School Decision Rumor Swamps Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — All the world, it seemed, was waiting Monday for the Supreme Court to decide the constitutionality of racial segregation in the public schools. But it did not.

Last week The Statesman, a newspaper published by Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, had said that the high court would hand down its ruling. The tribunal, according to the article, would outlaw segregation.

Georgia has made plans to abolish its public school system if separate schools for white and Negro pupils are held to violate the Constitution.

When Jim Crow Is Not Jim Crow

avenue stations since he had been chief? No, again, intoned the chief. But he came right back in the next breath to say that there was nothing racial about the fact.

See what we mean?

And the chief was just as rockribbed about transfers.

Firemen at the two Central Avenue stations are assigned only back and forth between those two stations, he explained.

No Transfers

And what happened when Negro firemen asked for transfers to other stations in the latter part of 1953? Why, said the chief blandly, such transfers were refused solely because of "outside intercession" which was against Department rules and regulations.

Nor had the chief ever heard that Deputy Chief Frank Rothermel had said that no Negro would ever be assigned to work at a station with white firemen. (Depury Rothermel made the statement at a dinner when the controversy over assignments was first opened.)

The chief's hurt resentment against "outside intercession" boiled down to the fact that he thought that all was sweetness and light in his department with Negro firemen perfectly satisfied with Jim Crow arrangements until the NAACP stepped in and got them all riled up.

In response to an inquiry as to whether it was by design or accident that all Negroes serving in fire stations were in the Central avenue stations, Anderson replied:

He Approves

"It is not by accident. The practice has my complete approval and consent and no one has imposed the policy on me."

The fire chief depicted himself as making assignments only for the best interests of all the people.

No questioning or re-phrasing of questions could elicit a straight forward answer that racial segregation does exist in the Fire Department or that race is a factor in either assignments or transfers of men.

Every time the fact that racial segregation does exist was intruded in the lengthy hearing the chief smothered that fact beneath a flow of words apparently designed to prove that there was neither policy nor design in the segregation which does not exist by "accident."

Racial segregation has existed in the Fire Department from the first time Negroes were employed with Negro firemen segregated in particular stations and with all Negro officers assigned to those two stations.

Ike Is Still Wrong

President Eisenhower's reiteration of his opposition to federal fair employment legislation probably kills the last faint hope that the Republicans might enact such a law at this session of Congress.

The president's opposition was pitched on his now familiar and oft repeated statement that civil rights problems should be met without threat of federal law.

That was the president's theme song during his campaign. Whenever he dealt with the issue he said that the states should meet and deal with the problem. He said that he believed they would. He even went further and said that in the event of his election he would convoke a gathering of state executives to urge them to act on civil rights.

Since the 1952 election numerous state legislatures have met. Not one of them has passed fair employment legislation. In Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and California members of the president's own party defeated attempts to enact FEPC statutes, and, of course, the Dixiecrats who threw their weight behind the president in the 1952 campaign didn't even consider any such laws.

Nor has the president convoked the gathering of state governors that he promised would be called to ponder the civil rights questions. He hasn't even mentioned the matter since he got to the White House.

With one exception, gains made in civil rights during the Eisenhower administration have come from completion of actions begun during the Truman regime. The Supreme Court has upheld the District of Columbia civil rights law but Truman appointees began that action. Attorney General Brownell urged the Supreme Court to invalidate grade school segregation but Democratic attorneys general blazed that path and Brownell merely followed in their footsteps. There have been gains in the armed forces but that program was begun under Truman and against the best judgment of the then General of the Armies Eisenhower who told a congressional committee that integration wouldn't work in the army. The sole exception was the ordered end of segregation in schools on army posts where the president did act in a forthright manner.

The lack of civil rights gains is directly traceable to the myopic view of the president that the issue is the property of the states and not the federal government. That viewpoint is directly opposite to the directive written into the Fourteenth Amendment by its Republican framers. Those men knew that the southern states wouldnt' protect the rights of Negroes. They said so over and over again in the debates on the War Amendments. They wrote those Amendments in order to give Congress the right to act. They laid such a duty on Congress.

If the president wants to learn first hand just how reluctant the states are to act, all he has to do is to call the governors into session and urge such men as Byrnes, Talmadge and White to propose civil rights codes to their legislatures. If he really believes that the states are ready to remove ancient inequalities based on race and color the answers he will get at such a meeting will give him the shock of his life.

Not Enough Action

An analysis of 180 labor contracts by the Department of Industrial Relations shows that some 72,000 of 294,000 workers in California industries covered by these agreements were protected by union contracts against discrimination because of race or color. An additional 62,000 are protected against discrimination because of age. These figures are probably a fair sample of what's going on in our state.

The overwhelming majority of those protected against color discrimination by union contracts are in the aircraft and parts industry where the United Automobile Workers of CIO has taken the leadership.

In terms of percentages the figures show that only nineteen per cent of California workers sampled in this survey have the advantage of union contracts which protect them against color prejudice and discrimination.

We are sure that these figures show a tremendous gain over similar figures in 1944 but it seems to us that they also indicate that unions haven't moved as fast as they should in this field.

The overwhelming majority of unions, with the exception of the unspeakable Railroad Brotherhoods, are on record against racial and color discrimination in employment. Many of them, most of them, are quick to speak out on legislative issues where racial prejudice or discrimination are factors.

However, the unions can, and should, do some of their most effective work at the point of contract negotiation. There they cannot only bind their employers not to practice discrimination but they are in a position to see that the agreement is carried out.

Laws against discrimination are very necessary in our social order. Voluntary action is equally necessary and effective if we are to attain our goal of a democratic society in which every man stands the equal of his fellows.

A Cabinet Post

The appointment of J. Ernest Wilkins as assistant secretary of labor is an important one in that it recognizes the principle that race is an irrelevant factor in the choice of governmental servants.

Mr. Wilkins bears a deserved reputation throughout the nation for honesty, integrity and devotion to what he considers standards of good [illegible]

Nobody can question his ability as demonstrated by his career as a [illegible] in Chicago. His service in [illegible] public positions makes it certain [illegible] will work hard to do a [illegible] job in his new position.

[illegible] questions of whether Mr. Wilkins is particularly suited for the [illegible] assistant secretary of labor is a [illegible] question. He has not been [illegible] labor matters and his views on such issues as the Taft-Hartley act and the rights of labor organizations are unknown. As a professional man he has not been a large employer of labor. Certainly, he has his work cut out for him as he assumes his position in the midst of this controversial period in our history.

All in all, Mr. Wilkins' designation is consistent with the administration's policy in cabinet appointments. He is a middle-of-the-roader who can be expected to hew to the line of trying to mollify both sides and who has neither bitter enemies nor devoted followers in either the camp of labor or business.

We are certain that Mr. Wilkins will make a record that will nail down the point that race has nothing to do with the willingness or ability of a man to serve the people, according to his own lights, in a conscientious manner in government service.

The Big Sea

By Lester Bailey

LAS VEGAS—All that glitters here is not as golden as the local Chamber of Commerce would have you believe. Behind the lights of this neon nugget in the great American desert the shadow of Jim Crow follows everything a Negro may do or attempt to do in this famous, or infamous, resort city.

Lester Bailey

Hotels, motels, restaurants and places of recreation open to the white public practice a general policy of racial discrimination as unabashedly as do they conduct their main item of business, legalized gambling.

Free to Discriminate

In the absence of any law demanding exclusion or segregation of Negroes or a civil rights statute protecting the rights of Negroes to access and equal treatment in places of public accommodation, the hotel, motel or restaurant owner is free to follow his personal whims as to whether or not he will serve or offer lodging to people who happen not to be white.

Ninety-nine and forty-four one hundreths of the licensed business men here have freely succumbed to the whim of racial discrimination. In this "Mississippi of the West," no group or organization, other than the local NAACP, seems to want to do anything to disturb this vicious pattern.

Upon entering the city via U. S. Routes 466 and 91 from Los Angeles, one is met with the spectacle of the multi-million dollar "strip" where equally fabulous neon signs display such great names in the entertainment world as Horace Heidt, Billy Daniels, Frank Sinatra, Tallulah Bankhead, Eartha Kitt, Howard Keel and the Ink Spots.

Attention B'nai B'rith

While not all of these people can be accused of being champions of civil rights, it seems that we would hear some vocal expression from at least one or two when they discover that they are performing to the music of "Let The Band Play Dixie." Any Negro attempting to enter the Sands, the Last Frontier, the Sahara, the Thunderbird or any other strip spot would be given the choice of fighting the Civil War or hoisting the white flag of surrender and defeat.

Since credit lines are in order, I suggest that if the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith would look into the matter of ownerships and partnerships in lily-white Las Vegas, they would find certain members of a religious minority practicing Jim Crow against members of another minority.

Jim Crow Everywhere

The pattern extends into the areas of employment and housing, both private and public. The builder of all-white Lakewood Plaza near Long Beach, the Aldon Construction Co, has just completed its latest monument to Jim Crow in Las Vegas. The new units were put up for sale, to white families only.

The Southern Area NAACP Council, comprised of 22 California chapters and the Las Vegas Branch, meeting here last week-end, initiated action that may well raise the lid on this whole mess of un-American pottage. The U. S. Atty. General, Herbert Brownell, was requested to investigate the widespread segregation in housing built with federal funds.

'Keep Negroes Out'

A "keep the Negroes out" group has been formed in North Las Vegas at the suggestion of the local chairman of the Planning Commission in that city.

Their immediate objective is that of barring occupancy of newly constructed public housing by Negro G. I.'s and defense workers stationed and employed at nearby Nellis Air Base. The Negroes are determined to move in and the band of misguided white citizens is equally determined that "they shall not pass."

The Southern Area NAACP also called upon the American Public Welfare Association, an organization of social workers, not to hold their proposed annual conference in Las Vegas. Local businessman have flatly stated that they will not house, feed or offer recreational facilities to Negro delegates.

Let us all pray or sing "God Save America" from some of its own people.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

What do you do when a respected friend asks you, with the best spirit in the world, to join in a movement to restore London's Westminster Abbey, "as the great symbol of Anglo-American freedom?"

Lester Granger

My friend's letter pointed out that "the combined ravages of nine centuries of exposure and the bursting bombs of the London Blitz have weakened and marred the structure and stone work of the Abbey and make its restoration imperative if it is to continue" as such a symbol.

The letter went on with considerable eloquence to urge me to become one of a sponsoring group of Catholics, Protestants and Jews, who would mark "another milestone of progress toward tolerance" by helping to raise $300,000 for a restoration fund.

'Freedom' in Africa

I responded to my friend's letter promptly, and in the negative. "Because of my great respect for you," I wrote, "I am answering your letter regarding the Westminster Abbey project with complete frankness. The Abbey is, as you say, a symbol of 'Anglo-American freedom,' but to me it is also a symbol of the limitation placed upon that freedom by the British Empire.

I think of Kenya and the brutal practices employed by the British government against the native people there, practices which disgrace the very concept of a modern government.

"I think of South Africa and the emergence of a new Fascist state within the British Empire. I think of Rhodesia and the sly perpetuation of colonial exploitation under another name.

"With these thoughts in the background," I concluded, "I am sure that you can understand my feeling about restoring 'the great symbol of Anglo-American freedom'."

No Answer

I haven't heard from my friend again. It's entirely possible that I shan't—that he'll consider me a narrow-minded, chauvinistic sort of a chap who insists on dragging the race issue into questions of art and architectural history.

And it's entirely possible that he's right—as long as the concept of Freedom is mixed up with art and architecture. It's one thing to contribute money to preserve a historical relic.

Freedom for Whom?

It's quite something else again to contribute to preserving this relic as a symbol of freedom of any sort. Then we've got to ask the question: What sort of freedom—and for whom?

There's no good in whipping the dead horse of British imperialism. As a world colonial power Great Britain was no worse than her Dutch, French, Portuguese and Spanish rivals—and better than most of them. She wiped out slavery in her colonies before this country did here at some. In some of her colonial holdings Britain brought a limited education to the native peoples; she gave limited self-government.

50 Years Behind

But the fact still remains that today Britain is 50 years behind the march of history. Her policies in parts of Africa are providing a lush feeding ground for communism and confusion—are a disservice to the cause of freedom.

This is a most unfortunate time to approach American Negroes with a proposition to help restore "the great symbol of Anglo-American freedom." And that's why I answered as I did, because my friend needed reminding that Freedom is not that simply described.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

APPOINTMENTS CHEER KAPPAS

Members of Kappa Alpha Psi Greek letter fraternity are doubtless pleased to note that two of their past national presidents have been honored by the Einsenhower administration at Washington. We would like to give you some further information on both of them.

Archibald Alexander, who was recently appointed Governor of the Virgin Islands, is a very successful architectural engineer. Alexander is a graduate of Iowa University, and although Negroes were shy of entering his field at the time, Mr. Alexander won honors in so doing and, upon graduating, was given his first job on the campus of his Alma Mater. He is a lifelong Republican.

Leon Steward

Archie, as he is called by his friends, built some of the largest bridges and roads in Iowa and in the United States.

Most Famous Job

He built the bridge across the Tidal Basin near Pittsburgh, which is doubtless his most famous job. This beautiful highway serves as a gateway to the South and travelers use the new Chesapeake Bay Bridge to avoid the congestion of traffic in Baltimore and Washington. Alexander lives in Des Moines and has a partner, Byron White. He also built a 150-unit housing project on the old Frederick Douglass estate. He has promised to turn it over free of debt within a few years.

Athletic History Made

During his college days Archie Alexander was quite a football player. When the Iowa football team visited Missouri University for a game and the Missouri team protested Alexander's playing, his team left the field, packed baggage, left for home without playing and has not yet returned to that school.

How do you think he came to the attention of the president? He has been a heavy contributor to Republican finances. Recently his university honored him with a doctorate degree. Not long ago he was one of a small group invited to one of a series of Eisenhower's stag dinners. It was here that he met the president. Among his supporters in high places are Senator Hickenlooper, Congressman Cunningham, Val J. Washington and Perry Howard of the National Republican Committee.

Meet J. Ernest Wilkins

Atty. J. Ernest Wilkins, whom the president has nominated as vice chairman of the Labor Committee, father of three sons, is noted for his example as a model father and husband who never drinks, swears nor gambles, but who is a man's man if there ever was one. While at Northwestern University he played on the school's baseball team and won a Phi Beta Kappa key in mathematics.

However, when his boys were little fellows he took them to Sunday School and became the superintendent of the Junior Department while they were growing up. A Methodist, Wilkins was one of the nine men nominated by the Council of Bishops and elected by the great General Conference of the Methodist Church.

For 25 years J. Ernest Wilkins was the national secretary of Kappa Alpha Psi. When that fraternity met in Los Angeles in August 1947 he was elected national president and his oldest son, J. Ernest Wilkins Jr., was chosen to succeed his father as national secretary.

Mrs. Wilkins has been a school teacher and has been as active in her sorority as her husband has been in his fraternity. She is a past national president of the A.K.A. sorority.

Bishop Jordan to Speak Here Sunday

Dr. Fred E. Stephens, minister at Ward African Methodist Episcopal Church, 1177 W. 25th street, announced this week that Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, former pastor of the church, had returned from Central Africa and would be the guest minister at Ward this Sunday morning.

Bishop Jordan, last April, was refused entrance by the Governments of both Central and South Africa, which constitutes his area of supervision. However, using both church and government contacts, Bishop Jordan succeeded in obtaining a visa for a severely limited trip to both Southern and Northern Rhodesia. He reached Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, just before the end of the year, and held two Annual Conferences; two Missionary Conventions; visited a number of churches; dedicated a new church building; ordained a number of ministers, and baptised several candidates.

Speaking of his visit, Bishop Jordan said, "My most significant achievement, it seems to me, is the success of our diplomatic contacts. After congenial conferences with the Prime Minister of the new Central African Federation, Cabinet Officers, and members of Parliament, I came home with written permission to re-enter Central Africa and remain for one year—with the privilege of requesting an extension at that time. This assures the Church full opportunity to pursue its work in this area while it continues negotiations with the Union of South Africa on the problems incident to the operation of the Church there."

Mrs. Artishia W. Jordan, former vice-president of the United Council of Church Women of Southern California, an earnest Missionary worker, who accompanied her husband to Africa, will speak to the Ward Sunday School at 9:30 Sunday morning.

Music for the 10:45 service will be rendered by the Senior and Gospel choirs, and will include "Inflamatus" by Rossini, Miss Cecile Buchanan, soloist. Guest soloist will be Mr. Louis A. Johnson, formerly with the De Pour's Infantry Chorus, singing "Deep River" by Bureleigh.

GET YOUR COPY EARLY—The Eagle's 74th anniversary edition will be a history of your club, your church, your community and your paper. Be sure to get your copy early. On the stands March 25.

St. Vincent De Paul Society Completes Quarterly Meet At the Holy Name Church

Almighty God raises His saints in all walks of life, His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre told members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society at their quarterly breakfast meeting last Sunday in Holy Name parish hall, Jefferson Blvd. and Cimmaron St.

As examples, he pointed to St. Vincent de Paul, who rose from an extremely poor family, and St. Thomas Aquinas, who came from a wealthy family.

Yet, today, these great saints remain outstanding exponents in the Catholic Church—St. Vincent for charity, St. Thomas for learning.

Earlier the Cardinal had celebrated 9 a.m. Mass for members of the Aquinian Club, which comprises Catholic school teachers, at Our Lady Chapel. It was the feast day of St. Thomas.

At the St. Vincent meeting, His Eminence said, "St. Vincent's was a homey type of charity, close to the people. His motives were spiritual. Thus, the St. Vincent de Pall Society today is a nucleus of good in the community.

They recognize that their fellows and neighbors all are created in the image and likeness of God. They follow in the footsteps of the Divine Master in doing good works for the poor, the sick and the needy.

"My hope and prayer is that your work will grow and flourish not only in Los Angeles, but throughout the world. True charity is the only concept that will bring substantial peace."

The Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop, celebrated Mass for Vincentians at 7:30 a.m. at Holy Name Church. Sermon was preached by Rev. Daniel Sweeney, pastor. Some 250 members representing 45 conferences of the Society attended the breakfast meeting.

Appellate Court Justice Thomas P. White, Society president, presided. A review on Vincentian activities was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James E. Dolan, vice-president and spiritual director.

Attending Vincentians and guests were truly amazed at the spacious modern beauty of Holy Name Church, which was completed in 1952. It unquestionably is one of the finest in Los Angeles, and that its men's and women's organizations are active was very evident. Thirty-nine nationalities are represented in the membership, it is said.

'Jesus and Hope' Sermon Topic At CME Church

Dr. Norris S. Curry, Pastor of Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church, spoke to a capacity house at 10:45 a.m. on last Sunday. His sermon topic was "Jesus and Hope." Dr. Curry emphasized Jesus Christ as man's hope in hopeless situations.

Hope, he said is a certain kind of man in the role of certain expectations. Folowing the message the Holy Communion was given. The music was rendered by a 62 voice choir, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie M. Bell with Mrs. Eunice Blackwell at the organ, and Mrs. Delores Taylor at the piano.

Phillips Temple CME Church located at 971 East 43rd Street, will begin its "More Space For Better Service" building program with ground breaking for unit 1 of a three unit proposed construction Sunday. The cost of the unit 1, the educational building, is $120,000.

Sunday afternoon the Volunteers Club will be celebrating its 16th Anniversary. Dr. E. I. Robinson will be the guest speaker. Mr. Elihue Sloan and Miss Buma Floyd will be guest soloist. This is a "More Space For Better Service" project. The Public is invited to attend this service, along with any other service.

Sports Roundup

THE HOME RUN PARADE—

BERKELEY — Four sepia baseballers broke into the home run column in their maiden major league spring practice outings over the week-end. They were Injuns Larry Doby and Dave Pope, the Philadelphia A's Vic Power and the NY Giants pride and joy Willie Mays.

The Injuns' rookie Dave Pope clouted two round-trippers. . . . Mays, who is fresh out of the Army, is literally being boomed in the big tent as the Giants' one-man team. . . . Cal's Darius Moreland, perhaps the best Negro gymnast on the Coast, placed first in the Free Exercise against Stanford Saturday. The ex-Jeff student is the brother of Agnes Moreland, one of the most illustrious Jeffersonians of 'em all.

Is Jim Willard the first Jeff High boy to make an Oxy athletic squad? He's reputed to be a 51-second quarter-miler.

HERE 'N' THERE—

John George, the ex-Cal sprinter, and Guy Blackburn, a current Cal dashman, are contemplating changing their last names to Georgefield and Blackfield, respectively. Two of the world's greatest trackmen—Marvelous Mal Whitfield and Handy Andy Stanfield—they reason have similar monikers and evidently the word "field" must be one of the prerequisites for cinder greatness.

What happened to Illinois' great sprinter Willie Williams? . . . Cal has a boy from Jamaica by the name of Benton Ford who'll undoubtedly be heard from in the sprints and quarter. . . . Bob Tealer, an All-City cager from SF's Mission High, is billed as another Ed Tucker, both scholastically and athletically. He says he would like to attend one of the PCC Southern Division schools when he picks up his sheepskin in June. Tucker is the ex-Compton JC whiz who became the first of the race to win a varsity letter at Stanford U.

PYE'S PICK-UPS—

Pumpsey Green, a rookie shortstop trying out with the Oakland Oaks, has caught the eye of Manager Charlie Dressen. However, he seems destined to wait at least another year before moving up. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

Demos Hot Dash Trio Make Debut

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

Coach Estel Johnson of Jefferson high school isn't telling anyone but it's no secret that this may be the greatest track team in the history of the Hooper street institution. Jefferson will open its season against Jordan Friday.

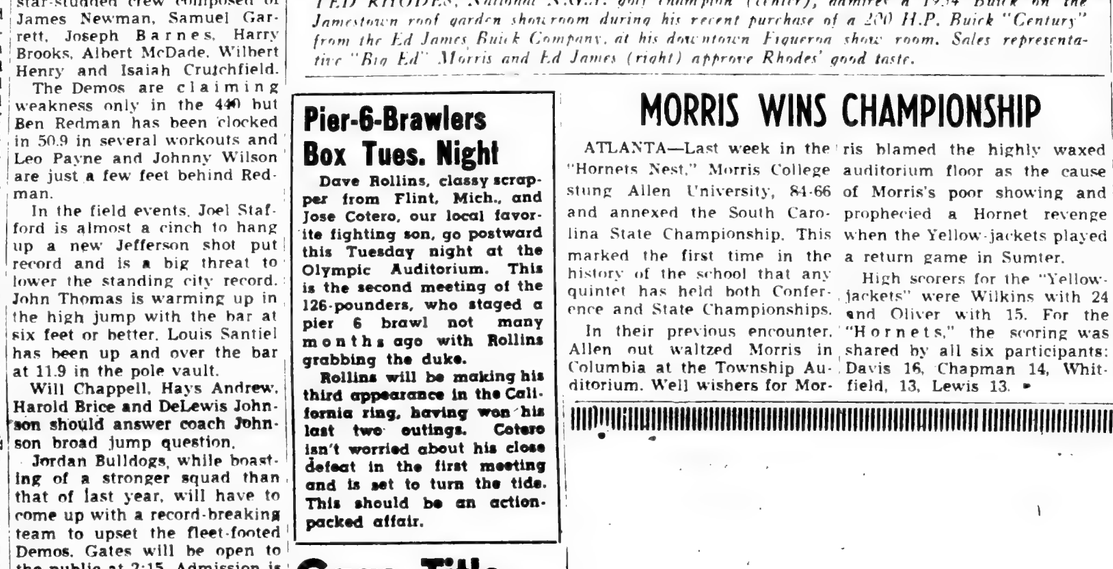
In fact the youthful mentor is so loaded with material that it is being loudly whispered that the Demos are a cinch to capture their sixth straight city title.

Jefferson will field one of the hottest dash trio in the history of the famous school. Early workers have timed Demos sprint prizes in 9.9 for the century, including Joe Winslow, Edward Walters, and Howard Wilhite and if something should happen Henry Cooke can also pick em' and put em' down in a hurry.

In the hurdlers it looks like a clean sweep with Maudice Giles, Will Chappell, Clifford Smart, DeLewis Johnson and Laurence Hawkins all capable of lowering the school's record.

Johnson is boasting one of his strongest distance team in years. James Davis, defending city champion, will lead the star-studded crew composed of James Newman, Samuel Garrett, Joseph Barnes, Harry Brooks, Albert McDade, Wilbert Henry and Isaiah Crutchfield.

The Demos are claiming weakness only in the 440 but Ben Redman has been clocked in 50.9 in several workouts and Leo Payne and Johnny Wilson are just a few feet behind Redman.



In the field events, Joel Stafford is almost a cinch to hang up a new Jefferson shot put record and is a big threat to lower the standing city record. John Thomas is warming up in the high jump with the bar at six feet or better. Louis Santiel has been up and over the bar at 11.9 in the pole vault.

Will Chappell, Hays Andrew, Harold Brice and DeLewis Johnson should answer coach Johnson broad jump question.

Jordan Bulldogs, while boasting of a stronger squad than that of last year, will have to come up with a record-breaking team to upset the fleet-footed Demos. Gates will be open to the public at 2:15. Admission is 75 cents for adults, and students 25 cents. Let's attend every meet and help safeguard Jefferson's good sportsmanship record by not smoking in the grandstands or using obscene language.

Pier-6-Brawlers Box Tues. Night

Dave Rollins, classy scrapper from Flint, Mich., and Jose Cotero, our local favorite fighting son, go postward this Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium. This is the second meeting of the 126-pounders, who staged a pier 6 brawl not many months ago with Rollins grabbing the duke.

Rollins will be making his third appearance in the California ring, having won his last two outings. Cotero isn't worried about his close defeat in the first meeting and is set to turn the tide. This should be an action-packed affair.

Cage Title To So. Park

A last second basket by J. Turner gave the So. Park Playground championship last week.

The victory entitled Coach Joe Lewis' crew to enter the blue ribbon playground basketball classic, the inter-agency tourney which gets underway soon.

Last year, while director of Central Playground, a Lewis-coached team won the tourney and this year Lewis hopes to give So. Park it first inter-agency trophy.

FIRST RING ASSIGNMENT, brings praises from two former world title holders. Ex-featherweight kingpin Chalky Wright and Joe Louis ex-heavyweight ruler. Both agreed that John Thomas did a masterful job on his first ring assignment last week.

MORRIS WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

ATLANTA—Last week in the "Hornets Nest," Morris College stung Allen University, 84-66 and annexed the South Carolina State Championship. This marked the first time in the history of the school that any quintet has held both Conference and State Championships.

In their previous encounter, Allen out waltzed Morris in Columbia at the Township Auditorium. Well wishers for Morris blamed the highly waxed auditorium floor as the cause of Morris's poor showing and prophecied a Hornet revenge when the Yellow-jackets played a return game in Sumter.

High scorers for the "Yellow-jackets" were Wilkins with 24 and Oliver with 15. For the "Hornets," the scoring was shared by all six participants: Davis 16, Chapman 14, Whitfield, 13, Lewis 13.

Collegian City Editor

Sammy Davis is out of business.

For the past four months, this standout basketball player has been on the go collecting points for the conference winning City College cage squad.

A busy little man who has seen action in every game since the beginning of the season, Davis nabbed a berth on the Collegian's All-Western States Conference second team. The agile Davis totaled 241 points for the 28 game season and saw a lot of action in the State Junior College Playoffs last week in Sacramento.

A 5 foot 6 inch whiz, the lightning-like forward was instrumental in a majority of the Cub victories with his top defensive play, jump shots, and lay-ups.

His life didn't begin at college though, for Texas staged the locale for his birth. He left the wide open spaces for smogville early enough to attend Main Street Elementary, John Adams Junior High, and Manual Arts.

Starting his career of basketball in John Adams, Davis was graduated to Manual where he collected three letters for his athletic efforts. Elected captain of the Toiler squad, he made the pre-tournament second team along with a trophy for the pre-tournament championship.

All his honors weren't given for sports though as he was awarded the American Legion Award for outstanding service and honor at Manual and was Knight president for a semester.

Dribbling over the court holds his chief interest, but he has dipped into track and baseball from time to time. As a trackman he went for the hurdles, but found them not as much to his liking as basketball. Baseball also wasn't enough to turn him from the gyms, although he was a pretty fair outfielder.

Making up his mind that he'd never go hungry, Davis picked up the knack of cooking and has turned it into a regular hobby. Almost any dish is straight with him.

With another year of eligibility left, the speedy athlete expects to use it to the best of its advantage with twice as many points and lots of speed for the Cub's fast-break.

UCLA looks pretty good in the future for this physical education major, but as to playing basketball for the Bruins . . . well, he'll wait until the time comes to decide. He is interested in AAU teams though and will possibly join one of the local teams around.

Unless something else comes up, the future athletes of about 1958 should be getting pointers from coach Davis when he finishes school.

With nothing left now in the way of sports until next fall, the versatile Davis will slip into being just the average guy he would like to be, but when the cage season comes around again, look out for City College and Sammy Davis.

Don Newcombe

Don Newcombe, who is glad to have his $25,000-a-year job back after two years in the Army, is being counted on to lead the Dodgers to the National League flag. In Sport magazine, April issue, Newcombe is given the feature spot on the cover and discussed in a story about his return. You will find the sports magazine article one of the best about the big right hander.

Capacity Crowd Hails Zeniths Show

THE ZENITHS SOCIAL CLUB reached stratospheric heights with their star studded Benefit Show that kicked off at twilight last Sunday at the Florentine Gardens. The charitable affair benefited retarded children. Twelve other social clubs rallied to the cause by sponsoring talented show-business newcomers who vied for top honors in a quest for fame. Five prominent men of distinction served as judges. They were actor Barry Sullivan; TV producer Ted Lesser; TV and Radio disc jockey Bill Ballance; actor Bill Walker, songwriter Joe Green and Bill Marx. Pictured at right: A trio of youthful lovelies who shimmied off with first prize are shown with "Moom Picture Star" Barry Sullivan. They were Wilma Ray Green, Doris Carter and Theodell Mimms, who were accompanied by a bongo player known as Bonnie. The group was sponsored by the Ten and Twelve club. Center, above: Shapely Wanda Stasher and handsome Joe Anderson danced away with second place honors and received congratulations from Louise Beavers, M.C. Their sponsors were the "Socialettes." The balance of the program was devoted to the professional guest artists. These gifted people included Liz Jones, Ralph Billingslea, Tommy Butler, Juanita Cruise, Eddie Beal, Helen Humes, Lawrence Stone, Leonard Davis and Charles McNiles; Red Callendar and his stellar quintet provided music for the evening. Lovable Louise Beavers served as mistress of ceremonies. An overflow crowd watched dapper Ishmael Evans, the poultry king, appoint Olympic star Mal Whitfield to present the $50 first prize for the contestants, and Fem magazine publisher Libby Clark give away Atty. Walter Gordon's $25 second place award. Herman "Four Roses" Bruce (above, left) presented the three door prizes while Cristobel "Zenith" Jenkins and Bill Miller congratulated the winners of the door prizes, abundantly supplied by Herman "Four Roses" Bruce. The charm of the Zeniths held sway throughout their festive occasion. And they have given their contemporary social competitors a mark to shoot at. A high mark!—(Photos by Adams Studio)

Tail-end of Those Bay Area Notes: The Dr. Howard Thurmans return to the coast in June for the summer. They'll spend time in L.A. Chi's Sam Waters TWA's in on April 10th for three days in L.A. of fast fun, then flies right back east, in time for Easter in Balto, and additional hell-raisin'. A. Philip Randolph due in Oakland for a NAACP-sponsored rally on March 28th.

The trio of L.A. matrons who dashed off to the Mardi Gras should be training in from their Houston stopover any morning now; I'm sure Esterline Powell, Victorine Bankston and Ruth Lee (she leaves for a N.Y. fling after resting up from N'Orleans) had themselves one ball of a time.

Due on the coast in early April: Lawrence Winters with soprano Adele Addison. Henri O'Bryant due in the Bay area on one of his flying business trips. We glimpsed his double hurrying across the Fairmont Hotel lobby here in S.F., Billy Daniels. He and Henri could be brothers via startling resemblance. (Hear tell Billy is annoyed no end at that current mag article dealing with his divorce!)

Touching tall glasses in S.F. at the distinctive home of the Barney Baquies (Freddye), they send column-wise love to the Dr. Jerene Webbs (Clara). Their brilliant daughter, Sylvia Baquie, finishes her work at UC in June, may travel through Europe this summer on a student grant. Majoring in international law, she may go into law next year.

The Baquies (they've many friends coastwise) are actively engaged right now as business partners in a venture near Sacramento which shapes into a large-order motel. A probable L.A. visitor this summer will be DeeCee school principal — sassiety columnist Vivian Greene. If Viv does cross the Rockies she'll spend her time between the Andy Razafs and Edna McCormick. And Ambia Goodloe too, come to think.

Pasadena's Libby Taylor rounded up some close buddies, had them in to help mark that recent birthday of hers. Pleasant surprise, running into Helen Thomas in the Bay area enroute home to L.A. after a trip east attending a conference. She spent two days in Berkeley, then caught a morning train down the coast. Her entire family, the two grandsons leading the happy vanguard, met her at the station in Glendale.

"I had orders to be sure and get off at Glendale so the two boys could see the train come in," she explained with a chuckle.

Rhoda Kemp's name is mentioned often in the Bay area by old friends from days when she was a Berkeley resident. Mrs. Crystal Leander (she lived in L.A. long ago), enthused at the idea of the approaching celebration of the beginning of the Eagle's 74th year of continuous publication (March 25th), puts aside her eggshell-thin coffee cup and busies herself digging in a scrapbook to see what she can find to possibly send along by us.

The Cholly Towleses (S.F. newcomers, literally bent over from counting their bulging bags of beautiful money) wandered in the auto show, paid cash for a dark green Chrysler Imperial, will drive it down to inspect Toni and Eddie Atkinson's Town Tavern re-opening. Cholly has an eye on an intimate bar in the vicinity of S.F.'s St. Francis Hotel, if you please!

Berti Hathaway learns here that one of her pets, Billy Strayhorn, arrives in S.F. in early April. Then, many scotches and

WEEK-END JOTTINGS

As usual we were late, but we did get in on the final hour of the Zenith's benefit talent show at the Florentine Gardens Sunday eve. Before we could get into the place good we ran "smac dab" (pardon the colloquialism) into lovelies Marge Robinson, the manager of the Watts Cab Company, Juanita Fowler, Laura Henderson, Zebba Houze and Erma Jordan. We were very impressed by what we saw of the show which featured: Wanda Stasher, Larry Stone, Helen Humes, Mary Emma Watson, Gus Patterson and others.

Elaine Bias is expected to come through with one of her fabulous "Pahties" this weekend.

Wilbur Webb and Ruth Thompson are walking down the aisle next month. . . . Whadda you no no no no.

There's talk that Buster Brandon and Shirley Mathews are feeling that way about each other.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

The center aisle march participated in by Julious Boyd and Zelita LaBlanc. We extend best wishes to the best of people.

The Kappas. They are throwing a Kappa Karibbean ball on March the 20th at the Kastle. If you get there on time you might be the winner of a brand new sarong. . . . With Marilyn Monroe in them?

Meharry and Fisk students David Reed and Bette Norman. They've called it quits for good.

Jean Southern, the all American gal. She was viewed by one of our spies (naturally) catching the ballet at the Philharmonic with Harry Drinkwater.

One of Chess Crewford's stellar clients, Lawrence Stone. He brought the house down at the Adventurous Gents "Mardi Gras" dance.

The luck out of town folks have. Gloria Dotson is there (wherever that is).

Local Barrister, Harold Machamps opening of his new "Law Shop" in the south end of town.

Local lovely Joy Gonder's recent marriage to an eastern playboy.

The new twosome of Vanola McHatton and lawyer, Theodore Schaffer.

The fact that we might be hearing Roy Loggins on radio again. Rumors have it that he may soon appear on his own show within the month.

The book of Rue this month. You're right, Laurita Alexander made the back cover this time.

The Whip and Saddle club. They are looking for a place to stage their barbeque affair the 27th.

Meharry student, Marlene Crump who's beau-buddy has flunked out of med school is not looking for a replacement.

Sidney Bennett, who attends the same institution is expecting a little one sometime before Indian summer.

Samuel Blackwoods' excursion to Palm Springs. We understand he made all of the top night spots without any incidents.

The Omega formal. They say it was a unusual Omega affair. (Tweren't aquat).

The Vast amount of diapers purchased by Joann (Riddle) and Thomas Jefferson.

We can truthfully say that Duke Normans' "Just Jazz" concert was the greatest exhibit of progressive artistry this town has ever seen. If you missed it "Honey hush," cause you goofed!

Through the courtesy of one Ross Burdick (Gene's Assistant) we got our big chance to view the proceedings back stage and we made the best of our limited reporting ability to bring you the facts "mam."

Diz (Dizzy Gillespie to the squares) had the crowd "Calling Each Other Madam" when he blew such tunes as "Monteca" and "Million Dollar Baby" and "the Bird" (Charlie Parker to the Cubists) wasn't as wasted as usual and executed with perfection. 'Twas a heck of a concert with Stan Kenton, Lee Konitz, June Christy and Errol Garner rounding out this example of modern rhythms.

Everybody who professed to be a jazz enthusiast was present to blend their tonal qualities with the rest of the screaming mob who sought to force more "modern sound" from the genuises performing for them. The paying public we personally recognized were: Connie White, Berdell Forrest and Barbara Freeman, William Johnson and Elaine DeLavallad, Pat Anderson and Bill Bailey. Bob Oriely, Danny Hood, Betty Brown, Connie and Bobby White, Glen Mallory, Bertha Rosemond, and the girl in the red coat we talked about last week. (Chuck Fielding knows her.)

THE GENTS HAVE CENTS

The financial success of the concert can only be compared with the loot made at the Adventurous Gents "Mardi Gras" ball the other P.M.

several days later, high-tails it on into L.A. Put the pot on, Bert.

Angeleno friends of Eddie Matthews were days learning of the tragedy which took his life in Va. Eddie, prince of good fellows, had a great yen to someday move to the coast, spending time between the Bay area and L.A.

Highlight: We were presented to the Belgian Congo Prince Onago and his beautiful wife, Princess Muane, visiting in S.F. on their current sightseeing tour. An Oxford-educated cosmopolite, the prince had a magnificent printed robe draped over his left shoulder. In flawlessly tailored evening clothes (they were attending the opera when we met), he carried that famous scepter-like stick of albino zebra.

Inside the zebra tail is blood of his father mixed with that of his own symbolizing unbroken royal dynasty.

He wears a bushy black moustache, incidentally. And finds America quite impressive. The princess is truly royal to behold. She's a beauty. Her hair is worn gathered tight back from her forehead and secured by rows of perfect pearls. A single large pearl (glowing!) is worn like a pendant in the middle of her forehead.

Signifying fact her hands must never do any rough work are her graceful long fingers with nails polished a deep rich ruby shade. She has the sure grace, by the way, of a ballerina or an international model. I shall not forget the picture she presented on first glance. I wanted to bow from the waist or kiss her hand or just plain stare.

They are visiting universities as they tour. Me, I'm going to catch a plane and go home for a change.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

One of the most exciting features of contract bridge is slam bidding. There is a thrill and a challenge which is presented by having to take 12 or 13 tricks, which is certainly not present when playing for a humdrum part score contract.

Under the point count system, at least 33 points are needed for a small slam and at least 38 for a grand slam. This is out of a total of 40 points in high cards in the deck.

Slams are usually tried for by a player who has a strong hand and who knows from the bidding that his partner also has a strong hand. The Blackwood Slam Convention is the most common method of slam approach. The asking bid in this convention is four no trump, selected because it is the most unlikely contract in bridge and hence the most easily understood as an asking bid.

Bids at low level which show slam possibilities are jump takeouts and jump raises. Bids such as the following:

One heart—two spades
One club—two hearts
One spade—three spades

Each of these responding bids is forcing to game, and if either side has any extra points a slam may be considered. This is the time to go into convention and find out about those missing aces and kings.

It has been stated that small slams may be bid where the odds are as low as 50-50, where a finesse may be required. The odds must be 2-1 in your favor to try a grand slam, because anytime one bids a grand slm, he sacrifices a sure small slam.

Example:

S. K-x-x-	(3)
H. A-K-x-x-x	(7)
D. x	(2)
C. Q-J-10-x	(3)
	15

Holding this hand you open one heart. Partner bids two spades. You bid three spades to show trump support. If partner does not now try for slam, you should, because you have added values with your singleton diamond.

If partner responds with three hearts or three clubs, a slam try is also in order. If, however, he should bid three diamonds, be careful. Your singleton diamond has ceased to be an added value.

Next week we will have more to say about slam bids. Meanwhile, don't forget our classes every Tuesday evening at the YWCA, 43rd and Woodlawn. The time is 7:30 p.m.

Dr Woods was presented with the group's Finer Womanhood plaque by Mrs. Nellie B. Render, chairman of the year's observance.

Flowers were presented the honoree by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, of which Dr. Woods is president, the Medical auxilliary of which Dr. Woods is also president, and her husband, Dr. James Woods.

Final response on behalf of the group by Mrs. Ferrol B. Starks reviewed the week as both beneficial and successful. Mrs. Starks expressed the appreciation of the sorority for the cooperation of their friends and Mothers in making the celebration a memorable one.

'E-WITNESS TELLS OF ..SANE DAGGER KILLING

— Wields Dagger —

STABBED FRIEND—Mrs. Ruby Walker is charged with the knife killing of her friend Riley W. Gross. Witnesses claim she thrust a dagger into his heart, pulled it out, then thrust it back again.

White Memorial Ordered to Pay In Baby's Death

In one of the largest awards ever granted locally in a case of its kind, White Memorial Hospital on Monday was found guilty of two counts of negligence and ordered to pay $15,000 for the death of a week-old baby.

After a five-day trial, the all-white jury handed down a 9-3 decision in favor of Edward M. Jackson and his wife, Cleopatra Jackson, of 135 W. 84th street, for the death on Dec. 23, 1952, of tiny Linda Gayle.

Fight for $50,000

In their suit, the Jacksons, through Atty. David M. Harney, had charged that the hospital was negligent in discharging the baby, presumably in "excellent" condition when in reality it was in poor health, and secondly for refusing to readmit the infant without payment of an additional $100.

It was learned that there was never any question among the jurymen as to the matter of negligence. On an earlier ballot, eight of the jurymen assertedly agreed to an award of $50,000, but were unable to obtain the ninth vote required. The award finally arrived at was a compromise.

Atty. Wilbur W. McCray, representing the White Memorial Hospital, moved that the verdict be set aside and that the judge rule in favor of the hospital. Judge Haughton set March 29 to hear argument on this motion.

Asked Dismissal

Six doctors took the stand during the lengthy trial. Atty. Harney questioned three of the hospital's physicians—Dr. Vernon Luthas, Dr. Eland Smith and Dr. Amet Zahawi. The hospital called in three additional experts, Dr. Francis Griffith, Dr. A. Stilson, and Dr. M. Rosenwasser.

After two days of testimony, the hospital asked for dismis-

— Job Lines Grow —

HUNTING FOR JOBS—Job lines are growing rapidly, with many Negroes numbered among the unemployed. The picture above was taken Monday morning at the California State Employment Office, 11th and Flower. The same scene is duplicated every day of the week. (For story on legislature action on unemployment insurance benefits, see below.)

Woman Keeps Stabbing Man Through Heart

An eye-witness to the knifing last Friday morning at 55th street and Long Beach boulevard gave the Eagle a lurid description of the desperate fight and the almost maniacal fury with which Mrs. Ruby Walker stabbed Riley W. Gross again and again and still again as he lay bleeding and dying on the pavement.

Mrs. Walker, who was freed in 1950 of the charge of killing her husband, is being held in the city jail for murder.

A Night of It

The fight occurred about 6 o'clock in the morning, after Mrs. Walker and Gross had apparently made a night of it, going from party to party.

The eye-witness, L. C. Ross, owner and operator of the Del Rio Cleaners, 704 E. 55th street, said he saw the two fighting as he came around the corner of 55th street.

"She was trying to cut him with a pocket knife," Ross said, "and finally managed to land the blade in his shoulder.

Hit Her with Bottle

"He hit back, striking her with his fist. Then he reached down and grabbed an empty half-pint bottle and swung once more, hitting her on the side of the head. She dropped the knife, then ran to a parked car and yelled to a woman inside to 'give me the dirk!'" Ross said.

The woman, Ola Mae Weeks, handed her the dagger-like weapon, urging her to "kill him," Ross claimed.

Gross, meanwhile, was trying to make a get-away, with Ross and others yelling after him to "run for his life." But Gross was drunk, and stumbled and hesitated.

Fell to Ground

Mrs. Walker caught up with him about half a block away from the scene of the start of the battle. As she approached, Gross picked up another empty wine bottle and tried to strike her. They fought, Mrs. Walker gripping the dirk in her fist.

Gross slipped and fell to the ground. Mrs. Walker fell on top of him, stabbed him again in the shoulder, then as he lay motionless, thrust the knife through his heart, pulled it out, and thrust it in over and over, Ross said.

Mrs. Walker, who lives at 1714½ E. 55th street, was taken into custody by police. Gross lived at 990½ E. 46th street.

Police Version

The police version of the fight lacked many of the details supplied by Ross. According to their report, Mrs. Walker attempted to cut Gross with a knife, which he knocked from her hand. Then she reportedly got a pair of scissors from her purse. Again Gross disarmed her.

Mrs. Weeks, according to the police, was holding Mrs. Walker's purse, but handed it over. Mrs. Walker took the dirk from the bag and stabbed Gross repeatedly, police said.

Mrs. Walker told police the dirk belonged to Gross, and they were fighting over it. In a later statement she said that he hit her on the head and that she didn't remember very much that happened after that.

Mrs. Walker was tried for

Pasadena Athlete Killed in Car Crash

Pasadena City College football player David C. George was killed, and Brandon A. Bowlin, Jr., badly injured early Sunday morning when their automobile and a police car smashed into each other at the intersection of California street and Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena.

George, Bowlin and Melvin Grant, all three City College students, as well as two policemen, were hurled from their cars and catapulted to the pavement. Following the collision, Bowlin's car skidded 49 feet, jumped the curb, crashed over the sidewalks and hit a metal light standard head-on.

Died in Hospital

George, 17, of 621 Del Monte street, was rushed to Huntington Memorial hospital, where he died two hours later from a skull fracture.

Young Bowlin, 20-year-old son of prominent Dr. Brandon Bowlin, 1480 N. Arroyo blvd., suffered concussion of the brain, chest injury and lacerations of the scalp.

Grant, 18, of 730 W. Howard, escaped with minor bruises and cuts.

Accounts Vary

Cause of the accident has not yet been determined, though accounts of just what happened differ widely. No charges have been preferred against Bowlin, who reportedly was the driver of the car. Police said they were waiting for him to recover from his injuries before taking any action.

Police claim that Bowlin failed to stop at a blinking red light and crashed into the police auto. Others, however, state that the police car was traveling at excessive speed and caused the crash. Pictures taken at the scene of the accident reportedly support this claim.

Families Prominent

The three college youths were driving around from a party and arrived at the intersection around 2 o'clock in the morning. A cab driver witness said they were not driving unusually

'Hasty' Police Officer Kills Fleeing Man

Robert R. Johnson, 34, of 535 Ceres ave., small time narcotics peddler with a burglary record, was shot and killed last week in an alley near Fifth and Stanford streets as he fled from officers who were trying to arrest him. The shooting is the second in the area this year.

Officer F. P. Wellington who fired the fatal shot said that Johnson flashed a knife and tried to cut him during the attempted arrest. Later Wellington said he had been "a little hasty."

Hubert Smith, a witness of 652 Gladys ave., agreed with the police version of the incident and said that he saw the knife in Johnson's hand. John Youngblood of Huntington Park said that Johnson had tried to strong arm him a few minutes earlier.

Wellington said he shouted for the fleeing man to halt and that he fired when the man ignored the warning. The officer told detectives he meant the shot as a warning but that in his haste he fired too low and the bullet caught Johnson in the back of the neck.

J. A. Klepper, Wellington's partner, said they stopped Johnson in the alley for routine questioning. The officers were in a police wagon, picking up drunk and narcotics suspects.

Klepper said he leaned out

File Clerk Denies She Joined Reds

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, government file clerk, who lost her job during the height of a row between Senator Joe McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens denied flatly last week that she "is or ever has been a member of the Communist party."

Her denials came in the face of threats from McCarthy that she faced prosecution for perjury if she denied secretly made charges that she was a Communist.

The witness who branded her a Communist before the McCarthy committee admitted that she had never seen Mrs. Moss and did not know her. McCarthy said he has another unidentified witness who does know her.

Mrs. Moss declared that she knew nothing of communism, that there were three women named Annie Lee Moss in the District of Columbia. Asked whether she knew who Karl Marx was, she replied: "Who's that?"

A Democratic member of the committee, Stuart Symington of Missouri, said, "I may be sticking my neck out, but I believe you're telling the truth."

The spectators cheered. During the questioning the Democratic members gave Counsel Cohn a going over for saying he had corroborating evidence that Mrs. Moss was a Communist but could not produce it. They denounced him for trying to put "heassay" into the record.

Settlement Expected in Suit Against Producer

— Wins $15,000 Award —

HOSPITAL MUST PAY—White Memorial hospital was ordered to pay $15,000 to Edward M. Jackson and his wife, Cleopatra, for the death of their baby in Dec., 1952. The Jacksons are shown with their three-year-old son and their attorney, David M. Harney, left.

Lawyers Meet To Confer Over $100,000 Suit

Top-flight Hollywood producer Arthur Freed, of MGM fame, appeared ready this week to make a settlement in the $100,000 suit brought against him last Wednesday by his self-styled mistress, Mrs. Mary Norris.

The noted attorney, Jerry Giesler, arranged for a meeting with Mrs. Norris' attorney, Xenophon Lang, Wednesday noon. Joseph Greenberg, another lawyer representing Freed, was also to be present.

Although no overtures for an out-of-court agreement were made prior to the meeting, it is highly unusual in such cases for the defendant's lawyer to request a conference unless some arrangement is anticipated.

Filed Wednesday

Mrs. Norris filed suit last Wednesday, accusing Freed of false imprisonment and assault, and asking for $100,000 damages.

In a sworn statement to her attorney, she claimed that she had known Freed intimately for three years, that during the course of that time he had presented her with a Cadillac, a Buick, Kolinsky furs, and a diamond ring, and that on several occasions he had sent her money to enable her to return to Los Angeles.

Freed flatly denied all of Mrs. Norris' allegations, declaring they were "dirty lies" and a "crazy, vicious accusation" constituting a bold-faced attempt at blackmail.

Mrs. Norris claimed that the relationship came to an abrupt halt early in January after she went to see Freed in his office. Two men, who, she said, had concealed themselves during the first part of her visit, fi-

Senate Fight Expected On Pay for Unemployed

SACRAMENTO—In double quick action here Monday the Assembly rushed through a bill boosting unemployment insurance benefits from $25 to $30.

The action, in a highly political atmosphere, snowed under efforts of the employers' lobby to play the old shell game with workers of the state who are unfortunate enough to suffer the hardships of unemployment.

The bill, which was passed by the overwhelming majority of 67-10, was whisked through without any crippling amendments. So swift was the action that Assemblyman Howard K. Levering (R) Los Angeles, who was chief spokesman for the employers' viewpoint, didn't even get around to offering his proposals in definitive form.

When the measure is taken up by the Senate, however, it is almost certain to meet the double-barreled attack from the employers' group.

This attack seeks to knock off the insurance rolls those workers in the lower-paid brackets whose work is seasonal, and who are therefore most in need of the unemployment money.

And, in the second place, they are trying to force workers looking for jobs to take any work that offers for which they are "physically and mentally capable."

As the Eagle has pointed out before, there are many skilled Negroes now working in responsible jobs who at one time

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

TROUBLED WATERS: The political waters of the 63rd Assembly District are boiling as a result of the announcements by Lucius Lomax for the Assembly last week.

James Anderson

Walter Ballou, real estate broker, who was a former State official under Culbert Olsen, has the endorsement of the 63rd Assembly District Council against incumbent Republican G. Delbert Morris. Many Democrats of the District fear that a split democratic vote might elect Morris in the primaries. Lomax did not present his candidacy to the Democratic Council.

THE GRAVES FOR GOVERNOR CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE announced this week the appointment of Dan A. Kimball, President of Aerojet General Corporation, and former Secretary of the Navy under President Truman, as Chairman of the Southern California Graves Campaign Committee. In a statement this week, Kimball enthusiastically endorsed the candidacy of Graves by declaring that "Richard Graves is a man of extraordinary background and vision, well qualified to head the Government of this State." As Executive Director of the League of California Cities, he developed a knowledge of the needs and problems of this state and the people possessed by few men. Kimball further stated that Richard Graves has more than ability and integrity, above all he has warmth and human understanding and a love of people. He is a candidate whom fair - minded people, Republicans and Democrats, can support. In addition to Kimball, Glenn M. Anderson, president of the Democratic Luncheon Club of Los Angeles, is active organizing the campaign committee which will be announced soon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS: George E. Johnson, the Democrat endorsed candidate for State Treasurer, announced the appointment of William Matson Roth of the Matson Navigation Company, as the Chairman of the Northern California Campaign Committee. Roth is President of the San Francisco Council for Civic Unity.

Paul H. Helm and Dr. Kenneth A. Spencer have accepted appointment in the Knight-for-Governor campaign. Helm is Chairman of the Statewide Sports Commitee and Spencer is campaign manager for the Alhambra Area.

The Apartment Hotel and Motel Association of California and the Apartment Association of Los Angeles County have adopted resolutions endorsing Knight for re-election, according to George A. Zaback, President of the Association of Los Angeles County.

Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, Attorney General, accompanied by his wife and family, last week filed for re-election. So far, Brown is without opposition.

Robert E. McDavid, Certified Public Accountant, a Republican, was the first candidate to file for the 4th District Board of Equalization seat now held by William G. Bonelli. McDavid will cross file on Republican and Democratic Tickets.

Atty. Rayfield Lundy, candidate for the 55th Assembly seat against Democratic incumbent Vernon Kilpatrick, appears to be joining his campaign with that of Mildred Younger, Republican candidate for the seat now held by Jack B. Tenney, Republican incumbent.

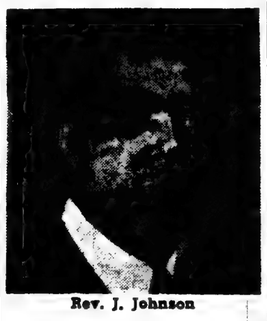
FLASH: Bill Watkins and Al Mills, along with several members of their committee, this week met with Jimmy Roosevelt at a luncheon arranged by the committee. It is reported that Jimmy Roosevelt received the unanimous endorsement of the group present for the 26th Congressional District. The Watkins group is supporting Goody Knight for Governor.

During the next week Dr. H. Claude Hudson, President of the Broadway Federal, will hold a luncheon of community leaders for Edward R. Roybal, Democratic choice for lieutenant governor.

Scoop! It's now official. Paul R. Williams, Dr. Jefferson D. Fowler, B. B. Bratton, Norman O. Houston and Bill Watkins will be the big five coordinating the Southern California Goodie Knight campaign among Negro voters.

We have it from a high Republican official of the 23rd congressional district that Rayfield Lundy will receive the Republican money and organizational support for the Assembly if he gets the endorsement of the Fact Finding Committee of the 55th headed by W. A. Easter.

Giles Enters Congress Race



Leon M. Giles, public accountant, threw his hat in the political ring this week with announcement that he will seek the nomination for Congress from the 26th district. A Republican, Giles will cross file.

Giles has been active in politics since coming to California 18 years ago. He is a member of the National Society of Public Accountants, active with both the Masonic and Elks, a Shriner, member of Frederick M. Roberts Lodge No. 38, and the J. B. Bass Elks lodge. His community activities include service on the O.P.A. Ration Board, Advisory Board, Selective Service, East Side Chamber of Commerce, and others.

He was a candidate for the Assembly in both 1948 and 1952, and has held executive posts in the regular Republican organization both state-wide and local.

Minister Seeks Assembly Post

The Rev. Edgar S. Johnson, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, 950 Hemlock street, announced his candidacy for the assembly from the sixty-second district this week.

Rev. J. Johnson

Rev. Johnson is a native of Texas and has resided in the district 34 years, and is a property owner.

Discrimination Is Condemned By Conference

CARACAS, Venezuela — The 10th Inter-American Conference Monday passed a resolution condemning race discrimination and calling for appropriate measures to abolish such discrimination.

The United State delegation supported the motion, but stated that its operation must be subject to limitations imposed by the Constitution.

The proposal was introduced by the Republic of Panama, after the wife of the president had delivered a ringing denunciation of race bias exported by the United States to South America.

Fire Station Practice Gets Witness' Okay

Assignment of all Negro uniformed firemen to two Central Avenue stations is a "practice" but it is not a "policy."

That was the contribution of Fire Commissioner C. Ralph Rothmund to an attempt by NAACP lawyers to get at the facts of racial segregation in the Los Angeles Fire Department. He testfied Tuesday afternoon before Court Commissioner Clinton Rodda and was questioned by Atty. Edward Maddox.

At last week's hearings, Fire Chief John H. Alderson had testified that although all Negro firemen are assigned to the two stations "race is not a factor" in the assignments. Commissioner W. H. Lollier also took the same tack and only Commissioner Richard K. Yeamans admitted that race was a factor in assignments.

Rothmund said that he had been a fire commissioner since 1946 and that to his knowledge it had been the "practice" to keep all Negroes at the two stations but that it had never been the "policy" of the department to do so.

The depositions were taken on a petition filed by Dr. H. Claude Hudson, vice presdent of the local NAACP, and other taxpayers to halt what they charge is a waste of public funds in the maintenance of segregation.

Last Jan. 7, Mayor Norris Poulson issued a statement in which he said that the Commission had decided to terminate the segregation policy but all commissioners testfied under oath that they had made no such agreement and have no plans for any change in department practices.

L. A. County Conference Gets Aid From Ford

Since its inception seven years ago, the Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations has had the active support of Supervisor John Anson Ford in its far-flung work to promote better human relations and to lessen tensions within the community which grow out of differences of race, creed or color.

From 1948 until the present time Ford has served on the Executive Commitee of the County Conference. From 1948 to 1951 he served as vice-chairman of the Conference and in 1951 for his meritorious service to the community, he was singled out and given a citation.

Before the Conference was created, he was active in the Los Angeles Council for Civic Unity, an organization dedicated to the very thing its name implied. In addition, Ford was responsible for the creation, by the Board of Supervisors, of the Los Angeles County Committee on Human Relations, one of the more than 50 organizations now affiliated with the County Conference.

The congregation took out 167 memberships, and the church itself made a $100 donation.

Impetus was given the opening of the drive by its chairman, Dr. J. F. Evans, who set an excellent example by taking out a $500 life membership.

Report meetings on the progress of the drive are scheduled for every Tuesday night at 8 p.m. at the NAACP office, 4263 S. Central avenue.

Pledge $500,000 In Freedom Fight

WASHINGTON — The campaign of the NAACP to win complete freedom for Negro Americans by Jan. 1, 1963, the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, was formally launched here last Wednesday with Presidential approbation.

Addressing 1,300 delegates from 36 states at the NAACP-sponsored Freedom Fulfillment conference, President Eisenhower extended "good wishes for the prosecution of your work."

Presented by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Board of Directors, the President reiterated his pledge to do his "utmost, whatever the federal authority clearly extends, to bring into reality the ideal of equality among all men."

In pursuit of this goal, he said "great progress has been made" in two areas—the armed forces and the District of Columbia. "In not all cases have the full results been achieved, but we are still trying."

Reaffirms Lincoln Creed

"I believe most sincerely in the statement of Lincoln that this nation was 'dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.'" the President affirmed. "I believe with the authors of the Declaration of Independence that men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; and furthermore, I believe that the vast majority, the great mass of Americans, wants to make those concepts a living reality in their lives. . . . They do not want to make differentiations among peoples based upon inconsequential matters of nature involving color and race."

Other speakers were: Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director, Trusteeship Division of the United Nations; Senator Herbert Lehman of New York; and NAACP officials, Arthur B. Spingarn, president; Kelly Alexander, president, North Carolina State NAACP; Walter White, executive secretary; and Franklin H. Williams, NAACP West Coast regional director. Messages from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Paul Hoffman and the Rev. John Haynes Holmes were read by Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator.

Pledge Half Million

The delegates made commitments to raise this year more than $500,000 in the Association's drive to raise a million dollars annually.

Spingarn recounted substantial gains made since 1909 when the NAACP was conceived, which "have been made largely due to the unrelenting, uncompromising and insistent struggle of our Association."

Senator Lehman departed from his prepared text to tell the audience that his FEPC had been favorably reported out of the Senate Labor Committee that morning. He warned, however, that this step by no means assures victory for the bill to provide equality of job opportunity.

Legislators Join Plea to Save Wells

SACRAMENTO — In an almost unprecedented move, 13 Assemblymen, Republicans and Democrats, jointly appealed to Gov. Goodwin Knight to spare the life of Wesley Robert Wells, sentenced to die in San Quentin's gas chamber April 9.

Spearheaded by Assemblymen Augustus F. Hawkins, and Byron Rumford of Oakland, the group met with the governor, and together with Philip Wilkins, one of Wells' attorneys, urged Knight to grant executive clemency to the condemned man.

Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for Governor, on Tuesday joined the swelling list of state leaders urging clemency.

In a telegram to Gov. Knight, he declared: "I do not believe his crime justifies his execution . . . I urge these actions in the interest of American Justice."

On Friday of this week, a Los Angeles delegation headed by the Rev. A. A. Peters, chairman of the recent Citizens Emergency Conference, will personally visit Gov. Knight, and ask for the commutation of the sentence.

Studying Clemency

On March 12, Governor Knight told newsmen he was studying the question and wrestling with the problems involved in the appeal. He said he had received "quite a few letters" objecting to clemency, as well as thousands of petitions in his favor.

On March 9, a total of 51,169 signatures on a petition asking clemency were presented to Governor Knight's secretary.

Must Not Die

The Assemblymen, in addition to Hawkins and Rumford, were:

Edward Elliott (D., Los Angeles), John Evans (R., Los Angeles), Vernon Kilpatrick (D., Los Angeles), Lester McMillan (D., Culver City), Charley Lyon (R., Beverly Hills), Richard McCollister (R., Sonoma County), S. C. Masterson (D., Richmond), Carley Porter (D., Compton), Montivel Burke (R., Alhambra), Clayton Dills (D., Gardena), and Francis Dunn (D., Oakland).

"All of these men," declared Hawkins, "have written and conferred with both Governor Knight and former Governor Warren before on this case.

"We also believed that a Legislative delegation composed of men who are poles apart in their political thinking on other issues, combining in a collective appeal for Wells might bring home to the Governor the real thinking of citizens throughout the state, who regardless of race, creed or economic status have joined in one great plea: Wells must not die."

Las Vegas Loses Convention Due to Race Bias Policies

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—This city was hit hard where it hurts most—in its pocketbook—this week, when the Western Region of the American Public Welfare Association cancelled its scheduled September conference here because of the rigid jim-crow policies which exist throughout Nevada.

The action came after officials of the NAACP called the attention of the welfare group to the segregation pattern of the local community, pointing out the humiliation this would cause Negro delegates.

Segregated Facilities

The southern area NAACP council, comprised of Las Vegas and 23 California cities, by resolution at an executive committee meeting here two weeks ago called upon the APWA to "move its western region annual conference from the State of Nevada to some other western city and state where all delegates, regardless of race, color or national origin, may meet and hold sessions in an atmosphere in keeping with the letter and spirit of our American democracy."

The NAACP charged that segregated housing and eating facilities were being set up for Negro delegates to the Las Vegas conference. It was learned that the local Red Cross had made its quarters available for feeding Negro social workers. Housing was reportedly being sought among local Negro families.

Refused Lodging

Hotel Last Frontier, headquarters for the APWA conference, had agreed to serve Negro delegates at a banquet where Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, cabinet member, was to have been main speaker. However, the management of the Last Frontier refused lodging accommodations to non-white delegates.

"Other than the banquet and similar isolated instances of 'temporary integration,' Negro delegates to the APWA conference would have been subjected to all of the humiliating racial bias for which Las Vegas has become internationally infamous," Lester Bailey, NAACP field secretary, stated following the cancellation of the conference.

Bailey further stated that "all national and West Coast business, civic, social, fraternal and labor organizations and associations will be requested not to schedule future conferences or conventions in Las Vegas or anywhere else in jim-crow Nevada."

shooting her husband in February, 1950. She claimed that she and her husband had been tussling over a gun and that the gun went off. She was found not guilty.

She was arrested several times on vagrancy charges in Oklahoma, and in 1948 served 75 days in the county jail here for assault with a deadly weapon. She was arrested again in 1953 for assault and robbery, but both charges were dismissed.

Brown Held Without Bail For Murder

(NPB)—James Boyd "J.B." Brown, long reputed kingpin in illicit narcotics operations and gambing circles throughout the west coast, was ordered held to answer charges of murdering stool-pigeon Frank J. "Sleepy" Stafford to prevent him from testifying against him.

Brown's bail was revoked and he was thrown into jail to await arraignment on the murder count. The hearing has been set for March 29 at 9 a.m.

No Proof

"Sleepy" was shot in the back two weeks ago as he stepped from his home, 1136 E. 27th street. Before he lost consciousness, he murmured: "Brown did it." The killing occurred only a short time before "J.B." was scheduled to appear for a retrial on the charge of selling narcotics.

Atty. Walter Gordon, representing Brown at Monday's hearing before Municipal Judge Kenneth L. Holiday, stoutly declared that the court had no basis for further proceedings against his client in connection with Stafford's death, and argued that nothing had been established to prove that "J.B." should be held for the crime.

Held Sufficient

During the hearing, Gordon also injected the name of Jesse M. Brown, another man whom Stafford had "fingered," to show what he called the "loose and disconnected reasoning" of the prosecution in an effort to link the name of Brown conclusively "with his client."

The D. A., however, maintained that Stafford's dying words were sufficient to constitute probable cause for holding Brown to answer.

Judge Holiday, admitting that in a court trial evidence must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, said: "In preliminary courts of this nature, however, it is only necessary to show probable cause for the court to hold the defendant for trial."

Trial By Committee

If anybody doubts the harm done by the investigating methods pursued by Senator Joe McCarthy he has only to take a look at the case of Annie Lee Moss.

Mrs. Moss is, or was, employed by the War Department.

Senator McCarthy got in a row with Secretary of the Army Stevens and in what appeared to be an obvious effort to hit back at the enemy he charged that Mrs. Moss was once a member of the Communist Party and that she was employed in a sensitive position where she had access to secret codes. His information came from an informer.

Mrs. Moss was promptly suspended.

It turns out that Mrs. Moss' work does not give her access to secret codes at all. She is just a run-of-the-mill clerk.

Worse than that, Mrs. Moss has appeared before the Committee and denied categorically that she is now or ever was a member of the Communist Party.

Of course, her denial doesn't disprove the charge. Nor does the fact that the charge was made prove its truth.

The traditional American way is that when charges are made the accused is given an opportunity to meet and refute them. If that burden is met the accused is absolved.

McCarthy has inverted the process. An accusation is made. The accuser may make the charges in secret. The accused is named in blazing headlines and more often than not loses his job.

When the accused finally gets his chance to enter his denial his case has disappeared from the headlines and even if he is finally cleared few people know it.

Mrs. Moss' case is in point. Her name blazed in the headlines while she was on the Committee pan. Two weeks later the news of her denial was buried on the back pages. All that most people will ever remember about her case is that she was once named as a Communist who had burrowed into the War Department. She will be branded a traitor in their memories.

There was nothing in the Moss case that required the frenzied headlines, the hasty dismissal or the thorough discrediting that was visited on her. The War Department could have investigated the matter with the aid of the FBI and if she was in fact a security risk she could have been, and should have been, fired. If not, she could have been cleared.

We are sliding toward a point where a charge made against a person in a Congressional committee hearing is accepted as evidence of guilt. This is the same procedure that obtains behind the Iron Curtain where there are no guarantees of due process or fair trial.

Of course the nation needs to protect itself against the threat of Communist aggression and from the danger of internal subversion, but we won't accomplish anything if we turn our country into a totalitarian nation in the name of protecting ourselves from totalitarianism.

What's Creeping Now?

Mayor Norris Poulson has just taken a close look at our public housing program and has been convinced that it is meeting the need for which it was created.

In fact, His Honor says that the Public Housing Authority is doing a good job and that the same thing goes for Howard Holtzendorf, public housing director.

These observations are hardly news to readers of the Eagle. We said just that as loudly and as pointedly as we could while Mr. Poulson was running around like crazy calling public housing 57 different varieties of creeping socialism.

We also said, as did a good many thousands of other citizens, that we needed the 4000 public housing units that were lopped off after Mr. Poulson took office.

Mr. Poulson isn't the only one-time opponent of public housing who has had occasion to change his tune an iota or two. Consider the case of Albert Cole, present Federal Housing Administrator. During his stay in Congress, Mr. Cole never lost an opportunity to inveigh against the evils of building public housing for low-income groups. He, too, thought the whole business was a bad case of creeping socialism, or worse.

Mr. Cole has changed his tune since taking office under the Eisenhower administration. He has been saying since that time that we had to have a measure of such housing. He even asked the present Congress to up the number of units contemplated.

Maybe the day will come when our mayor will ask the Council to restore those 4000 public housing units.

Cure Yourself, Doctor

Secretary of State Dulles had to sit in the Caracas conference and listen to a series of charges by the Republic of Panama that our democracy creaks at the joints a little. Worst of all, the charges were true. Panama's representative made the charge in pointing to our disgraceful Jim Crow system which we enforce in the Canal Zone.

Details of that segregation system revolve around the separate but equal racket which is enforced in places of public accommodation. The United States insists on two kinds of facilities: "gold" for the whites, "silver" for the non-whites.

There is absolutely no excuse for this state of affairs. Latin Americans don't want and never have wanted any such system of racial discrimination. It was imposed by the United States.

We're sure that Secretary of State Dulles can tell all of us now that it is pretty difficult to try to sell democracy to Latin America while we're peddling Jim Crow at home and abroad.

People are a little suspicious of the doctor who can't treat his own malady.

Change The Route

Reasons urged by West Side property owners against the construction of a freeway that would follow the proposed 21st street route seem to us to make good sense.

Floyd Covington, with long experience in housing matters gained in service with the Urban League and Federal Housing Administration, joined with Attorney Bernard Jefferson to stress the fact that displaced Negro property owners have a far harder time of it than white property owners who find themselves displaced by public improvements.

The nub of their argument was summed up in Detroit recently by Federal Housing Administrator Albert Cole when he pointed out that "the housing economy has not been a free economy for the Negro. . . . If he finds a house he can buy, he must pay more than the normal market price for it—simply because he isn't free to compete on the market."

Any projected improvement, no matter how badly needed, ought to take the Negroes' plight into account. The Negro home owner is not responsible for the fact that, to quote Mr. Cole, "he isn't free to compete on the market." Certainly, Negroes should not be penalized for a situation over which they have no control and which they wish did not exist. A new route should be found for the freeway.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

STRONG WORDS AT CARACAS

Mrs. Cecilia Panel de Remon tossed everything but the kitchen sink into the faces at the United States delegation at the Caracas, Venezuela, Inter-American Conference, but she did it so much like a perfect lady that there was really nothing that our representatives could do about it. Especially since she is the wife of the President of the Republic of Panama, which for obvious reasons is of enormous strategic importance to the refense of this country.

Lester Granger

Mrs. de Remon was speaking to the point of Communist conspiracies in the Western Hemisphere. She left no doubt in anyone's mind about where she and her husband's government stand and the question of Communist aggression and infiltration. But she also made it very plain that she considered this country's racial policies to be one of the principal encouragements to Communist advance in Latin America.

Effect of Prejudice

She spoke bluntly about the effect which the U.S. record of racial prejudice has on the peoples to the south of us, more than three-fourths of whom would be called "colored" in the curious, mixed-up lexicon of American race bigotry.

Then Mrs. de Remon got down to tacks with a vengeance. She showed how the United States has not been satisfied to keep its nasty racial practices alive in this country, but has had the sheer effrontery to carry them down into Panama, itself—into the Canal Zone for which the U.S. has governmental responsibility. (Responsibility which was a barefaced steal on the part of President Theodore Roosevelt's Administration.)

Double Standard

She reminded the Conference that in the Canal Zone there are two standards of pay, one for natives of the region and a higher one for North Americans who do exactly the same jobs.

Mrs. de Remon might have gone farther and revealed that they are white North Americans who get such preference for the most part, since it has long been a standing policy for colored Americans to be barred from "cushy" jobs in other countries where native colored labor is employed, for fear that the natives might begin to get ideas about what their own labor is worth.

In that peculiarly naive American way of reasoning, our governmental officials still have the idea that colored workers in other lands naturally expect to get less for a full day's work than a white person doing the same job.

Not Very Bright

All of this Mrs. de Remon put on the record, either explicitly or implicitly. News correspondents report that she received a tremendous hand of applause after she concluded, far more than our Secretary Dulles received after he had made an undoubtedly excellent address.

Our State Department delegation should have been embarrassed, but the chances are that they were only annoyed. They should have been deeply worried, but the chances are that they were only resentful. For, sad to relate, in matters affecting racial feeling—whether in this country or abroad—our State Department has never been very bright, and is hardly likely to come up with a bright new intelligence all of a sudden.

Offensive

This is not any special reflection on Secretary Dulles and his appointed assistants, any more than on Secretary Acheson and his long list of predecessors. It is merely a comment on the bureaucratic mind that characterizes State Department dealings in all routine matters — and race problems are, tragically, routine in American life.

The career staff is appointed without any reference to their intelligence in such matters, and thus they represent the typical American attitudes —which are usually insensitive and offensive to colored peoples anywhere in the world. Our State bureaucrats are bad enough when they simply ignore the race question; they are apt to be even worse with their awkward fumbling when they try to handle it cleverly. For even then they generally fail to give the other chap credit for average good sense. And that's fatal.

Damaging

It's bad for the interests of this country and for democracy in the Western Hemisphere that Mrs. de Remon could speak so plainly and so damagingly on the subject of American race prejudice as viewed by Latin Americans.

What makes it even worse for the interests of this country and the whole free world, however, is the fact that most of our U.S. delegation probably never even got the point of the remarks of the wife of the President of the Panama Republic.

DELINQUENCY CONTROL

Sgt. Bob Green, in charge of the Juvenile Unit at Newton Street Division, and policewoman Dolores Perkins, of Venice, have just been awarded scholarships to attend the Delinquency Control Institute at the University of Southern California.

Sgt. Tom Bradley

I cornered Bob long enough to get him to tell me his impressions of the course after his first week of class.

The course consists of full time study for a period of 12 weeks on campus at U.S.C. The scholarships, which are worth approximately $500 each, are made possible by grants from the Hollywood Park Turf Club, Farmers Insurance and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The Institute is conducted twice a year with all the students attending on full scholarships. Green stated that the first week's experience gave promise of an interesting and enlightening session as 16 police officers and four social workers exchanged ideas and shared their experiences and knowledge. The officers ranged from patrolmen assigned to juvenile work to captains in charge of the complete juvenile program for their respective departments. They came from Honolulu; Puerto Rico; Tacoma, Wash.; Billings, Mont.; Cincinati, Ohio; and other cities throughout the United States.

Under the direction of the institute director, Dan Pursuit, and many other competent instructors they will cover a variety of subjects including special treatment aspects of delinquency control, conditioning factors in juvenile delinquency, and techniques in delinquency control.

Another Bachelor Bites the Dust

An apparent will-o-the wisp has at last come to rest. Jolly John Alston, assigned to University after a three year stint in the traffic car of the Accident Investigation Division, took an early vacation this year. Before leaving for the bay area, he announced, as coyly as is possible for a guy whose voice is like a 100-piece band, that he planned to get married while up north and would bring his bride back when he returns.

The Hand That Feeds You

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

ONE-THIRD OF OUR TAXES GO FOR AIRPLANES

Do you want to know why our taxes are high? Well, they tell us that one-third of it goes to building airplanes. Those that were built for the second World War just won't do today. They must be bigger and heavier. Or bigger and lighter. We just can't figure out. Well, this piece will attempt to tell you just why the airplanes tend to cost so much which ends in just why taxes must be so much.

Leon Steward

Today our single-seater fighter weighs almost as much as yesterday's 21-seater airliner. The two-seat, all-weather fighter now weighs just about as much as our former 40-seat liner. As for our bomber—listen: When they rolled out their first B-29 bombers 10 years ago they used to crack the pavement. Today the B-36 is three times as heavy! Tomorrow? There is no limit to the size of airplanes. Today one-third of the tax money collected by the Federal government goes to military aviation.

Weight Adds Up

One of the things that makes airplanes so heavy is the new gadgets. For every pound of gadgets you must add nine pounds to the plane itself. It goes like this: If you need a slightly bigger wing, then to pull the thing you need a slightly bigger engine; to feed it, you need a slightly bigger fuel tank; to hold that, you must have a slightly bigger structure; and now to carry all this added stuff, you need a still bigger wing; and so on until you have added nine pounds of additional airplane to carry one pound additional load.

Now since this airplane costs about $40 a pound you can see that all of this is expensive. If someone wants one pound of seat added in the end it will cost a lot more.

Loads It Down

Just what loads the plane down is equipment that helps the frail human survive in the deadly world of high flight and valiant maneuver. Electronics take over where man falters. The biggest cause of added weight is the increasing load of electronic "black boxes." They say that a "black box" can fly better than a human pilot. It may weigh as much as 300 pounds.

And then, the gunsight; It used to be simple. Today you fly in a sort of Einstein world where the other planes slides sidewise, bullets go in circles and nothing stays put.

In a few seconds two airplanes, swinging into different curves, are miles apart. So now the gunsight is radar that sees the enemy and measures the distance, plus a gyroscope which measures your ship's maneuvering, plus a black box that automatically computes the aim. Weight about 200 pounds.

Strong but Light

In our bombers: the Norden bombsight of World War II weighs 50 pounds. The modern bombsight weighs a ton.

Why do airplanes cost $40 a pound? Unfortunately, it cannot be helped. First the plane must be strong to withstand air pressure at 600 miles per hour. It must be light. Weight saving goes down to tenths of ounces. Their latest trick: They used tapered aluminum sheet, thick at one end, thin at the other, the thick end where more strength is needed. A good idea but tapered sheet, they say, is expensive.

The plane must be small. At the higher speeds it costs more to push a bulky thing through the air. The old airplanes used to be hollow. Today you can't even find a place to hang your hat, it is so crammed with radios, radar, motors, pumps, generators and assorted black boxes. The gadgets themselves are expensive. You have to tailor them to fit the space, make them work around corners and "miniaturize" them.

In fact, a heavy bomber has enough wiring for 208 five-room houses, enough power to equal that of 400 automobiles or nine locomotives, fuel enough to drive an auto 16 times around the globe and enough anti-icing equipment to heat 120 five-room houses.

On the Bookshelf

ONE GENERATION AFTER ANOTHER by James Lee Ellenwood

Of vital importance to sound mental health, of course, is happy family life, the problems of which are taken up and discussed wisely and urbanely in a book that will appeal to parents especially. How to bring about a better relationship between young people and their elders is considered at some length and, wonder of wonders, something is even said for the almost forgotten viewpoint of the older generation. Humor, lively anecdotes, and a down-to-earth good sense will make this work in widespread demand.

THE TROUBLED MIND by Beulah C. Bosselman

In these days when psychiatric terms are heard on every side and people refer to neurotics, complexes, and the like with only the vaguest notion of what the terms mean, it is useful to have a clear depiction of the claims of modern psychiatry and what is accomplished respectively by the physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric social worker, psychotherapist and religious adviser. The author shows that psychiatry is based on the difference between normal maturing, when the individual fits himself to the stresses of life, and unrealistic or inefficient adaptations which develop neuroses and psychoses. There is a brief outline of some of the techniques used.

WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

"For four years I had constant headaches and a burning feeling in the uterus. My menstruation was very irregular and came as often as every few days. My dedical doctor diagnosed the case as tumor of the uterus and said there would be no cure without an operation.

"I took the herbal remedy and within a week I discharged about twenty blood clots, each was at least the size of my fist.

"Now my headaches are gone and I do not have the burning feeling any more. I am now confident that natural herbs are better than a knife."

Unitarians Fight Bill As Invader of Rights

At a special membership meeting of the First Unitarian Church recently, it was voted not to sign the declaration embodied in Assembly Bill No. 923. The reasons for this are as follows:

To Americans who cherish the history of the early struggles of the Baptists in Rhode Island, the Quakers in New York, the Catholics in Massachusetts, the basic issue presented by Assembly Bill No. 923 will be simple to understand.

The new California statute requiring a declaration of political opinion from churches and other institutions, in return for tax exemption, is a frontal assault on freedom of religion as guaranteed by the First Amendment of the United States Constitution.

The use of the taxing power to command declarations of opinion seems to the members of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles, as to many Quakers, Universalists and other religious people, to be an improper invasion of the rights of conscience.

While Unitarians yield to none in the degree of their loyalty to their country, they also wield to none in their determination to protect religious, philosophical and political freedom for every American. This independence of mind and conscience is to the Unitarian, as to most other Americans, the essence of true loyalty to our country and its institutions.

AMEZ's Set Conference March 21st

Rev. T. P. Headen, a presiding elder of the A.M.E. Zion church will hold his second quarterly conference of the 1953-54 year at the First A.M.E. Zion church, March 21, 1954, with the business meeting being held at 7:30 p.m., March 22. The presiding elder will preach at both morning and evening services.

Since this service falls on the traditional Youth Sunday, the music will be furnished by the Gospel choir, with Cleveland Duncan singing a special number. In the morning service Miss Margaret Buford will give the oration which won for her first place in the recent Negro History Week Oratorical contest.

On the first Sunday night in the month of April at 8:15 p.m. a conference musical concert will be given. All of the major choirs in this conference will participate in this gala affair at the First A.M.E. Zion church.

Phillips Temple Hears Dandridge

Services at Phillips Temple C.M.E. church last Sunday will live in the hearts and minds of the people for weeks to come. Presiding Elder William H. Dandridge spoke on "Conquerors of Mountains."

The main idea of his message was that we must remember to put God first in all our endeavors. We must seek him and his divine guidance if we expect to conquer mountains in our Christian lives.

If we make one step in the right direction, he is always present to direct us in making the second step, Elder Dandridge said. We are to be constantly reminded that there are no short-cuts to conquering in daily Christian living.

The Youth Choir of the church will appear in their annual recital March 21, at 6:45 p.m. The group has been working very hard to make this one of the best Concerts they have presented. The director, Mrs. Virgie M. Lenoir has given much thought to the selection of music for the group.

Enthusiasm has grown with interest as thoughts move to the outlook of the Educational Building, which is soon to be in progress of construction. Mrs. Joy Jackson is president. Miss Clotilde Smith is supervisor.

The Ministers of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in Los Angeles and Southern California directed the following message to Governor Goodwin J. Knight:

"Because it is our unfaltering belief that justice and fairplay are not foreign to the tenants of the Christian faith; and

Because we accept and respect you as the highest symbol of justice and fairplay here in the great State of California; and

Because it is generally believed that there has been a miscarriage of justice in the sentence laid upon the life and soul of Wesley Robert Wells;

We, the ministers of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in Los Angeles and Southern California, do, here and now, implore you to rise to the seriousness of the occasion, not merely in the defense of one man, but to safeguard the true spirit of our noble heritage."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Sports Roundup

(California Eagle Exclusive)

RANDOM THOUGHTS—

BERKELEY — The California Bears are making arrangements to clip the USC Trojans in their upcoming dual meet—and our Midwest informant writes the fighting Illini should make it awful rough for the Trojans in the NCAA.

In both instances, if the foregone observations come to pass, Negro stars should play paramount roles. . . . At Cal, Guy Blackburn and Benton Ford, the quarter-miler from Jamaica, should pick up some valuable points, and Willie Williams, a "tremendous" sprinter, and Ron Mitchell, a boy who has already this semester bettered 6 ft. 8 in. in the high jump, among others, are expected to lead the fighting Illini to victory. . . . As we see it, the Terrible Trojans still have too many horses.

Brad Pye, Jr.

HERE 'N' THERE—

Charlie Powell, the SF '49ers flankman in the fall and a pro boxer during the off season, will make his local debut against Bill Mathis, a 210-pounder from Eureka, March 22 at Winterland. . . . Gorilla Jones, an outstanding pugilist several years back and currently the big footballer's trainer, will accompany him to the city. . . . Jimmy Dyer, one of the stars of East Los Angeles JC's stand-out football squad of '49, is presently coaching the Pearl Harbor Women Marines' Softball team. . . . SF '49er Joe Perry is picking up his coffee cakes nowadays as a new car salesman for Berl Berry in SF. . . . Is Chuck Holloway, the broad jumper on George Brown's Fort Ord spike team, the same lad who starred for Fullerton JC on the gridiron a couple of years ago? . . . It says here he's ticketed for UCLA.

PYE'S PICK-UPS—

In some quarters, almost a year ago, it was reported Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight champion, was all washed up. . . . But the way old Able Archie put away Bob Baker recently, this is hard to believe. . . . If Ezzard Charles is unsuccessful in taking the crown from Rocky Marciano, why not give Moore a shot at the greatest prize of 'em all? . . . Remember, he has beaten a number of the top-ranking heavies, including Nino Valdes. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

Sinking All Putts

Local golfers came to the aid of the forces combating juvennile delinquency, when they responded wholeheartedly to the 28th street Y.M.C.A. invitation to compete in its 5th annual tournament held at the Rio Hondo golf club.

This event, which is rapidly becoming one of our most popular tourneys, saw 30 foursomes teeing off in quest of one of the many glamorous trophys awaiting them at the 19th hole.

The Calloway handicap system, which is generally used where many of the participants have no established handicaps, resulted in numerous deadheats, which proves the fairness of this particular type of equalizing.

J. Wilson of the Postal golf club, played steady golf, and brilliant when needed, to emerge victor over this collection of amateurs. Wilson's 35-36 71 gave him a draw with par and a one stroke bulge over Sam Cummings of the trophy, and he is the ruling champ until unseated.

Sam Cummings had a net 69 to win the championship flight low net honors. Sam is amassing quite a collection of "Oscars." Long hitting Al McDaniel, pride of the Cosmos, was runner up here with a net 70. Al needed a birdie on the first hole in a playoff to secure this spot, and that he got.

J. Dexton won A flight handily. Dexton's net 70 was too much for Doug. Shaw to overcome, and the Cosmonan settled for runnerup honors. Shaw netted a 71. B flight was won by C. Hydinger, a local police officer, and a top flite golfer. Hydinger took ten blows on the first hole, after pushing three balls out of bounds, and then turned the front side in 40. His net for the 18 was out of bounds, and then turned the front side in 40. His net for the 18 was 69. Bill Guidry had a net 71 for runner up laurels here.

Al Christman, a Cosmo, limped in with a net 71 to out last C. Patterson and U. S. Thompson in C flight. Big Pat and Thompson both Cosmos, netted 72, and Pat grabbed the Oscar in a sudden death playoff.

In D flight Alvin Watkins of Postal showed his heils to the pack with a net 69. Frank Adams of Cosmopolitan was the runner up with a net 70.

In the women's division, Mrs. Maude Thomas, of Oakland and a member of the local Vernondale club for an 86 for low gross honors. Maude rarely goes home empty handed. She apparently thrives on competition. Thelma Cowan, three times winner of the National womens title and runner up in '53 won low net honors in the championship flight with an 86. This after a playoff. Mrs. Emma Banks defeated Mrs. Gwen McDaniel in a sudden death playoff for the runnerup spot. All are Vernondalers. Again we see Mrs. Gladys Mitchell in the winners circle. Her net 75 was godo enough to subdue the opposition in A flight. Dorcas Riley defeated Sister Vernandalers Mrs. Josie Johnson and Mrs. Louise Hill in a sudden death playoff to gain the runnerup spot, each netted 77s. B flight was won by Mrs. E. Drake with a net 74. Mrs. Bessie Garcia, another Vernondale member, was runnerup herewith a net 76.

One of the high lites of the tourney was the exhibition match played by four local Pros: Bill Spiller, 70; Chas. Sifford, 71; Dick Clover, 75; and Hal Higgins, 72. They contributed their time in order to stimulate interest in the greatest of all games, Golf.

On the Turf

By GEORGE RAMSEY

Beautiful Caliente in Old Mexico: Gonzales, the grey invader from Argentine packing the high impost of 122 pounds won the featured Bonnie Sea Handicap at two miles last Sunday South of the border.

RAMSEY

Giving away from 11 to 15 pounds to every horse in the race, the son of Sauternes—Golilla just had enough left to stall off the bold challenge of the fast closing Flagingower. With Jockey Andy Anderson stirring him up through the final quarter of a mile the grey galloper held on for a half length victory, avored after winning two previous marathons in a row.

The time for the two miles was 3:27. Record for the distance at Caliente is 3:24¼ set by Bonnie Sea, for whom the race was named back in 1940.

Sea Kid, the bread winner for the Aarco stable, won his fourth victory in seven starts by leading a good field of printers home of the co-featured "Santa Monica" handicap.

He produced a stretch push for Jockey Wayne Burgin to beat High Spade to the wire half a length, with the pacemaking Ara Time third. Sea Kid ran the six furlongs in 1:10 4/5 and paid $6 as favorite.

Jefferson Cinder Herd Meets Garfield Friday

Jefferson high school track and field team travels out to Garfield Friday afternoon to open up the Southern League and get the show on the road for their sixth straight city championship.

Coach Estel Johnson is repudiating early statement to effect that his team is loaded. He pointed to the stunning upset of Jeff's A-1 McDade in the 440 plus a 10 flat century couple with a very unimpressive 8-man relay team. All in-all Johnson stated "we will be pressed all season in those events." However we thought we observed a host of track-power over on the Jefferson oval when the Demos racked up a healthy 78⅓ to 25 point victory over Jordan, who is rated the top team in its loop.—By E.A.R.

Ken Brandon, City College Guard, Wins All-Cal Berth

(This is the final of the series of three special articles by Ozia Norman, Jr., dealing with City College championship basketball team and its three key players. Norman is the city editor on the college paper. "Take your bows Norman.")

Though the season is over for him now, All-So. Cal Conference guard Ken Brandon's rise on the City College basketball team won't be forgotten for some time.

Brandon's first attempt at the sport, other than church club and playground participation, came in the tenth grade at Manual Arts High School. This lasted for a very short time however as a knee injury kept him out of play for the rest of his eligibility years.

Coming to LACC this semester, he waited but a short time landing a berth on the Cub's strong cage squad. Immediately playing, Brandon participated in 25 of 27 regularly scheduled games collecting 167 points for his efforts. He bucketed 24 points against Muir College in a conference game.

Named on three teams, the 6 foot 1½ inch jump shot artist was elected to the position of All-WSC guard by the league coaches; second string on the Time's lineup; and third team by the Collegian sports editors.

Born in Canal Zone, Panama, he attended La Boca Grammar School during his elementary years, but leaving the Latin American country, he spent a few months in Gary, I[illegible]n.

His first education in the United States came at John Adams Junior High where he was graduated to Manual. City College came next on the list for the 20 year old casabaman.

Concentrating mostly on basketball, Brandon has from time to time tried high-jumping skimming the bar at 6 ft 1 in. At this height though, he has neve rgone out for track.

As his pal Sam Davis goes in kitchen, so goes Brandon. Baking cakes, pies, and other pastries hold his interest(and his appetite). He and Davis frequently delve around the culinary utensils finding new ways to cook vittles.

His future includes possibly UCLA and its chem department as he is majoring in the subject. Being a chemical engineer for some company is his occupational ambition when he finishes at Bruinville.

His next appearance on the hardwood may not be at City College if he decides to play for an AAU team. If not, then UCLA, then will have to hold his interest come this fall if all goes right.

His inspiration for the gymnasium sport came at a neighborhod gym where he was partly taught by Jim Powell, former Poly player and Player of the Year. He got enough pointers from Powell to develop his own style in a short time.

Between classes and outside work, Ken Brandon will find little time to be idle, but he surely never will forget his rapid rise on the Cub's conference title winning cage aggregation.

So the articles on cagers at City College is completed. Lenard Pollard, Sam Davis and Ken Brandon. Probably one of these days their names will be either on a marquee outside a theatre or just on a sign of business. Look around for them.

STARS BOOSTER CLUB ELECTS BOARD MEMBER

Bertha P. Johnson, 712½ Micheltorena st., was elected to the executive board of the Hollywood Stars booster club for the 1954 season.

A rabid and longtime Hollywood baseball fan, Mrs. Johnson has also written a song dedicated to the Stars entitled, "Hollywood! Hollywood! The Pennant Winning Team," which will be introduced at the club's picnic outing, March 20, at La Palm park, Anaheim, where the Stars play an exhibition game against the San Diego Naval Air station.

Mrs. Cecil Poole, president of the Pacific coast champion's fan organization, praised the club for its action in electing Mrs. Johnson.

"The presence of Mrs. Johnson and a Japanese-American on the board, graphically demonstrates the basic structure of Hollywood's support. I am highly pleased to have them on my board and commend the membership for its action," she said.

KO Punchers Meet Friday

Willie Troy of Washington, D. C. and Joe Giardello, Philadelphia middleweights will meet in the main event boxing bout at Madison Square Garden on Friday night in a National television bout. Troy, 6 feet tall, is a puncher with a record of 26 victories in 27 professoinal fights, with 20 knockouts. Girardello is expected to be the favorite as he has shown power in his recent fights, scoring knockouts over Garth Panter and Walter Cartier. In 1953, Giardello had eight fights, winning six and losing only to Billy Graham and Johnny Saxton.

ARE YOU ILL?

Dr. F. Y. Lew

Good Health is man's most precious asset. Without it all life is futile, so why remain in ill health when it is so easy to regain good health. The natural way is with CHINESE HERBS. Chinese Herb Doctors have cured hopeless cases long before the crude method of surgery was discovered because of their knowledge for centuries of the curative power of herbs.

A wonderful result from a hopeless case: let Mrs. Smith tell you all about it.

"My doctor told me I had lung trouble and if I wanted to live very long I must have a change of climate. We sacrificed everything to come to California.

I was advised to use Chinese Herbs so I went to the CHINESE HERB CO. I found I had other troubles besides the lung aliment. I only took Herb treatments for a month, now I am a well person. If anyone has suffered as I have, I am glad to recommend the Chinese Herbs to them."

IT IS THIS WAY—Seated around the "chat nook" in the Branch discussing the pro and cons of the panel discussion, the "YWCA—A Guidepost in Building a Christian Community," to be discussed at the YWCA annual meeting to be held at the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Building March 26, at 6:30 p.m., are: Mrs. Ann Shaw, YW-Wife; Mrs. Jessie Terry, Membership at Large; Miss Charlene Cooke, Employed Girl; Jacqueline Forney, Teenager.

PLANNING BASKETBALL SERIES—R. Meacham, I. Ruffin, C. Cook, E. Cook, W. Thurmond and C. West, undergrad member of Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma, lay plans for Sigma victory in the inter-frat cage series which will start March 27 in the Loyola gym.

SURPRISING REVELATION . . .

Just got notice that ex-Kappa cheerleader Nancy Wallace has just been signed by the omnipotent Omega frat to represent them as head cheerleader for the coming series. Hope she doesn't get confused and yell "satisfied." This versatile young lady is really making the rounds.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE . . .

Let it be publicly known that the one and only Percy McIntyre is romantically affiliated with her new auto. Thus permanently detaching relationships with all former suitors. Must mean the right gent isn't around.

THE MORAL OF THE STORY?

A short time past we received "official" report that a loco debut . . . was seriously linked with an out-of-town medicine man. But as conditions seem to exist at present she has relucked upon a past beau that is far more material than those far fetched figments of her imagination. This perplexed young lass whose repertoire of males is extremely limited has realized that "a bird in the hand is worth five in the bush" especially when there is no bush.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST?

Everybody had been informed that her engagement ring was in the offing. After all, she had proven her adeptness at many of the wifely duties. But as often happens, she was disappointed when her Air Force lover adorned her finger with nothing. Everybody is aware that the ring she sports is a dime store imitation with about as much significance as a book of matches in hell.

A SHOCKING SITUATION . . .

This may come as a jolt but an active frat man is headed for the third rail with his sorority popular playmate. Walking papers are about to be served, not that she doesn't dig him but this measure is to be taken as a face saving device. She has become aware of his whereabouts at those frequent times when he is unable to "make it". Friends are begging [illegible]

[illegible] Nashville, [illegible] DUK, is still [illegible] portion of her [illegible] playboy C.P. [illegible] plainly evident interesting results should occur when Miss R. returns to L.A. in the next few months. This might render A.P. (the third party) useless for the duration of her stay. Just trying to get the facts . . . da . . . dum . . . dum.

Sure had a wonderful time at the Town Tavern press party where the fourth estate was catered to by the admirable Eddie Atkinson. Rubbed elbows with Seletha Huff, recently appointed society editor for a local newspaper, who was eyeing the diminishing bowl of French "75." Also got word that Bob Thomas will be back "On The Beat" after his brief encounter with unemployment. Talked with glazed-eyed journalists (or at least what was left of them) Jimmy Goodrich, Libby Clark, Howard Morehead, Stan Robertson, Gene Hilliard, Wini Orr, Zebba Houze, Chester Washington, Richard Aubrey and other notable pen dippers.

Hope everybody gets a chance to make the Kappa Karribean this coming Friday. Some lucky gal will receive a sarong as a door prize. A fun laden evening is planned when all fourteen rooms of the K. Kastle swing into actoion.

Understand that Angelita Nicholas is still going strong with her current swain, Hardiman Cureton, star Ucian ball player. This affair has turned out to be a very suitable one much to the surprise of many, especially for a certain bear whose trap was never sprung. She never got the ghost of a chance.

These thirteen magic paces to Dolphins of H'llyw'd are hard steps to take since money minded John Dolphin put the "ace" abdve the race. Whatever Mr. Charlie says seems to go with genial John, even if it means knocking a capable announcer out of a job and replacing him with an inferior ofay boy.

We're waiting with bated breath for the exclusive "Whip and Saddle" March twenty-seventh affair.

Wedding bells will ring and happy voices will sing when regal Annie High does the aisle march, forgot the lucky guy's name . . . Preston Johnson and Gloria McPherson are also taking that step . . . Working on it is Suzie Moore, who last week announced her engagement to Cairo Collins.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

This week we should like to continue our discussion of slam bidding and as examples show three hands all of which were held by South. In each examples East and West passed throughout. Each hand was played in tournament competition and each contract was made.

When one hand opens with one no-trump (16-19 points) and the responder holds an opening hand, slam should be thought of. Naturally the more points the responder holds, the greater the chance for slam. Here is the first example.

N.	S.
1 NT	3 H
E NT	4 NT
5 H	6 H

Here is South's hand.

S. KJx	4
H. KQJxxx	6
D. x	2
C. Axx	4
	16

South knows from his own point count that the hands are in the slam zone and the question is whether it will be a small or grand slam. After South learns that North has two aces he bids six hearts for two reasons. The first is that he has a 50-50 chance or better. He may not have to finesse the spade. The second is that a suit contract is beter with his unbalanced hand than a no-trump contract.

On the other hand, here is an example where just the opposite is true.

S.	N.
1 D	1 S
2 D	3 NT
4 NT	5 H
5 NT	6 D
6 NT	P

Here is South's hand.

S.	3
H. Axxx	4
D. AK Qxxx	9
C. KQxx	5
	21

In this case North shows at least 13 points by his jump bid of three no-trump. After South discovers North has both outstanding aces, he tries for a grand slam by bidding five no-trump, but when North turns up with only one king, he settles for six because the odds are less than two to one he can make seven. He places the contract in no-trump because the lead will come into his partner's hand, and even a spade lead cannot do any damage.

In each example, we have showed the key hand, that is, the hand which had to decide to bid the slam. We do not show the companion hand because as yet we are concerned only with bidding, and in a bridge game, unfortunately, we never see our partner's hand until the bidding is over and the dummy is laid down. Then it is we know how accurate and scientific our bidding is.

There are many times when slam should not be even when one partner holds a very strong hand. This is South's hand.

S. AQJx	7
H. AKIOxx	7
D. x	2
C. AKX	7
	23

The bidding is as follows.

S.	N.
2 H	2 NT
3 S.	4 S

South must pass. The odds against North holding exactly the cards he needs are too great for him to bid higher.

In our weekly classes we use the demonstrating board to show hand patterns and distributions. This greatly helps bidding because it aids in visualizing each hand as it is bid. Classes are held each Tuesday at the YWCA at 7:30 p.m. and are open to the public.

EBONY THEATRE ATTRACTION CLOSES

"Chazz" Crawford's "SOUND TRACK"

The Week In Review
Swing Street "swinging again"??

Eastside and Westside sportsmen laying odds as to whether or not the re-opening of Harry Berg's Downbeat on Central avenoo will "take." The spot had a "smash opening" and press preview Thursday night, and according to Zebba Houze, Senior, business is still "boffo." This is another attempt at reviving the famous lane once known as Swing Street. And as one hipster to another: Sure would be a "scream" man.

Poker Pawtee

Willa Booker, "Sidestreet" scribe and Bdwy. Federal employee tossed a sassiety poker pawtee (all in fun, Mr. Bluecoat) at her Budlong premises. A "good group" had their thirsts quenched, and auburn haired Joan Jackson collected the largest stack o' chips! Thyzamm Taylor, Juanita Heard, Alton Taylor, and Roland and Pauline Glover were some of those there.

June Eckstein, former spouse of baritone Billy, complained to the local "gestapo" of a burglary at her home in the 8300 block on Hollywood Blvd. She was quoted, "Burglars used to hit my place in N.Y. about once a week, but this is the first time here." The exotic Junie stated her loss at 14 gees. A mink coat worth three gees, plus a topaz ring and watch, several fur stoles were listed among the absconded items.

Waist Lines

30 shapely finalists for Miss Brew 102 brought male temperatures to the bubbly point as they paraded around in abbreviated costumes showing off their finer points at a press party thrown by Maier Brewing Co.

Earl "Fatha" Hines opened at the Club Oasis jazz haven for a ten day stint, and among his personnel is a great slap-style bass man named Carl Pruitt. Attendance figures have been sadly off (probably due to those revenooers) and "square cut" nitelifers. But the "Fatha" was in a jovial mood when we dug him up. He boasted to this jazz scribe about his new tax exemption Tosca. Jess Stacy, demon of dixieland, was ringside, and the 88 great had his party and ours laffin' our cans off with some fresh barroom humor.

Swede Duvall brought his Fleetwood back into circulation, and ordered slow thinking pedestrians over to the curb!

Actor Roy Glenn appeared on the Jack Benny radio riot in the role of a suave porter on a westbound train. Brought the rafters down when he hurled this quip at Rochester: Man, Harlem's on the east coast, and Central Avenue is on the west coast. And all that waste is in between.

Lawrence Stone, the little man with a great big voice, announced his intentions of waxing four new sides penned by such notable tune parents as Joe Green and Rudy Toombs. And the youngster who is town talk due to recent ballyhoopla and a socko set o' pipes told newsmen of the heartaches and headaches an aspiring youngster faces. He spieled: "I'm ready if I don't get to go." He'll GO-GO-GO!!

Nick and Edna Stewart announced that their very next production will be an original comedy called "The Funny Man." Thursh Mary Emma Watson has locked up one of the lead roles.

The fabulous Joe Houston and his ork were selected to concertize with Spike Jones on his Saturday nite telecast. They will break the musical sound barriers with a spill of a thrill for you of the supersonic age.

Honest John, or it is Lovin' John, will be twenty tragic paces from Hollywood with the sepia press if he persists in shunting about worthy wax whirlers of our hue and bringing the wrong side of the track mikeside. The record man dismissed Charlie Trammell (whose loyalty and talent are legendary by now) for Dick Hugg. Trammell embraced his airwave audience in such a way to make "soft squeeze" Huggie Boy pallid in comparison!

Most favorably impressed with Tony and Eddie Atkinson's

— 'TOWN' TOPIC —

THERE IS A TAVERN IN THE TOWN . . . and its about the greatest on the village green. Monday night was premiere night for Town Tavern, and reading, left to right: James Garrett, its architect; Eddie Atkinson and his charming spouse Toni, the congenial owners, and our dapper bossman Loren Miller were camera viewed. The "face lifting" on the plush premises will be more than idle gossip. It's rather fabulous! And just about all the jovial Janes and jolly Jacks are hurrying on down there to 36th place and Western to "live it up"!!!

3 MEN ON A HORSE IN HOME STRETCH AT THE SHOWCASE

Those playgoers who have failed so far to join the hundreds who have witnessed the sensational Broadway comedy hit, "Three Men on a Horse," during its two-month stay at Ebony Showcase Theatre have only two more weeks left in which to see the play.

Noteworthy Effort

This was stressed this week by Nick and Edna Stewart, founders of the Showcase. The production has only two more weekends (Fridays through Sundays) to run before it closes in order to make way for a brand new original play written by noted Hollywood writer Irving Phillips and directed by Dimetrius Vilan, another film great, slated to open Easter Sunday.

An increasing number of community groups are forming theatre parties and attending these last few showings of "Three Men on a Horse." Among these have been the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association, the Friday Nighters Club and others.

Don't Miss This

"Three Men on a Horse" has been the most talked about production put on so far at the Ebony playhouse. Theatre critics have been unanimous in their praise of it and, playgoers of all descriptions have loudly acclaimed it as one of the funniest and most entertaining plays seen in these parts in many a moon.

The production, based on the zany antics of three horse players who try to capitalize on the prophetic virtues of an easy going little greeting card writer, features Jimmy Edwards, Johnny Lee, Frances White, Sammy Gardner, Morris Buchanan, Ted Lange, Suzette Harbin, Mary Emma Watson and Nick Stewart.

Popular prices prevail. For reservations contact Ebony Showcase Theatre, 2182 W. Washington Blvd., REpublic 6448.

Town Tavern's Newest Look Makes Entire Family Happy

By "CHAZZ" CRAWFORD

Don't get excited about that traffic jam at 36th Place and Western Avenue this week.

The reason for it is that everybody, or at least almost everybody, who is anybody has attended or will attend the formal opening of Eddie Atkinson's Town Tavern at that corner some time this week.

First group to take a look at the New Look acquired by the Town Tavern were the ladies and gentlemen (?) of the press, who swarmed over the place Monday night.

Between sipping punch and munching tidbits (hors d'ouvres in the better circles) the newspaper contingent pronounced the food and drink eminently satisfactory. A few of the literate members from the society pages had equally kind words about the decor.

Fast Double Play

In a fast double play, Eddie had the vendors of liquid refreshments as guests Tuesday and played host to purveyors of food Wednesday. The liquor experts said the food was just as good as the drinks, and the guests who know all about food doubled and redoubled the compliment.

To get back to the decor for a minute: the Town Tavern's face lifting was done under the supervision of James H. Garrot, one of the city's leading architects. George Walker (Corky to you) furnished the expert lighting effects and Ivan Sylvester was the general carpenter. Arthur Bass was the painter.

Juan Ray outdid himself with his selection of furniture designed to keep the guests happy while they select food from one of the city's best menus and order up another for the road. Even the kiddies get a break with orders from a special children's menu.

Parking Solved

Tonight (Thursday) and for the rest of the week, the general public will take over with Eddie and his staff ready to give with the very latest in service in both the new dining room and the cocktail lounge. Mrs. Atkinson is heading a bevy of hostesses straight from the social register to make certain that every guest is properly greeted.

Oh yes, don't worry about parking. Just drive the old bus right up to the door and hand it over to the attendant who is qualified to park everything from your 1931 Ford to your next-door neighbor's 1954 Cadillac de Ville.

TYRONE AND HOPE ON NBC RADIO KFI FRI., MAR 19, 9 PM

Hope and power take on a new meaning—one of comedy—when motion picture star Tyrone Power is Bob Hope's special guest on his nighttime radio show Friday, March 19, (NBC-Radio, Coast, 9:00 p.m., PST; 7:30 p.m., CST).

Enroute to San Francisco aboard an airliner, Hope and Power discuss the roles they have portrayed in motion pictures. Hope is convinced he is capable of portraying a character similar to the one Power played in "King of the Kyber Rifles," currently showing at the Los Angeles Theatre. Shortly after their discussion, Ski-nosed Bob falls alseep and dreams he is starred as a romantic, dashing, swashbuckling character who wins the love of his lady-fair.

Also featured on the Bob Hope nighttime radio show are singing star Margaret Whiting, announcer Bill Goodwin, and Les Brown and his "Band of Renown."

The shows are produced by Jack Hope, written by Norman Sullivan and Charles Stewart, and originate from NBC's Hollywood studios. All Tyrone fans must be on hand to see "King of the Kyber Rifles" at downtown Los Angeles Theatre, 615 S. Broadway.

YWCA Prepares For Big Affair

Members of the Adult Committee of the Watts-Willowbrook Area YWCA are busily preparing for their first annual dance show "The Future Stars Prevue" to be presented in the Will Rogers Park Auditorium on Sunday, March 21st from 3 to 6 p.m.

Costumes are being made, dance routines are being rehearsed, programs are being printed. In general the YWCA is buzzing with activity. All this is being done to make sure that this first annual dance show will be well worth the 50 cents admission price being charged to adults. Children under 12 yrs. of age will be admitted for half-fare.

Holy Name 'Folly' Set For April 25

Men of the Holy Name Parish Branch Holy Name Society have completed plans and started rehearsal for their second presentation of "Folly Along," it was announced by their president, John A. Waller. "Folly Along" will be a fast moving one act melodrama surrounded by a first class variety show.

Star Studded Session

Stars of stage and entertainment circles have pledged their support to work with the Holy Name men and a very successful program is anticipated. The Society plans to stage the affair after Easter.

'REEDMASTER'

The fabulous Joe Houston and his orchestra will appear with Spike Jones and his City Slickers this Saturday night over Jones' telecast. Houston's group will appear in the night-club sequence. The show will be viewed over the NBC channel.

People AND Places

NOVELIST, is about to write the final chapter to the love story "On Gramercy Place." Society whirl chit-chat has it that she upset the usually graveyard silent block with a verbal outburst against her hubby of two months that rivaled any outbreak of the "Fifth" street clan! This one will treat the tea set to their usual bit-of-spice should it reach the courts!

TOWN TAVERN, is newest bistro to grace busy Western Avenoo, joining the Rubaiyat Room and the Milomo. We should make it our business to keep the crowds flowing in these three plush parlors. It makes good sense and it's healthy business for more of our businessmen, professional and white collar workers to frequent our own instead of the Sunset Strip!

SOCIAL GROUPS, can be reasonably assured of a building to accommodate their events if they get behind the Civic Auditorium Center which will be on the June 8 ballot. It could be the answer to the question of the site for Inter-frat basketball series and many other group activities!

ANNA HOGAN, charming file clerk in the executive office of John West, NBC's vice-president, started out as a messenger! Her charm, personality and efficiency are her contributing factors.

CRIME PREVENTION, We notice Sgt. Gwen Dusuau, well known club woman, and ex-track star Curtis Howard working out of the downtown sheriff's office. Which indicates Eugene Biscailuz' office is making strides toward integration!

BETTY HOWARD, the town's top party hostess, tossed one for Wayne (Chooky) Howard on his 11th birthday at the Town Tavern. The future generation breezed through a few gallons of Ice Cream before retiring with a tummy-ache!

ZIPPY, is our suggestion for the name of Chubby Johnson's new Town Tavern drink craze. The popular dispenser of the spirits has been nursing his recipe for years! Zippy is a smart cocktail with a rage of passion flavor!

FRANK TERRY, NBC's publicist, marked April as the month for the Blessed Event!

BARBER OF SEVILLE, goes under the name of William Petties and he operates out of Pat Moore's Western Avenoo clip parlor! It's the only joint in town boasting a song with a shave!

FUNNY SIGHTS, greet the eyes when watching our teenage girls attending junior high school around lunch time. They lack the grace, poise and charm found in the Beverly Hills school yards, because out there parents are interested in the kids to the extent of sending them to school to correct bad manners. It seems that many of our parents should investigate Lane, Avant and Phillips charm school which offers courses in self improvement!

HIDEOUTS, Hollywood vice squad is taking notes on a well known eastside businessman's daily trips. Seems like the brother is using the Hollywood eatery as a meeting place for woomance!

WINNIE HEAD, can be labeled justly as "the body." She models a bathing suit like a Power's drawing!

J. B. BROWN, court trial is a throwback to the court sessions of the Al Capone era. Nobody can remember from nutting!

PAUL (WOODY) BROWN, guiding genius of the Royal Syndicators, is passing out gold embossed invites for the club's annual Spring semi-formal at the Chase hotel Saturday, Mar. 20!

ANOTHER HUNTER, can't blame the disc-Jockies for being up in arms over the return of Huggie Boy on the Dolphin Show. Can't understand why the ofay doesn't try and peddle his wares to CBS, KFWB or KFI. They never seem to give our boys a break. Dolphin

WORTH Seeing And Hearing

By Zebbaa Howze, Sr.

Starting my week end off with a bang was the grand opening of the new and very beautiful Down-Beat Grill at 42nd and Central. Haven't seen the "Ave." jump like that in a long time. Understand Harry Berg the very amiable owner of said club is planning to have Jam Sessions on Monday nites with "girl musicians." Sounds 'crazy.'

"Entertainment Worth Digging"

You still have time to see George Shearing who is holding his own at Jack Tucker's Tiffany Club. Saw the show at Strip City t'other nite—Oh La La!!!

"Fatha" At Oasis

Earl "Fatha" Hines has the Club Oasis jumping for joy. Incidentally if you're wondering who the handsome young man is that greets you so warm just inside the door, at the "Oasis." His name is Burt and he's Bill Robinson's (owner) brother-in-law. I hear he is also a brilliant young law student. Lotsa luck Burt.

ADDED NOTES:

Dolphin 'Goofs' Again

To Charles Tramell we dig you the mostest-to-say the leastest. Dolphins' loss will certainly be someone else's gain.

Chazz Scores

Understand Joe Huston just signed with Chazz Crawford. Congratulations Joe.

"Press Pawty"

'Eddie' and 'Toni' Atkinson gave a 'way out' press party at their new "Town Tavern" 36th and Western and a good time was had by all. The party not only had its share of writers but it also brought out the publishers of the papers and magazines. And yours truly had the honor of joining them in wishing 'Eddie' and 'Toni' the very best of luck.

Dimitri Vodka Leading Scorer In Spirit World

Dimitri Vodka, distributed exclusively in Southern California by the Van Ronkel Company, has moved into a position of high popularity because of marked superiority in quality, according to a statement released this week by Jo Van Ronkel, president of the company bearing his name.

Contrary to the mistaken notion by some people that all Vodka is the same, Dimitri has forged to the front as a prime favorite in hotels, restaurants, cocktail lounges, markets and liquor stores not on the basis of high-pressure advertising but because of discernible superiority. Dimitri is neutralized by agitation in the very choicest charcol obtainable, which comes from Florida and is made from peach pits.

As Dimitri passes from processing to bottling tanks, it goes through 24 layers of filtering paper. When moving from bottling tanks to the filling machine, it goes through a special polishing filter which makes it crystal clear.

Van Ronkel says that those who think all Vodka is the same obviously haven't tried Dimitri!

Cavalrette Club Pledges Support To Adele Concert

The Cavalrette social and charity club was honored to have as its guests at its recent meeting Mmes. Essie Robertson and Gray, members of the Beta Pi Sigma sorority.

As a follow-up of the much talked about luncheon given by the sorority February 27, Mrs. Robertson brought additional information highlighting the career of Adele Addison, outstanding soprano who has been acclaimed by two continents and who will be introduced to Southern California in April. The Cavalrettes will be well accounted for at this recital.

Also early in April, the annual waffle breakfast will be held at the Brown house. Again, members will serve waffles, ham, fruit juice, and coffee. See or call any club member for additional information and tickets.

Of the many worthwhile civic and charitable organizations in the city, the Cavalrettes chose the N.A.A.C.P. as their project for the year. All club members will take membership in this organization as well as work with the club to make the completed project a success.

Following the scheduled business, club members shared freely their recent readings of happenings of national interest, particularly as concerned Negro achievements.

Mrs. Marylyn Holder was the hostess.

Wife of Panama's President Flays U. S. Race Policy

CARACAS, Venezuela—Mrs. Cecelia Panel de Remon, wife of the president of the Republic of Panama, shot sharp bolts of criticism at the United States' race policy at the Inter - American conference here last week.

In a straight - from - the - shoulder talk she condemned the double standard of pay which the United States has imposed in Panama—one for natives, the other for white Americans; and declared the treatment of non-whites by the United States has aroused the antagonism of all nations south of the border.

Tavern on The Town. At the press party we were most favorably impressed with witticisms of Betty Howard. Plus Our World's Gert Gipson Pendland, bedecked in fur stoles and cadillacking off veddy movie starrish. Gert's been planted in a flicker, and baybees, she's ready for those carazy cameras to roll!

Camille Cannady celebrated her first day on earth day and quite ladylike declined to state her age. She's youngish as all get out as far as we're concerned.

Sexy Sheilah Guyse was a winnah on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts. Everybody got the message.

Al Burton called to say that he and the other producers who had worked so dilligently for 6 weeks on the Wonderful World starrer for Louise Beavers and Joe Adams may have to sue KCOP. The show was cancelled 3 days before it was to have debuted. Burton says he is at a loss to explain why, and naturally suffering acute embarrassment.

Organ Guild Recital Tonight

The Organ Guild of Walker Temple A.M.E. Church at 1250 E. 25th Street will present Frederick M. Barnes in an organ recital Thursday night, March 19 at 8:00 p.m.

Barnes is recognized as one of the Southland's outstanding performers on the organ, as well as a foremost choral director and composer of works for organ and choir. He is heard extensively on radio and television, and like some few other organists, practices the art of improvisation as being a prime requisite in organ concertizing.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Woods, will render two selections, among which will be James Weldon Johnson's "Listen to the Lamb."

Presiding Elders Browning C. Allen and A. K. Quinn will dedicate the organ.

Supreme Court Again Delays on School Decision

WASHINGTON. — The decision on separate - but - equal schools, awaited by the entire nation, will not be forthcoming from the United States Supreme Court until after April 5.

After its Monday session, the court again recessed

When the rumor spread two weeks ago that the Court was ready to hand down its decision on the celebrated case, one of the largest aggregation of reporters, commentators TV and radio experts ever designated to "cover" the court converged on the capital.

The decision, when it comes, will be one of the most far-reaching in the field of race relations that any court has ever enunciated.

DELLA JABBERWOCKY

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT . . . The pretty girls who have entered the Queen Contest conducted by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority as a part of their Jabberwock project. A myth that has been a long time dying is that a pretty girl must be dumb. The truth is, that brains often go with beauty. Proving this statement are the high school seniors pictured.

EDMONIA MORRIS

ELAINE LEWIS

Jabberwock Queen Contestant Edmonia Morris, daughter of Lillian Morris, is the girl to know at Jefferson High. She is president of the Knightettes (school police), class secretary, editor of the front page of the school paper and one could go on and on. Another sought after Miss is Elaine Lewis who has won a four-year scholarship to St. Mary's College, is vice-president of the California Scholarship Federation and is mak-up editor of the School Annual at Catholic Girls High School where she attends. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnette Lewis.

JOYCE EWING

PEGGY PARKS

Joyce Ewing, dimpled young senior at Jeff High claims membership in many groups, among them the Thespians, a drama group, the Knightettes, and Who's Who, a scholarship society. Though Joyce is majoring in science she loves dancing as a hobby. Mr. and Mrs. Andre Ewing are proud to be her parents. Peggy Parks, looks like a John Powers model with her long-legged good looks. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Parks, she attends Los Angeles High where she is a stand-out in school affairs. She is editor of the school Annual, a member of the Health Council and reporter on the school paper. She still manages to play tennis frequently and to follow her hobbies of writing and sewing.

MYRNA LOY DEAN

EVELYN GRACE

A member of the Roman Round Table, which is the governing agent of the school body, is petite Myrna Loy Dean. She is also Co-ordinator of the Science Club and a member of the Girls' Advisory Committee. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Dean are careful to see that she does not overdo. Los Angeles High is her school and there is nothing she loves better than sports and dancing. And want in on a secret? She loves dabbling in science. Other girls are needed for the Queen Contest. Send entries to Miss Evelyn Grace at 13342 Avalon Blvd., L. A. phone, RE. 6-6445. Deadline April 5th. All contestants must be high school seniors.

White Finds Unrest In the West Indies

NEW YORK—Back from a two-week tour of two American territories and six British colonies in the Caribbean, Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, recently expressed the opinion that "the political ferment in that region deserves the thoughtful attention of both races in America."

Accompanied by Mrs. White, the NAACP executive went first to Trinidad to which he had been invited by Mrs. Leonora McSchine, of the League of Women Voters, and Cyril Duprey, president of the Colonial Life Insurance Company in that island. He spoke at a mass meeting arranged for him in Port-of-Spain, and conferred with leaders and rank and file citizens in that city and elsewhere.

In British Guiana he found the tension greater than at the time of the revocation of the Constitution by action of Great Britain." There is little doubt, White asserted, that "the Communists exert considerable influence within the ranks of the Peoples Progressive Party which won a majority in the colonial legislature and elected prior to the suspension of the Constitution. However, the maximum number of persons in the colony faithfully following the Communist party line is estimated by the most conservative at not more than 20."

Communist propaganda in these countries has been facilitated, he stated, by the failure of the free world to make any substantial contributions to the improvement of conditions. "Vast sums have been made available to the mother countries," he said, "but, except for a few FOA and WHO projects, there is little evidence that the great powers are sharing international funds with the colonies."

Racial discrimination, while not as prevalent as in the United States, is widespread throughout the region. In Puerto Rico, he found a sharp wage differential maintained by the United States government. He cited the announcement of a vacancy at a U.S. Naval Station paying $6.032 for a citizen from the States and only $3.224 for a native Puerto Rican although the qualifications and responsibilites are identical.

NAACP Readies Union Contract

NEW YORK—Negotiations for a new union contract are under way between the national office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and Local 1707, Community and Social Agency Employees Union, CIO.

The union, which is affiliated with the Government and Civic Employees Organizing Committee, CIO, has been the official bargaining agent for employees of the NAACP national office since 1949. It works exclusively in the non-profit field.

Hospital Must Pay In Death of Baby

sal of the suit on the grounds that the evidence so far presented did not show that there was any negligence involved.

Atty. Harney vigorously opposed the motion in Superior Judge William P. Haughton's chambers, and was able to convince the court that the trial should continue.

Baby Was Dying

Jackson, a deputy sheriff, a graduate of the University of Southern California in 1952, and also a graduate of Jefferson High school, started suit against White Memorial immediately after the death of the baby.

In an exclusive interview with the Eagle at that time, he charged that the hospital had released the four-day-old infant in a dying condition, without notifying the parents of the state of the child's health, and had subsequently refused to readmit the baby without the payment of an additional $100.

In testimony brought out at the trial, Jackson asserted that after she was refused treatment at White Memorial, Linda Gayle was taken to General Hospital, where she was given immediate emergency treatment. She failed to rally, however, and died early the following morning.

No Information

Mrs. Jackson had received pre-natal care at the White Memorial, and a month before the expected birth had paid them $126.

On several occasions during her four-day stay at the hospital, the Jacksons claimed they made inquiries regarding the health of the child, who in their opinion did not seem to be doing well.

They said that no report was ever made to either of them.

Refused Admittance

The day after the mother and baby returned home, the Jacksons called in a private pediatrician, who reportedly told them that they should rush the child back to the hospital immediately, that the heart-beats seemed very unsound, the liver and spleen both dislocated.

Back at White Memorial, the baby was given an emergency examination. The doctor in charge confirmed that she was in serious condition, but the admitting officials refused to accept the child as a patient until $100 was paid over.

Rushed to County

Jackson didn't have the money with him, so rushed the child to the county hospital.

In their defense, White Memorial attempted to maintain that the child would have died regardless of whatever measures the hospital may have taken, and that therefore any alleged negligence on their part was not responsible for the death.

The jury, however, felt otherwise, apparently on the theory that where there is life there is hope.

The Jacksons have one other child, a three-year-old son.

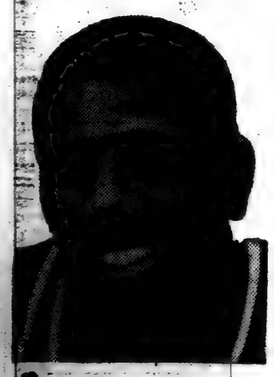
of the police wagon window to question the suspect and grabbed at him when he started to run.

"The suspect reached into his pocket," Klepper said, "and jammed a bindle of heroin in his mouth and swung at me with a knife."

After threatening Officer Klepper with the knife, the suspect ran and Officer Wellington jumped into the alley.

"I yelled 'halt' and then fired when he ignored the warning," Wellington said. "I guess I was a little hasty when I fired because I meant to fire over his head to scare him."



The five-inch bladed knife discarded by Johnson in his escape try was found beside the police wagon. A second knife and a pair of dice were found in his pockets.

nally came out of hiding, demanded that she sign a statement exonerating Freed, then gave her the bum's rush, flashed a pistol at her, and then told her to get out of town and not return. They followed her down to the bus station, she asserted, to make certain that she left Los Angeles.

Arizona Drops Color Bar in High Schools

PHOENIX, Ariz.—This city's segregated high school will go out of business at the end of the school year and its students and 19 faculty members will be integrated into other high schools, the Board of Education decided last week.

Abandonment of the 35 year old Carver high schol climaxes a two year battle by the local NAACP to wipe out school segregation in Arizona. Last year the local superior court held that racial segregation in high schools violates state and federal constitutional provisions. Attorney H. B. Daniels represented the NAACP.

Arizona has had only two high schools designated as Negro schools in her history—Carver here, and Dunbar in Tuscon. When the State Legislature enacted a law in 1951 permitting school districts to ban segregation in public schools, Tucson integrated her schools the following year. Phoenix followed suit two years later by integrating the high school and kindergarten through the third grade for the first year. Complete integration followed the second year.

Man Falls from 2nd Floor; Dies

Claude Finn, 56, of 719 E. Fifth street, was fatally injured early Monday when he fell, or was shoved, over a second story railing of an apartment building at 507 Towne avenue.

A witness told police he heard Finn arguing with two men. A fight followed. One of the suspects was heard to say, "I'm going to kill you."

A moment later a crash was heard. Police found Finn lying on the walk, suffering from a fractured skull.

Negro Population in L.A. Rises by 22.4 Percent

The Negro population of Los Angeles has grown about four times as fast as the white population in the past three years, according to a special census taken at the city's request.

The number of Negroes here increased by 22.4 percent in the period from April 1, 1950, to Sept. 26, 1953; the number of whites increased only 5.2 percent.

Total Negro population for the city was placed at 209,499, total population 2,104,663. Total percentage of increase was 6.8 percent.

or another in their lives have worked as domestics, or janitors. Under this proposal, they would be refused unemployment funds if they refused a job, say, as a housemaid or a night-watchman.

The seasonal workers aimed at are those employed as fruit packers or cannery workers. It would also affect a large number of people in the needle trades.

It might be accident, but a sizable percentage of those who would be denied all benefits are minority workers.

Said Levering: "Probably the biggest drain on the unemployment insurance fund comes from the benefits paid to seasonal workers such as fruit packers and cannery workers. . . . I think, also, that the definition of 'suitable' work a person must take should be changed to mean work that he is physically and/or mentally capable of doing without imposing hardship on him."

Meanwhile, unemployment lines at the state offices are growing longer. According to Census Bureau figures just released in Washington, there has been an increase of well over 2,000,000 in the number of unemployment from November to February. In February alone, the Labor Department stated last Wednesday, non-farm employment declined by 300,000.

CHURCH GETS BAPTISM FONT

At the 11 o'clock services, Sunday, of Bowen Memorial Methodist Church, Mrs. S. P. Johnson, Sr. made a formal presentation of a beautiful Baptismal Font to the church.

This timely gift was received by Att. Rafus Carter, assisted by the Rev. John Bain and Earnest Carlton, chairman of the trustee board.

Just about a month ago the church completed a renovating program at a cost of approximately $30,000, including a new altar. The Conner-Johnson Mortuary had this gift especially made to match the new and modern furniture making the set complete.

Mrs. Johnson stated that the font is given in memory of her late husband, S. P. Johnson, Sr., the founder and first president of Conner-Johnson. At present, Mrs. S. P. Johnson Sr. is president and Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin is secretary-manager.

Need Funds For Korean Church

GLENDALE, Calif. — A drive to help raise $250,000 in response to a plea from South Korea for aid in restoring Christian institutions destroyed by the recent war was launched March 13, in West Coast Seventh-day Adventist churches, according to C. L. Bauer, president of the Pacific Union Conference of the denomination.

Schools, churches, and hospital facilities will benefit from the drive. To raise the major part of the goal, a special offering was taken in 360 Adventist churches in California, Arizona, Nevada, and Utah on March 13.

In addition to funds, textbooks are needed. History, science, and Bible texts have been requested by students at "Sam Yuk" training college, Seoul, to replace books lost when their library was completely destroyed in the war.

Headquarters for the drive are at 1545 North Verdugo Road, Glendale, Calif.

FIRST 74 YEARS ARE HARDEST

By L. F. Palmer, Jr.

Attorney Loren Miller, dapper and dauntless, stepped out of his downtown Los Angeles office window into his private monorail coach. He snapped the safety belt and pressed a button. In 39 seconds, Publisher Miller climbed out of his bullet-shaped vehicle on the rooftop of the imposing, all-glass California Eagle building which dominates E. 43rd place. It is the year 2028.

He lost no time making the rounds of the numerous departments, checking and chatting with his faithful' editorial board, slaves like himself to longevity pills which guaranteed an extra 100 years of life.

Queen Bee

He looked in on the Queen Bee of the bustling Eagle staff. Grace E. Simons, still graceful and glowing, directing editorial operations from a huge desk piled high with papers, reports and miscellaneous file data half as old as the Eagle. One of four television-phones on her desk blinked red while she talked with a reporter, watching him as he detailed a spectacular blaze on the other side of Los Angeles.

Publisher Miller found Francis Phillip Waller, Jr., still possessed of his wily but winning ways, talking to himself, bemoaning a drop in advertising revenue. The Eagle's chief assured Waller that the low of $118,000 for the past quarter would not bankrupt the paper.

Nothing Bothers "Abie"

On the ground floor, Edward "Abie" Robinson gazed blankly at a huge panel of dials and wires, now and then turning a knob, checking a connection. Since the Eagle had gone mod-

Santa Monica Convention Bid Says 'All Welcome'

SANTA MONICA—The Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce this week made a playing bid for the September convention of the American Public Welfare Assn. with a guarantee of "equal treatment of all delegates regardless of race."

The convention, which it is expected will set the host city back $100,000 in the neighborhood, was to have been held in Las Vegas, Nev., but was moved to Santa Monica after Las Vegas hotels refused to accept Negro delegates.

Las Vegas was losing its wonted, Santa Monica business men not only agreed that the meeting might, but also offered the facilities of its downtown beach front hotels to all delegates without restrictions.

In a letter from the Chamber to Miss Linda Jones, executive director of the APWA, it was stated: "We want the APWA convention to be a success and we want all delegates to enjoy their stay in the State of Eldorado [illegible] western city and [illegible] all delegates, no matter [illegible] of hotels, motels, restaurants and places of recreation in the popular Nevada city.

Gives Brooks 2-20 Term for Double Slaying

A two to twenty year term in San Quentin was imposed upon John Brooks, 38, last week for the San Francisco slaying of his wife, Jackie, and a friend of hers, Mrs. Laura Davis, last July 4.

Brooks was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury Jan. 27. Superior Judge Eustace Cullinan, Jr., pronounced sentence Thursday.

Mrs. Brooks, daughter of Dr. Porter Davis, president of the National Medical association and Mrs. Davis were shot to death in a parking lot in San Francisco after Brooks had trailed his wife from Los Angeles.

Mrs. Davis' 18-month-old son, seated in the car's front seat between the two women, narrowly missed injury or death. Also unharmed were Mrs. Brooks' two daughters, Yvonne, 6, and Dewayne, 7.

After the fatal shooting, Brooks drove off about 100 yards, turned the .38 revolver on himself and inflicted serious stomach wounds.

On the day of the tragedy, Brooks went home to find his wife had taken the children and left him. He drove all night to San Francisco and went straight to Mrs. Davis' apartment thinking he'd find his wife there. The women were driving away as he approached the apartment building.

He followed them to a parking lot where he opened fire point blank. A family feud and jealousy were blamed for the slayings.

The players are members of the Washington farm team of Charlotte, N.C.

Drama Highlights History of Eagle

By L. F. PALMER JR.

The California Eagle, the nation's eldest Negro newspaper, is 74 years old!

This special edition highlights this significant milestone and it marks the third anniversary of the Eagle under the distinguished leadership of Atty. Loren Miller.

Amazingly, through the long years of the Eagle's dramatic life, the paper changed hands but twice and each shift in command gave the paper a different perspective, a wider horizon.

The history of American journalism has been an exciting one. The story of the Negro press is even more stirring.

From the beginning, when Samuel Russworm founded Freedom's Journal back in 1827, the Negro newspaper has struggled, battled, and bled. Innumerable fatalities have been recorded. The stronger, the more determined bowled over opposition and adversity and many survived on pure guts alone.

The California Eagle outlasted them all.

The Founder

J. J. Neimore was just a young man when he arrived in California from Austin, Texas, with a pitifully few dollars in his pocket. But he had locked in his mind and heart a combination of values that money couldn't buy.

Young Neimore had the skill of a printer which he had faithfully learned from a German. And he had the inspired notion that he could help the Negro gain first class status in this land.

So it was that 74 years ago, the California Eagle became the spokesman for the oppressed throughout the State of California.

During the early years of the State Freeway Hearing Told Facts of Bias

By GRACE E. SIMONS

The urgent pleas of residents of Sugar Hill and the not-so-glamorous surrounding areas to "save our homes" met with the solid opposition of officials and Chambers of Commerce of Los Angeles and the entire bay area at the Freeway hearing here Tuesday.

The need for speedy transportation and the cry for economy were pitted dramatically against the ugly reality of race discrimination as the two viewpoints were presented to the California Highway Commissioners.

Plight Underscored

Before a jam-packed audience of well over 500 that filled the auditorium of the State building, packed the entrance and spilled out into the corridors, Atty. Bernard Jefferson masterminded the fact-laden plea of the home-owners.

No decision is expected for a least a month.

Under consideration is the proposed Olympic freeway which would bisect Sugar Hill, destroy the finest Negro-owned residential area in the entire country and force 2166 non-

This is a picture of the YMCA Boys Club of the Furlong Tract taken on school grounds when Charles Eason was principal. That's Leon Steward, Eagle columnist, in the center, the only adult in the picture. So take a good look and see if you can find yourself or someone you know. If you do, write us, call us, wire us! No prizes but we'd surely like to know.

Probers Investigate Fighters for Rights

NEW ORLEANS—In their first major onslaught against organizations advocating equal rights for Negroes, government probers last week launched a three-day hearing into the activities of the Southern Conference Education Fund.

In the manner now common to Sen. McCarthy, Sen. James O. Eastland, whose bias is well known, conducted a one-man hearing on behalf of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Demand Apology

In an angry answer to the investigation, 32 Negro leaders from 15 southern states submitted an open letter to Sen. William E. Jenner, head of the Senate committee, condemning his attack on the Southern Conference Educational Fund as "an attack upon the Negro community of the nation," and demanding an apology to all whose names have been sullied by the press."

Dramatic moment of the hearing was a lunge by Clifford Durr at an FBI informer. Durr shouted, "You dirty dog! I'll kill you for lying about my wife."

Durr was formerly attorney for Aubrey Williams, president of the Southern Conference. He had been accused of being a Communist by Paul Crouch, who also implicated Durr's wife, Virginia Durr, sister-in-law of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black.

Distinguished Leaders

The stinging denunciation of the investigation was signed by some of the most distinguished Negro leaders in the country. The signers included Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Roscoe Dunjee, Percy Green, Bishop Frank Madison Reid, Dr. James P. Brawley, E. Franklin Frazier, Louis L. Redding, and Dr. Gordon B. Hancock.

Among prominent individuals who have been honored by the Fund are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Indian representative to the United Nations.

The Fund, organized in 1946, has been active in promotoing equality for Negroes in schools and universities, in attempting to break down barriers in hospitals against Negro patients and doctors, and in a wide program against all forms of seg-

Terry, chubby 6 lb., 9 oz. baby, born St. Patrick's Day, March 17, to Frank and Juanita Terry, sent greetings to the California Eagle for its 74th anniversary issue. The lusty infant, now at home at 3521½ 10th avenue, is starting early to follow in his father's footsteps as public relations counsellor.

James Garrott Is Architect of Sheriff's Station

James A. Garrott, distinguished member of a pioneer Los Angeles family, is the architect for the Firestone Sheriff's station, first building scheduled for the new Firestone Civic Center, at Compton and Nadeau.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the sheriff's station have been tentatively set for May 8. The one-story L-shaped building will cost an estimated $358,000.

Preliminary plans for erection of a second building to house district offices of the County Health Department and the Building and Safety Department were approved by the Board of Supervisors this week. Garrott has also designed this structure.

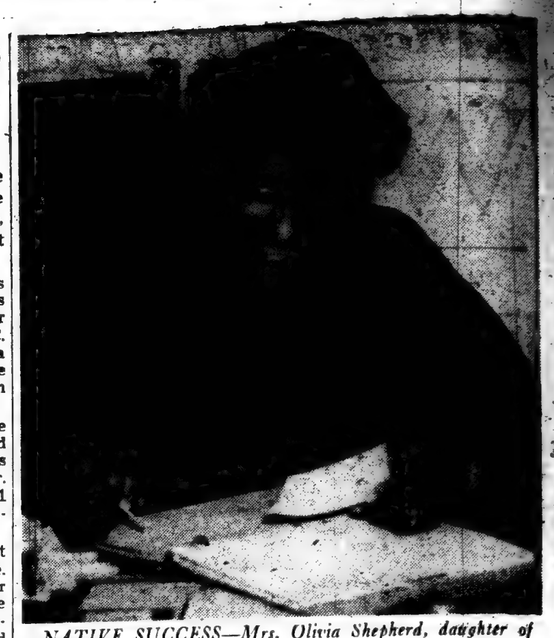
G. H. Daniels Recalls 'Way Back When'

One of the city's and of the Eagle's "old-timers" is George H. Daniels, who with his wife, Samella Flinn Daniels, lives at 1513 E. 21st street.

Daniels, now 67, came to Los Angeles a year after he was married to his school-teacher bride back in Orangeburg, S.C. That was back in 1911, and a few days after his arrival he joined the staff of the then young California Eagle.



That was just about the time Charlotta Spear, known far and wide as Charlotta Bass, was taking over control of the paper. From that time until 1951 Daniels continued his affiliation with the Eagle.

He has also, however, kept up close ties in his home state. He continues to be a member of the Board of Directors of the Jenkins Orphanage and Aid Society in Charleston, S.C., and hopes to go back for a visit, possibly next year. There are other ties drawing him toward South Carolina. His brother, the Rev. Paul G. Daniels, is president of the orphanage, and his "baby" brother, John Dowling, is superintendent.

Another brother, James G. Daniels, is here in Los Angeles. He lives at 124 W. 48th street, and has been connected with the Bank of America for 38 years.

George Daniels, who has two sons, Mrs. Olivia Shepherd, and George Daniels, Jr., is active in community and business circles. He is part owner of the Metropolitan Mortuary, and third vice-president of the Economic Industrial Association, 45th and San Pedro. He is also a member of the St. Paul Baptist Church, and an associate deacon. He was formerly secretary of the choir, for which his daughter is now organist.

Refresher courses in typewriting are being offered now at the Polytechnic Evening School, 400 W. Washington boulevard, every evening, Monday through Friday.

NATIVE SUCCESS—Mrs. Olivia Shepherd, daughter of George and Samella Daniels, is a native Angeleno who operates her own real estate and notary public business at 46th and Avalon. Talented, she also accompanies the choir at St. Paul Baptist church. Above picture was taken when she worked for the government during World War II.

Pioneer, 104 Years Old, Passes Away

Death removed one of the city's oldest citizens last week when 104-year-old Robert Nelson died at his home at 2741 Hyans street. A long time member of First A.M.E. Church, he was a graduate of Atlanta University and a builder and contractor.

Last rites were held at First A.M.E. church with the Rev. Alvia Shaw officiating. Mr. Nelson was an active Mason and set up many lodges throughout the South and had lived in Los Angeles since 1919. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mattie Jenkins and Mrs. Sarah Nelson.

Drama Highlights History of Eagle

Eagle, all Neimore had was his trade, his inspired idea, the faith of the 30,000 Negroes in California and the invaluable moral and physical support of his wife, Ida.

Gradually, the Eagle caught on and soon it was popping up all over the country, selling the magic of the West Coast's Southland, lashing out against oppression, chopping away at the indignities being heaped upon his people.

Neimore's Creed

Neimore's creed, set down by him before the dawn of the 20th century might just as well have been written today, almost three-quarters of a century later.

"For more than 17 years," he wrote, "The Eagle has endeavored to serve the public in a fearless and conscientious manner regardless of the perils courted thereby. Its managers are now, owing to recent and constant flagrant assaults upon the progressive class of Afro-Americans' homes in this city, more determined than ever to make it a force to be reckoned with in defense of justice.

"We believe that the destiny of the black man is in his own hand, to shape as the potter designs the softened clay—hence if he fails in securing the full blessings, as attained and enjoyed by other citizens of his community, he has only his own handiwork to blame. . . .

Strong Press

"With a strong press founded upon a high plane of righteousness in defense of the common cause of humanity; there will be less attempt to wreck and destroy homes of honorable citizens, as has occurred many times too frequent in this community.

"It is coming to a sad point when we consider the fact that an honest citizen cannot purchase a home in any portion of our fair city without endangering the lives of his family.

"In spite of this fact, it is none the less true and will remain so with a constant increase of worse, unless the race which is being imposed upon, lend a more courageous support to their own press."

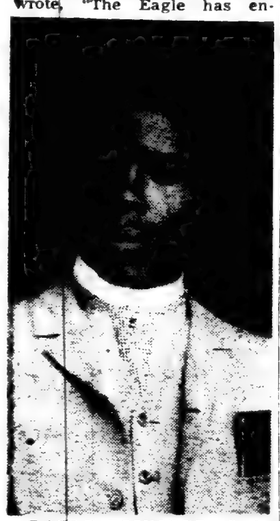
Wins Support

Through the years, this dedicated young man, J. J. Neimore, won the courageous support he fought so hard for. Perhaps it came because of his constant lobbying for equal rights for all men. And because his organ was filled with brilliant and fearless writings.

But the support came, as this letter from a 1903 issue of the Eagle indicates:

"Dear Editor: The above well known organ is, in my humble estimation, easily the leading colored paper in Southern California. As a circulator of current topics of importance, it stands without a rival, all other newspapers, in my estimation, holding secondary places.

"As an informant and medium of colored news, the Eagle stands heads and shoulders above any of its pigmy competitors. The Eagle furnishes employment for several of our intelligent young ladies, at least two colored gentlemen, thereby establishing the fact that they are promoters of the race.



Eagle Employees

"Its employees, to-wit, Mrs. White, Miss Cole, Miss Goode, Mr. Davis are all refined and cultured, and their deportment at once elevates them above the common rabble.

"Let those rave who may, the proprietors of the paper are demonstrating to the satisfaction of impartial observers that colored people can employ and serve others of their race with as much zeal as can members of any race.

"As the eagle is a bird that

EAGLE FOUNDER—J. J. Neimore came to Los Angeles from Austin, Texas, with a knowledge of printing and a zeal to fight for the rights of all men. He combined these qualities and founded the California Eagle. With this edition, the Eagle marks the 74th anniversary of its founding, still dedicated to the principals established by Neimore.

Sen. Eastland is the man who declared on the floor of the Senate in 1945: "The Negro soldier was a dismal and utter failure. He was a disgrace to the flag of his country . . . He will not fight. He will not work."

In its letter to Sen. Jenner, the Negro leaders declared: "In the opinion of the undersigned, the action of your subcommittee against the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., is an attack upon the Negro community of this nation.

"This organization has spearheaded the fight against segregation in the South. When your statements and those of your fellow committee members smear the Fund's leadership, you are also disparaging the hopes and ambitions of the Negro people . . .

"We vigorously protest the unfairness of the hearings. We further demand that as an act of simple decency and common sense, you make appropriate apologies to those individuals whose names have been sullied in the press."

LIBERTY SAVINGS & LOAN ASS'N.

Salutes the CALIFORNIA EAGLE on its 74th Anniversary

Liberty Savings and Loan is proud to congratulate the California Eagle on reaching an important milestone in its history. Liberty has just celebrated its 30th anniversary after loaning millions of dollars to members of this community, enabling them to become homeowners. Today, there are more than $6,294,370.79 in real estate loans on our books. In addition, $27,615.18 in other loans has been made. With total assets of $7,081,562.59, Liberty Savings and Loan Association has been and will be of great benefit to thousands.

During the past few years, there have been numerous opportunities for Liberty to make thousands of dollars simply by disposing of these assets and our charter to those who wish to take our place and do business with members of this community. We have steadfastly turned down these offers at the urging of patrons and friends of Liberty. Yet, it is extremely important that material support—in the form of deposits—come from the community so that Liberty Savings and Loan Association might continue the great service it has rendered over the past 30 years. We have survived and grown through panic and distress. You—the depositor—can show your appreciation by saving at Liberty Savings and Loan Association.

74 Years Of Service

The California Eagle has been an important factor in California during the seventy-four years that it has been published in Los Angeles.

Like other Negro newspapers it was born, and has existed, primarily to further the aims and inspirations of California Negroes and to voice their protests against racial prejudice and discrimination.

Sometimes the Eagle has done that task well; sometimes it has erred in assessing the wrongs and in proposing remedies.

However, no honest person can doubt that what the Eagle has done during the almost three quarters of its existence has been of tremendous importance and that it has contributed materially to the welfare of the group it has represented and the city in which it has been published.

In the early years of the Twentieth century the Eagle was protesting volubly and excitedly against discrimination in places of public accommodation. It was demanding the enforcement of the state's civil rights law.

A little later it was raising its voice to demand the election of a Negro to the California Assembly and it helped put the late Frederick M. Roberts in Sacramento.

The Klan was a tremendous force in Los Angeles after World War I and the Eagle was fighting that organization to such an extent that bombing threats were directed against it. Its publisher, the late J. B. Bass, was threatened with physical violence.

In between these public protests the Eagle was doing the work-a-day job of urging support for community institutions and business organizations. It backed the initial movements to establish the NAACP and the Urban League here and supported them after they were founded. It put in its oar to help the YMCA and the YWCA. It encouraged high school students to go to college at a time when college attendance was a rarity among Negroes.

The Eagle knew about Ralph Bunche when he was a young and struggling student and helped him obtain his first scholarship. It encouraged other students and helped promote benefits for them.

During the troubled years of the depression and World War II the Eagle raised its voice against discrimination in relief, against discrimination in employment, and against discrimination in the armed forces.

During the three years that the Eagle has been under its present management we have made certain fundamental changes in prior policies that seemed to us mistaken. We have done our best to make it a newspaper that will serve the best interests of our readers and the community.

Our basic objective now is the same as the motive that led to the founding of the Eagle: the deep belief that the democratic way of life must be preserved against its enemies.

We are convinced that racial prejudice and discrimination harm both Negroes who are victimized and all other Americans. We are sure that democracy must work for every American or be lost for all Americans.

We have lent support to the NAACP, the Urban League, the YMCA, the YWCA and all other community organizations and business institutions.

We shall continue to trod that path.

Our task won't be done until the constitution's bright promise of full equality is reality.

Who Told The Truth?

Last January 7, Mayor Norris Poulson announced that his Board of Fire Commissioners had agreed with him that they would eliminate what he called "unsatisfactory" policies in the assignment of Negro firemen.

The "unsatisfactory" policies to which he referred were those of segregating Negro firemen in the two Central Avenue stations.

Four of these commissioners testified under oath.

Every one of them denied explicitly that any such agreement had been made.

Fire Chief John H. Alderson denied under oath that he had been a party to any such agreement.

The commissioners and Chief Alderson all agreed that not a single change has been made in assignment policies in respect of Negro firemen since January 7.

Mayor Poulson hasn't commented on the categorical statements of his commissioners that they made no agreement for any change and haven't made any changes.

We think the mayor ought to speak out.

His word, pledged to the citizens of this city, is at stake.

We think that the people of Los Angeles have a right to know whether such an agreement was made.

They have a right to know whether the Board of Fire Commissioners has any intention of carrying out what the agreement the mayor says they made.

And while the mayor is looking at the testimony of his Commissioners as to whether or not an agreement was made he should also consider the remarkable testimony of three of the Commissioners and Chief Alderson that race is no factor in assignment of all Negro uniformed firemen Stations 30 and 14.

Such statements made in the face of admissions that all Negro firemen are so assigned are so fantastic that they convict those who make them of the worst kind of irresponsibility.

The plain truth is that racial segregation is practiced by the Board of Fire Commissioners and that Chief Alderson has been following this policy ever since he has been head of the Fire Department. Everybody knows that.

Why are the Commissioners unwilling to admit this fact?

Why is Chief Alderson unwilling to admit it?

Can the people have confidence in men who resort to evasion to escape the truth?

Can the mayor retain his confidence in such men?

It is bad enough for city officials to practice racial segregation that is in plain violation of constitutional requirements and public policy. It is worse for them to compound their dereliction of duty by denials that rang so false that newspaper reporters laughed openly and scornfully every time one of them denied that racial segregation is practiced.

The NAACP Drive

Every person in this community who has two dollars—and that certainly includes [illegible] majority of us—should [illegible] in the local branch of the [illegible]

[illegible] nation's [illegible] the fire department segregation case on a local scale are only two examples of the job that it is doing for all of us.

We don't need to argue the NAACP's case. We do want to point out that it is conducting its membership campaign. Buy your membership today.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Last Wednesday, with Julius Thomas, Industrial Relations Director for the National Urban League, I went to Washington to appear before the sub-committee on civil rights of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. The visit was an old story to Urban League officials; the purpose was to state once more why the Federal Government should play a leading part in the steadily-growing national movement toward equality of job opportunity.

Lester Granger

We had been doing this since 1940, when President Roosevelt first proclaimed a national defense emergency. It looked as if we would have to keep on doing it, intermittently, until something conclusive is produced, either through Congressional action or through the executive authority of the White House.

Anybody's Guess

When that "something" will be produced is anybody's guess—and one guess is as good as another. No one seems to have any firm optimism about this Congress, any more than its Democratic predecessors, coming through with a law that is anything more than a pious statement of principle. Once, even such a statement would have been better than nothing at all, for at least it would provide the supporters of democratic employment practices with a reference point—the expressed moral conscience of the American people.

But while a statement of principle would have been considered progress 20 years ago, today we are seeking advancement of practice; to retreat to theoretical principles today would be, not progress but defeat.

Pessimism

Something of this pessimism was apparent in the committee hearing. Only two Senators were present, Herbert Lehman and Irving Ives. Sixteen organizations were listed to be heard from in three days. On this third day the audience was only a skeleton and but three members of the press attended.

The testimony followed the old familiar pattern of moral argument, learned statistics and eloquent exhortation. All of the testimony was in favor of the bill, S. 692; the opposition didn't even bother to appear, that this new FEPC effort under a new name would meet the same old fate—be buried in the full committee or be talked to death on the floor of the Senate.

Why Bother?.

"So why bother to go down?" some will ask. The answer is that the national debate on Federal responsibility in job discrimination serves exactly the same function as the debate that began 45 years ago on Federal responsibility in cases of lynching. Though no anti-lynch law was ever passed—and none is now likely to be passed in the form originally suggested—the practice of lynching was erased as completely as any other major crime.

We still talk about "lynch law"; Communist propagandists, with brazen disregard for the mass-murder record of the Soviet Union, yawp about "genocide," but lynching in the sense of 1910-1920 has been eradicated from the national scene.

Flank Attack

So, too, is the effort to pass a Federal law against job discrimination a flank attack against a foe who is hardly apt to surrender formally. He is more likely to melt away gradually and then withdraw from the field as the last remaining pressure becomes too heavy to resist.

Thus, even though rabble-rousers for or against the various FEPC bills may work themselves into a froth of indignation—whether over the shame of the bills' failure to pass or over the "effrontery" of the bills' supporters—no failure is a defeat for the cause, nor does eloquent supporting testimony constitute a victory.

Victory will come down the road, as the cumulative effect of the "great debate, 1954 style," moves more and more of our citizens to get over on "the Lord's side" in this battle for human rights.

This is the reason why Senators Ives and Lehman deserve the thanks of those who "stand for the Lord"; not because the bill has any fifty-fifty chance of getting through, but because every such effort is another nail in the coffin of Jim Crow. And that's why Julius Thomas and I had to go along to testify.

One Man's Opinion

LOOKING BACKWARD

This is the 74th anniversary of the founding of the California Eagle. We were put up to writing something which might reflect our age if not prove we were here working with boys when J. B. Bass was head man and Mrs. Charlotta Bass was darting about the office with a plait down her back.

Leon Steward

We were at that time writing a column in the Eagle regarding the work we were doing. We headed it with a jingle.

From the Past

The other day we found one of those jingles which occured in the July 7, 1920 copy of the Eagle and which ran as follows:

"The history of the land we live in
Tells of men whose lives were given
Planning a career for this old U.S.A.
Washington and Alexander Hamilton
Then held the banner, pointed out
And led us on our merry way.
Now, today, we still have great men,
In these very trying times when
We must save, not start our laws and land.
Some are away in D.C.
But there's lots right here and with me,
Every Thursday night they raise perverbal sand."

It is interesting now to try to recall the names of the boys referred to in that jingle as incipiant leaders who then were raising "perverbal sand." Doubtless some of you reading this piece might identify the names of some of the persons referred to above.

We worked hard to convince those boys that the world had a place for them—even in California—if they would choose a vocational objective and work hard in preparation for it. Among these were men like the late Fred Roberts and the then young Paul Williams, the famous architect.

Their first constructive program was the organization of a "make a team, make an organization" committee in each high school. It worked because they put youthful social pressure behind their efforts. Many went out for athletic teams. Several won student recognition and became active in clubs and on student newspapers. They started to teach others that our boys could run, play baseball, football and basketball, and they did it with a vengeance. They were the pioneers in these activities in local schools.

To name as many of those boys as we can recall at this time is indeed a pleasure: Edgar Johnson, who is now vice president and secretary of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance. Charles Matthews, lawyer and first Negro on the Police Board; Ben Colley, post office employee, Mark Kaiser, who has already retired from business in favor of his son, who is well prepared for it; Erskin Ragland, lawyer; William Jones, supervisor of the Cimmerron Post office branch and whose son is a successful lawyer; Herbert Fairs, chiropodist, Wendell Gladden, our former tennis star and Theophilus Smith, now in the postal service; and Dr. Ralph G. Bunche now with the United Nations and of international fame and a third whom we cannot now recall.

Thus it would appear that given a bit of encouragement and some adult symphetic interest, you can't play youth cheap.

The NAACP has opened its 1954 membership drive. Every member of the community benefits from the activities of the NAACP. Every member of the community should pay a small portion of its debt to the association by taking out a membership now. It costs only $2 a year.

THE BUSINESS OF DEATH

As if it is not enough that we must all go the inevitable way of flesh, Man has formalized the ceremony of the funeral to the point that the incident of death has become as commercialized as "the pause that refreshes."

"A Fine Funeral for $60" reads the dubious reminder posted on Los Angeles billboards. Morturies rise immaculate and prosperous amidst poverty. "The perfect atmopshere for (mourning) last rites," they say. A hushed tone of voice greets the prospective client inside. Music to fit the occasion. Heavy draperies, thick carpeting, wall structure, etc., give the chapel the "pleasant" acoustics of an echo chamber. "We can provide services within the limit (maximum) of the deceased's insurance." The business of death.

Lester Bailey

No Stone Unturned

The grieving family might well use the insurance to meet the needs of the living in the absence of the late provider. But no, custom says we must leave no ceremonial stone unturned. Flowers; new suit or dress (for the long journey); hermetically-sealed, metal casket; all services, including the long procession of black limousines led by the "new" hearse. Is not the occasion of death among us burden enough without the costly, elaborate ceremony wherein our mourning a loved-one is planned for us?

Friends, distant relatives and acquaintances feel obligated to attend what has become an insult to intelligence. They travel great distances to "pay last respects" to the dead whom they, no doubt, prefer to remember as when alive. Then come the onion-in-handkerchief vultures who flock to a funeral as if it were a gay social event. "Was he (or she) put away nice(ly)?" "How did the family take it?" The body, now a part of oblivion, is oblivious to all these antics.

Commercialized

Every time I pick up a fan in church on a hot Sunday morning, I am reminded of how many churches have come to play a role in the business of death. I have come to services to hear how to live right, but the message on the fan is telling me how nice I can look after I die.

Leading morticians seem to belong to leading churches. I do not say that the alliance is unholy, but I am glad (and I suppose others are) somewhat intimidated by the presence of brother undertaker, who is active in the church and is actively waiting at the end of Life's line, for me. The reminiscent odor of cut flowers on the rostrum and the invariably ominous admonitions of the pastor, don't help a bit.

The paganistic hangover represented in our present-day, commercialized ceremony about death, is but another attempt by Man to make Man immortal. I suggest that we begin to break with this unhappy facet of regimentation and "let the dead past bury the dead." Simple Memorial Services, sans planned mourning and the other superfluous trimmings of the "fine funeral," would be a hopeful inovation until there is enough moral support for greater simplicity.

Instead of flowers, we could contribute to further research in medicine, surgery, etc., that is, if we have failed all along to give aid to these projects. Cremation, or some other expedient means of disposing of dead bodies, if more widely practiced, would restrict the expansion of cemeteries, and, therefore, make available more living room for the living. Instead of monuments to death, we would build greater institutions to Life and living.

It could be, however, that only the undertaker among us is sane. If this is the case, in the words of George Bernard Shaw: "The rest of (us) ought not to be at large!"

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

The issues of the 1954 campaigns are being clearly drawn. At the Washington level, we find the Republican leadership fighting a last-ditch battle with Democratic Senators on tax relief. The Republicans claim that tax relief for stockholders will be of greater benefit to the economy against Democratic insistence that the new tax bill should increase exemptions on dependents by at least $100.

James Anderson

At the State level, Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, through his special session, has definitely placed his administration in the Republican column. The so-called non-partisan type of state government will end with this November election.

Effective

Richard Graves, the endorsed Democratic candidate for governor, through his public appearances and news releases, is very effectively raising new deal, fair deal, Democratic opposition to what Graves terms repugnant tendencies to the standards of fair play and democratic decency now existing in State Government under Knight.

At the County level, the campaign for State Senator against Jack B. Tenney will find Republican and Democratic opposition to Tenney based upon what is termed Tenney's violations of Republican party responsibility and Democratic charges that Tenney represents the worst political element of the State which, through Tenney, threatens the fundamental concepts of democracy, civil rights, civil liberties and freedom of education.

Campaign Issues

Congressional campaigns, as well as campaigns for state offices, will evolve around the Democratic program of public works and extended social security, McCarthyism, and the basic difference in the philosophy of the two parties. Republicans will stake their present national and state leadership on maintaining the "status quo." The Democrats will insist that immediate action should be taken now to avoid a disastrous depression.

Jimmy's Headquarters

Jimmy Roosevelt this week opened political headquarters. Ruth Lybeck, dime-a-day executive who formerly handled Helen Douglas' campaigns, is in charge. The telephone number is WHitney 0144.

Glenn Anderson, Al Schieneder and Don Bradley, who so far are the Southern California staff for the Graves campaign, are at 742 S. Hill street, Suite 1214, MAdison 6-4406.

J. Robert Smith, who is doing the P. R. work for Republican incumbent U. S. Senator Kuckel, spent last week in San Bernardino organizing Negro supporters for the Kuchel campaign.

Ethel Bryant, field representative of Congressman Sam Yorty, Democratic endorsed candidate for U. S. Senate, and staff will leave this week to build Yorty support among Northern California Negroes.

San Diego was invaded by Bill Watkins and B. B. Bratton on behalf of Goodwin Knight.

Demos Trail

Negro Democrats are far behind their Republican counterparts in integrating themselves into the State campaign. So far no Negro has emerged with a staff or policy Democratic campaign position.

Dr. H. Claude Hudson and Alan Woodard will hold a Roybal-for-Lt. Governor meeting at Eddie Atkinson's Town Tavern at 1:00 p.m., Monday afternoon.

Letters

To the Editor:

The Hercules Electric Company at 2800 South Hooper Ave., located in the heart of our community, has a policy of discrimination in the hiring of workers. Negro people, both men and women with years of experience in the electrical assembly industries, have been told there are no jobs available at the present time, while white workers with little or no experience are being hired.

They have a government contract which states that there shall be no discrimination in the hiring of workers regardless of race, creed or religion. The Negro people pay their share of taxes, which are supporting this company. Therefore why should they be denied equal opportunity in employment?

When we asked about their hiring policy, the woman in the personnel office stated that they did not discriminate in hiring and to "prove" this, she said they have two Negro women and two Negro men employed at the present time. We feel that since there are over 100 people employed there at the present time and they are so "non-discriminatory" in their hiring policy then why are there no more than four Negro employees?

We think it long past time for an outcry against these companies that exist and pollute up our neighborhood and refuse to employ any of our race. A starting point could be Hoffman Radio and Hercules Electric Company.

E. Smith,
S. Moore,
Clarence Young.

To the Ediotr:

The latest census report shows over 700,000 Negroes in the state of California. This is indeed an impressive figure for it places California second to New York for Negro population in areas outside of the South.

It is, however, depressing when one views it from the point of Negro participation in leading political positions. How is it possible for the Democrats in the two recent congressional district conferences to have not given this serious consideration. (In the 15th and 16th Congressional Districts.)

Is it due to the lack of capable Negroes? Certainly not! There are literally dozens of Negro leaders to be picked from, living in the community.

Is it due to the lack of ability on the part of the Democratic Party to win the support of the white voters for a Negro candidate? If this is true, then there is an under-estimation of the democratic feeling among the grass roots of the Democratic Party. This also reflects an unwillingness on the part of the leadership of the Democratic Party to fight for an understanding of its "democratic traditions and convictions."

Is it due to the lack of money for a Negro candidate? But surely no leading Democrat would give that as a reason, for this would be an admission that the Democratic Party is controlled by the dollar sign.

If one is honest and objective, he or she can come to only one conclusion and that is, that white supremacy still rules, plus the dollar sign. One must also say the blindness of white supremacy will cost the Democratic Party many votes in the coming election, for the lack of foresight on the need for Negro representation in Congress, not only as a just demand, but as a tremendous mobilizng factor for the coming election of the Negro people.

The nomination of a Negro candidate in these districts by the Democratic Party could have ignited a fire of enthusiasm in the heart of every Negro for the Democratic ticket throughout the state. It is a mistake to disregard the need and the potential of Negro representation on the congressional level and the need for increasing the Negro representation in the state legislature.

LONG YEARS AGO—No one could foresee back in 1920 when this picture of the 9th Street Hi-Y club was snapped, that many of the boys and young men shown here would become leaders of the community. Among those shown are Thomas Reed, Edgar J. Johnson, Willallen Stovall, Kenneth Wallace, James Brown, James Warren, Foster Driver, LeRoy Johnson, Erskine Ragland and Louis Driver.

Assets Jump At Broadway Federal

At the end of the first year's operation, Broadway Federal Savings and Loan association had total assets of $669,809.59. That was in 1947.

When Broadway Federal's statement for 1953 rolled off the press, the thrift organization was boasting total assets of $8,064,902.38.

One of the main reasons for this fantastic growth is a smiling but serious young man who happens to like people. Richard R. Wright, III, Broadway Federal's managing officer, has more than doubled business since he left a business manager's post at Morris Brown college to direct the savings and loan association less than three years ago.

Always ready, willing and able to talk about Broadway Federal, Wright told the Eagle that more than 1700 first mortgage loans have been made since Broadway Federal was born. This involved $7,139,373.80 and put a lot of people in homes of their own.

With a staff of seven, Wright supervises the operation which last year paid to its 2800 savings members dividends totalling $220,311.20, after adding to its reserves more than $100,000.

He is proud of his office force and gives a verbal pat on the back to his assistant, Peter W. Dauterive, a University of Southern California graduate who was one of the first Negro route salesmen for Golden State dairy.

Wright, who comes from a well known banking and church family, likes to point out that there were 824 "members" of Broadway Federal's family at the end of the first year. That number has mushroomed to more than 4,000 today.

Things are moving so fast, the association is now making plans to move into a larger building it purchased last year.

If there is any one thing at Broadway Federal that Wright is especially proud of, it's his board of directors.

"Not only is the board composed of persons who really want to promote thrift and encourage home ownership, but all the members are outstanding citizens of this community who are making contributions that bring esteem upon themselves and our association," he said.

Members of the board are:

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, widely known dentist and civic leader, president; Paul R. Williams, nationally rated architect, vice-president; Albert Maddox, outstanding realtor, vice president; Zella M. Taylor, well known businesswoman, secretary; Dr. J. P. Taylor, leading physician, treasurer.

Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., judge of the municipal court; Edward C. Atkinson, veteran Sante Fe railroad employee; H. W. Sanders, vice president of Union Oil and a director of Union bank, and J. Allen Reese, state head of the Knights of Pythias.

FELICITATIONS — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landcraft, 1934 20th street, are among the many Santa Monicans who sent congratulations to the California Eagle on its 74th anniversary.

The NAACP has opened its 1954 membership drive. Every member of the community benefits from the activities of the NAACP. Every member of the community should pay a small portion of its debt to the association by taking out a membership now. It costs only $2 a year.

11,000 Negroes Receiving State Old Age Aid

Of the 272,000 persons on the pension rolls in California, 11,424 Negroes are receiving Old Age Aid, according to the latest figures received from Sacramento.

Other minority groups receiving such aid are 1,632 of Japanese extraction and 3,000 Mexican-Americans.

In an interview, George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare, stated these figures are far below the possible number of those who could receive pension payments if they knew what their rights were. McLain is the sponsor of the measure, "Aid to Needy Aged," intended to boost monthly payments from $80 to $100.

McCarthy Should Be Told

OKLAHOMA CITY—Birds of a feather flock together.

That's the adage of Sen. Joe McCarthy has been trying hard to make the law of the land.

On St. Patrick's Day, in a State Republican party sponsored speech, the senator told us who his friends are. Too bad, said the senator, that control of the Democratic party doesn't rest in the hands of "pillars of strength" like—you guessed it—Senators Walter F. George of Georgia, Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, John Stennis of Mississippi and Pat McCarran of Nevada.

Maybe the senator hasn't heard—but Negroes are pretty well acquainted with George, Byrd and Stennis. Wonder if McCarthy is aware that Negroes don't like Jim Crow.

"Among You As One Who Serves"

GRIFFITH AVE. AT 24TH ST.
RIchmond 8-8066

The Second Baptist Church and the Henderson Community Center are proud to salute the California Eagle on its 74th Anniversary. Like the Eagle, Second Baptist Church has long been known as one of the community's service institutions.

VITALLY NEEDED

Aside from good preaching, top rated spiritual music, organized religious education and a professional church visitor, Second Baptist offers free parking for 96 cars, a Beach House at Lake Elsinore, Sunday nursery and toddlers' room. Financial members of Second Baptist are entitled to donations when sick, extra donations in case of surgery. Free blood is available and the church provides help in the home while a member is recovering from an illness. All members are issued membership cards useful as credit and job references.

DEDICATED TO SERVICE

The Henderson Community Center affords two dormitories for working girls, a home for the aged, a recreation building with classes in ceramics, dressmaking and knitting. And there is a playground for the kiddies.

HERE IS A CHURCH WHICH CAN DO FAR MORE FOR YOU THAN YOU CAN DO FOR IT. If you have recently come to Los Angeles, don't rush to join any church. Visit us first and if you like us, we shall be happy to receive you. We never lift an after offering.

SYMBOLS OF THE FUTURE—School age children receive systematic religious instruction at Catechism Centers in the St. Patrick's parish. These centers are located close to public schools within the parish limits. Assisting the priest in this work are Our Sisters of St. Joseph, the Helpers of the Holy Souls, the Sisters of Social Service. Pictured here is the first Communion class of May, 1953. In last row is the Rev. Edward J. DeMartini, pastor of St. Patrick's.

Zion Group to Meet Here In '55

Los Angeles was one of the cities chosen by leaders of the Committees on site location in the A.M.E. Zion Church, planning an over-all program for the next two years. The 13th Quadrennial Convention of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society will be held at First A.M.E. Zion Church, Los Angeles, August 7 to 12, 1955, with Rev. S. H. Marion as host pastor.

Firm Conviction Created Church

Back in 1929 when the California Eagle was headqhartered at Ninth and Central, the late Rev. T. F. Jones won a $500 prize in an Eagle subscription contest.

Three years later, the Reverend Jones broke from his African Methodist Episcopal affiliation and founded the People's United Church of Christ.

With only members of his family as members but with a conviction that he could better serve his community in a non-denominational church, the Reverend Jones began services in his newly organized church.

Soon neighbors joined the congregation and it wasn't long before People's United Church of Christ was a well-integrated institution in the Los Angeles community.

Today, the church is located at 105th and Wilmington. Its pastor is a young attorney, Wilford R. Wilson, who with 175 members carry on a worship described by a member as having "no set doctrine or creed, just the Christian faith."

CARDUI MONTHLY CRAMPS CHANGE OF LIFE

Eighth and Towne, Founded 1872, Has Brilliant Past

"The Path to Tomorrow Leads through Yesterday." This is the slogan of the Rev. Alvia A. Shaw, first native Californian to become pastor of First AME church, the oldest Negro church in Los Angeles.

And first AME's "yesterday" is a brilliant one, filled with dramatic achievements, each a milestone on the "path to tomorrow."

Historic

"Historic Eighth and Towne," as First AME church is known throughout the country, was founded in 1872 as Stephens AME church. It was organized in the bedroom of Mrs. Biddie Mason who lived on Spring Street between Third and Fourth Streets.

This memorable beginning was sponsored by 12 persons and the record indicates that each was a layman. The church's first trustees were Charles Owens, father of Robert and Henry Owens; John Ballard, father of Dr. C. Ballard; John Hall, father of Carl Hall, and James Berry.

Met In Homes

From meetings in members' homes, the church moved into a building at Fourth and Charity (now Grand avenue). This building was rented by the Board of Education as a school house for Negro children.

The church's first minister was the Rev. Jesse Hamilton. The first bishop to preside was the Rt. Rev. T. M. D. Ward.

First AME church had difficulty in the early days. It was a real problem boosting the membership. However, despite periodic relapses, the faithful band maintained themselves over the years and with the assignment of the Rev. Jarrett E. Edwards as pastor, gigantic strides were made.

Inspired Man

A delegate to the Third Ecumenical Conference in London, England, in 1901, Reverend Edwards returned to Los Angeles an inspired man, fired with plans for the present AME church at Eighth and Towne.

In the words of Fred M. Baker and Jesse H. Sterling, Eighth and Towne historians, "In the memories of the pioneers there was little required of the great churchman that Reverend Edwards did not show himself proficient in doing.

"A product of Howard University, his great natural ability was enhanced by the best possible professional training available. He served as pastor of this church for seven years. If great things have been done in God's name and for the Christian Commission in this our Zion, all these were made possible through the efforts of Jarrett E. Edwards."

Many other consecrated men followed the Reverend Edwards. Among them was the Rev. N. P. Greggs who has been given credit for paying off all the outstanding financial obligations of the church. A superior orator, he built the church to new heights.

SALUTES EAGLE—Santa Monica's Grady McGowan, instructor in the B.T.U. at the Calvary Baptist church, joins in greeting the California Eagle on its 74th anniversary.

F. L. Staves, your Telephone District Manager in Los Angeles

Emergency power for your telephone

Once in a great while, because of storms or other emergencies, a telephone central office may be cut off from its usual source of electric power. But this doesn't interrupt telephone service. In your central office are special electric generators, run by gasoline or diesel engines. And they take over the job of charging the large storage batteries that supply the current to run the telephone system.

Planning ahead for emergencies is another way we make sure you have dependable, low-cost telephone service when you need it. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Coast-to-coast calls cost only $2.50 plus tax

Just think — you can call clear across the country — for just $2.50 plus tax. This is the day station rate for the first 3 minutes. Calls over shorter distances — to Chicago, Salt Lake City, etc., cost less. Still lower rates apply for all calls on Sundays and after 6 p.m. on weekdays.

How you can enjoy even better telephone service

If yours is a party-line, you will receive even better service by following these simple points: When you have a series of calls to make, take time out between them. This gives other people a chance to reach you. Before you call, make sure the line is clear. And in cases where someone else has to make an emergency call while you're talking, the thoughtful thing is to hang up and call back later.

Minister Rated Among Top Leaders in the United States

One of the oldest churches in Los Angeles is one of the most widely known in this community and throughout the nation.

Second Baptist church through the years has made a singular record. Today, its position in the community is guaranteed by a combination of three invaluable attributes: an outstanding minister, an outstanding physical plant and an outstanding program of service.

The Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, selected by McMillan Co. as one of the best 25 preachers in America, is a well read, well traveled and progressive minister. A leader in the National Baptist Convention, Inc., the Rev. Henderson brought to Second Baptist church a wealth of experience and inspiration.

Builds Parsonage

He put these qualities right to work. Since he assumed the pastorate he has liquidated $83,000 debt on the church, built a parsonage, organized a bustling community center and purchased a beach house for the church at Lake Elsinore.

He purchased property and converted it into a parking lot for the church and kept the Second Baptist church membership one of the most progressive in the city.

Between projects, he traveled to Nicaragua, Central America, and built a church there for the Foreign Mission Board of the National Baptist Convention. He has also visited the Holy Land, Europe, West Africa, Jamaica, Cuba and the Bahamas.

Civic Leader

As a civic leader, Reverend Henderson has been sensitive to the needs of the community. He is a member of the executive board of the NAACP. He has led his church in special campaigns for the educational equality case pending before the Supreme Court and he has been active in the March of Dimes campaign. Second Baptist church recently donated an iron lung to Rancho Los Amigos.

He once said, "I like to feel that I am an active part of anything that is worthwhile and that helps mankind."

The thousands of persons who know Reverend Henderson will agree to that.

Second Baptist church is a quarter-million-dollar structure designed by noted architect Paul Williams especialy to stimulate Christian education and dignified worship. It is California styled, has two stories and a spacious basement.

The sanctuary is shaped like an amphitheater and has a seating capacity of more than 1900. Folding doors open to additional space to increase the capacity to 2100.

The chapel is the second worship center of the church. On the wall behind the altar in this beautiful chapel are two paintings by the same Austrian artist who painted the murals in the sanctuary.

Classrooms, the basement lecture-dining room, the Toddlers room and the Infants room are other features of this Christian center.

Aside from the Henderson community center which offers a day nursery, home for the aged, two dormitories for working girls, a recreational building and playground, there are numerous other services rendered members and the community by Second Baptist church.

These special services which make the church seem "just like a friend" have made devout members of the congregation. This progressive program has brought fame to Second Baptist church that spans the nation.

SERVICE

FOR THE LIVING

At Angelus Funeral Homes the modern funeral service is considered as a service for the living, as well as a loving tribute to the departed. Instead of adding to grief, the last rites should be a consoling memory, bringing comfort and peace through the beauty and dignity of the service.

How fully this has been accomplished is best appreciated by a visit in person to Angelus Funeral Homes. This organization is proud of the facilities available, generally regarded as the finest in the community—and proud, too, of the fact that charges here are so moderate that any family can afford a complete service.

A Proven Plan to Eliminate Funeral Expense

A new funeral service policy, recommended by ANGELUS FUNERAL HOME, pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in. Low payments are made to admitted life insurer. Phone or stop in for free information, today. No obligation.

Missionary Says Africa Needs Americans' Help

Lady Epton, missionary to Africa, this week broadcast an appeal to Americans to assist in what she called one of the "great missionary fields of the world."

The missionary said she represents hundreds ond thousands of boys and girls of the African Gold Coast. Over five million of these boys and girls have never gone to school and some never will have the privilege of going unless America helps provide free education for them, she said.

In Sierra Leone, British West Africa, there are about one million uneducated. In Nigeria, with a population of over thirty million, over half are uneducated. Everywhere in West Africa there are millions of uneducated people. In the Great Sudan there is no Mission Station.

"In Gold Coast in Northern Territories where our poor African brothers and sisters go naked, they would like to hear of the Jesus you preach about, you sing about, and shout about," she said. In Northern territories of Nigeria, British West Africa, there are about 16 million African Mohammedans. Over half of the population of the Gold Coast's five million are Mohammedans.

In Sierra Leone there are very few Christians.

Rich But Pathetic

"America needs Africa's raw materials. Gold Coast is one of the richest countries in Africa. She is the second largest producer of diamonds, and produces millions of tons of Coco which is about half of the world's market. She has bauxite, magnesia and aluminum," the missionary said. "Africa has some of the finest timber, wild rubber, wild silk, cotton trees, cola nuts, grand nuts, and is famous for cocoanut and bananas and many other fine raw materials. Africa, the richest country in the world, has many of her people living in mud huts and grass thatched roofs. Millions have one piece of clothing, some have none. Africans work for a few cents a day. Children are undernourished and in over-crowded hospitals many die on the floor. There are thousands of cases of leprosy, tuberculosis, malnutrition and sleeping sickness," she explained.

Thousands lie on the dirt floor of their grass thatched mud huts and die for lack of funds for hospitalization.

Lady Epton is currently in Los Angeles making a special plea to our bishops and pastors to send missionaries to Africa. "We need farming equipment, medical centers, nurses, surgical doctors and dentists," she added.

Lady Epton may be reached at AD. 3-1812 or PL. 6-2996.

Principal speaker was Mr. John Gibson, president of the city council. Among those attending and offering congratulations to the pastor and his members were Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Washington, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson, Dr. L. L. Golden State Boasts 29 Year Success Story

Recent announcement by the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company that it had initiated disability policies was but one more milestone in a thrilling 29-year history.

At a time when there were less than 40,000 Negroes in California, William Nickerson, Jr., founded Golden State. George A. Beavers, Jr., and Norman O. Houston were co-organizers.

They received an organization charter in February, 1925. The company opened for business in a one-room office at 1435 Central avenue. The total capital was $17,800 and its physical assets included a desk, table, adding machine, file cabinet and a few chairs.

Larger Quarters

Only 79 days after it threw open its doors, Golden State moved into larger quarters. The press, churches, and citizen groups had rallied behind the new company and pushed it forward.

The first death claim paid by Golden State, in December, 1925, set a pattern for prompt settlements. Within 25 minutes after proofs of death were received in the office, the beneficiary received Golden State's first claim check.

Golden State branched out the same year it was born. An office was established in Oakland. Two years later Pasadena had a branch of Golden State Mutual. On August 7, 1928, ground was broken for Golden State's home building.

Issue Endowments

Service to policy owners was expanded in 1934 through entry into the annuity field with the issue of endowment with income at age 65 retirement policies. Four years later Golden State had its first out-of-state office—in Chicago.

The company extended its operations to the state of Texas in 1944 and set up a Dallas office. A year later, the company boasted assets of almost $2 million and $21 million of life insurance in force.

The death of the founder in 1945 did not halt the dramatic advancement of Golden State. As a monument to William Nickerson, Jr., and the faithful band of pioneers who stuck it out from the beginning, the impressive home office at Adams and Western now stands.

Nickerson Bust

Designed by Architect Paul Williams, its accommodations include an employe cafeteria, sound-proof auditorium, recreation room and library.

In the lobby are murals designed by Artists Hale Woodruff and Charles Alston depicting the Negroes' contribution to California history, and a bronze bust of William Nickerson, Jr., sculptured by Richmond Barthe.

Golden State's financial statement for December 31, 1953, showed total admitted assets of $8,496,504.63. The company boasts $80,218,545 life insurance in force.

Sallie C. Collins Taken By Death

Mrs. Sallie C. Collins passed away Sunday evening, March 21, after a lengthy illness. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. May Burns and Miss L. A. Ross, one son, Rev. A. T. Lewis, and a host of relatives and friends. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. M. F. Davis from the Triedstone Church of God in Christ, Saturday at 1 p.m. Interment Evergreen Cemetery.

Manufacturer Stresses Value of Choir Robes

"Choral activities can be dramatic, interesting, beautiful with the proper choir gowns. Directors of choral groups throughout the country agree that a robed choir is more effective in every way. The members look and feel poised, have added self-confidence, so essential to a good performance, and make it more of a privilege than ever to be a member of a community church choir," thus declared Henri O'Bryant, president of the O'Bryant Uniform Manufacturing Co. of Hollywood, during an exclusive California Eagle interview this week.

"Our firm has made robes for many of the leading churches in Los Angeles, the Bay Area and other parts of California. We are preparing for one of the biggest Easter weeks since we entered the business. However, there is still time for choirs to have new robes tailored to their special tastes, in time for Easter," he pointed out.

Stresses Color In Robes

The personable young manufacturer who heads the largest race owned and operated firm of its kind in the country today, stressed the inspirational and psychological part that color plays in church services. "Actual tests show that people are cheered or rested, soothed or excited by various colors," he said. "Therefore, choirs robed in colorful robes do a great deal to achieve desirable effects and many churches now maintain several sets of robes in different colors. A change of robes gives an inspiring 'lift' to both congregation and choristers," he added. "We have hundreds of carefully selected fabrics and colors from which to choose. Our workmanship and designs are exacting, give long wear and rich appearance.

O'Bryant was lavish in praise of the support given his enterprise by the Los Angeles community. "It is inspiring to me to know that my people are giving me their wholehearted support. We, in turn, are constantly striving to satisfaction and value received."

HENRI O'BRYANT

A veteran of World War II, O'Bryant is a graduate from Frank Wiggins school of costume design. He is an expert craftsman, and before entering business for himself, was employed by several of Southern California's leading clothing manufacturers. Working side by side with him is his charming wife, Mrs. Charlene O'Bryant, who supervises shop operations. Some 20 persons are employed at the modern O'Bryant plant located at 1142 N. Western ave. They are busily engaged the year around in manufacturing choir gowns, car-hop, hotel and restaurant, and band uniforms. They outfit just about every large drive-in cafe in California and have made uniforms for casino employees in name Las Vegas spas. Just recently Mr. O'Bryant spent a fortnight in Texas where he measured Bishop college choir, and several churches for robes. He is beginning to receive inquiries from eastern and midwestern churches. From a humble beginning eight short years ago, when he and his wife did all the cutting and sewing, until the present time when a full time staff of craftsmen and sales personnel are employed . . . is indeed a testimonial of faith.

DIVINE HEALINGS TAKE PLACE AT 'GRACE'

Reverend H. M. Jenkins, visitor; Rev. W. J. Taylor, pastor of Grace Memorial Church, 4544 Compton Ave., who graciously opened its doors to the many in attendance during the three evenings devoted to divine healing and Rev. W. F. Freeman, who conducted the ceremonies. Pictured right is a portion of the capacity gathering. (See story.) Foto by ADAMS.

Dr. Charles Herman Hampton, Vice President of the National Baptist Convention, Inc., and pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, congratulates the California Eagle on its 74th Birthday. Dr. Hampton is Vice President of the largest religious group in America having been elected in Miami, Florida, last September. He is a Graduate of Bishop College and the University of Southern California and served as President of the Western Baptist State Convention for more than ten years. He has pastored the Bethel Baptist Church of San Diego for 18 years.

FAITH HEALING AT GRACE CHURCH TOLD

Faith healing by the Rev. W. J. Taylor was described in glowing terms by Henry H. Adams this week. Adams, describing the Rev. Taylor as one of the great preachers of this age, released the following statement:

"It is difficult for a layman to write about such miracles as were performed last Thursday night by the famous healer Rev. W. P. Freeman. Preaching to a capactiy house of Grace Memorial Church,. 46th and Compton, Rev. Taylor, an inspirational leader, with his guests, conducted one of the greatest meetings ever held at this church.

"Having a graphic view of the proceedings, I can only report what I saw and heard. The sick, the blind, the deaf and crippled all came forward to be prayed for and to be healed. Rev. Freeman asked each person who came to him for aid, one question. "Do you beleive?" Those who did believe, by some supernatural power this man seemed to have were healed. It was graphic evidence that some were unable to hear, others unable to see or walk, yet after being prayed for they did see, hear and walk! With faith all things can be accomplished.

Amazing Results

"One man whose wife had been healed last year I questioned. He told this reporter he had spent several thousands of dollars on doctor bills for his wife's sickness over a period of five years. She begged her husband to take her to Rev. Freeman. At the meeting she was received and to her husband's amazement she was healed. Today this woman is a living example of this man's power.

"The many hundreds of people who were in attendance can and will say along with this soul it was truly an incredible expose of divine healing.

"The blind receive their sight and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up and the poor hear the gospel preached to them."

"This type of service has been going on at Grace Memorial Church for the past 15 years. The dynamic Rev. W. J. Taylor has been praying for the sick. The blind have received their sight. People who have not walked in 24 years, in fact all manner of diseases have been healed. Reverend W. J. Taylor has been an important factor in the lives of thousands of individuals who have found consolation in religious worship."

man of the Advisory council of the Manhattan Urban league.

Eminently Fitted

In recommending Reverend Dawkins to this institution the Secretary of Labor for the State of New York, Bertha J. Diggs, said:

"From the standpoint of his demonstrated abilities in general community work, Reverend Dawkins is eminently fitted for such position. His proven ability to function as a man well informed on civic and political, as well as religious activities in his community, marks Mr. Dawkins as most worthy of favorable consideration for increased leadership responsibility."

In accepting the call, Reverend Dawkins said, "It has been my experience that if it is God's will, a congregation and a minister are brought together to fulfill a purpose that is greater than either congregation or minister can perceive at the time. I, therefore, have confidence that if it is right, every detail will work out harmoniously."

Eagle Has Honored Past

soars in the upper stratas of the atmosphere, so does its namesake, the Eagle journal, soar in its form of good journalism."

On Neimore's death in 1912, the Eagle's destinies fell into the hands of a young woman who had reecntly joined his staff. Miss Charlotta A. Spear assumed the generalship of the soaring bird. Her marital union a few years later with J. B. Bass formed a working partnership which guided the Eagle through waters both choppy and serene.

Bass Team

J. B. Bass, an energetic and ambitious man, worked with his new wife, Charlotta Spear, and in the matter of a few years the Eagle had become a political power to be reckoned with.

An influential Republican, Bass and his associates deftly developed the Eagle into a vital GOP organ. With militant stands on all phases of minority oppression, the Eagle grew to a peak circulation which some observers have estimated at 30,000.

On his death, Mrs. Bass continued the Eagle's assault against bigotry and inhumanity. Years later, however, troubles plagued the Eagle again and three years ago, Mrs. Bass sold the nation's oldest Negro newspaper to one of the nation's foremost atorneys.

Loren Miller

Loren Miller was a widely respected lawyer even before he made international headlines by leading the legal assault against restrictive covenants. His spectacular victory in 1953 tore away the "gentlemen's agreement" in the critical housing situation across the country.

Immediately upon taking over as publisher of the "new Eagle," Miller issued a public statement defining the program of the newspaper under his administration. He declared:

"The California Eagle has changed hands . . . Mrs. C. A. Bass no longer has any interest, direct or indirect, in this newspaper. She has no voice in its editorial, news or advertising policies. Her staff has been entirely replaced.

"This change in ownership will result in a sharp break with the Eagle's immediate past and a repudiation of its stand on many issues. The Eagle will seek to re-establish the proud position it once held as spokesman for the Negroes of Los Angeles and of California."

True to his pledge, Publisher Miller in just three years has given rebirth to the most cherished principals of the democratic way of life.

He has developed the Eagle into a vigorous, fearless organ which has made a tremendous contribution toward hastening "that good day when the democratic system fulfills its promise of equality for all men."

City Mission Opening Set

Many pastors and churches will worship during the rest of March and for the month of April at the City-Wide Mission, Thursday, March 25. Rev. Horace Moore and the Bellflower Community Church will be in charge Sunday. The Masonic Grand Lodge will lay the cornerstone. Rev. J. P. King and the Full Gospel Baptist Church, together with Rev. B. Clarence Cooke, minister, and the Greater Faith Community Church will officiate.

Other assisting churches will include Rev. W. C. Jackson and Prosperity Baptist Church; Rev. Bell Hamilton and Pentecostal Church of Christ; Rev. Jerusha Luke and Faith Temple Baptist Church; Pastor A. Wendell Rose and Kingdom Baptist Church; Mrs. Marjorie Tucker, Minister of Music, will present Mr. King in recital. The public is invited to all of these services. The church is located at 7801 S. Main St.

white families to seek new homes in hostile neighborhoods.

Members of the Adams Freeway Committee, who are opposing the route, recognize the need for a super-highway to the coast, but point to the "unique" position of Negroes, Orientals and Mexican-Americans living along this route who, because of discrimination, cannot find comparable housing elsewhere.

Supervisor Burton Chase was the only city or county elected official present at the hearing, and he threw the entire weight of his position behind the business interests who are backing the Olympic route.

One speaker from the floor asked pointedly if it were not true that Malibu has laws which virtually prevent Negroes from moving into the area. The question went unanswered.

Mrs. Bettye Hill, speaking for the Sojourners Truth, whose impressive home is in the path of the new route, stated the same thing is true of all the bay cities. Her remarks, too, were unanswered.

Where Can We Go?

Representatives of Chambers of Commerce of Culver City, Venice, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica, Malibu, Pacific Palisades, as well as Los Angeles, all plugged for the route proposed by city and state engineers, declaring the need for the artery is "urgent."

Against this, and pointing out repeatedly that alternate routes could be selected which would serve the purpose equally well, were a battery of speakers who insistently demanded: "Where can we go?"

Floyd Covington, with maps and charts, showed the density of population in the area and made a telling point when he listed the new subdivisions in the city and surrounding territory which blatantly bar minorities.

Bombings, Threats

John Saito and Tats Tushida, speaking for the Japanese residents, underlined the same point with names and specific cases. George, Thomas, representing the County Conference on Community Relations, pointed to such incidents as the Dunsmuir bombing, burning of crosses, vandalism, insults and threats which greet every attempt of Negroes to live in lily-white areas.

Mrs. Elaine McMichael, teacher, stressed the difficulties children encounter in all such instances.

Repeatedly also, protesting speakers brought up the very real economic factor that nonwhites have excessive difficulty in getting fair financing on any purchases they might otherwise be able to make.

Other speakers, who represented the Adams Freeway committee, included Atty. William Freeman, Joseph Walker of the Urban League, and Victor Nickerson.

Paul O. Harding, assistant state highway engineer, testified the route will cost $6,000,000 less and require the moving of 256 fewer families than a suggested alternate route north of Pico blvd.

Decision is now up to the State Highway Commission, which must weigh the undisputed unique case of the residents of the area against the claims of economy-minded business interests who have no solution to offer for the plight of the more than 2000 families which will be displaced.

Family Mourns Mrs. Clara Hill

The family of Mrs. Clara Hill, 2024 20th street, Santa Monica, mourns her death last week after several days illness in the County hospital.

Officiating at the funeral was her pastor, the Rev. Charles Williams, assisted by Rev. McGraw, Rev. Clayton and Rev. J. W. Williams.

Interment was in Woodlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Hill had long been a faithful and active member of the Morning Star Baptist church.

Seems like we've read somewhere that there were headaches aplenty back in the yesteryears when Negro papers had to slug it out on all sides to keep the presses rollin'. Last week's affair saw some 33 young and beautiful girls make their debut. This was by far one of the largest number to be presented in the club's history.

Hardworking committee chairman Earl Parker, vice-president Daisy Williams, Florence Cole Dyer and Winston James out-did themselves making this year's annual one of the best ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Lumpkin ... to [illegible] Lumpkin, Murray Bell, John G. Rhone and Austin McCoy. (Story to Follow)

Bill Smallwood

Leontyne King picked up a few of her furs, jewels and a suit or three and went gaily up to S.F. E Pluribus Unum met at Dorothy Smart Harris' and agreed down to the last T on plans for their forthcoming (May) spring semi-formal.

They're still murmuring appreciatively about that lavish affair capable Mae Myers hostessed for the Dianes at the Town Tavern. Adjectives, all good. Well, gosh, how did we miss learning Albert McNeil had so quietly added a bride to his possessions? Due in Aug.: The Shyster Turners of DeeCee.

One of the Prettiest

One of the prettiest of those golden brown debs who bowed at the March Club affair was ex-Chicagoan Evelyn Grey, slender, energetic and smart as well. Her folks are in business here now. And they know what is meant by those fabulous Good Things In Life. Mrs. Willa Evans visited here briefly then returned to her S.F. home.

Dotti and Bob Allen's son Tommy due for Easter christening. The Eddie Sanford Smiths (Tee) are booked as godparents. Due: Dr. Carlton (S.F.) Goodlet on a quick business trip weekend. April Calendar: Betty and Jim Scott's wedding anniversary on the 28th. Adrian MacAllister birthday's on the 28th. Kay Jamieson on the 21st.

Benedict Now

Due for a probable holiday weekend: Field social worker John Williams from Berkeley. He used to kick up his heels in these parts. He's a benedict now of some seven months so his heel kicking is greatly limited to a few feeble lifts. With Joe Morris, Bob Lee and Dr. Cato Robinson as running mates back around '44 John and fellow renegades were a sort've tireless Four Horsemen galloping gaily about town.

Soloist at the recent elegant-elegant Epsicopal church wedding in S.F. of the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbie Henderson was Billy Daniels, no less. Herbie and Billy are old friends from those earlier merry-o-round days when the latter was busy in the somewhat exhausting role of playboy.

Ex-Angeleno Capt. Tommy Long was in town recently. He hurried back to S.F. Come to think of it, I don't know if Tommy returns to his Alaska air base or if he's back in Calif. permanently. Marcella Moreland (Hazel and Mantan's daughter) is contemplating an altar trip back east. Her mother lives in Flint, Mich., now. Remember those birthday parties she used to give for Marcella years and years ago when they lived here? Adele and Ernie Wanzer's daughters, children then themselves, were always on the guest list.

Remember?

And while we're sort've on the anniversary and reminiscing theme, recall those wonderful dancing parties given by the Gay Westerners long seasons back in the smaller ballroom of the Elks? Members were Bobbee Black Borders (lives now in Ind.), Ruby Terry, Lolita Coleman and Flo Rucker Wilson (widowed, blonde Flo lives now in Omaha). I've not seen Latin-looking Lolita in too many years gone by.

In those gay days Chappie Bryant was active socially and never missed a dance, gosh. And Betty and Jim Scott could be depended on to join us for a mad Lindy or two. And Bernyce Eblon Smith, a college gal then, would take the gang by her house and waffles and coffee would vie with a.m. giggles and chatter. And Atty. Jack Terry looked exactly then as he looks right now, black hair glistening.

On A Sunday Noon

And no one would think of missing a frat or sorority dance. You got yourself together in a hurry, too, on Sunday noons for did you not always make a bee-line to the beach spot at Santa Monica where everybody else lounged, waved and peered? Ruth Ellington James was spending long weeks out here then and her arrival always caused mass speculation as to what she was wearing, who she was with and why.

Thelma Pryce-Biram's spacious house at Venice usually held a crowd on the spur of the moment. Helen Smith was the town's Number One sassiety columnist then. On the Eagle, of course. And Mil Blount had just come to town a bit apprehensive if she should linger or go back east.

You may add the following reason to the long list of why she's so darn glad she didn't recross the Rockies: Latest achievement for her is her hat on the front of current Pageant magazine and she appears in the next Lucky Strike endorsement ad nationally and she recently completed a whole slew of hats created for a major film company on location in Egypt!

Connie B.: Surprised? I am too!

Jennie Woods Addresses Club

Jennie Woods, president of Las Primeras Club, was guest speaker at the All Purpose Club. Her topic was "I Have Nothing to Sell." All members of the group are looking forward to Sunday when they will have as their guest Mabel Hill, president of the All Purpose Club. Next club meeting will be held at the home of Vergie Lee

SUPPORTING ALPHA EASTER SHOW. A fine gesture on the part of beautiful and talented Carmen De Lavallade, appearing in "The Egyptian" now being filmed by 20th Century Fox Studios, and "Wild Bill" Davis, playing with his record-breaking trio at the Royal Room on Hollywood Boulevard. Miss De Lavallade and Davis are purchasing tickets from Alpha men Herbert A. Greenwood, police commissioner; and Charles Fielding, deputy city attorney, for the Alpha Easter Benefit Show, April 18, at the Florentine Gardens. Atty. Fielding, Carmen De Lavallade, Wild Bill Davis; rear, Ewris Carmichael, member, public relations committee; and Commissioner Greenwood.

Servicemen visiting the USO last Wednesday at the 28th Street Y.M.C.A. were reminded that it was St. Patrick's Day when they entered the attractively decorated gym. The committee went all out in their effort to supply the right shade of green.

A March Air Force combo furnished the music with Pasadena's Danny Horton swinging the baton.

Young Misses enjoying the festivities included Mildred Harvey, Fannie Sinclair, Claire Sylvester, Theresa Hill, Laura Hill, Jurrie Emerson, Elsie Ventress, Lillian Crenshaw, Juanita Johnson, Edna Reese, Marion Morris, Odessa Cole. Decoration and refreshments committee included Claudine McCloud, Lucille Oliver, Mary Burris. Guests were Dorothy Mayberry, Ella Jamerson, Oler Sanders, Elsie Sanders, Mary Jane Lowe, Peggy Johnson, Howyne Myatt, Marion Brown, Margaret Allen, Willie Allen, Florence Clarke, Beryl Henry, Josephine Johnson, Ellen Dumas, Irene Sevier, Pernisia Robinson, Betty Jean Brantery, Barbara Gibson, Betty Wicks, Jessie Clark, Ruthie Williams, Evelyn Johnson, Pearl Smith, Mary Johnson, Ola Mae Curry, Annie Owens, Aloha Washington, Johnnie Washington, Jean Glover, Mattie Lee, Fornie Caldwell, Letta Palmer, Beatrice Wilkson.

IN BENEFIT SHOW—Jefferson High School's famed A Capella Choir, representing some of the finest young talent in the field of music, will appear in the Prince Hall Mason's Child Welfare Benefit Show, "Youth on Parade," to be held at the Lincoln Theater April 9 at 8:00 p.m.

Royal Syndicators Sparkle at Dance

Royal Syndicators, popular gay blades of the social club circles and one of city's leading groups, entertained last Saturday night at the Chase Hotel in the club's annual semi-formal dance.

The dapper dans watched more than 1500 guests arrive to enjoy one of the top socials of the season.

President Paul (Woody) Brown and his 26 odd members threw open their arms to the gay crowds who braved a steady down pour to be on hand.

Members and their wives retired to the party room of the hotel and promptly at 11:30 a.m. the group was introduced to the overflowing crowd.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

The basic principle of the point count system is to enable a partnership to determine exactly how much it will be able to make on any given hand. This is true of all systems in bridge, but it would seem that point count is easier to learn and as accurate or more accurate than any other system.

Within limits, a total of 21-22 points between a partnership will produce one trick over six. Twenty-three to 24 points will produce two odd. Twenty-five to 26 will produce three odd. Twenty-seven to 29 will produce four odd. As we mentioned last week, 33 to 37 will produce six odd and 38 and over will produce seven.

This scale is very convenient for players of all caliber and is easily remembered. After two or three bids, the partnership knows its point total and hence its contract level.

Exception

The exception to the above may be mentioned in two words, distributional factors. Naturally if one hand holds 13 cards of a suit it can make seven in that suit, and its high card holding is only ten points. And there are other possibilities where freak distribution enters in to turn apparently ice cold contracts into bad sets. Therefore, all rules are made with normal distribution in mind. When distribution is not normal, each player must consider this factor in his bidding and his play.

Regardless of his system, a bridge player must always use his common sense.

When distribution is favorable, that is the time to bid higher, even if your high card point strength is otherwise a little too weak. That is why two points are added to hands for singletons and three points are added for voids when they are favorable to your hand.

Favorable

One example of favorable distribution is to have a biddable suit plus a singleton or void in the suit in which the opponents bid. This is even better if your partner bids because when you will also have at least two or three cards in his suit.

A second example is to have at least a six card suit headed by the ace and king. This means that under ordinary distribution there is a maximum of one loser in that suit.

One example of unfavorable distribution is to have a singleton in your partner's suit. It is then wise to be careful before bidding too high if you and your partner are to play the contract. Of course if you defend the hand it may mean that you will get one or two ruffs and so defeat the opponents. These factors must always be considered.

On Tuesday evenings at the YWCA, these and other factors and problems of bridge are discussed. The time is 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

Gay Lords Plan Top Cabaret Hop

Gaylords Social club held its regular meeting at the home of Clarence Jackson with most of the evening's busines devoted to the club's cabaret dance slated for April 3. The site of the affair will be the Armenian dance hall, 1501 Venice Blvd. Music will be played by the fabulous "88" Waller, featuring the alto sax of Marvin Johnson, ex-trouper of the Count Basie band.

President Fred Wills announced that the group has gone all out to make this affair one of the best in its history. Top flight guest artists will be out to entertain their many friends. Tickets can be secured from club members.

Bronze Orchids Plans Dancette

The regular meeting of the Bronze Orchids Social and Charity Club was held at the home of Mrs. Laura Wells. The members had as their guests the participants for the forthcoming second annual fashion show.

The show will be held April 11 at 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Club Californian.

Houstonians Entertain

Members of the Houstonians Social and Charity club entertained a group of well known Texans attending the recent Educational conference at the Statler hotel. Visitors included William Moore, vice president of Phillis Wheatley Highschool, Houston; and Wendell Terrell, cipal of Central High, Galveston.

The exclusive men's Pacific Town club was the setting for the enjoyable meeting. Local guests included Mrs. Mary Lou Tolbert, Dr. Claude Hudson, George Smith, Helen Arline, Ann Moore, Grace January, Vivian Johnson, Dorothy Bowick and Paul De Vann. Clora R. Wright acted as hostess.

Club members attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Booker Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Debato.

Saddling 20 Hold Meeting

SANDMAN'S LAMENT

It's a quarter to three and our eyelids are hanging heavy over our noses. . . . We didn't make a call and our minds are so dull we can't even remember what we did over the weekend. . . . Let's see. . . . We were in a heck-uva crowd. . . . Crowds, crowds. . . . Egads, how could we forget the "dillion" people who were stepping (stomping) on our tootsies Sattidy a.m. . . . 'Twas the Royal Syndicators, almost formal. . . . Can't remember a name. . . . Oh, yes! A married couple is looking for a name for their baby. . . . Can't remember their name either. . . . Some girl from Nigeria is getting deported next week, heard they pitched a fandango for her. Guess it was nice. . . . A friend of ours wants his wife back; she left him last week. . . . "So you want to make it a federal case."

PASS THE COFFEE

Here's an eyeopener (if it be possible). "The Whip and Saddle Clubbers" made last minute preparations for their Sunday evening's Bar-b-Que party. . . . Hmmnn.

L.E.D. . . . This doesn't mean anything to us but I guess it does to the "Lorelei Gal" group. . . . It's the theme for an affair they are givsphlurt. . . . Yawn. . . . Let's see what else we can dismember . . . Uh . . . Ted Shaffer was with a buet the night of the semi-formal, so was Billy Benefield. . . . Ho Hum!

Central Ave's newly opened Down Beat sports jam sessions with the feminine touche'. . . . The gals below furiously. . . . March Clubbers turned out. . . . Uh . . . Presented the Debs Sattidy. . . . The Aka's and Delta's were very frigid or cold any way you look at it) after their trek to the snowcapped mountains. . . . That was a week ago, guess they're normal again. . . . Normal. . . . Cousin Ed Spencer, who just got out of that man's army, is being rehabilitated . . . by his bitter half.

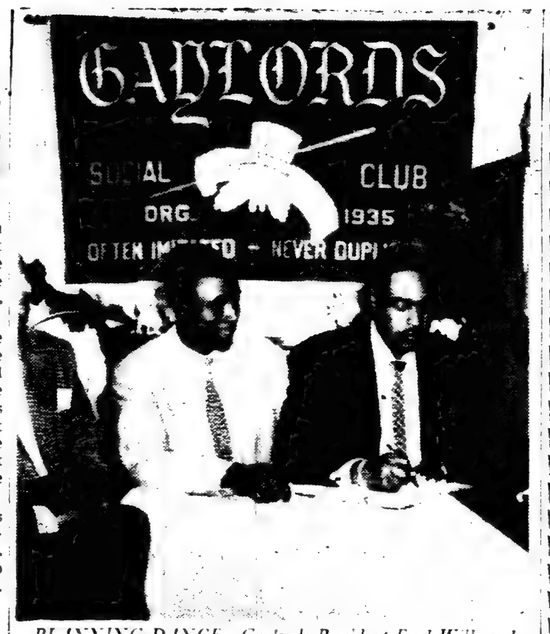
LAST NOD

One more nod of our weary heads and we will have to give into that man with the sand in his hand. . . . We almost forget about the thrills that will be had at the opening game of the Frat series this weekend. . . . Rah Rah yawn.

After the frat games some folks have expressed a desire to attend the AKA's annual Apache dance. . . . They say the Q's will take the frat series again this year. . . . We don't know about that, but of course at this late hour we wouldn't know a basketball if it spoke to us.

Hear that the blue sulted boys are stationed outside of Brandon Bolin's hospital room. . . . Guess they think he will try to stage a breathtaking gettaway. . . . Nighty nine.

Maccabees Slates Dance



The Modern Maccabbees of West Adams will feature a folk dance session at their next social, Friday evening, March 26, to be held at their regular meeting place, 5180 West Adams Blvd. A professional caller will be on hand to teach and call the dances. Beginners will be welcome.

The Modern Maccabbees is a local club of young Jewish parents who are interested in fostering better community relations. Their meetings are held every second and fourth Friday of the month.

Spanish Dinner At John Adams

A Spanish dinner will be sponsored by the John Adams P.T.A. in the school cafeteria April 27. Public Schools Night will be the occasion with Mr. C. Galindo, a physical education instructor, serving as caterer.

All families and faculty are invited to attend.

PLANNING DANCE—Gaylords President Fred Wills and Travis Moultrie, secretary, complete arrangements for their April 3 dance at Armenian Hall, 1500 Venice Blvd.

Nanette Club Fetes Gala 29th Birthday Festivity

Another group is celebrating an anniversary this year. It lacks the years that The California Eagle is proud to claim, but the Nanette Club is distinguished by being one of the oldest social clubs in Los Angeles.

Twenty-nine years ago on a Sunday afternoon, Dolly Nazimova (Townsend) Banks suggested to a small group of her close friends that it would be nice to start a little group for the purpose of fun and community service. Among the earlier members were:

Mrs. Dolly Nazimova (Townsend) Banks, Mrs. Norman (Edyth Pryce) Houston, Mrs. Raymond (Louise Murray) Matthews, Mrs. Harold (Myrtle Duncan) Wise, Mrs. Otis (Margaret Carter) Rene, Mrs. Jefferson (Laura Bruce) Fowler, Mrs. Everett (Elsie Grass) Parchman, and Mrs. James (Helen Duncan) Garrott.

Over this period of a little more than 25 years, the Nanette Club can look back to the times when bids to its unique annual affairs were considered a premium and can also note the many changes that have occured over a period of so many years. In the early days of the club, when the girls entertained, their mothers acted as hostesses and parents were always expected to be present at all the dances. Now, when they or their children entertain they hire a caterer and the parents are conspicuous by their absence.

The club started with a group of young girls just out of high school and within a few years many of its functions were concerned with honoring its newly engaged or married members. Now many of its members are mothers and grandmothers with their children taking an active part in social and community affairs. Among them are Otis and William Rene, sons of Margaret Rene; Jackie, June, and Raymond Matthews, children of Louise Matthews; Heyward Thompson, son of Edyth Houston; Rhae Tate, daughter of Elsie Parchman; and Harold, Carol Ann, and Zoe Wise, children of Myrtle Wise.

Sports Roundup

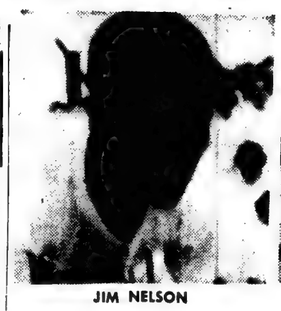
By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

THIS IS OUR BIRTHDAY—

BERKELEY—This edition marks the 74th year of continuous publication of the California Eagle . . . We've been advancing our views and comments on the sports page ever since our fabulous publisher Loren Miller took over in April of 1951 . . .

Brad Pye, Jr.

Since being associated with the Eagle we've tried to be hard hitting and fair in our reporting . . . And we're confident you'll agree the same holds true for the rest of the staff. We hear at the Eagle believe this is the kind of reporting our readers prefer . . . All of our verbal boosters can make our birthday a happy one, and at the same time have a good time for a dime, by purchasing a year's subscription.



PYE'S PICK-UPS—

We believe the Hollywood Stars took a step in the right direction in adding Frank Terry to their publicity staff . . . Hollywood, which was one of the last PCL clubs to hire Negro players, we understand are going after a "big name one" this season. And Frankie boy is the lad who'll sell the said player to the Negro Press and fans . . .

Harrison Dillard and Jessie Owens, the two great trackmen, are doing a dynamic job for the Cleveland Injuns in the same capacity . . . Undoubtedly, the other PCL members will follow suit . . . In passing, the SF '49ers could certainly use a man of color on their publicity staff or someone who knows about the Negro Press.

PRO PROSPECTS—

Bob Wilson, a Brooklyn farm hand who batted over the .300 mark the last three campaigns, is strong bet to be the Oaks' thirdbaseman opening day . . .

Toilers Team Rated Powerful

By EDW. "ABIE" ROBINSON

Coach Charles Toney isn't telling relatives and friends about his brilliant track and field team over at Manual Arts. He sorta wants to surprise the peasants by upsetting Jefferson Democrats, who have the idea they are a shoo-in for their 16th consecutive Southern League title when they meet April 23.

Toney's crew, defending state champions, showed plenty of power in easily crushing Roosevelt, 65-39, last week.

Despite the powerhouse showing of the Toilers, Coach Toney is wailing about that lack of depth in his team. Over at the Hooper Street institution which houses the mighty Jeffersonians its headman, Estel Johnson, is mourning the same tune.

Just to give you an insight on the two potent track squads we submit this summary: In crushing Roosevelt, Manual took eight events, including the relay, while allowing Roosevelt only four firsts.

Meanwhile, Jeff was swamping Garfield to the tune of 99-5, allowing the outclassed Bulldogs only one second and two thirds.

However, Coach Toney is counting on improvement of his team in each event before their important dual meet with Jeff which will undoubtedly decide the Southern League title. Everett Jackson, the Toiler sprint king, is being counted on to breeze a fast century. His fastest time today in 9.9 in the century and 14.9 in the 120 high hurdles. Earl Hall is looking to better his 13.2 mark in the lows. Macio Keeling with 21 ft. 6½ in. in the broad jump can be improved, as well as Al (Bones) Morri's 6 ft. 1 in. in the high jump.

Coach Toney is counting heavily on improving in the field events, including the pole vault, hurdles, shot put, and with a certain amount of luck, in the 440 and mile. Such improvements could make it mighty close for the Demos.

The nationally famous Harlem Globetrotters will appear at the Los Angeles Coliseum in an all-star game against the College All-Americans Sunday, 3 p.m., April 11.

Sponsored by the Beverly Hills Chapter of the City of Hope Medical Center, the colorful basketball match will turn over one-half of the proceeds to benefit the free, nonsectarian hospital at Duarte.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Los Angeles Music Company, 741 South Hill, TUcker 2371, or can be obtained by calling PLeasant 8-0923, DUnkirk 3-3169, ARizona 7-4323, or STate 9-1986. Charles Edelman, chairman, announced 1000 choice seats are available.

Whitfield, Dillard Scores in Meet Sat.

CLEVELAND — Harrison Dillard and Mal Whitfield, Olympic stars, kept their meet crowns in the fourteenth annual Knights of Columbus competition here last week.

Dillard won the 45-yard high hurdles for the ninth year in a row, and Whitfield outclassed the field in the 600-yard run.

Hollywood Stars Boosters Expecting You Opening Day

By CHAZZ & "ABIE"

To establish better press relations between all peoples, regardless of race, creed, or what have you the Hollywood Ball Club tossed a press party (for predominately Negro scribes) last Friday in the American Room of Hollywood Derby and admitted they had "missed the boat" heretofore by not getting closer to the ticket buyers.

There is now a Hollywood Stars Boosters Club who will keep the ball rolling, so to speak. "One More in Fifty Four" is the Booster's slogan, which of course expresses the players pennant hopes for this semester.

Genial Frank Terry, praise relations man for NBC, has been appointed the "tub thumping" chore for the Stars, and is doing a superb job. The Terry lad introduced the ball clubs top brass that included Bob Cobb, the prexy, and owner of the Derby restaurants, Bob Clemens, vice prexy, Bob Brogan, the team manager, and the illustrious Branch Rickey Junior, of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Parent Club of the Stars

Rickey predicted that the team wants more than anything to have a capable Negro ballplayer on the roster, and at a soon date. It is to be remembered that this is the same man who made history for the all American past time when he signed Jackie Robinson to the Dodgers.

The problem of reserved box-seats was brought up. Many turn downs at the box-office for the privilege pews result in indignation from some of our citizens who believe they are being shunted about when they arrive in the park and note the vacancies. Those folks who show up have subscribed for the season, and when they don't show, they fail to cancel that day's game. Bear with the Stars. They're trying to do the right thing. They're badly in need of pitching help, but they swear that this too shall pass. We don't know about you, but we'll be right out there rooting for 'em!

The press luncheon for the Hollywood Stars baseball club was held at Brown Derby (Vine Street) in the American Room. Those attending included Bob Cobb, president of the Brown Derby, Bob Clemens, vice-president, Bob Bregan, Hollywood Stars team manager and Branch Rickey Jr. owner of the club.

The NAACP has opened its 1954 membership drive. Every member of the community benefits from the activities of the NAACP. Every member of the community should pay a small portion of its debt to the association by taking out a membership now.

Bay Meadows. Mrs. Petite Luellwitz' Moonrush, who already has won three renewals of the Baymeadows Handicap, is expected to strike for a fourth success in that $25,000 event this Saturday. Moonrush won this event in 1949, but did not run in the stake in 1950. He came back to capture it in 1951 and 1952. Moonrush also won the Santa Anita Handicap in 1951. His only race this spring was in the St. Patrick's Day Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth. He finished an uncomplimentary fourth behind Wild Glory, Aptos and War Rings. The track, however, was muddy and while he can handle some off tracks, the sort of footing that prevailed for the St. Patrick's Day feature probably was not to his liking.

Beautiful Caliente in Old Mexico: Magic Lead, who cost only $250 as a yearling, is approaching greatness. His $1210 winner's purse last Sunday brought his earnings to $20,675. The question with the fans was whether he was a true router under the steady pelting rain, and the inspiration of Jockey Wayne Burgin, who had won the first three races, Magic Lead dissipated all roubts. Burgin broke the son of Leadman-Magic Coat on top and never looked back.

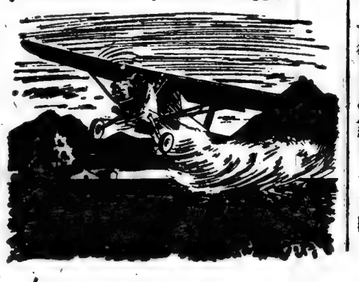
From the West's first successful oil wells of 1879, Standard's drilling operations have stretched all over the world—even in ocean depths 4 miles off shore—to get the oil which you and our friends in other free nations need more and more.

Gasoline was a waste product in Standard's first refinery of 1879, but it's king today. We've developed fuels that made better engines possible, used research tools like the chassis dynamometer (below) to bring you today's top gasolines.



Before horses gave way to horsepower, Standard's wagons of the '80's brought only kerosene, harness oil and axle grease to Western farms. Now our insecticides, weed-killers, fertilizers help increase crop yields and add to your food supply.

First steel tanker in the Pacific, Standard's SS George Loomis back in 1888 began helping us put oil where you need it. Today 26 tankers, 3,748 miles of pipe line, thousands of tank trucks serve your oil needs everywhere in the West, Alaska, Hawaii.

World's first gas station was opened by Standard in 1907 at Seattle, Washington. Since then, we've pioneered the car care you enjoy now—windshield cleaning, tire, battery, lubrication, even "Chevromatic" credit cards to save you time.

Sinking All Putts

By "SHOELESS JOE" JACO

Barney Fikes, formerly assistant professional at Lakeside and Palm Springs Country Clubs and various other golf clubs throughout the country, and currently in charge of the electrical maintenance shop at Hal Roach Studio, enlisted the aid of Bill Rawleigh, a scratch golfer, who is Cascade Pictures' top grip, to promote a unique and highly entertaining studio golf "tournette."

This affair was held at the Culver City golf course, a 1441 yard par 29 layout, last Sunday for Roach employees. Barney and Rawleigh, being a hit on the iconoclastic side, invited a foursome of Cosmopolitan Golf Club members who are still commenting on the democratic spirit and the air of revelry that prevailed. Copious amounts of refreshments were available and as a consequence good golf suffered.

Rawleigh's 65 was good enough for low gross honors, while Fikes, very fittingly, nabbed the runnerup prize with a 67. A Cosmo, Jaco, tied Fred Hinman, formerly assistant to the pro at Brentwood C.C., for third spot with a 70 even. Jaco won the toss for the prize, Oscar Walker, a Cosmo, won the most enviable prize, a beautiful decanter of Old Taylor. However, he did not get off the golf course with it. Harold Batiste and Chas. Patterson were the other Cosmopolitan members who participated. Each received a guest prize.

To Mildred Battiste, Harold's very charming wife, was given the honor of presenting the prizes.

This affair was important inasmuch as it strengthens the theory that golf is a great leveler, and it is one more step taken forward in the Cosmopolitan club's quest for membership in the U.S.G.A.

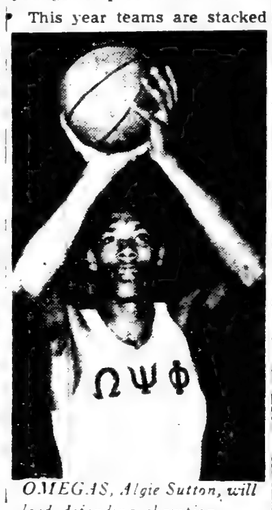
Alphas, Sigmas Open Inter-Frat Cage Series

The 23rd inter-frat series gets underway Saturday, March 27, at 8 p.m., in the Loyola gym. Alphas host the Sigmas in the curtain raiser. Defending champions Omegas drew the always hard to beat Kapps.



The series always gets off to a slow start but around the last swing of the tourney you have to leave dinner on the table in order to get a decent seat. That's how popular the series have grown.

Much credit for the present setup of the series can be credited to the untiring efforts of Bob Green and William Penn. They work unceasingly to establish what is now one of the city's most popular events. Since the departure of the two popular Kappas the series dropped into a case of hard work of finding a site year after year and at times we thought we might lose it.

However, it looks as though that tough old rule of the Inter-Frat council gave way again! Although the council serves a very good purpose we do think it is high time they hire experienced help to promote the series.

The scholarship fund would grow, series play would improve, and it certainly would create more interest among the younger crop of students.

This year teams are stacked up about the same as last year with but one team boasting much improvement over last year's team.

OMEGAS, Algie Sutton, will lead defending champion.

That team is the Kappa's, who once ruled the title for years and was always the team to beat. Kappas are said to be doubly strong in each department.

Coach Fred Griffin, one of the smartest young basketball coaches in the city, barring none, said, "Don't take my team lightly." The Omegas dropped only one game during the series play last season.

Cagey Griffin can whip a team together fast and if our guess is right the Omegas will repeat as champions.

Alphas should play better ball than last season and the Sigmas have a big problem of building from nothing. Last year's squad won only one game.

At any rate, there's always that thrill and excitement you get out of rootin' for the home team. So come on out. It's Inter-Frat time!

SOUTHERN UNIV. CATS SET TO DEFEND TITLE

Southern University's defense of the Southwestern conference baseball crown will get underway next week, when the Jaguar Cats tangle with the Bishop College Tigers at Marshall, Texas.

The Cats opened their current slate last week against the Texas Southern Tigers here as a part of the 11-game home schedule.

Coach R. H. Lee promised the Jaguar partisans that his Cats will be as strong as any he has coached, despite the fact that the majority of them are newcomers. He said that the freshmen have the hustle and competitive spirit that will make them good contenders. Lee also admits that the Jaguars will have plenty of batting power. At least four of the hold-overs were hard hitters of the home-run type who produced a large number of runs as the champions breezed through the Southwest to annex the diamond crown.

Dave Rollins Faces Smith

Dave Rollins, goodlooking Detroit lightweight boxer, headlines the ten round feature event at the Olympic Auditorium this Tuesday night. Rollins faces durable Ruben Smith, a local yokel who once ruled the bantamweight roost. Rollins has racked up an impressive coast record, having just beaten Jose Cotero in a thriller. He is managed by the capable Eddie Futch, who will be gunning for a quick, fast win over Smith. He hopes to make this a banner year for his young lightweight boxer.

Bratton Sues Boxing Board

HARRISBURGH, Pa.—Former welterweight boxing champion, Johnny Bratton, filed suit in Dauphin County court last week against the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, seeking return of a $3,000 fine imposed by the commission. Bratton also sought reinstatement as a boxer. The fighter appealed from an action of the commission in imposing the fine and suspending him for "not putting forth his best efforts" in a 10-round losing bout with Johnny Saxton last Feb. 24, in Philadelphia.

NEW REFEREE—Ted Meyers, popular KHJ-TV sports commentator at South Gate boxing arena, gets a few boxing hints from John Thomas, newly appointed referee. Thomas refereed the entire boxing card last Wednesday night.

Trojans Cards 28-Ball Game

Rod Dedeaux, SC baseball coach, announced a 28-game schedule for the Trojan varsity today that includes five practice games with Pacific Coast League teams before the CIBA season opens March 26.

Dedeaux also announced a 1-game schedule for the Spartan, or junior varsity, team

Inter-Agency Hoop Finals At Lincoln

Inter-agency finals of the boys basketball championships were slated for Monday night (March 22) at Lincoln Park Playground, 3600 Mission Road, following four hotly contested semi-final games last Thursday night.

In junior division action last Thursday, the Newton Street Deputy Auxiliary Police Service team turned back the Resurrection Catholic Youth Organization squad, 48-31, while the Will Rogers County Park hoopsters nipped the South Park City Playground "Warriors," 50-47.

Senior division playoffs last Thursday featured the 55-44 triumph of the Central City Playground "Comets" over the Watts DAPs and the Sacred Heart CYO's win over the Will Rogers County Park seniors, 50-42.

The Newton Street DAPs and Will Roger County juniors were scheduled to clash at 7:30 p.m. Monday, and the "Comets" and Sacred Heart CYO cagers were set to collide at 9 p.m., according to Ralph Borrelli, director of special events in the City Recreation and Park Departments.

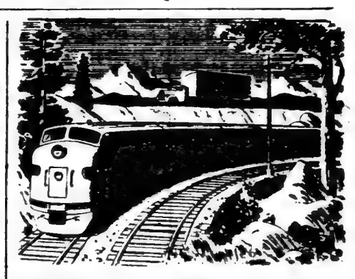
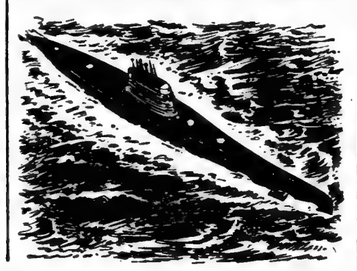
CALIENTE RACE TRACK Tijuana, Mex.



First oil industry 8-hour day was introduced by Standard in 1917. This was a major step in our employee relations programs which include health, pension, insurance benefits and a stock purchase plan—95% of eligible employees own Company stock.



On Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight in 1927, we fueled "The Spirit of St. Louis." Now, safer airliners, faster military planes mark aviation progress which Standard research has served. Today we're making jet and rocket fuels for tomorrow's aircraft.

New power for transportation and industry was born in 1935 when Standard's first compounded diesel lubricating oil made high-speed diesel engines a practical reality. Now our scientists are working on lubricants for the first atomic submarine.

Starting housework easier, Standard made detergents available for "soapless soaps" in 1946. Later we produced the basic ingredients for "wrinkle-proof" clothing for men and women, adding again to the more than 1100 products we make from oil.

We pioneered peace-time use of atomic energy. In 1950, using radioactive piston rings, Standard measured engine wear as it occurs, used this research to develop better motor oils, including a new oil so superior it can boost gas mileage up to 15%.

The promise of the past is an even better future

You wear a suit woven from oil, drive on tires born in a refinery, whisk over asphalt super-highways, read about kerosene-powered planes that crack the sound barrier. And you live in a West undreamed of by those 1879'ers who formed the Company from which Standard grew.

What lies ahead? If the past is any clue, oil will be saving you more work and money, improving your transportation and putting more luxury in your living. And Standard will continue to play a big part in this progress as we follow our 75-year tradition of planning ahead to serve you and the nation better.

Dickie Barrow Bows at Mo-Mo Club March 30

Songster Dickie Barrow, one of the stellar showbusiness figures of our time, will open an engagement at Sacramento's Mo-Mo Club beginning March 30th. Barrow's massive repertoire includes songs in seven languages, and showtunes from the great stage hits of all time.

Dickie Barrow

Well Traveled

The heavyset heart throb of song has recently appeared at the Latin Quarter in Montreal, the Baby Grand in N.Y., the Earle theater in Philly, the Sophie Tucker revue at the Florentine Gardens, and locally at the Hillcrest club.

Great At. Weight

As a climax to his great act, "the Barrow" who weighs in at 240 lbs. always surprises his audiences with an impromptu dance bit. This feat has been termed "the pulchritude of swing," inasmuch as it's fantastic to learn that the big guy is so light on his feet while tripping the light fantastic.

'3 Men On a Horse' In Last Weekend At the Showcase

"Three Men on a Horse" definitely will wind up its sensational run this weekend at the Ebony Showcase Theatre, according to operators of the popular community playhouse.

Final Chance

"It is a certainty that our present show absolutely will have its final three performances this Friday, Saturday and Sunday," Nick and Edna Stewart, owners of the Ebony, said in a joint statement. "We are already in the final stages of rehearsal for our next play, which will open early next month."

"Three Men on a Horse" is the fourth consecutive hit to be staged by the Ebony group since its founding last year. From the standpoint of attendance, favorable audience reaction and sheer entertainment value, it has topped such previous hits as "Anna Lucasta," "Right Where You Are" and "No Exit."

Plenty Seats Available

Critics of the daily and weekly newspapers have been unanimous in their praise of the hilarious comedy and have termed it one of the greatest laugh shows to play this town in years.

A highly capable cast, headed by James Edwards, Johnny Lee, Sammy Gardner, Suzette Harbin and Nick Stewart, keeps the comedy moving at a rapid pace throughout.

Good tickets are still available for each of the last three performances. For reservations contact Ebony Showcase Theatre, 2182 W. Washington Blvd., REpublic 6448.

The First 74 Years . . . or The Eagle of the Future

ern, Abie had junked his job of circulation chief and had taken over the fascinating task of supervising the dispatching of 225,000 copies of his paper, photographically relayed directly to subscribers' homes. As usual, nothing bothered "Abie," not even the intricate mechanism he dallied with.

High up in the ivory tower of the Eagle building, Publisher Miller paused before a door above which a red light blinked a warning.

Looking through the glass, he saw Jimmy Anderson, the Eagle's crack political editor, engaged in a nationally hooked-up TV press conference with the President of the United States. Persistent Jimmy jockeyed with the nation's top reporters for the floor. And, as of old, he got it.

On his way to see what Cool Chazz Crawford had cooked up for his theatrical pages, Publisher Miller ran into pert Zebba Howze weighted down with fantastic gear including a space helmet and oxygen tank. She explained that she had just talked the government into letting her take the first press junket to the moon, the only woman representative of the fourth estate.

Unable to find Cool Chazz, Publisher Miller checked with Cal Russ and learned that his theatrical editor was covering the latest "new sounds" of one Diz Gillespie who was demonstrating how to bounce flattened fifths off the sun.

A Dream?

Cal, efficient and smiling, reigned over the office force with her usual ease and reported to the chief that the new super-sonic bookkeeping system was working fine.

Publisher Miller smiled and made his way back to his waiting monorail coach. His gait was springy, his heart was light. His newspaper was tops. He climbed into his steel speed demon, pushed a button and zoomed back to his law office. That Supreme Court brief needed one last look . . .

An impossible dream?

A dream—perhaps.

Impossible? Not on your life.

NICKERSON ORGANIZED GSM BECAUSE HE WANTED JOBS FOR NEGRO YOUTH

GSM Founder William Nickerson Jr. — 1879 — 1945

"The Negro in the insurance field buys a desk for a typist, he buys her a typewriter, and he puts the training she has acquired in school, and the talent that God has given her, to work in the business world."

William Nickerson, Jr., entusiastic, visionary, said this to an audience five years before his death in 1945. Twenty years earlier he had founded Golden State Mutual. Thirty-six years earlier he had helped to establish the first life insurance company owned and controlled by Negroes in his native state of Texas.

"The Negro operated insurance company," Mr. Nickerson continued, as he explained the reason for GSM's organization, "affects the whole order of Negro life. He molds a new pattern in the social structure and ultimately in the political life of the Nation."

In almost every speech the GSM founder made, he discussed the importance of Negro business as a means of getting the Negro into the main stream of the Nation's economic development. "For how," he would invariably ask, "is the Negro to prove he is capable unless he actually does the job?"

Golden State Mutual started out with a small group of men on its agency staff an done office clerk. The physical assets of the firm were meager: capital, $17,800; furniture and fixtures, one desk, one table, one adding machine, one file cabinet and a few chairs.

Mr. Nickerson and his associates, George A. Beavers, Jr., and Norman O. Houston, worked hard to stretch this beginning to several hundred job opportunities for young men and women and millions of dollars worth of insurance protection.

GSM's agents are successful business men, earning as high as $10,000 and more a year. Trained field men, numbering over 450, hold a variety of positions: field representatives, staff and district managers, field auditors, claims representatives, and other special representatives.

In the eighteen branch offices in California, Illinois, Texas, and in the Home Office, about 150 men and women work at numerous stimulating jobs. Correspondence, information, payrolls, claims, policy loans, bills for Company operations, policy issue, cnfidential matters important to the operation of a business which lists millins of dollars in assets pass across the desks of highly trained personnel.

"There is an objective that prompts every movement for good," Mr. Nickerson wrote in his memoirs. "Golden State Mutual was organized because there was a deep-seated desire to render service."

NICKERSON HOMES TRIBUTE

Los Angeles paid great tribute to GSM Founder Nickerson, recently naming for him one of the city's beautiful low-cost public housing projects. The William Nickerson Jr. Gardens in South Los Angeles opened to receive the first family last February.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE ON 74th BIRTHDAY

The office and field staff, officers, and directors of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company offer sincere congratulations to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE on its 74th Anniversary.

In the early days of Golden State Mutual the publishers of the EAGLE were substantial supporters of business progress in the community. Many of its editorials were keyed to "increased racial consciousness and the awarkening of the people to the many opportunities offered in local businesses."

This dedication to the economic development of the community was acknowledged by GSM management in the early days of the company's development in the use made of the EAGLE'S pages to get its own message of progress across to the people of Los Angeles. GSM ads began appearing in the CALIFORNIA EAGLE early in 1925 when Founder Nickerson and his associates began the work of making their business dream come true.

IN TWENTY-NINE YEARS: $6,000,000 FOR BETTER HOMES — $8,000,000 IN CASH INSURANCE BENEFITS From $17,800 to $8,500,000

"Our 29th annual report gives us real pride, because it is a service report," said GSM President O. Houston as he traced his Company's 29-year growth.

The financial statement covering the year 1953 showed an expenditure of more than $8,000,000 paid in benefits to policyowners and beneficiaries since the company was organized in 1925, with $1,218,870 paid out during 1953.

In the area of home loans, the company has released $5,939,058.08 since 1925, with over $1,200,000 going to 119 families during 1953.

"The interesting fact of our insurance benefit payments," explained Mr. Houston, "is that under our life policies we paid out in 1953 more in benefits to living policyowners than to beneficiaries for death benefits. Insurance serves the policyowner while he is still living in a number of important ways, such as educational endowments for his children and retirement funds.

"We are especially proud of our home loan program," Mr. Houston continued, "because we are able to help a man buy the kind of home he wants in the kind of neighborhood he wants to live in."

The company's total assets reached $8½ million during 1953. It recorded over $80 million in life insurance in force. Throughout California, Illinois, and Texas, it has over 200,000 policyowners.

Began with $17,800

In 1925 when GSM was organized it had $17,800 as capital. Its office was a small attic-like office—a 12x14 room on Central Avenue. It took the company 79 days to move to another, hardly more suitable location. In three years GSM was building its first home office at 4261 Central Avenue. Its present million-dollar home office was completed in July, 1949.

GSM's reputation as an insurer acknowledges the excellent management skill of its executive and administrative personnel, and the competency of its trained field personnel.

Community Has Confidence

"GSM is time-seasoned," stated Mr. Houston. "It has gained valuable experience in business operations. We are always seeking the best in new methods and concepts. We are happy that our policyowners have and are placing increasing confiednce in us as the years go by—in our ability to give and maintain insurance security and protection."

From Eagle Editorial Pages —When GSM Was Young

"Not long since on an early business call, we chanced to drop by the offices of the 'Golden State Life Insurance Company' located at the intersection of Jefferson Blvd. and Central Ave. We witnessed here a sight which was indeed helpful and inspiring when quite a dozen of our young men and women were assembled around the table conferring with one another and the head officials of the Company upon the best means and methods to approach customers in the sale of life insurance.

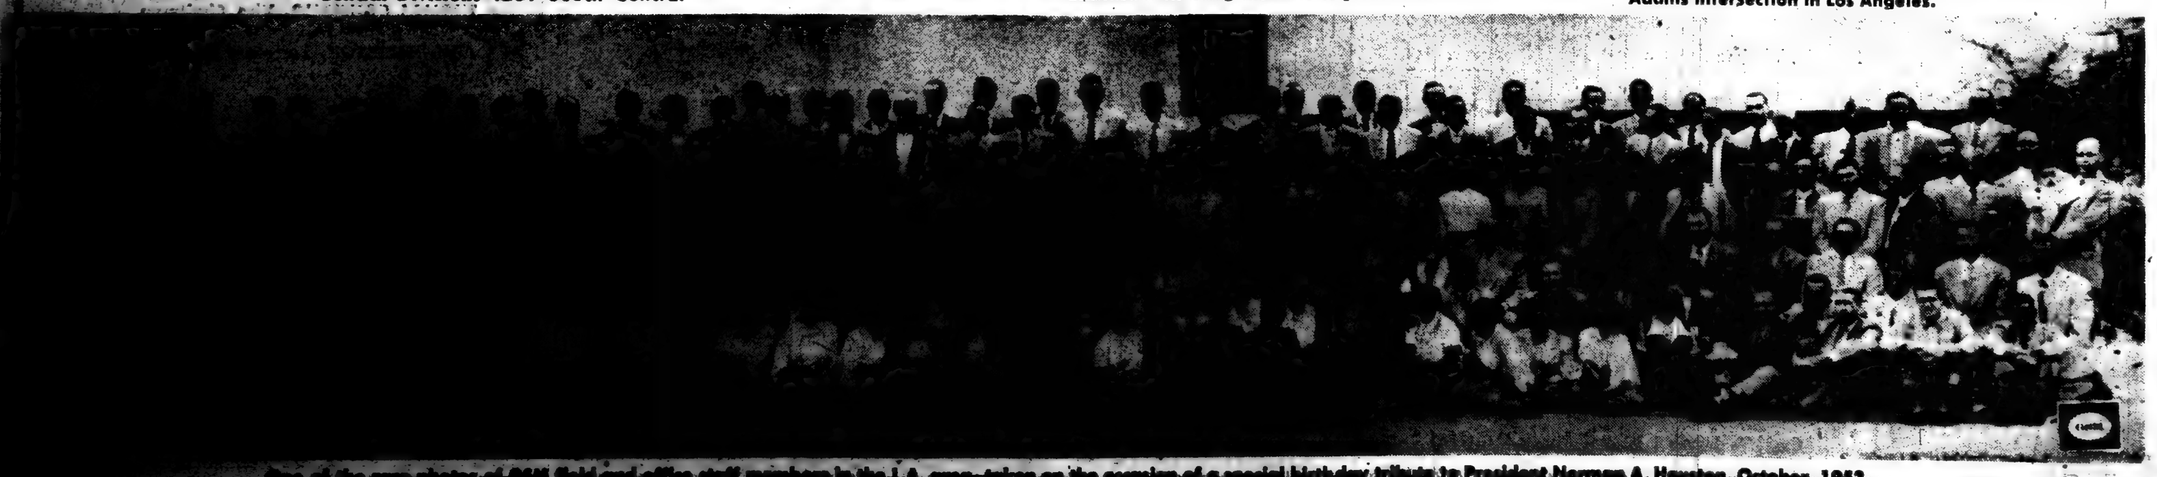
"This spectacle aroused within us a strong hope for the future of our group and an inspiration which repays us in part for any effort which we have made in the past that the race might ascend higher and higher in the realm of accomplisments.

". . . now we can see no reason why the same sort of institution by our group cannot come forth as that of the great Metropolitan.

". . . Truly all of us should be inspired to roll up our sleeves for the success of the Golden State Insurance Company.

"We should do our utmost. To do this make it our business for our sons and daughters to do the knocking on the door in collecting weekly and monthly premiums for at least our own insurance . . ."

June 18, 1926



"We feel like the management of the Golden State Insurance Company for the most part has the vision of race building. Demonstration thus far bears us out in the thought and we trust that some more of the much heralded additions to race progress will get the vision and really get in on the program of Building a Race."

November 23, 1928

"The California Eagle hereby wishes to join in with its sincere congratulations to the Golden State Guarantee Fund Insurance Company for its steady march of progress and its demonstration along the lines of production."

SERIOUSLY INJURED—Mrs. Elois Davis, passenger in the ill-fated Houston Cadillac, was in critical condition following the Texas crash, but was expected to recover.

DRIVER—Mrs. Edith Houston was driving the new family car when a head-on crash caused serious injuries to herself, her husband, Norman Houston, and Mrs. Elois Davis.

Police Guns Kill Ex-Mental Patient

Major Lee Burlson, 43, of 9517 Holmes street, who walked out of the mental institution in Stockton last April, lost a blazing gun duel with police early Saturday morning.

Bullets fired by Sgt. L. E. Bushling of the 77th Street station killed Burlson as he opened fire on police from the backyard of next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crump, 9513 Holmes.

Mrs. Louise Burlson, the victim's wife, told the Eagle that her husband had been drinking with her, Sidney Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, all of 9517 Holmes.

"When Major Lee drinks, he always wants to go some place," Mrs. Burlson said. "When he decided he wanted to visit his aunt, Taylor and I tried to keep him from going."

Leaves Hospital

The victim's wife said doctors at Stockton warned her husband against drinking before he voluntarily left the institution.

"That's why we were worried about his driving over to his aunt's house," Mrs. Burlson said.

When Taylor tried to persuade Burlson against leaving

Wife Files in San Bernardino For Annulment

George Cannady, well-known lawyer, real estate broker, social leader, is learned to be deep in marital troubles again, following the filing of annulment proceedings by his wife-of-a-day, Mrs. Ada Cannady.

In a suit filed in San Bernardino January 28, which has just come to light, the new Mrs. Cannady claimed they were married November 6 and separated November 7.

In her suit, the thrice-married Mrs. Cannady, who was formerly the wife of Dr. Lincoln Shumate, declared that her new husband refused to consumate the marriage and also asserted that he had no intention of so doing.

To date, Cannady has made no reply to the action.

Church Rejects Move to Oust Rev. Galloway

A move to oust the Rev. Lloyd Galloway, pastor of Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, fell on its face Sunday when almost three-fourths of the members voted against asking for his resignation.

The vote came after members of the congregation had heard recommendations of a Board of Review which held extensive hearings last Thursday.

Cause of the discord was a tug of war between members who wanted to sell the historic site of the church at Vernon and Hooper avenues and those who resisted the sale.

A strong minority of church members has stymied all efforts to sell the church property and recently blocked a sale for $60,000 as a site for a new post-office and an oil station.

The board appointed by Jessie Perrin, superintendent of the conference, included Rev. James More, pastor, Plymouth Congregational church; Rev. Allan Hunter, pastor, Mount Hollywood Congregational church; George Haskel, pastor, Western Knoll Congregational church; Dr. Robert Ingliss, pastor, First Congregational church of Whittier, and Victor Nickerson, a leading layman. They met with members of Lincoln Memorial at the church Thursday to hear individual as well as group expressions regarding the administration of the church.

The Sunday meeting, requested by Rev. Galloway, was held for the purpose of receiving the findings and subsequent recommendations of the Conference Board and a membership vote on whether he should resign.

WELLS ASKS FREEDOM

— Tell of Battle in Heaven —

Warring Angels Seeking Peace In Court Room

The usual peace that's truly wonderful in Father Divine's Santa Monica "heaven" is still wearing bandages this week.

Judge Robert H. Scott of Superior court who is trying to patch up the split between Miss Happy Word and Miss Purity Love decided Tuesday he needed more information about the $115,000 property battle.

The jurist ordered attorneys to submit further pleadings and continued the hearing until this information is produced.

The discord reached the courts when Miss Purity Love was charged with transferring $115,000 worth of church property to her name.

The complaint also accused her of purchasing the Merle Norman Cosmetics building, 1659 17th st., Santa Monica, on an installment plan which is

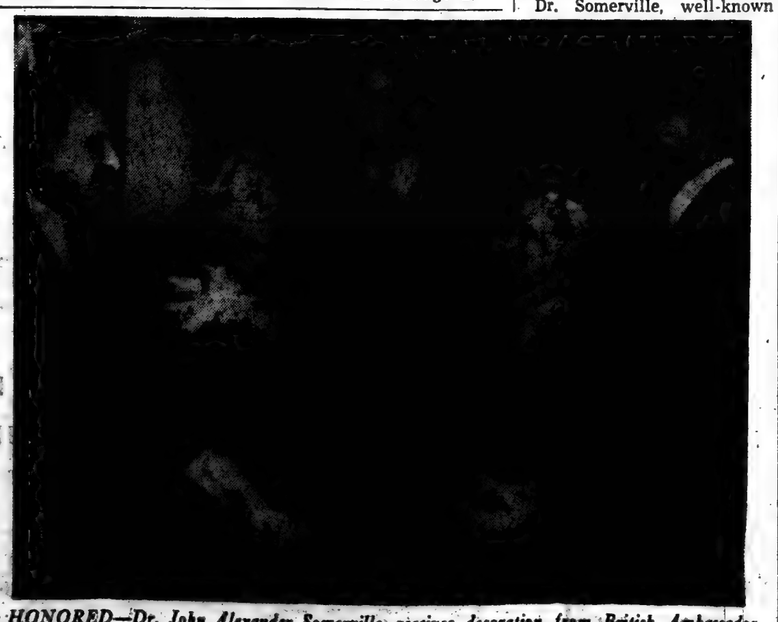
DR. JOHN A. SOMERVILLE RECEIVES HIGH HONORS

Honors were doubling up on Dr. John A. Somerville this week. On Friday he was one of the honored guests at investiture ceremonies at the British Embassy in Washington, during which he was officially decorated by Her Majesty's representative as an honorary officer of the Order of the British Empire.

Dr. Somerville, well-known Jamaica-born Los Angeles dentist, was selected for the honor by Queen Elizabeth in her annual New Year's list. He was chosen for his "contribution to Anglo-American friendship and understanding."

Honored at Home



On his return, it was learned that Dr. Somerville is to be the recipient of new honors, this time being tendered him by the people he has served since he was a young man, his friends and admirers in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Blanche Horan, past president of the American Association of University Women, is chairing an event scheduled for the Town and Gown banquet room at the University of Southern California April 26.

The dinner will be a testimonial to Dr. Somerville in appreciation for his services to the community. It will also commemorate his 70th birthday.

Invitations are being sent to 500 guests. Special greetings will be brought him by the British Consul General of Los Angeles.

Members of the arrangements committee are Floyd Covington, Mrs. Jack Hardy, Mrs. Cecil Murrell, Mrs. Loren Miller and Mrs. Emily Woody.

Golden State Head, Wife, Elois Davis Seriously Injured

Norman O. Houston, president and one of the founders of the Golden State Life Insurance Co., was near death this week in a San Antonio hospital as the result of a head-on car crash early Saturday afternoon outside a small Texas town.

In the crash, Houston suffered fractures in both legs, one fracture being above the hip. At first his condition was not considered critical, but alarming reports reaching here Monday indicated he had failed to rally satisfactorily following surgery to set the broken bones.

Between Life and Death

Monday night his two sons, Norman and Ivan, flew down to be at his bedside. On Tuesday he was reported to be hovering between life and death, although late reports gave hope that he would survive.

Also critically injured was Mrs. Elois Davis, wife of Dr. Walter Davis, who suffered skull fracture and concussion. She was in a deep coma for many hours, but by Sunday was showing improvement. Mrs. Edith Houston, wife of the Golden State president, suffered broken ribs and shoulder.

All three were removed from the small hospital in Shiner, Texas, near the scene of the accident, where they received emergency treatment, to the Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio.

They were being cared for by Dr. Davis, who flew to Texas immediately after he was notified of the accident.

Haywood Thompson, Mrs. Houston's son, also flew to San Antonio Saturday night.

State president.

Cadillac Wrecked

The Houstons had gone to Detroit to take delivery of a 1954 Cadillac, and were returning via Chicago, Hot Springs, Ark., and Texas, winding up a three-week tour of Golden State offices. Mrs. Davis had joined them in Texas.

Mrs. Houston was driving the new car when the crash occurred. It was rammed into and completely wrecked when another car careened across the white line and smashed into them head-on. Driver of the second car was also injured. It was reported that he was arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol for drunken driving.

News of the accident was flashed to Los Angeles early Saturday evening over a local fight telecast. Houston is a member of the California State Athletic Commission.

Says He Has Had Enough Punishment

By GRACE E. SIMONS

In the death house in San Quentin prison, Wesley Robert Wells, told that the governor had granted him a reprieve and commuted his sentence to life in prison, immediately declared he would now fight for full freedom.

"Naturally, I am pleased to have an opportunity to be alive and carry on the fight," he said. "I already have lived almost seven years on condemned row watching 55 men go to the gas chamber. Is this not sufficient payment to society for any offense I may have committed?"

Disappointed Leaders

The reprieve was announced by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in Sacramento, less than 24 hours after he had refused to make any definite commitment in the case at a special banquet Thursday for hand-picked community leaders at the Victory Baptist church.

His failure to make the much-hoped-for announcement at the banquet was interpreted by many observers here as a first-class political blunder, but his quick reversal may have helped to recoup his standing in the local community.

Lone Survivor Of Groveland Case to Die

NEW YORK—The last plea to save the life of Walter Lee Irvin, the lone defendant in the famous Groveland Case who has already died a thousand deaths, was rejected last Tuesday by the Florida Parole Board.

As a result, Walter Lee Irvin must die for a crime he swears he never committed. He must die in the electric chair soon unless the Governor of Florida steps in and commutes his sentence.

Reign of Terror

It is reported that Governor Charley E. Johns will soon name the day and hour for the execution.

Walter Lee Irvin, now 27, and three other Negro youths, Ernest Thomas, Charles Greenlee and Samuel Shepherd, were accused by a Groveland white farm housewife of beating her husband and attacking her on the night of July 6, 1949. Ernest Thomas was shot down and killed by a sheriff's posse. Greenlee, then 16, was sent to prison for life and Irvin and Shepherd were "tried" and sen-

Dr. Watkins graduated from State Normal School, Montgomery, Alabama, attended Howard University, and graduated from Meharry Dental College. He practiced dentistry in Montgomery, Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles for over 40 years. He has been a resident of Los Angeles for 25 years.

Dr. Watkins was a personal friend and confidant of Booker T. Washington. He was president of the Negro Business League of Montgomery, Ala., and was prominently connected with Mr. Washington in the National Negro Business League.

He was commanding officer of the E. L. Baker Camp of the Spanish American War Veterans, and was active and prominent as a member of the Elks for many years. During World War II, he was commissioned by the government to be an examining dentist. He was a member of the Church of Christian Fellowship.

Watkins, and two sisters, Dr. Alice W. Garrott and Miss Gertrude L. Watkins.

the house. Burlson became angry and an argument began.

"Taylor started toward my husband with his hand in his pocket and Major Lee told him to stand back," Mrs. Burlson said. "When he kept coming, my husband shot him."

The bullet grazed Taylor's scalp. Burlson fled the house and Mrs. Taylor, a sister of Mrs. Burlson, called police. A squad answered the call and summoned aid when they couldn't locate the former Sacramento car lot attendant.

"I begged them not to kill him when they found him," Mrs. Burlson said. "I told them he was a mental case."

Hears Shots

About ten minutes after the police arrived, Mrs. Burlson said she heard a series of shots. She started out to see if her husband had been hit but she was restrained by officers.

"Then the police came back into the house and told me my husband was dead," she said.

Officers said Burlson opened fire on them with a pistol and a shotgun from the backyard next door to his own home. In the exchange of gunfire, three bullets struck Burlson and he was dead in a matter of minutes.

Mrs. Burlson said her husband's body would be shipped to his mother, Mrs. Pearl Williams of Shamrock, Texas. There will be no Los Angeles services, she said.

An inquest into Burlson's death has been scheduled for April 6.

against the doctrine of the church.

Judge Scott, after listening to bank and other financial testimony, ordered the appearance of Eugene Jacobs, a former church official.

He also instructed Atty. David Welts, representing the church, to advise the attorney general of the case in the event there is evidence of mismanagement of funds.

According to Miss Purity Love, whose worldly name is Mrs. Irene M. Prattis, Father Divine authorized the transfer of property title.

Father Divine, the head of the national cult, however, stated in sworn testimony in Philadelphia two weeks ago that he gave her no such authorization.

Eastsiders Bid to City For Playlot

The East of Central Improvement Association representing more than 1,000 property owners in the East of Central Avenue community last week presented a petition to Councilwoman Rosalind Weiner, chairman of Playground and Parks committee, asking the city to enter condemnation proceedings against the Hondorous Tract on 48th place and Long Beach Blvd., and urging that the tract be purchased by the city and made into a city park.

According to John Dial, Jr., chairman of the improvement association, the thousands of children in this section of the city must now play in the streets and alleys risking their lives. A park and playground would lift the morale of this entire section of the city as well as increase the value of the property.

Councilman Gordan Hahn has filed condemnation proceedings which are being heard by the Parks and Playground Committee.

Councilwoman Weiner expressed her support for the project, pointing out, as an experienced playground authority, the need for improving the Eastside playground facilities.

Wells Life Spared, Asks Full Liberty

Supreme Court confirmed the reprieve.

Paper-Thin Decisions

In his statement, Knight declared: "Under the power vested in me as Governor of California . . . I propose to commute the death sentence pronounced for April 9, 1954, upon Wesley Robert Wells, to life imprisonment without possibility of parole." Motivating his action, Knight said: "Though the strictly technical legal findings involved can be upheld, there were many rulings on evidence and fact in the various courts and judicial opinions where there were paper-thin differences and distinctions enunciated. In such cases executive clemency may logically be exercised."

Wells was condemned under a heretofore unused California law which states that a person serving a life sentence who is guilty of premeditated assault must be put to death. After a lengthy period of confinement, which psychiatrists agreed rendered him mentally ill, Wells, under apparent provocation, hurled a cuspidor at a prison guard. The guard was injured, but recovered. Wells was serving an indeterminate sentence, five years to life.

Special Supplement

The fight for Wells' life began to take on substance when in October the California Eagle carried a special supplement, edited by newsman Robert Ellis, outlining the salient facts of the case. Copies reaching all parts of the country brought requests for additional thousands of copies of the issue. From a local case of concern to only a few people, the fate of Wesley Robert Wells almost immediately became one of national import.

In the past few months many thousands of people have signed petitions, written letters to the governor, sent telegrams, publicized the case in news columns and over the radio.

On Thursday, word was telephoned to key individuals throughout the city that Gov. Knight was coming to the Victory Baptist church for the express purpose of announcing his decision to recommend a reprieve for Wells. Ministers, who had supported the clemency plea, were summoned. The press was notified. Leading members of the local community were told of the expected impending announcement.

Room Tense

At the banquet itself, speaker after speaker stressed the concern felt by the community over the fate of Robert Wells. Atty. Walter Gordon presented the governor with a huge stack of signed petitions. Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, noted architect Paul Williams, and others all mentioned their deep interest in the case.

The banquet room was tense with anticipation as the governor rose to speak. News editors alerted cameramen: "The governor is expected to announce the commutation of Wells' sentence. There'll be a spontaneous demonstration. That's the picture I want."

Cameramen were poised for the dramatic words. Everyone was waiting.

Missed Cue

But the words never came. Somehow, the governor missed his cue. He talked of his appointment of LaMar Hill to the State Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers, over opposition of wealthy and prominent individuals. Polite applause. He spoke of Ralph Bunche, Walter Gordon, Paul Williams, of slavery and of Jews. He digressed to tell of his golf game at Palm Springs with President Eisenhower, and how he had been criticized for wearing a sport shirt. He spoke of his social faux pas—he called it an error in protocol—in addressing Mrs. Eisenhower as Mrs. President.

But never a word about Wesley Robert Wells.

"This Is It"

When he finished and prepared to leave, Rev. A. A. Peters, host pastor, made a direct query to the governor about the Wells case. The governor again stepped to the microphone. "This is it," everyone thought, or almost everyone. "This is the way they planned it. To heighten the dramatic effect."

But, no. After another lengthy discourse, the governor finally came to grips with what was in everyone's mind. He pleaded that he had had the case under consideration "for only five months," said there were weighty issues involved, that there was a white man who was also condemned to die on the same day under the same law, and wound up with the query: "You can understand my position, can't you?"

"No! No! No!"

Cries of "No! No! No!" greeted his question. There was not a single sound of applause.

The governor withdrew as the members of the audience rose to their feet and began to congregate in small groups. Rev. Henderson, always alert, hastily asked everyone to rise for the benediction. People paused where they stood, waited for the brief prayer, then continued to gather in knots, and voice their disappointment.

That was Thursday evening. At 7 p.m. Friday, in Sacramento, Gov. Knight summoned a special press conference and read his prepared statement.

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT NEVER CAME—Disappointment is mirrored in the faces of community leaders as they realized that Governor Knight had no intention of announcing the reprieve of Wesley Robert Wells at a banquet at Victory Baptist church Thursday evening. The governor is at the microphone. From left, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, Atty. Everette Porter, Rev. W. C. Chambers, Rabbi Weiss, Rev. M. Harley Duvall, Rev. A. A. Peters. Seated, Paul R. Williams and William Watkins. The following day Gov. Knight told newsmen he was sparing Wells' life.

Police Stop Teen-Agers Drink Party

SANTA MONICA—Police raided a crowd of 600 dancers at the Chase hotel Saturday night and stopped the dancing when they found scores of teen-agers among the heavy-drinking patrons.

The dance reportedly was promoted by Jack Lauderdale, former owner of the Downbeat Record Shop and at present operator of the La-Dale motel, both in Los Angeles; John Dolphin, owner of Dolphin's Record Co., Vernon and Central, Los Angeles, and his disc jockey, Richard "Huggie Boy" Hug.

Capt. Reinbold, of the Santa Monica police, said there were many juveniles drinking when he arrived, that one 16-year-old was already so drunk he could hardly stand up, and that there were no chaperons in evidence. He also said that no permit had been obtained.

Police arrived about 10 o'clock, when summoned by the hotel. They ordered the dancing stopped, and also broke up fights that had broken out outside.

Lawyers, Eastern Star Aid NAACP Campaign

Los Angeles lawyers and members of the Order of the Eastern Star joined hands last Sunday to tell the NAACP story and an appeal for membership to more than 25,000 people in Los Angeles county last Sunday. Governor Goodwin Knight and Mayor Norris Poulson had proclaimed the day as NAACP Sunday.

Members of the Langston Law club and the Sunshine committee of the Eastern Star appeared at more than 70 churches and made a personal appeal to the church members to join the NAACP.

Thomas G. Neusom, local attorney and first vice-president of the Los Angeles branch, stated, "The program was a huge success and though in experimental stages it will be one of the most effective ways ever devised of enlightening the population on the needs and activities of the NAACP."

Mrs. Estille Van Meter, chairman of the Sunshine committee and one of the prime movers in this program, was instrumental in having workers of all churches to assist the lawyers who spoke. Even at churches where no speakers were available the Sunshine committee provided workers.

More Buses at Your Service ...and better service!

Residents of the Bellflower, Lynwood, and Watts areas will be provided with improved service through the plans of Metropolitan Coach Lines for full bus operation between these cities and Los Angeles. Applications have been made to make the shift from street cars to modern motor coaches.

This change will mean more frequent trips in morning and evening rush hours. During certain peak hours there will be as high as 5 to 1 more trips from Lynwood, practically 4 to 1 from Watts and 2½ to 1 from Bellflower. Another important factor is the extended and more convenient route of the bus service.

Not being confined to rails, buses can pass each other at all times, and can be rerouted to avoid blocked streets and highways. Also bus stops will be placed at convenient locations en route.

As for comfort, Metro plans to assign its newest-type "air suspension" coaches to this line—48-passenger diesel-driven coaches with many new features, including free-flow ventilation, improved lighting, and tinted glare-resistant safety-glass windows.

Installing bus service in place of the present street cars is part of the "program of transportation progress" which Metropolitan Coach Lines has promised to the people of Southern California.

Senatorial Farce

The Mississippi wild man is only a cut above the late and unlamented Bilbo as an advocate of white supremacy. He's never missed an opportunity to plug for racial segregation in his long public life.

In the face of that record the United States Senate permitted him to sit as a "subcommittee" to "investigate" the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

The Conference is an organization of Southerners who are opposed to racial segregation. It has consistently opposed Senator Eastland and all that Eastland stands for.

It was only natural that Senator Eastland should use his power as a "subcommittee" to smear the Conference.

Taking a leaf from the McCarthy book, the Mississippi lawmaker pinned the Red label on those who have been Conference leaders, and who have stood up for rights of Negroes.

Those smeared included Justice Hugo Black's sister-in-law, Aubrey Williams, former head of the National Youth Administration and a half dozen other Southerners who have broken with the South's Jim Crow racket.

If the United States Senate had set out to make itself look ridiculous and to diminish popular respect in which it is, or should be, held it could not have done better than to have permitted the Mississippi white supremacy peddler to conduct an "investigation" of the Conference.

President Eisenhower intimated recently that Senate rules for investigating committees needed looking into. The Eastland performance proves the point.

Trial by Accusation

Annie Lee Moss is back on the job.

In case you have forgotten, she is the government clerk accused by Senator McCarthy of being a member of the Communist Party.

Mrs. Moss was bounced from her job with a great fanfare of publicity that splashed over every front page in the land.

Senator McCarthy dug up her case at the height of his feud with Secretary of the Army Stevens, beated her and produced her as Exhibit No. One to prove that the Army is coddling" Communists.

Annie Lee said at the time that she wasn't a Communist.

She kept right on protesting that she wasn't a Red and finally got to say so under oath before the McCarthy subcommittee in the face of warnings from the senator that she was liable to prosecution for perjury.

Neither Mrs. Moss' denials nor her restoration to duty disprove the charges that have been made against her. Nor does accusation prove her guilt.

What her case does prove is the danger that lurks in the substitution of trial and conviction by accusation for the traditional American method of a careful presentation and sifting of the facts, with the accused having a chance to meet her accusers before, and not after, conviction.

Let's Elect Lomax

It is time for a change in the 63rd Assembly District.

That district, populated by at least 50 per cent Negroes and overwhelmingly by liberal and forward-looking voters, is represented—or misrepresented—by Delbert Morris.

Mr. Morris has a consistent record of die-hard, all-out opposition to civil rights and to progressive legislation.

It is a disgrace that he has remained in office as long as he has.

Sixty-Third District voters have a chance to elect Lucius Lomax to replace Mr. Morris. We think they should do so.

Mr. Lomax is a rival of ours who hasn't always treated us kindly. We don't agree with him on all issues.

We are convinced that Mr. Lomax could be counted on to vote for the best interests of the people of his district, instead of against them as Mr. Morris does.

The Lomax campaign is one that will have to be supported by the voters themselves. He won't have a great deal of money and he won't have much organizational support.

But Mr. Lomax can win without large sums of money and without support of traditional political organizations if the people want him to win.

The people have the votes. They ought to use those votes to retire Mr. Morris and elect Mr. Lomax.

Catch These Killers

The bold murder of a witness in a narcotics case recently is further proof, if any was needed, that organized dope peddlers are prepared to go to any lengths to protect their lucrative and vicious racket.

We don't know who did the killing or who ordered or planned it but we are sure that it was done to prevent the successful prosecution of the man who was slated to stand trial.

We hope that both state and federal officials will not rest until the guilty parties are found and punished. This is the second time that a ball of bullets has cut down a witness scheduled to testify against what federal authorities say were [illegible] narcotics peddlers. The [illegible] has never been solved and that fact may have emboldened those responsible for last week's murder.

The narcotics traffic has reached alarming proportions among Negroes in Los Angeles. There are many reasons for that situation. Frustrated and discriminated against, many members of minority groups fall easy prey to the wiles of narcotics peddlers whose wares furnish temporary relief from the harsh realities of every day life.

At that, few people seek out narcotics or seek to become addicts. Most of them are "hooked" by peddlers seeking new customers to pyramid profits. Only vigorous prosecution and long jail terms for peddlers, and especially the big shots, can cut down the supply of dope and thus fend off the possibility of making new addicts. Every peddler who escapes prosecution is a danger to every decent American.

SAN FRANCISCO — The "only" city in the West may escape the pocketbook edition of the atom bomb furtive foreign agents are said to be spiriting into this country, only to succumb to its own malady of economic strangulation, if what this tourist hears is true. Symptoms like decentrilization of shopping areas, choked traffic arteries, lack of parking space, deterioration of downtown property and poor public transportation attributed to San Francisco have the ominous ring of Los Angeles' diagnosis.

Lester Bailey

Following a recent meeting of the S. F. Ad Club, the hopeful theme of which was "Downtown Is Everyone's Problem," a rash of news stories and editorials broke out in the local metropolitan press. In that their own life's blood is being sapped by the city's "disease," the daily papers announced the need for a "doctor" and treated with empathy the generous coverage the therapy suggested by Ad Club board member and chairman of the meeting Henry W. (Alex) Alexander.

Leaders Worried

Leading banking, department store and public officials attended with serious concern. And well they may. Only one major downtown department store ended up in the sweet, green clover on the black side of the ledger last year, I am told.

Conclusions reached in the meeting, reported the S. F. News, were:

"Not enough people are coming downtown. Sales and city spirit must both lag if this trend continues. The downtown supplies the greatest income the city has. If it decays, then the city as a whole must suffer. What is needed is a man to head up a move to solve the problems of parking, rapid transit and traffic that are slowly strangling the downtown."

Though my "investment" here is, at the present, purely esthetic, I, as fervently as the businessman and other breadwinners, want to see San Francisco saved. And the moneyed people who attended the Ad Club meeting were fairly stumbling over, or at least rubbing shoulders with, the calibre of young men, or man, who can do the job.

Sign of Times

The signs of our time here are repeating themselves all over the nation. Big cities are fading away under the onslaught of decentralization or "metropolitn spread" as it is termed by the Bay Area Council booklet. Commerce and industry are moving with the population to the suburbs, while businessmen and city fathers, standing in full view on the balcony, play the fiddle of procrastination. Artificial appendages, such as low-cost parking lots and improved traffic arteries, in addition to bright, new plastic surgery on the old city's face can reverse the trend.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

This week we spotlight Paul R. Williams, the new titular head of Negro Republicanism in California. Williams' emergence as chairman of the re-organized Goodwin Knight campaign means that the well-known Republican leader, Norman O. Houston, who for years has called the Negro Republican shots in the smoke filled rooms of big businesmen who run the Republican Party, has been replaced.

James Anderson

Betty Hill, B. B. Bratton, Jeff Fowler, Betty Jones, Louis Cole and all Negro Republican leadership that survives will and must accept Paul R. Williams. Any part of the decision of Paul's leadership which has not been made will be forced during the next few months by coming events.

Success Story

We present here some of the little known or admitted facts of Paul's success story. More than any other California Negro, he has had to live by two of the oldest Negro aphorisms —"It ain't what you know, but who you know," and "To be a leader, you must be a follower."

Paul, to name a few, knew such men as the late Victor Nickerson, founder of the Golden State Mutual Insurance Co.; Norman Chandler, Times newspaper; L. M. Blodgett, Liberty Building and Loan Association; the late building contractor, Harvey; Earl Warren, former Governor of California; Norman O. Houston, GSM; the Basses, former owners of the California Eagle; Leon H. Washington, Jr., Sentinel newspaper, and probably most important of all, former Supervisor Leonard Roach.

Piloted Contracts

Two examples of the importance of some of the above men to his success is that fact that it was Supervisor Roach who piloted many of his juciest contracts through the Board of Supervisors. Norman O. Houston can be given credit for the Carver Manor Housing Deal near Las Vegas, Nev. He advanced and protected Williams' interest in this effort. Any of the above named could possibly state instances where what they did specifically at a given time meant dollars and increased prestige for Paul.

During most of this period, Paul controlled any desire for personal leadership. He at no time became a threat to those upon whom he was dependent. It was not until the Roach campaign that he displayed the rare quality necesary for political success and began to emerge from the shell in which he had so long enclosed himself. He backed, until it hurt, a political loser — Roach — to whom he was politically indebted.

To properly evaluate this man and what he is apt to do as Mr. Negro Republican, we must surmise that he is not apt to try to take all the political glory. He will share it with Bill Watkins, Norman O. Houston, B. B. Bratton and Jeff Fowler. He will work with a council of men and be guided by their judgment, rather than by his own views. More and more he will be forced out of the Ivory Tower of his Westside office to compete for popular leadership among the mass of Negro people.

"Dishonorable Discharge"

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

In all of the hullabaloo attending the McCarthy versus the Army dispute, the American public is apt to lose sight of the significant turn which matters have taken with relation to the Senate Permanent Sub-Committee on Investigations. While we've watched with consternation — and sometimes amusement—the antics of McCarthy and his committee, politicians have been making political hay of the committee's activities, and especially of McCarthy.

Lester Granger

Stephen Mitchell, for instance, as chairman of the Democratic National committee, stated recently that he refused to be drawn into the controversy as to whether or not McCarthy ought to step aside from his investigating group in this Army dispute because McCarthy is the "Republican Party's problem."

Everybody's Problem

Well, that's not true—and that untruthfulness is typical of a cynical politicalizing of the Mccarthy issue by both parties. The Wisconsin senator is not the problem of the GOP, but the problem of the American people. It is true that he was foisted upon the American people under GOP auspices, but we should not lose sight of the fact that he has been maintained and inflated as a national problem by the leadership of both parties.

Pseudo-liberals have deliberately built McCarthy up beyond his real proportions in their anxiety to capitalize upon what they feel—probably rightly—is a profitable political issue. If the Senate at the beginning of the year had showed the courage to curtail his authority and reduce his appropriation, McCarthy would have been out of the investigating business by now.

But when the matter of continuing his committee came to a vote, the Senate voted 76 to 1 to continue it, and, what's more, voted a generous appropriation to underwrite it. Senator Fulbright of Arkansas was the only member of the Senate who had the conviction, plus the courage, to vote in the negative.

Don't Make Sense

To the uninitiated it does not make sense that Democratic senators who have been going around the country beating their breasts about the "shame of McCarthyism" should obediently turn around and vote the Senator his requested funds so that he can continue to practice that "McCarthyism."

But a little more observation and wisdom will prove that the Democrats would actually hate to see McCarthy out of business —for two reasons. First, they see him as a juicy election issue to be capitalized on in the fall; and, second, there are, unfortunately, too many Democrats in certain sections of our country who follow the McCarthy line and consider any movement failing to fit their status quo as "communism."

Exploiting Issue

And there is a wing of the Republican Party pulling for McCarthy to stay in business because they, too, see him as an election issue because of his vote-getting potential. The fight against Communism in our country is important, and the original charge to the McCarthy committee still remains in the minds of many as the major consideration.

And so both leadership groups are shamelessly exploiting the issue. It makes no difference that one group is bound to be wrong in their estimate of the situation. The shameful thing is that they are willing to continue at the expense of the American people, that they will permit the issue to color our relations with the rest of the world who are standing by waching to see how we settle our own business here as a test of how successful we're apt to be on international issues.

Prestige Low

America's prestige abroad has plummeted to the lowest depths known in the history of this country. A recent statement by officials of the American government in certain European countries have mirrored the fear under which they lived and worked after the junketing of Messrs. Schine and Cohn last summer when for months they did not know whether they would be brought back to this country and fired, as did happen in some instances.

Republican or Democratic Party "problem?" Indeed not. McCarthy is an American problem, and it is extremely unfortunate that our leaders are going to play politics in such a way that our effectiveness before the rest of the world is hampered beyond repair.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

MEET ATTORNEY RAGLAND

One of the boys of 1920 of which we wrote in this column last week is now Atty. Erskine S. Ragland, who is engaged in a campaign to become a member of the state legislature. Of course, one can understand our interest in the younger man whom we encouraged to aspire to great things when he was a boy.

Leon Steward

His family moved to California in 1898 and before Erskine was born (1903). He graduated from 20th Street School, which was then in the very center of the East Los Angeles Negro population. When we met him, he was attending Jefferson High School, which was then largely attended by Caucasians with only a handful of Negro youths. Erskine graduated from Jefferson.

To Berkeley

As a young man he chose California University in Berkeley, to secure a Bachelor of Science in business administration and a degree in law, and upon graduation, he returned to Los Angeles and put out his law shingle, which has been out for all to behold ever since. Incidentally, many have been attracted by it.

Making Good

In 1946, Atty. Ragland wooed and married Miss Arethia Summers of Waco, Texas. They set up housekeeping at 1822 E. 123rd street, and have lived happily ever after. A couple of years ago, Atty. Ragland tried out his political skills for a place on the Willowbrook school board and won. He is a trustee of the school district and moderator of the lay advisory group of the school.

A Candidate

Having had a taste of politics, Atty. Ragland has thrown in his hat for a seat in the state assembly from the 55th assembly district, the district in which he lives. He says the present incumbent has made such a questionable record that they took his district away from him and he moved into the 55th. Ragland is the Democratic candidate from the 55th. We asked him how he happens to be a candidate and he replied that he believes in the party which believes in the people of his district. He has something there. Well, here is wishing him much success in his political venture.

A Church Election

Sunday we had occasion to stop by the Congregational Church on Vernon and Hooper. Members, at the time, were voting on retention or rejection of their pastor. The pastor won out by a large majority.

The post office had offered to buy the ground on which the church stands and a gasoline company wished to buy the corner lot. The money received would have been enough to buy another church more centrally situated to most of the members but, as is usually true of churches, there are about 35 or so people who wish to get rid of the pastor and a few more who would not agree to moving the church.

The election tended to point out those who placed all kinds of blame on the pastor for wanting to sell the church and for buying a better looking home than he had lived in. However, many of those who did not want to sell voted the pastor's retention but some declared that the selling of the church is now the big issue.

The church had voted to accept the prices offered but may have since backed out, we are told.

This points up a position we have held for a long time, namely, most people are not yet ready for democracy. Many of them are Negroes and many of them are church people. It is in the church that the minority can block any democratic move. Here is hoping that members of that old and respected church will find it in their several hearts to learn to differ without hating their opponents, and may they have many, many years of Christian fellowship together — wherever they may be.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

There are 700,000 Negroes in the state of California, and not one Negro Congressman. Oh! But, we do have a couple of white candidates who will run in the 15th and 26th congressional districts. Now let's not be sarcastic, for, ain't they both liberals? I just can't wait to vote for them.

Where do they get all these liberals to run in the Negro district? This guy Frank P. O'Sullivan is a card. He studied international law. You know he must be smart!

Yea, man, he is one of those cats that's been keeping an eye on all of your activities lately from the U.S. Intelligence Department, so if you are worried about your own loyalty, you had better vote for him.

Sure, he is for F.E.P. Didn't he say so? Course there is nothing in his record to prove it, but, what's the diff., he's for it now, and you can bet he will be for it till he is elected.

You know I ain't never wanted no cop to represent me NOWHERE!! And here the Democrats have done put up a nice new clean cut one for me to vote for. And some of these same Democrats want me to go to all the trouble of registering, just to vote for him. My heart ain't in it. No, Jack, it just doesn't make sense in my reasoning.

You know I got all excited when I heard that Gus Hawkins might run for congress in the 26th. Why I felt so good about the thing I started to look around for a room over on the east side so I could be in the 26th congressional district just to vote for him.

And you know how hard it is for a guy to find a place to stay on the east side any more, and you also know how small those rooms are, that you pay 12 bucks a week for. There isn't enough room in one of them to whip a cat in without getting a mouth full of fur. Well, now I don't have to worry about that, for Mister Charlie done fixed it so every leading Negro in town is scared to run. They done picked their knight in shining armor to run—Mr. James Roosevelt.

Yea, man, he is a liberal, too, so liberal that his wife kicked him out, and the white folks uptown don't want him to run for any of the major state offices, so they just pushed him out in the Negro section, and we are supposed to like it.

Don't they know that we Negroes are tired of their old hand-me-downs. They're always ready to give some poor unfortunate Negro their wornout clothes, scraps from their table. Now they think they can give us their wornout politicians, and we won't mind.

I know, I know, the reason that none of the Negro leaders don't want to run is that they don't have any money, but, man, we been building some of the finest churches in town, we got some of the finest homes in town, and everyone hasn't quit shooting craps because of the comin' depression, so why can't we raise some money to get a Negro into Congress.

Let's draft a Negro to run for congress. We can raise the money. I want to vote, and I will register, give me someone to vote for.

Man, if we get behind this like the folks did around the fight for Wells, we can get us a congressman.

Youth March To Feature Easter Fete

A dramatic Easter procession of thousands of Sunday school children from Southland churches will climax the sixth annual Rose Bowl Easter sunrise service, the interdenominational sponsoring committee announced this week.

At least 3000 youngsters are expected to take part in the procession with a huge cross on the Rose Bowl turf as its background motif, according to Bruce Bare, chairman of the Sunday School arrangements.

As the youngsters proceed across the field, forming along with their usher escorts the first movement toward the Rose Bowl exits, the congregation and featured musical participants both vocal and instrumental will burst into a paen of praise.

Taking part in the final congregational hymn will be the massed choir of 500 voices from Southland churches, the Westmont College choir, and the 45-piece Congress hall band of the Salvation Army.

Leading the Sunday School parade will be four of the Southland's prominent Christian athletes. Three are members of the U.C.L.A. football team which played in the Rose Bowl gridiron contest on New Year's Day, and the fourth is Bobby Hopkins, Pasadena college high-scoring center who won All-American honors in NAIA basketball competition this year.

The football stars at the head of the procession will be Bob Long, Bob Heidenfeldt and Terry Tebey of Canoga Park.

In the procession will be youngsters from many of the almost 1000 Sunday schools in the Southland cooperating with the Greater Los Angeles Sunday School association, according to Bare.

Those participating in the Sunday School procession will be seated in a special Easter parade section, and will be so escorted by ushers as to eliminate any confusion and uncertainty about reuniting with their parents and friends at the exit gates.

Parents who prefer to accompany their youngsters will be permitted to do so.

Reverend Hays Will Speak At Fritchman Testimonial

Rev. G. L. Hays, president of the Interdenominational Ministerial alliance and pastor of Hays Tabernacle, 10121 S. Central ave., will be one of the chief speakers Saturday, April 10, at a testimonial dinner for the Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman, president of the Community Medical foundation since 1951.

This was announced yesterday by Kenneth Hartford, executive director of the foundation, which operates a low-cost, non-profit and inter-racial medical clinic at 1236 S. Lake Ct.

The dinner, under auspices of the foundation, will be held at 7 p.m. in the Park Manor, 607 S. Western ave.

Proceeds from the dinner will aid the clinic, which during Dr. Fritchman's leadership has moved from cramped quarters at 5303 S. Broadway to larger facilities in which to expand its medical care program for middle and low-income families, the "forgotten people of medicine."

Medical Policies

The clinic's medical policies are laid down by its medical staff, but otherwise it is governed by the lay foundation and the recipients of medical care in a consumer-controlled operation unique in its patient-doctor relationship and low-cost service in 25 special kinds of medical treatment, ranging from pre-natal care to group therapy for emotional disturbances.

The tribute to Dr. Fritchman, who is pastor of the First Unitarian church and widely-known for his three years of leadership with the foundation as well as his outspoken championship of FEPC, civil rights and other liberal causes and reforms, will honor his six years in Los Angeles as well as his quarter of a century of community leadership in other cities before coming here in 1948.

He will be presented at the dinner with testimonials from scores of his former colleagues in other communities, in which he served as pastor, writer, university professor and community leader.

Founded in 1948

The Community Medical center was founded in 1946 by a group of ex-service doctors, headed by Dr. Alexander Riskin, who became its medical director.

Their purpose was to furnish the best possible medical care, on an individual doctor-patient basis, to income groups unable to pay specialists' fees or to qualify for charitable aid.

Jews, Catholics, Protestants, Negroes, Mexican - Americans and persons of Oriental descent were among its members and policy makers, for the doors were opened without discrimination as to race, creed, color, sex or age.

When $50,000 was needed to attack a deficit, City Councilman Edward R. Roybal became treasurer of a fund-raising committee to do the job.

By the time the clinic was ready to move to expanded quarters, but without change of policy, at 1236 S. Lake St., it had served an estimated 20,000 patients and recorded a grand total of 72,000 patient visits.

Medical areas covered ranged over 25 special kinds of treatments, with general practioners and specialists working as a team with the lay policy-makers of the clinic's foundation.

Phillips Temple Pastor Analyzes Church Program

Morning services at Phillips Temple were very inspirational last Sunday morning. The music for the day was furnished by the senior choir of the church under the direction of Mrs. Minnie A. Hampton.

The message for the morning was delivered by the minister, Dr. Norris Curry, from the subject "When the Church Looks Bad."

Highlights of the message:

Members of the church are usually responsible for the way a church looks. Often the way we look—the way we are. The church is not a place for demonstration. The time has come when the church must get out of the way of its purpose. A true religion must meet the needs of the people. When we turn away from God, we turn upon ourselves. The church cannot look bad without reflecting on the individuals of the church.

At 2:45 p.m. the Willing Workers Club presented James Rogers of U.C.L.A. in recital.

The public is invited to attend "Fashions Behind the Magic Mirror," Thursday, April 8, at the Golden State auditorium, 1999 West Adams Blvd. at 8 p.m.

This affair is being sponsored by the Committee on Coordination of Phillips Temple C.M.S. church. Fashions for morning, afternoon and evening styles will be shown, along with a scene of children models.

A special feature will be Norman Boridine and his Youth choir presenting The Lord's Prayer.

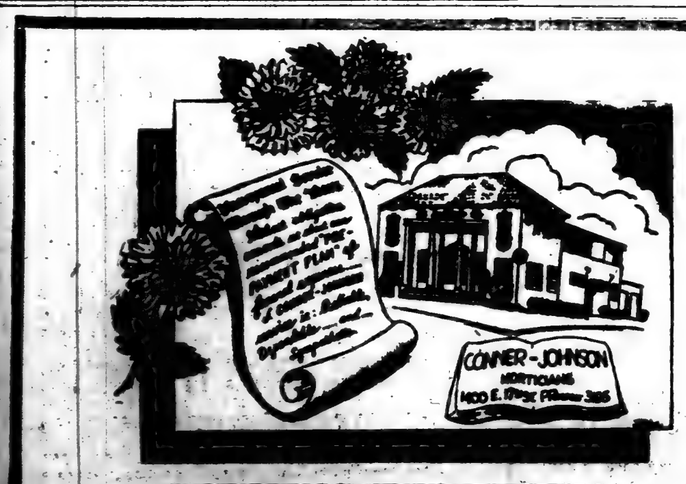
Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.



Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anaesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

THE COMEBACK STORY—

BERKELEY—Remember Thelton Henderson—a star back on the 1950 Jefferson High football team—who was injured in the 1952 California-Santa Clara contest, and doctors predicted his athletic career was virtually at an end?

We're happy to report, this courageous youngster, is currently one of mainstays of the University of California baseball squad. During his remarkable comeback, Thelton kept his class work up from his bedside. . . .

Brad Pye, Jr.

And for months he had to hobble to class on crutches. . . . Thelton has been instrumental in securing several victories for the Bear baseballers this semester.

In his most productive varsity game to date, he smashed a three run homer against San Jose State, in the eighth frame to give his team an 8-7 victory. . . . Thelton was a manager for Pappy Waldorf's eleven last season, but if his knee continues to hold up, he undoubtedly will be bidding for a halfback berth come spring training.

We predicted last fall that if Henderson's injury permitted him to compete again he and Jerry Drew should virtually prove to be as effective a duo as Illinois' great twosome of Mickey Bates and J. C. Caroline. We salute Henderson on his stellar comeback and we believe with his determination and desire he is destined to find his niche in the athletic world.

PYE'S PICKUPS

Emmett Ashford—the first Negro umpire in the PCL and the Oaks' manager Charlie Dressen will be honored along with the Oakland team at the new Slim Jenkins Square, 8th and Wood Sts., April 12. . . . Charley Powell, the SF '49er fighter, will fight on the Chuck Davey card in Oakland April 7. It says here Angel Scull, the outfielder from Cuba will make the Washington Senators' traveling squad. He'll be the first of the race to make the Senators club.

Cal has a big fullback prospect, who is now sweating it out in the Extension School by the name of Art Forbes, who is reputed to be the best pigskin plum to come out of SF since the famed Ollie Matson. . . . Incidentally, Matson told us Sat. he will wed Mary Paige of SF some time in August.

Coach George Brown of the Fort Ord spike team will be separated from the service in either September or November. Chuck Holloway, the ex-Fullerton Flash who spent one semester at UCLA before hooking up with the Army leaped 24 ft 8 in. here against Cal Sat. . . . The best of his life. . . . He gets out of the Army in Feb. '55. . . . This boy should really go places as a Bruin back in '55. We see Sam Brown, the erstwhile McClymonds and WCCJC star, is beginning to click with the UCLA baseball team. . . .

Inter-Frat Opens With Usual Bang

By EDWARD "ABIE" ROBINSON

The 22nd annual inter-frat series jumped off to a rip-snorting start last Saturday night at the Loyola gym. Just as in last year's opener, the much-improved Sigma team defeated the Alphas by two points, 36-34. It was a thrilling win for new coach Howard Holt and a heartbreaker for fiery William Crenshaw who is being assisted by Gerald Lansdown, also making their debut at the helm of the Alpha squad.

The two teams played on even terms the first half and only one point divided them in what will go down in the record book as one of the longest games ever played.

Clock Didn't Strike

Leon Whaley couldn't get the time clock to sound and the teams played a good hour and a half before time was called. Coach Crenshaw of the Alphas leaped to the officials' table and demanded in no uncertain terms what was going on.

Cool, veteran Albert Chism who has been the series official scorer since the series started in the girls gym of Jefferson high school much more than 22 years ago, waved Crenshaw to the bench.

The referee and timekeeper got together and averted what was fast developing into a mob scene around the official table. The game resumed after the usual half-period break.

Alpha aces Hugo and Kenneth Hill were pretty windy after the long game. So were the other members. It was a little different over in the Sigma quarters. They played a fast breaking game all the way. They appeared to be in much better physical condition.

Omegas Speedy

Coach Fred Griffin, slick fast-breaking hook shot artist Algin Sutton led the defending champion Omegas to a hard pressed 74 to 68 victory. The smooth passing and expert team play were just too much for the Kappas.

However, hustling Dave Williams and Ed Nichols will see that the Kappas win their share of the games this year. It wouldn't surprise us at all to see them come back and handcuff the Omegas, one of the series' all-time great squads.

Inter-fraternizing: One of the biggest boosters on the Alpha bench was Mrs. Asa Hill, mother of the Hill twins. She hasn't missed a series game in years. Not only do the Omegas rate top team honors, their ten shapely cheerleaders drew praises from all over the gym. They are headed by cute and danceable Beverly Prease. . . .

Kappas' Bob Green yanked Jim Powell from the Omega lineup when he came up with an AAU card issued and signed by the same person . . . Jim Powell. It was rumored he had played professional ball . . . Leroy Mims got so mad when the referee called the same foul on him twice during the last few seconds of the game, he whipped a bullet-like pass at the official and struck him in the face. He was yanked from the game. Mims later apologized.

John Barber dislocated his right finger but continued to play the entire game. Dr. William Hendricks bandaged the injured finger and advised the cage star to have x-rays made to determine the extent of the injury . . . Alpha Ples Griffin raced down the floor to break up a shot by Sigma's Clyde Thomas . . . collided and was out cold for a few seconds.

FIRST ASSIGNMENT—Colorful Emmett Ashford, first Negro umpire assigned to the Pacific Coast league, will work the Coast league's opening game April 6 when Hollywood Stars play Portland Beavers at Gilmore field. Special request by the Hollywood Booster's club landed the services of Ashford.

UCLA BASEBALL TEAM FLYS NORTH

Sam Brown, UCLA footballer, was the Bruins' big hitter when the team traveled north for the CIBA opening game with Stanford last week. The Indians swept a two-game series beating the Bruins 4-2 and 4-1 that was highlighted by stellar Stanford pitchers.

Centerfielder Brown connected with two safe blows in each game. Eighteen Bruin players fly north via TWA chartered plane Friday morning, and they'll bunk at the President Hotel in Palo Alto Friday night. They play the Indians at Palo Alto Friday and California at Berkeley in a doubleheaded Saturday.

HUSKIE TRACKMEN DUEL HARBOR FRI.

After two weeks of relays Coach Ray Smith's ELAJC track team returns to dual competition this Friday on the Harbor oval at Wilmington. This double duel will open the Metropolitan Conference season for all three particlpants. First event is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Gavilan Olson Set for Title Battle Friday

Carl (Bobo) Olson, early 9-5 favorite, will make his first world middleweight title defense against Cuba's Kid Gavilan at Chicago Stadium Friday night.

The sponsoring International Boxing club is shooting for a $360,000 gross gate, which would jam 19,400 into the stadium. With a $30 top, a sellout is possible. The bout will be televised over the national hook up.

Gavilan is confident he can defeat Olson. His pro record lists almost twice as many bouts as Olson's, 115 to 60. The Kid has a record of 98 victories, 13 defeats and 4 draws, including 27 knockouts. Bobo has won 54 bouts, 26 by knockouts and lost 6.

Four Public Golf Links Rules Change

Revision of policies regarding the operation of Los Angeles county's four public golf courses was announced this week by B. P. Gruendyke, superintendent of county parks and recreation.

Effective Thursday, April 1, new rules will apply to advance reservations, tournaments and course play.

The new golf course policies will apply to Santa Anita course in Arcadia, Altadena golf course, Western Avenue golf course and Lakewood golf course. The new rules were made necesasry because of recent acquisitions by the county of the Lakewood and Western Avenue links.

Tracksters Post Many Top Marks

Despite the wet field and soggy track after heavy rains, the local prep tracksters posted some outstanding marks. Jordan's Dan Everage led his team to a 90-14 victory. Everage tossed the 12-pound ball in the shotput for a new school record of 59 ft. 4½in., bettering his own standard of 58 ft. 6 in. Teammate Travis Mathews, in the broad jump, bested the field with a leap of 23 ft. 6½ in.

Jefferson's Democrats had their top performers. Ed Walters was a double winner in the sprints and John Thomas cleared 6 ft. 3 in. in the high jump. Manual Arts' Earl Hall posted a 14.8 in high hurdles for the best in the city. Polytechnic's John Bowden looks like a cinch as the city's best quartermiler. He has posted a 50.2 and 50.3 and last week churned to a 50.4. Jeff's relay team posted the swiftest time of the season with their last week's 3:03.2.

On the Turf

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO— George Taniguchi, Japanese jockey, who flew down from Bay Meadows for Sunday's races, managed only one winner with eight mounts here last Sunday but lived up to his longshot reputation by bringing Johnny Mitchell's Steady In, the five • year-old son of Put In Steady, opened on the morning line at 20 to 1 but paid only $27.80 in the mutuels. The 24-year-old El Centro born Nisei had Steady In back in close quarters at the far turn, but finally sneaked him through close quarters and at the turn for home came on up on the inside line to beat the favored On To Victory by a length and one-half. He also finished in the money on three other mounts.

Delta Jabberwocky

Personality of the Week

Milton Wood is a playwright. Right now, he is a playwright turned Social Worker but his real love is the theater . . . and his background proves it.

Assist to Deltas

The constant lure of the footlights has led him many and divers places and he remains passionately ardent in his devotion. Armed with a Masters of Arts Degree in Drama and Playwriting, Milton made his his most telling contribution to drama by organizing a repertory company with which he toured the states producing and directing such plays as "Blithe Spirit," "Angel Street," Ibsen's "Ghost." His most recent production was Anna Lucasta staged at the Ebony Showcase.

Versatile

Right now, Milton is deftly guiding Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in a brilliant presentation of Jabberwock of 1954. He has a down-to-earth approach to problems arising which is at once stimulating and reassuring. His sage advice is available to all of the participating groups in setting up and rehearsing their skits. As personable as he is brainy, Milton is a man's man . . . cooperative, business-like and forceful. He is slaving over a play now, that is, the creation of one and who knows he may write Delta's prologue and epilogue for Jabberwock of 1955.

Charm Class Attracting Teen-agers

Peggy Parks, contestant in the Delta's race for Queen of the Jabberwock, is availing herself of the charm class in Self-Improvement at the Lane, Avant & Phillips Modeling Studio at 4304 S. Western Ave. This class is especially designed for teen-agers and is held on Saturday afternoons.

Taking advantage of your best points and minimizing your defects is only good grooming sense, according to Ann Phillips, who instructs the class. The girls in the class are currently on the Mayo Clinic 14-Day diet. This, together with exercise for each girl's figure problem, is guaranteed to take inches off where they are least needed. They are learning that a slim and symmetrical figure is necessary to look well in one's clothes.

Miss Berniece Johnson is attending State College and plans to go on into modeling when she completes the Self-Improvement course.

Philippa Schuyler Concert Here May 2

Philippa Schuyler, noted concert pianist, will appear here in a concert following her New York City swing. She just returned from a triumphant tour of Europe where she appeared before the crown heads of Europe. The Alpha Wives Auxiliary of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity is presenting Miss Schuyler at the Forum theater May 2.

This outstanding cultural event should attract a turn-away crowd for Miss Schuyler has long been recognizd as one of the nation's foremost artists.

She is coming directly to Los Angeles following her April 29 concert in New York. Immediately after the concert here she will leave for a tour of the South American continent.

Whip, Saddle Riding Club Fetes Guests

Last Sunday the Whip 'n Saddle Riding Club entertained their friends at the Idle Hour Inn with a combination Barbeque and Cocktail affair. One hundred guests filled the Spanish-styled Inn to enjoy the cocktail hour commencing at 5:00 p.m. The charming hostess served dinner which consisted of barbequed ham, potato salad, hot buttered rolls and hors d'oeuvres.

After dinner the guests formed a cozy little circle, and with candlelight adding to the atmosphere, they were entertained by lovely Sylivia Moon; Comedian Redd Foxx; Fourth Estater, Chazz Crawford; The Catherine Flowers Dancers and Club President, Lon Fontaine.

Among the many friends who came, and with their presence, contributed to the success of the Club's first social adventure were: Dr. Helen Sides; designer Ann Price; Curtis Mosby, Jr.; Dancer Paulette Easeley of New York; Dwaine Vest; Estelle and Charles Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spencer. Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols and Chesterfield representative, Dick Young.

Twins A-Coming

Linda Coleman was five years old the other day so her parents, Ann and Sherman, gave her a fitting birthday party. Incidentally, the Colemans are expecting twins. The event will make an uncle of Mt. Sinai exec. Bill Thompson. Jet society editor Gerri Major arrives in late summer for a visit.

That's Mary and Archie Woodyard in the glistening new yellow Lincoln Capri. Before her recent accident occurred. Constance Gordon was set to sail for Europe on the 21st with Helen Wright. Theresa Lindsay's mother is about completely recovered from her flu attack. Third look: Dorothy Razaff's becoming new Italian haircut. On her it looks good.

Popping Champagne

Ray Mills planning a press party for his intimate new Western Ave. Redwood Kitchen. Married - in - Yuma Luvercha Bray Thompson and her bridegroom, Russell, are still popping champagne and getting best wishes from their friends. Willa Garrott, home after her recent major surgery. Alpha's Easter benefit at Florentine Gardens all set to roll.

That's Lucille and Ed Lorens bouncing by in that jazzy jeep station wagon. Their car was totally demolished after their grade crossing near-fatal accident in Febr. Peggy Williston Mayo and her Army chaplain husband have settled again in DeeCee. We miss her around here.

New Club

Ruby Shelby, busy as she stays, has taken time out to sponsor the newly formed Les Femmes Moderne. The group plan an introductory affair next month. Their activity will be aimed at charity, especially our orphans. White-thatched, ever youthful-looking Joe Crawford who used to live here arrives in July for a month. Ditto the Joe Jameses. They'll do the Bay area, too.

Women's Sunday Morning Breakfast Club plans an unusual program for this month's affair. The guest speaker and artists will all be from the Braille Institute for the Blind. The club, by the way, is at work on a gala June project accenting big doin's.

Ruby Berkley Goodwin: And thank you!

Government Sponsored

The Haitian mining engineer recently arrived to take a course at San Luis Obispo College is Leroi Antoine's brother. The Haitian government is sponsoring his project. He will return home in four months.

Chi playboy Eddie Meade, heavier in pounds and loot, in town for a few weeks at the Watkins. First time since he left here 7 years back. And you can still hear him above everybody else in a crowded bar.

Marge Stewart happy no end with the way her house turned out since she's redecorated.

Frank Jackson, restless again for Mexico. I fully suspect he will some day wind up living down there. Local buddies of Billy Strayhorn downcast because it seems now ole Sweetpea won't be here long enough to break a few seals, cut a few steaks, give out some belly laughs. He's slated for one night only.

Anticipated: Philippa Schuyler's concert next month. Fourth look: Was that Tommi Moore who just passed by as a blonde this season? Let me look again! If you want a laugh ask her about the "petition" she received from fun-lovin' friends upstate!

Anticipated: The spring dancing party planned by Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Garland. It will of course bring out the book in best bib 'n' tucker, spring prints and males in formal plaid jackets. There's something undeniably stimulating about going to a formal dancing party in the spring!

SPRING FASHION—Wide-eyed little Michelle Clark indicates how excited are the rehearsals of the Bronze Orchids in preparation of their forthcoming Fashion Jamboree. GROOMING THE YOUTH, Ann Philips demonstrates make-up procedures to pretty Carmen Ellsworth during the class in Self-Improvement at the Lane, Avant, and Phillips Studio of Modeling. Other students looking on are Bernice Johnson and Peggy Parks.

A GRAND GROUP OF GRANDS—The Grand officers of the Golden Poppy Grand chapter, Order of Eastern Star, A. F. and A. M. royally entertained Grand Lecturer Mertha Owens of Oakland while on her official visit of subordinate chapters in the Southern California district. Seated are Mertha Owens, grand lecturer; C. B. Tarrance, Maude Brown, Nettie M. Jones. Standing, Frank S. Patterson, Bernice E. Payne, Fannie M. Wilson and William Payne, Sr.

BLOW DON BLOW' seems to be the theme here as Helen Johnson, Beatrice Bradley, Beulah Dow, Bernice Honore, Mamie Peoples and David Buford all agree that Don Johnson (center) really blows some tough sounds. Johnson's band will be the top music feature this Saturday night at the Elks auditorium when the popular Sir Debuteers hold their Spring Frolic dance. "Be there when the man starts blowing." Tickets available in advance or at door.

Former Chairman Honored At YWCA-Woodlawn Meeting

The special feature of the 36th annual meeting of the YWCA-Woodlawn branch was the presentation of certificates by the present chairman, Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress, to the former chairmen of the committees on administration for untiring and unselfish years of work done in the past in helping to make Woodlawn branch a dynamic force in the community.

Those receiving such awards were: Mmes. Marie Frederick, and Irene Morris. Honorable Joan Willis, P. Price Cobbs, mention was made of Mmes. Archie Mosely and Jessie Cole Grayson.

Mrs. Mildred Conyers Boone, vice-chairman of committee on administration presented Mmes. Dorothy O. Buckner and Lillian J. Fentress orchids on behalf of the committee for completing six years of service as committee members.

Mrs. Fentress completing three years as chairman of the committee; Mrs. Buckner having served as membership chairman and personal chairman. A similar award was made to Miss Idell Vertner, executive director, for the grand job being done.

Too much cannot be said about the panel participants who so entertainingly gave to the dinner guests a past and present picture of the YWCA. Approximately 145 guests were present to enjoy this well planned panel discssion with the summarization of past, present and future being very well "tied together" by Mrs. Sallie Edwards, senior group worker, Church Federation of Los Angeles.

Miss Idell Vertner, executive director, was most gracious in her report when special thanks were given to the weekly press for the fine publicity given to the YWCA, to the churches for their annual contributions and use of facilities which assist in furthering the program of the branch, and to all community agencies for assisting with programs, and especially for club groups and social organizations for using our facilities and to the very fine volunteers who have given their time and services to the YWCA."

The Y-Wives met at the branch Wednesday with Mrs. Irene Morris as special guest. She gave an inspiring message to the members present. Two new members were welcomed: Mmes. Gwendolyn Simns and Armenis Hamlett. Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. Shirley and Mollie Reid.

The Employed Girls spent a pleasant evening at the branch watching and discussing a movie which proved to be of interest to all present. At the next meeting, the Lenten season will be observed. Miss Barbara Bradley will chair this portion of the program.

Rummage Sale Set

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

The selection of a trump suit is a very important factor in partnership play. In this selection one simple factor stands out. The trump suit is usually the longest and strongest between the partnership.

Using this rule as a background, there are several points which may be developed.

Don't Be Stubborn

1. When two suits are of equal length and strength between the partnership, select the major suit in preference to the minor suit. This is simply because more points are awarded for major suit contracts.

2. If there is a dispute between the partnership about the suit and an obvious misfit exists, drop the bidding at the earliest posible level. It does not pay to be stubborn about playing contracts without support from partner unless holding a very good suit which needs no support.

3. Support for a suit varies. If it is not rebid, three to an honor or four without an honor are required. If it is rebid once, then three to a ten are usually required. If it is rebid twice, any two cards are enough for a raise.

4. An opening bid of three or more in a suit shows a suit which needs no support. With the proper honor count, partner should have no hesitation in raising this suit, even if he is void.

Examples

Some examples of self supporting suits are as follows:

a) A-K-Q-J-x
b) A-K-Q-xxx
c) A-K-xxxxx
d) K-Q-J-10-xx

Each of these suits is quite powerful and will lose at most one trick. They may be bid at least three times without support.

Any suit headed by the queen and one other honor is biddable at least once, and only once without strong support from partner. These suits should always be bid at the lowest possible level, and in general, should always be major suits. Consider these hands:

North holds:
S. J-xxx
H. A-K-xx
D. xx
C. Q-xx
South holds:
S. Q-10-xx
H. xx
D. A-K-xxx
C. K-J

South Opens

South opens the bidding with one diamond, and north replies one heart. South must then bid one spade rather than rebid the diamond. It is always best policy to get as many bids in as possible at the lowest level. North then replies two spades which, under the total number of points in the two hands, is what they should make. In this case favorable distribution gives a play for four.

As a final note, it is always a good idea to have at least eight cards in a suit between the hands to name it trumps. The higher the contract, the more trumps should be between the hands.

Remember the classes each Tuesday evening at the YWCA. The time is 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

May Day at Ross Snyder playground will be celebrated May 6. Parents are asked to send their boys and girls over to sign up for participation. The theme this year is "Recipe For Spring." Songs, dances and dramatic pantomime will be presented to make the afternoon an enjoyable one for all attending. Everyone is invited to attend.

DON'T GIVE IT UP

Before you draw any conclusions as to the outcome of the Interfrat Basketball Series, take into consideration the effect the rah! rah! gals (cheer leaders) have on the morals (or is it morale) of the players.

Spiritists

Spirits (bottled or otherwise) have played a great part in the outcome of many past games. We have seen teams pulled from oblivion by well proportioned "cheerie-dearies" who have been well schooled in the art of "spirit raising." So if you think that your favorite basketeers are headed for defeat don't lose hope, take a second look at your female team and maybe you'll change your mind. (Maybe).

Whipping It Around

We didn't get to ride any horses but we did take our respective places on cloud 13 at the "Whip and Saddle's" Bar-B-Que cocktail soiree Sunday afternoon.

As we gazed contentedly over the rim of a long stemmed cocktail glass (which was constantly filled, thanks to Jeanne Turner), we viewed notable personalities which included Martini-eyed Lon Fontaine, who is club prexy, Harriet Young, Dorothy and Billie Everett, Rita Stampe, Pat Sides, Fay and Lawrence Spencer, Lloyd Pickins, Mr. Chesterfield; Dick Young, Ann (Miss Lovely) Price, Irving Smith, Johnny DeCou, Sylvia Moon, James Elkins, Slim Johnson, Otis McDaniels, Red Fox, Slappy White, Chazz (Eagle Eye) Crawford and Duane Vest to name just a small minority of the guests.

After the Saturday night "Dribblings" the local fraternity houses pitched ditties that defy description . . . the Kappas, despite their untimely loss to the Omegas were party expressions of happiness which broke only when the results of the game was mentioned.

Over at the "Q" party the frat brothers along with guests, depicted mixed emotions while dancing with their big legged cheerleaders who showed spirit in dancing as well as in cheering.

Sigma's balled too! Even though they have no official house, those boys partied with unrestrained fervor. An abode on Harvard was the setting for Alpha Fraternity and the Sigma sisters (who seem to be equally in number than the men, made us feel that we should have gone SIG.

We didn't blame the Alpha Bastile with our presence but we heard it was the greatest.

People are gasping about:

The "Anchorette club member who woke up the other morning to find some one else on the mat with her.

Although there was no one on either side of her she realized that something was amiss. She's pretty slick, so we guess she won't have to walk down the aisle in an oversized dress.

Elaine Lindo who doesn't use Ponds anymore cause her favorite guy has slipped that "escrow" ring on her finger. (You know what we mean. She uses Ponds, she's engaged . . . and like that . . . you know.)

Pasadena lovely Mary Cantrell who is impatiently awaiting the pitter patter of little toenails . . . it should happen shortly.

Art Wong's California club. Sonny Stitts and Max Roach are headlining this musical extravaganza which plays nightly. We heard tell that fourth estater Marceline Sykes and notables, Rosemary Bunn, Lois Bunn, Buddy Anderson, Sandy Strittron and J. T. Morgan.

The talk concerning the goofs pulled at the AKA's Apache dance Saturday eve. Be cool gals your slips are showing.

Joe Huston "Tenor Sensational"

Joe Huston's large teenage following. They attempted to mob him at Embassy Auditorium appearance which necessitated his using armed guards to get him out of the place. We understand that the "Teen-Fiends" will have another chance at him at the Pavalon Ballroom this Friday.

Langston Club Hears Officer

The Langston University club of Los Angeles held its social meeting in the spacious club house of the Will Rogers park, 1335 E. 103rd street Sunday afternoon.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Julius Kline, member of the Probation department and the Co-ordination council of Los Angeles county. His subject, "I Am My Brother's Keeper," was well illustrated and quite appropriate and in keeping with the times when juvenile delinquency is at its peak.

Vice-President Aurelia Ragland was responsible for securing this speaker.

The Serving committee was composed of Jean Hamilton, Wynola Kerry, Minnie Crane, Mildred McCormick and James Brown. Music was furnished by Mrs. Mayme Slaughter at the piano.

Small Town Leader's Life History Told

Citizen Smith Robinson was cited last Wednesday, on NBC's "This Is Your Life" telecast with a tribute for his lifelong contributions to his fellowman. His story was one of early struggle, and overcoming racial prejudices, ill health and poverty to become a symbol of strength to a whole town.

Present at the show were Robinson's mother, Mrs. Elynora Robinson; his four sisters and brother; the vice principal of Healdsburg High School, an old friend; his employer; his former high school coach; a member of the First Battalion; and the Battalion Commander, Col. Fred C. Weyand and his wife.

HALEY, having "pushed products of every description, recently joined the RHEINGOLD BEER because he realized the unlimited opportunities afforded by this democratic organization, rapidly moving West from New York, whose only requisite for advancement is ability. AUDREY SCOTT, personable and attractive Les Dames president, and Ora McLain both making a sight as beautiful as the California weather hurrying to the Alpha wives Sunday evening cocktail party.

People and Places

SCHOOL TEACHERS — Our circulation man, "Abie" Robinson, upset the usually smooth functioning Eagle office by reporting that only one out of 10 members of the L.A. city school system read our big 74th anniversary issue last week, a historical masterpiece.

Figures show that in the roaring '20s only 39 of God's favorite chilluns were drawing pay checks from the city school system. Today we have well over a thousand spread all over the fast-growing city.

NEEDLE WORK being carried on in that East Street project house is drawing the attention of its neighbors!

QUEEN BEES of that popular social club got friends buzzing about a wild battling Bronson street party staged in the apartment of a big-time Westside sportsman. The gals battled each other all night long in a real lush orgy!

DYNAMITE JACKSON just arranged a new three-year lease on a Central Avenoo building for Joe King, the youthful tailor. Joe has some real big ideas about a swank men's shop to occupy his new quarters!

MARG LOVETT, a young attractive downtown worker's 10-year-old daughter's dancing could easily become the rage of the Coast. Friends say the little trouper is just that good!

WINI ORR, well-known newsgal, will head the Walter Gordon money-raising campaign headquarters as it appears that the dapper barrister has tossed his hat in the assembly race! He won't have to worry about a short-count as Wini is one of the town's grand people.

ARTHUR TOPSIL, being out on the town the other eve caused evil tongues to lash out, "I haven't seen him since his last separation!"

GUIDE YOUR BUCK into business establishments that appreciate your patronage. For instances: the Union Gas Station directly across the street from Standard Oil which hires no Negroes, at Western and Adams; when Scrivner took over the Red Hut Broiler they never did get around to hiring our girls as car-hops. Now that they are in the community to sap up the loot and spend as little as possible; Mike Waikiki who flatly refused to serve you as late as 1940, so he is offering dancing. We think Eddie Atkinson's Town Tavern, Bert and Bal's Milomo and the Morocco need all the Western avenoo trade they can get. Ray Mills, who built a terrific business only to be dumped out for Scrivner, should also get your trade at his cozy Redwood diner at 36th Street and Western.

WINSTON VON WERTZ's steady and terrific job behind the Rubaiyat Room bar accounts for the popularity of the place. Wertz, who traveled around the world three times, knows how to meet people.

IMPOSING is the building at Adams and Grand avenue which houses offices of the county social welfare. Equally eye-catching is that mixed romance taking shape and both parties are married!

ERMA FLETCHER's sex appeal and winsome ways are two important reasons why the old gang is returning to the Paradise. Lawrence Sweetwine and Roland Hamilton are pouring to a delightful crowd!

BLACK MAIL? A West Jefferson real estate operator was hauled down to the personnel office of the post office and questioned regarding a $200 promissory note on his auto. He claimed the car company was trying to force him to make a payment and he refuses to go along with the deal.

CATHERINE WHITE'S real crazy brownskin service is one of the many top features in Dynamite Jackson's. Cool Eddie Dudley's music is agreeable to everyone's ear!

INTER-FRAT miscue came when two young married couples showed up sporting someone else on each others' arms at the Loyola gym. Shame faced, each couple took seats opposite each other and enjoyed the games!

JOE ADAMS, king of the wax-spinners and master at mike-side, doesn't know it but his Friday eve show provided the musical background for a cross-country love session. She, a high-powered nurse, used her friend's West Adams district pad for the rendezvous. He flew in from Chicago where he is on the staff at Cook County hospital.

PAT MOORE, the Western avenoo Du Konk king's imposing neon sign is the latest addition to his swank tonsorial parlor!

UNMARRIED MADNESS. . . . What well-known business man, who shares the same honors at different hours with both gay play girls, mother and daughter, (each of whom is a member of the snob mob, swimming pool set, public school teachers and society sisters) is soon to become the DADDY of both of their "bundles of pleasure" who are already in escrow??? Mother is planning an extensive vacation in Mexico while daughter has decided to stay far away down Texas way!!!!

OUT WEST ADAMS WAY.... A gay group of "girls" are closer together than the skin on a cue ball? Actually they are so chummy that two of them impersonate females and double date each other. Instead of them being gruesome twosomes they are now boresome foursomes!!!! (Must be the California climate.)

EVELYN COLEMAN, elegant wifie of Dr. John, slipped into the office sporting a bewitching poodle hair-do and before we could catch our breath she disappeared. The slender and graceful Evelyn has always possessed a charming and radiant personality!

ADAMAE PALMER'S crystal-clear voice beams from the Hotel Watkins switchboard. She is an ex-school teacher out of Chicago, married and the mother of a real hefty 17-month-old son!

POLICE were called to a Virginia Road street address when a well-known doctor and his Mexico bride made like the Olympic auditorium on Tuesday night. She was forced to flee the scene and take shelter in a neighbor's home!

FRANK JACKSON, business manager of the Eadward House of Charms, will present an ultra modern fashion extravaganza Sunday at the Moulin Rouge this Sunday is sold out. Which indicates that the hairstylist has arrived as the dailies have requested to be on hand to cover said affair so it is our guess the poor weeklies will catch the show from the tenth row!

TOP "HOP" was enjoyed by energetic Edward Atkinson, left, owner and operator of Town Tavern, 36th Place at Western Ave., and suave Schuyler A. Nelson, sensational seller of "suds." Eddie's Cozy Coffee Shop serves a variety of dishes all day, every day, amid a come-as-you-are atmosphere. A private dining room is ideally situated to capacitate the entire family. A plentifully supplied (particularly with Pabst Blue Ribbon and Eastside Beers) bar makes possible a congeniality unequaled in any plush "lush" parlor. Schuyler Nelson joined hundreds of well wishers recently who attended a seven day reopening of "Eddie and Tony's" TOWN TAVERN, a showplace to "go" place.

NAACP Ice Festival Set for Shrine Aud. Sunday, On June 6th

A mammoth ice show scheduled for the Shrine Auditorium on June 6 is the plan of the NAACP Special Activities Committee for its spring affair this year and will be the final NAACP activity undertaken as a part of the local membership campaign and fund drive.

Ice Festival Scheduled

A "Festival on Ice," as it will be called, will feature Mable Fairbanks, nationally known skating star, and several other artists, white and colored, as well as a group of local non-professionals, and will be given in place of the popular "Festival of Stars" which in former years featured many national top artists on a star-studded evening. The ice show, a new venture, is designed to attract additional following because of its broader appeal.

Cheers From Sir Debuteers

Sponsorship for the affair is being sought through the male clubs of the city. Thus far the Sir Debuteers, who are holding their Spring Frolic at the Elks Club Saturday, April 13, from 1 p.m., and the Van Courtlands have voted unanimously to make this one of the largest events Los Angeles ever had. Other clubs desiring to aid may call ADams 4-3228 for information. Tickets for advance sales will be at all Mutual agents next week.

Reports from "NAACP Day" are yet not complete but total membership in the drive to date is 1,011 members and total funds $2,579.18.

MGM's 'Rhapsody' Romantic 'Flick' At the Four Star

MGM's "Rhapsody," currently at four theatres, is the story of a woman's neurotic desire to posses completely the man she loves, Elizabeth Taylor is more beautiful than ever (if possible) as Louise Durant, and in this role, Miss Taylor shows promise of becoming a really fine actress.

Technicolor Musical

The story is supported by a wealth of gorgeous music. The recording of this music was the best we have heard. On several occasions early audiences applauded the musical renditions.

The film is in technicolor. Miss Taylor's clothes and the Swiss Alp scene are beautiful in full color.

Santa Monica Youth Champ

A good example of a local boy making good—early—is James Emmitt Herrin, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Herrin.

A former Eagle newsboy in Santa Monica, Jimmy is now an outstanding student at Foster Grammar school in Evanston, Ill. He maintains an "A" average in most of his subjects and is active in the school's program.

He is the nephew of Mrs. Maude E. Lawrence of Santa Monica. He was recently awarded the city championship in the Boys U-Ten City Wide Tournament, having made the best record in inter-playground competition.

The youth attends Sunday school at the Second Baptist church of which the Rev. W. Thomas is pastor.

The Herrins have three other children. Billy Earl is stationed in Baltimore with the Air Force. The other young Herrins are Madlyn Joyce and Steller Louise.

Why delay? You intend to join the NAACP. Why not today? No time like the present.

FOUNDERS DAY—Members of the Garfield PTA in Santa Monica recently celebrated Founders Day at the school. The social hour was sponsored by the fourth grade room mothers, with Mrs. Estella Gray as chairman. From left, Mrs. Nation; Mrs. Green; Mrs. Gipson; Mrs. Atkins; Mrs. Williams; Miss K. at 3001 Palm Grove avenue, and who has retained Walter Gordon as her lawyer, and George Cannady have had stormy marriage difficulties in the past.

Cannady broke into the news prominently some time ago when his marriage to the well-known actress, Camille Roan, went on the rocks.

Mrs. Cannady's divorce from Dr. Shumate was preceeded by an equally hectic airing in the press and around tea cups.

Prominent Leader

Cannady, former athlete, is an ex-president of the Langston Law club, former assistant United States district attorney, member of the board of the Lawyers Guild, member of the Pacific Town club, and prominent in Alpha Phi Alpha affairs.

Mrs. Cannady, the former Ada Evans, was a laboratory technician. Her marriage to Dr. Shumate Sept. 26, 1948, broke up the following January. She filed for divorce Jan. 25, 1949, but the charges were not pressed immediately, pending an attempted reconciliation. The final blow-up occurred a few months later, and the divorce decree was issued June 14, 1949.

Time 'Running Out' for White Man in Kenya

CAPETOWN, South Africa—Because "time is running out for the white man in Kenya," Africaner Dutch settlers are moving out in a wave of migration.

About 150 new farms are to be granted white settlers in Southwest Africa to take care of the Dutch who are fleeing Kenya, home of the Mau Maus.

A letter in the Windhoek, Southwest Africa newspaper, "Suidwester," says: "Real Afrikaners (Dutch) have lost faith in the Government of Kenya and Britain. The natives (Africans) and Asians are steadily gaining ground on us and time is running out for the white man in Kenya."

tenced to death in September, 1949.

As a result of the alleged crime the entire Negro population of Groveland and nearby communities had to flee their homes, farms, and businesses.

Shot by Sheriff

On the eve of the new trial ordered by the United States Supreme Court, Nov. 6, 1951, Shepherd and Irvin were shot down by the Sheriff in the middle of the night and left to die alongside a lonely road.

Shepherd died. Irvin was seriously wounded.

The second trial began February 14, 1952, with Walter Lee Irvin standing alone. Three days later another all-white jury convicted and sentenced him to death again after one hour and 23 minutes deliberation.

Legal Defeats

Attorneys for the NAACP appealed to the Florida Supreme Court and charged the trial court with committing 22 errors in convicting Irvin. The appeal was denied. A petition for rehearing was also denied.

NAACP lawyers then took the case to the United States Supreme Court for the second time on the ground that Irvin was denied due process of law. The petition was denied in January and a plea asking the high court to reconsider this refusal was rejected January 19, 1954.

GLEI ALE BLONDE SAID CAUSE OF MURDER ON WEST ADAMS

BLOODY STORY—The bloody story of murder in a fashionable West Adams apartment, which went undiscovered for more than 30 hours, is told in the above pictures. Left, Rita Malcolm, blond girl friend of the slain man, James E. Monroe. Next, landlord, A. W. Steward, 3207 W. Adams blvd., shows spot where dead man was found. WATTS VANDALS RUIN SCHOOL

Loafer Jackets Are Discovered in Wrecked School

Two loafer jackets found in the 102nd Street school were the slim clues juvenile officers clung to this week as they sought the vandals who wrecked the school last weekend.

Spokesmen for the security section of the Board of Education said the destruction at the school was the worst in the city's mounting wave of vandalism. No explanation could be given for the ransacking of the school building.

When staff personnel entered the building Monday morning, they found the place a "mess." Windows and transoms were smashed, janitors' supplies littered the building and the corridors had been sprayed with fire hoses.

Ran Riot

Principal Howard Hedges said a motion picture screen had been "slashed to threads," a piano had been doused with carbon dioxide from a fire extinguisher and desks had been overturned.

He said despite the fact that school furniture had been ransacked, nothing of any value appeared to have been stolen. Neither Hedges nor Robert A. Graham of the security section had made an estimation of damages early this week.

Officials said the most seriously damaged rooms in the school were the auditorium, supply room, dining room, offices and cafeteria kitchen. Every room had been entered, they said.

One investigator said the vandals had apparently made a game of sailing phonograph records aaginst the far wall of the students' dining hall. The floor was covered with fragments of broken records. Tiny particles of the discs were imbedded in the walls.

GOODBYE, TANK—Pretty Wylene Younger, 20, got a divorce from Ram fullback Paul (Tank) Younger Tuesday. The attractive Wylene said Tank used "vile language" and sometimes "drank to excess." Wylene, in addition to the divorce, got the rare Dutch Keeshonden puppy, "Jolie."

Loren Miller says...

I saw some figures recently about Los Angeles which show that home ownership among Negroes has reached a new high. Such figures make good reading because most of us regard the fellow who owns his own home as a pretty solid citizen. He is apt to be just that. However figures can be misleading.

The words "home ownership" don't mean exactly what they say. They reflect the number of people who have made down payments on dwellings. They don't tell us how many of these people paid too much for their homes; nor how many still owe too much and how many of them still owe more than the property is worth. Nor do the figures advise us of how many of these dwellings will be worn out before they're paid for.

Frenzied Finance

Above all, the home ownership figures reveal nothing about the frenzied financing that has gone into many home purchases and are silent on the subject of interest rates, second mortgages and fancy deals that have landed many home buyers in a bog of debt from which they can never hope to extricate themselves.

The frenzied financing and overloading of buyers with unwarranted debts is the result of high pressure salesmanship by real estate brokers who are

Movie Producer Pays Girl Friend

No one's talking — but the Eagle has learned that movie great, MGM producer-director Arthur Freed paid off his self-styled mistress, Mary Norris, last week, for a sum variously reported to be somewhere between $8,000 and $20,000.

Mrs. Norris, who throughout her sensational expose of a gift-packed three-year courtship carefully concealed her whereabouts, has disappeared as mysteriously as she previously stole upon the scene.

Suit Dismissed

Xenophon Lang, her attorney, snapped a definite "no comment" when he was asked what had happened.

Court records, however, reveal that the $100,000 damage suit against Freed, filed March 10, was dismissed in Superior Court April 2, last Thursday.

The suit was dismissed "with prejudice"—which is legal terminology meaning that Mrs. Norris may not again file against the producer on the same set of alleged facts.

Out-of-Court Settlement

What usually happens in such cases is that in return for an out-of-court settlement, the plaintiff, in this case Mrs. Norris, signs a dismissal of the suit and turns this over to the defendant or his attorney. Famed Hollywood attorney Jerry Giesler represented Freed. Since it is in the interest of his client, Freed presumably filed the dismissal notice.

Mrs. Norris, in a suit which shook Hollywood, accused Freed of false imprisonment and assault and asked $100,000. Freed, queried by the Eagle, declared that her charge was a dirty lie, the "most terrible lie I've ever heard in my life."

Mrs. Norris, however, related a story in graphic detail of a stormy, frequently interrupted romance, during which the well-known producer gave her a Cadillac, a Buick, Kolinsky furs, a dimond ring, and sent her money on several occasions to return to Los Angeles, after she had "gotten mad" and "run out" on him.

N.O. Houston Awaits 2nd Operation

The many friends and the hundreds of admirers of Norman O. Houston were relieved this week to learn that he had weathered the critical hours following his operation in San Antonio last week and was showing improvement.

Reports from the hospital indicated that Houston, president and one of the founders of the influential Golden State Life Insurance Co., would be well enough by this week-end to undergo a second operation to set bones broken in the traffic accident March 27 on a Texas highway in which he, his wife, Edythe, and Mrs. Elois Davis were all injured.

Mrs. Houston, who suffered a fracture of the right arm and two broken ribs, had recovered sufficiently at the week-end to be up in a wheel chair, and on

Police Hold Knife, Hammer as Tools Of Love Slaying

(Exclusive Coverage)

Fashionable West Adams boulevard was jolted Saturday morning with the discovery of the butcher-knife-punctured body of James Monroe, 34, in the bedroom of his deluxe apartment at 3207 W. Adams blvd.

His attractive wife, Genevieve, 34, admitted slaying her mate early Friday morning after a quarrel erupted into violence. Police laid the slaying to jealousy when it was learned that Monroe was often seen in the company of a blonde. Mrs. Monroe, however, insisted she killed her husband in self-defense.

Mrs. Monroe, a riveter, was indicted Wednesday morning by the district attorney and held for the murder of her engineer husband.

Preliminary hearing has been set for April 14.

Monroe's blood-soaked body was discovered some 30-36 hours after the stabbing only after his wife had attempted to commit suicide in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Steward, who manage the luxurious apartment building.

Sobs Confession

When Mrs. Steward pressed Mrs. Monroe for an explanation of her actions, she sobbed out a confession. Alarmed, Mrs. Steward summoned her husband who hastened to the Monroe apartment. He found the aircraft worker dead.

According to Steward, Mrs. Monroe visited him and his wife Friday afternoon. The two women went shopping and that night Mrs. Monroe asked if she could spend the night with the Stewards.

"We knew Jimmy was gone a lot so we figured Genevieve was lonely so we let her sleep in our living room," Steward said.

The next morning, he said, his wife discovered Mrs. Monroe trying to drink a bottle of iodine. After halting her attempt to take her life, Mrs.

Tells Eagle Reason She Killed Mate

By L. F. PALMER, JR.

"I didn't kill him over that blonde. I killed him because he was beating me."

For the first time, defiance crept into the voice of comely Genevieve Monroe as she talked to an Eagle reporter in dismal City Jail.

Her eyes spoke, too, as she described in an exclusive interview the churning emotions that gripped her early Friday morning and made her stab her husband, James, to death with a butcher knife.

"She gave me plenty of trouble, it's true. She'd come to our apartment for him. She'd call me and tell me she was out with Jimmy. She even told my landlord Jimmy was going to send me back to Chicago and she was going to move in with him. But that's not why I killed him. I had to protect myself."

Prison Garb

Her drab prison garb was in stark contrast to the smart brown gabardine suit she wore Thursday night when she and her husband went to the Hotel Watkins to meet a friend from their old home town, Chicago.

"Just before we started home, Jimmy left the hotel for about a half hour. When he came back he had a cab. He took me home but he didn't even get out of the cab. He went back out.

"It was after 2 o'clock in the morning before he returned. He had given his key to this blonde so he woke me up to let him in.

"He got in bed and tried to make love to me in an abnormal way. I resisted and that's when the fight started."

Like Lost Child

Genevieve Monroe, 33, the mother of a 17-year-old daughter by another marriage, looked like a lost child herself as she recalled the nightmare she had just lived through. But she never hesitated as she talked.

"He hit me and I hit him

McDavid Back On Job As Municipal Bandmaster

Bandmaster Percy McDavid is back on his job as conductor of Municipal Band No. 4, and his band will be given an opportunity to play the same number of concerts as other city bands.

Reinstatement followed a stormy session last Thursday which climaxed a bitter feud lasting for nearly a year. In January, John te Groen, president of Musicians Local 47, reportedly threatened to "kill the whole band project" if the NAACP persisted in its twin demands.

Council Fight Forestalled

In reply, the NAACP countered by appealing to the City Council to cut off funds from all the bands until the concerts were equalized and until McDavid was reinstated.

Thursday's meeting was called by Councilman Edward Roybal, in a last-ditch effort to forestall a full-fledged fight on the floor of the City Council.

At the end of heated and bitter discussion, the union and the music bureau, which co-sponsor the municipal bands, finally agreed to reinstatement and equalization of concerts.

Labeled Subversives

The NAACP entered the picture after two musicians who protested the firing of McDavid last June were labeled "subversives" and threatened with expulsion from the union.

Marl Young and Roger Segure, as spokesmen for a group of musicians, appeared before the union executive committee and charged that McDavid's firing was an act of vengeance, stemming from the fact that he had supported the "one-union" merger of Negro and white musicians in Los Angeles.

When they were attacked, they appealed to the association for assistance.

GOP Lists Ike's Negro Appointments

WASHINGTON.—Republicans were pointing with pride this week to what they described as an impressive list of Negroes appointed to positions of importance under the Eisenhower administration.

The record, they said, shows that there have been more such appointments since the upheaval in 1952 than were made in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Appointments include:

Louis B. Toomer, Savannah, Ga., registrar of the Treasury.

Joseph B. Kay, Louisville, assistant to the Federal Housing Administrator.

Everett Frederic Morrow, Hackensack, N.J., legal consultant to Commerce Secretary Weeks.

Mrs. Carmel Carrington Marr, New York, legal adviser on the staff of UN Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge.

Scovel Richardson, Lincoln, Mo., Federal Parole Board.

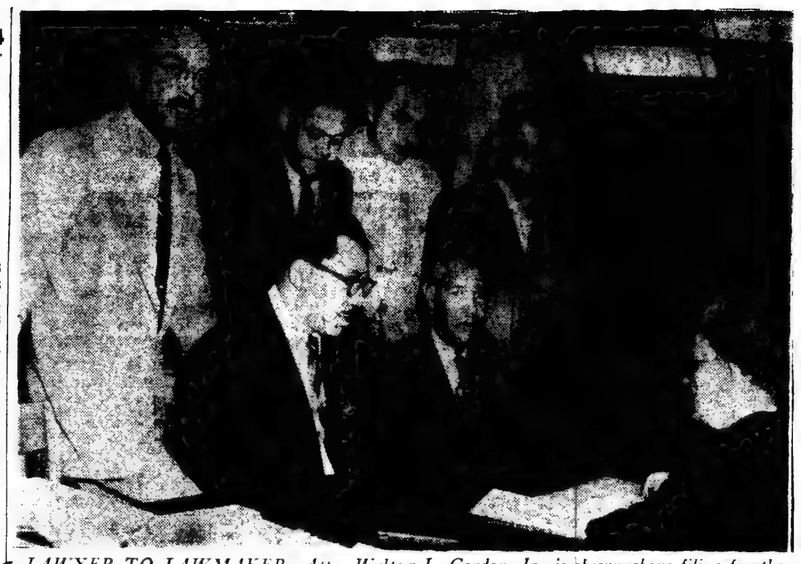
Archie Alexander, Des Moines, Iowa, Governor of the Virgin Islands.

J. Ernest Wilkins, Chicago, Asst. Secretary of Labor.

Mrs. Lois Lipmann, New York, first Negro secretary in the White House.

Julia Cooper, Washington, D.C., GSA legal staff.

Roberta Church, Memphis, Tenn., Labor Department minorities consultant.



Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding, Charleston, W. Va., War Claims Commission staff.

Archibald Carey, Jr., Chicago, UN alternate delegate.

MADDOX TO ALPHA MEET

Atty. Edward Maddox was leaving Los Angeles Wednesday by air for a quick trip to Chicago to attend a special meeting of the executive committee of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Leading Alphas from all parts of the country are converging on Chicago for the session.

Yorty Says Republicans Lose Public Confidence

Congressman Samuel Wm. Yorty said today that "the competence of the Republican Party to govern the United States is being seriously questioned by many Americans."

Yorty officially opened the Yorty-for-U.S. Senator headquarters in Los Angeles with a reception for all endorsed Democratic Congressional and Assembly candidates and leading party officials.

Yorty, the endorsed Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, told an overflow crowd of 500 persons that despite the "problems of immense magnitude facing us at home and abroad, the Administration insists upon beclouding its policies by reliance upon catch phrases and slogans instead of sensible explanation. The now completely debunked and discredited slogan 'new look' is only one of the more flagrant examples of this tendency."

Yorty further said: "Communism remains an ominous threat to the free world. Yet the Republicans have involved our people in a bitter fight over how to fight the Communists. This in itself is a propaganda victory for the Communists. Furthermore, we are about to witness the sorry and shameful public spectacle of the United States Army and a Senate Committee, each equipped with special counsel, and out to prove that prominent members of one or the other are common liars, blackmailers, or perjurers."

Wells Victory Meet Planned

A thanksgiving of prayer will be given for Wesley Robert Wells Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Victory Baptist church, 48th street and McKinley avenue.

Friday was to have been the date of Wells' execution, and the Emergency Conference to Save Wells, through the Rev. A. A. Peters, invites the public to the banquet hall of the churches for services.

Plans will also be discussed to prepare a large victory dinner to honor the hundreds of citizens who worked to save Wells' life.

FLOOD LIGHTS

Installation of flood lights to allow night time use of the softball field in Franklin D. Roosevelt Park was begun this week at the request of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Top Officer Urban League Main Speaker

Lieut. Commander Dennis D. Nelson, the nation's highest ranking Negro Naval Officer, will be the main speaker for the Los Angeles Urban League's Annual Awards Program Friday evening, April 16, 8 p.m., at the Los Angeles High school auditorium.

Sharing platform honors with Lt. Commander Nelson will be the star of "Dragnet," Jack Webb, who will act as master of ceremonies for the awards section of the program.

LT. COMMANDER NELSON

Lt. Commander Nelson, Public Information Officer at the Naval Training Center in San Diego, was among the first group of 12 Negro officers commissioned by the Navy in 1944.

Jimmy Will Stay in Race For Congress

The 26th Congressional district which includes the heavy Negro vote in the so-called Central Avenue area, got back in the headlines this week when Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell voiced the opinion that James Roosevelt should quit the race for Congress.

Mitchell's blast won immediate approval of Ned Redding, Roosevelt's Democratic opponent and Theodore Owings, the leading GOP candidate. Both candidates professed to be moved only by a strong sense of public duty.

On the other side of the fence Roosevelt backers scowled and called the whole thing "dirty politics." At press time it appeared that nothing had changed. Jimmy is still in the race and Redding and Owings are just as chock full of public indignation as ever.

New State Job Building Slated For Local Area

SACRAMENTO—Among the acts voted by the legislature on its final day was passage of AB-78 by Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins to build a new State Department of Employment building in Los Angeles.

The measure expected to be signed by the Governor in a few days appropriated $2,750,000 to be repaid out of rentals from the Federal government.

Hawkins who handled the administration-sponsored bill said the new four story building will be located in the district he represents, near the corner of Washington Blvd., and Flower Street. It will house an industrial and apparel employment office in addition to the area administrative offices of the Department of Employment.

"The location of this building," stated Hawkins, "is part of an overall building program I am sponsoring to bring employment and other services closer to the people in our area. I am also working on plans to expand Los Angeles Trade-Tech (Frank Wiggins) and to obtain a State College adjacent to the Eastside."

Wife Held for Killing Mate

Steward heard the woman confess the slaying.

Wreck Apartment

Detective Sgts. Eugene Danforth and Elmer Jackson of Wilshire police station reported that the bedroom of the Monroe apartment was a wreck.

The phone had been ripped from the wall and furniture was overturned. The officers found a 10-inch kitchen knife, a six-inch kitchen knife, a 12-ounce ball-pin hammer and a pair of women's shoes which they said were the weapons used in the slaying.

They also confiscated two bottles of iodine, a bottle of sleeping pills, and a bottle of carbolic acid.

Married in 1950

The Monroes, both from Chicago, formerly lived at 13087 Montford in the San Fernando Valley. They had lived at the West Adams address only a month. They were married Aug. 1, 1950.

The police theory of jealousy developed when Mrs. Rita Malcolm, a blonde from Glendale, of 1735 Brighton street, came to the Monroe apartment just after the slain man's body was discovered.

According to Steward, she had come to the building once Friday night and earlier Saturday morning, looking for Monroe. When she learned that Monroe was dead, she broke down, witnesses said.

Mrs. Malcolm, reportedly married and a mother, works at the Lockheed aircraft plant where both the Monroes were employed.

When questioned by an Eagle reporter, Mrs. Malcolm refused to comment on the Monroe slaying.

Police booked Mrs. Monroe on suspicion of murder. She retained Atty. Rayfield Lundy and Atty. Earl Broady to defend her.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

This week we spotlight the Councilmanic fight for re-election of Jerry Nathenson of Palm Springs. Jerry is president of the Palm Springs branch, NAACP. He was forced to stick his neck out some two years ago in the fight to save the homes of Palm Springs Negroes. He has the courage to frequent Palm Springs eating houses, accompanied by Negroes.

James Anderson

As president of the Palm Springs branch, he is referred to as the town's leading N----- lover by some of the most reactionary anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and anti-social progress forces to be found within the state of California. As usual, Mr. Big, the town's leading Negro, and his stooges are doing all within their power to split the 400-odd Negro votes which count very heavily in a district where there are only 1200 registered voters.

If Nathenson is defeated, these same people can be counted upon to give support to State Senator Jack B. Tenny and his anti-civil rights gang who are attempting to build support for their legislative program which is designed to destroy California laws which make it unlawful for eating places, hotels, and places of public amusement to discriminate in service, because of race, creed or color.

The Richard Graves for Governor campaign committee is making the same mistake that was made by the McKinnon Senatorial campaign committee. They are attempting to conduct a hip-pocket political campaign among the seven hundred odd thousand Negro people of California. One of these days these so-called white liberals who manage to get control of Democratic campaigns will wake up. They will find that their attitude is no different from the attitude of the worst Southern reactionary, who insists that he "knows the Negro" and what is "best for the Negro."

The Jimmy Roosevelt campaign is being run by outsiders, for outsiders. The Lybecks, Ed and Ruth, are up to their old tricks of conducting a campaign for Negro voters from outside the Negro district. They haven't heard the old Negro maxim: 'If a snake bits you once, it's his fault; if he bites you twice, it's your fault.'

We are interested in knowing if it's true that among Jimmy Roosevelt's 62nd Assembly District supporters, there is a working relationship with the Goodie Knight campaign committee. We also want to know if Jimmy, providing he is elected, will appoint a Negro to a position such as the one held by Ethel Bryant for Congressman Sam Yorty.

We think it's about time for Negro Democrats to receive political recognition as paid campaign staff personnel. The going rate is $150 per week. Negroes are expected to back organizationally supported candidates for public office but after decisions are made they're expected to take back seats while others run the show and make decisions.

Spotlight this week would like to suggest that the Negro vote is a special interest vote, the same as the labor vote, the downtown business association's vote and the taxpayer's vote.

There is a storm brewing around the reported support of Jee DeSilva, Retail Clerks representative, for Goodwin Knight against Richard Graves.

The luncheon held by H. Claude Hudson and Allen B. Woodward, III, for Councilman Ed Roybal who is seeking election as Lieutenant Governor pledged itself to hold a large meeting and assume the responsibility of sharing in the cost of Roybal's campaign. Starting next week, Spotlight will present a thumbnail sketch of some of the characters, Negro and white, who are mis-running Democratic campaigns among Negro voters.

Wives Claim 'Cruelty' in 2 Divorces

Two marriages which got their start in Yuma, Ariz., in 1950 ended up last week in Los Angeles—on the rocks.

Mrs. Frances Mae Reed of 2275 E. 105th St. left her husband, Robert, only four months after they were married July 27, 1950. Charging extreme cruelty, she filed suit for divorce in Superior court Friday through her attorney, Rayfield Lundy.

According to the complaint, her husband "on many occasions treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner and inflicted upon her grievous mental and physical suffering."

Mrs. Christine G. Glassco and her husband, Roger, of 143½ E. 47th Place, were married in Yuma, Nov. 12, 1950. They separated just last March 28, after which Mrs. Glassco retained Atty. James N. Reese to start divorce procedings.

Mrs. Glassco charged that her husband threatened her life several times and "constantly created disturbances in and about the premises by use of foul, loud and abusive language and on several occasions actually attacked and beat her."

Such an attack on March 27, was the last straw, Mrs. Glassco complained. She slapped an "extreme cruelty" charge on her spouse.

Hamilton Leaves For Virgin Islands

George Hamilton, named last week as administrative assistant to the governor of the Virgin Islands, left this week for his new job. He will serve under Governor Archie Alexander, Eisenhower appointee to the position.

Hamilton, a native Kansan, who practiced law in Wisconsin and Minnesota before coming to Los Angeles, was appointed through the good offices of Senator Thomas H. Kuchel. He had been employed on the legal staff of the Golden State Insurance company.

Woman, 69, Is Arrested As Watts Firebug

The rash of incendiary fires which for months has kept residents in the Watts-Willowbrook-North Compton area jittery came to an abrupt halt late in February, following the arrest of a 69-year-old woman, according to Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz.

Mrs. Marie Romero reportedly told investigating officers after she was arrested: "You can send all your men home. There will be no more fires."

Mentally Ill

After questioning the elderly woman, police came to the conclusion that she was the firebug who had been terrorizing the area, but that she was mentally ill. She was detained for observation until last Thursday when she was committed to Patton State hospital.

Mrs. Romero was picked up in the early morning hours near the scene of the last series of fires. When accosted, she had a quantity of bits of wax paper with her, and deputies believed she was about to start another fire in a shed.

Never Caught in Act

Although a battery of radio cars, plainclothesmen and officers honeycombed the 30-block area for weeks, Mrs. Romero was never actually seen setting a single fire. Nor did she admit that she had ever set any of the close to 50 fires that kept breaking out inexplicably in sheds, garages and automobiles, keeping the Arson squad on the constant alert.

First of the fires occurred in August, 1953. The last occurred Feb. 22 of this year in a barber shop and cleaning shop at 1716 N. Willowbrook avenue. Two days earlier a fire had mysteriously started in a machine shop at 12401 Alameda street. There seemed no set pattern in the selection of the site to be burned. Police believed that availability to alleys was what determined the choice, and were convinced that they were the acts of a pyromaniac.

Biscailuz noted that no shed fires had occurred since Mrs. Romero was arrested. He added, however, investigations will continue in the area.

Insurance Man M. J. Hewlett Dies at Home

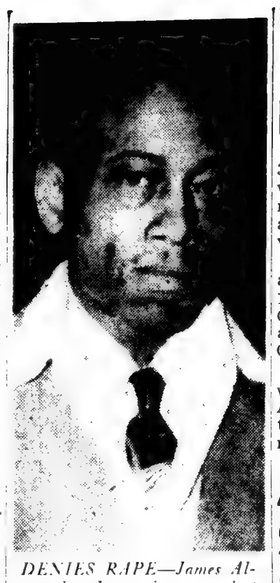
While waiting for a doctor to come to his assistance Tuesday, Martinez J. Hewlett died in his wife's arms, at their home, 1050 W. 48th street. The news brought quite a shock to his friends, family and associates at the main office of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance, where he was employed.

Martinez and Rene Hewlett were inseparable brothers. The family moved here from Louisiana in 1937. The boys graduated from Polytechnic High school. They were in the second world war together and upon their return worked for the California Eagle. In about 1949 Martinez became an agent of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co. Very soon thereafter he was made a district manger, and more recently was transferred to the home office of the company to work in the agency department. At his death he was in the planning department of the company.

Two years ago Martinez and his wife bought their preesnt home. A heart ailment appears to have caused his death.

He is survived by his wife Carmel, and four children, Martinez, Jr., 11, Eleana, 7, Danny 5 and Patricia 2. He also leaves his father, Edmond Hewlett, his mother, Mrs. Felicie Honore, his brother Rene, and many other relatives and friends. Funeral services will be held at Angelus Funeral Home, and at St. Celia Catholic Church, Normandy and 43rd st., with interment at Sawtelle National Cemetery, at his own request.

Now He's 7



Lloyd Christopher Allen II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Allen, 2801 Delaware street, Santa Monica, celebrated his seventh birthday at a party at his home last Saturday.

Helping to put away the ice cream and cake, in addition to Chris's parents, were classmates Larry Ferguson, Denney Ferguson, Sonny Garrett, Linda Allen, Rockey Harris, and Paul and Phillip Koman.

Chris attends the Kansas Junior school. His hobby is bike riding. His ambition? To be an Eagle salesman, of course.

Construction crews have been dispatched to Avalon and El Segundo to begin installation of fixed-time traffic signals.

Woman Dead Three Hurt In Collision

Miss Alice Garrett, 35, of 3737 Arlington, was killed last week when the car she was riding in crashed into a curve at Citrus and Alosta ave., Covina.

Seriously injured were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Campbell of 10312 Mary ave., and Leroy Cooks, 29, of the Arlington ave. address. They were taken to Covina Community Hospital.

According to California Highway Patrolman George D. McArthur, Campbell was driving the car which left the road and rammed the curb.

Admits Girl Stealing But Denies Rape

James Alexander Jones entered a plea of guilty of child stealing last week but denied he raped the 12-year-old girl he snatched from a Willowbrook street last January.

The 39-year-old Jones, who was arrested in a Santa Barbara rooming house, faces trial April 21.

A news story in the California Eagle resulted in the capture of Jones. Members of the Santa Barbara community read the story and identified Jones and young Myris Delores Pirl of 1818 E. Century blvd.

Her disappearance at first did not occasion undue alarm because Jones was known by Myris' family as a friend. However, when she failed to return home, it was feared she had been kidnapped and possibly killed.

Swimming Pool in K.C. Open to All

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas City announced this week that it will reopen the Swope Swimming Pool June 12 on a non-segregated basis.

The pool, owned and operated by the city, has been closed for two years because of a court decision ordering the park officials to admit Negroes.

The decision of the city fathers ends two years of legal battles between Kansas City, Kansas City Park Commission and lawyers of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.

Reopening of the Swope Pool on an "all-welcome" basis is the result of a case instituted in 1950 by Mrs. Esther Williams, Mrs. Lena R. Smith and Joseph Moore, all members of the local branch of the NAACP, following refusal of park officials to admit them to the pools in more elaborate Swope Park.

When the case came to trial in 1952, the judge held that Kansas City violated the "equal prtoection" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by denying Negroes admission to the pool.

The city officials appealed the decision to the Circuit Court of Appeals, which upheld the lower court's ruling. The United States Supreme Court on October 15, 1953, refused to review the appeal, thereby upholding the lower court's ban against segregation in the pool.

Dispute Over Power Splits Ill. Shriners

CHICAGO — Illinois Federal Judge LeBuys Monday denied the motion of the Imperial Council of the Shrine for a temporary restraining order and a temporary injunction.

This action was filed by the Imperial Council to restrain the Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Illinois and its Grand Master, Dr. F. Curtis Rogan, from enforcing an order made by Grand Master Rogan prohibiting the Master Masons of Illinois from participating in the affairs of the National Shrine.

The Shrine contends that the grand master had no such authority. The grand master asserts that he has the right and duty, in order to preserve the peace and harmony of his jurisdiction, to limit the activities of Master Masons in Illinois in Shrine affairs.

An edict similar to the one issued by the grand master of Illinois has been issued by several of the grand masters and the case is looked upon as a test case.

Save Howard Law School

It comes with ill grace for the American Bar Association with its long record of indifference to civil rights to urge the abandonment of Howard Law School on the ground that integration in southern law schools has destroyed Howard's reason for existence.

The American Bar Association has gone through the motions of admitting Negroes for only a short time. It took the resignation of some of its most prominent members and a series of open attacks on its Jim Crow position to get the ABA to open its doors to Negroes a little more than a decade ago. Even now, it admits Negroes only in token numbers—enough to fend off the charge that it is not open to them.

The "leaders" in the American Bar Association never tire of beating their breasts and of proclaiming that the lawyers they represent are the great defenders of American liberties. But the lawyers who have defended the rights of Negroes have done so without a whit of aid from the leaders in the ABA.

In truth, the South's Jim Crow advocates have been able to hire the leaders of the Bar in that section to argue in season and out that the Constitution sanctions segregation. The American Bar Association has never filed a brief nor appeared as a friend of the court in any important case in which segregation was challenged Back of the campaign against Howard Law School is the fact that it has been the fountain head of civil right in this nation. From the time Charles H. Houston first headed it down to today, under the leadership of George Johnson, the school has devoted a great deal of time to blazing paths in the field of civil rights.

There are Americans, including Texas minded Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby who don't like what Howard has done. They want the school closed out of the fatuous belief that its closing will still the clamor for civil rights. At the worst the closing of Howard would only cripple the fight. However, there is no reason why Americans devoted to the democratic way of life should sit by and let the American Bar Association and other opponents of Howard have their way.

Howard, we must remember, was founded shortly after the close of the Civil War for the express purpose of aiding and assisting in the education of Negroes. It had one of the first law schools, to which Negroes were admitted, in the nation. It serves a good and useful purpose. It must not be sacrificed on the altar of prejudice.

What About The Issues?

The poverty of Governor Goodwin Knight's campaign for votes of Negroes is bared every time the personable candidate appears at a gathering of Negroes.

His talks follow a pattern: there is the recital of his younger days and of the Negro youngsters he knew; there is the constant emphasis in appointments of Negroes to position in government; there is the talk about his own lack of prejudice; there is the vague promise that he, Knight, will do the right thing. After that there is nothing.

Governor Knight has made three major appearances before groups of Negroes. In every instance he has carefully sidestepped the issue of fair employment legislation and that in the face that declining employment makes such legislation imperative at this time.

The governor has been as silent on other issues directly affecting Negroes. He has articulated no program to meet the discriminations that they face in employment, in housing and in other critical areas of their lives.

Every Californian who has given the matter cursory thought knows that Governor Knight harbors no personal racial prejudices. Most of us know by this time that he went to Manual Arts high school and that he knew and was friendly with Negro students during his school days. We believe now that he will appoint Negros to at least some positions in state government.

What we would like to know now is where Goodie stands on the issues. What about FEPC? What about housing? What about jobs? What about other related problems?

The people would like to know.

Shall Walter Irvin Die?

The noose is closing around the neck of Walter Lee Irvin—the last of the Groveland defendants.

He was one of four youngsters arrested for rape away back in 1949.

One of them was shot and killed by police at the time of the arrest.

Another—a 16 year old underprivileged boy—is serving life in Florida's infamous prisons for a crime he didn't commit.

Still another was shot and killed by the sheriff who was taking him to the court house for trial!

Irvin himself was strung up by the thumbs and beaten in an attempt to make him confess when he was first arrested. He, too, was shot by the sheriff who killed his companion.

The evidence of Irvin's guilt was so unconvincing that a neighborhing Florida newspaper has consistently proclaimed his innocence.

The woman who accused him told a story that was unbelievable.

The United States Supreme Court reversed his first conviction in a scorching decision and Justice Jackson referred to the Florida proceedings as the kind that cast discredit on American jurisprudence.

All of that is water under the bridge.

Walter Lee Irvin sits in a death cell—condemned to die for a crime he didn't commit.

Only the Florida governor can save him.

And Florida's governor won't act unles Americans everywhere raise their voices against this outrage. And all Americans should cry out. For if Walter Lee Irvin dies all of the silent ones will bear a part of the shame that goes with the execution of an innocent man.

The 55th Assembly District

We think voters in the 55th Assembly district should choose a Negro for their assemblyman in this year's election.

It is quite true that the incumbent, Vernon Kilpatrick, has an acceptable record and our opposition to him is not personal.

However the plain fact is that no Negro can be elected to office in any political subdivision unless the Negro vote is dominant.

Conservatives, liberals, radicals, Democrats and Republicans alike always find some excuse for not supporting Negro candidates—even while they protest their own fairness and lack of racial prejudice. If Negroes are to get office Negro voters will have to elect them. We wish it were not that way but that's the way it is. And so long as that stubborn fact remains we think we're duty bound to give a helping hand to every Negro candidate with a minimum set of qualifications and a chance of success.

At the moment, we won't make a choice between Rayfield Lundy and Erskine Ragland, the two Negro candidates in the 55th district. We do want to wish them both well and we hope that one of them gets past the primary election. We'll be for the one who is the candidate in the finals without regard to party affiliation.

From a driving snowstorm and 15-degree weather in Minneapolis to magnolia blooms and cherry blossoms in Washington, D. C., and a balmy moonlit evening in Bristol, Tenn.—all within the space of 24 hours.

Lester Granger

I had left New York City on one of those swinging circles covering several states in as many days. In Cleveland I addressed the annual luncheon meeting of one of the city's principal social service organizations. Next day in Detroit I was in consultation with officials of the Ford Motor Company.

The next day I was in Minneapolis for the Urban League's annual meeting, and two days later found me, first, in the Pentagon Building at the nation's capital and, that evening, down in the valleys of the Cumberland range — and back in Washington in the small morning hours, by way of Atlanta, Ga.!

Patterns Change

It was the kind of trip that only a foolish executive would map out for himself very frequently. It was the kind of a schedule that would have been absolutely impossible even a dozen years ago, for some of the connections I had to make weren't scheduled then. But this very fact exemplifies how tightly this whole country has been drawn together within the lifetime of most of us—and how that shrinking of distances has affected such social questions as the old, familiar "race question."

Some of us who beat the drums and toot the horns of racial protest make an overhasty connection between protest and change, and get the idea that invariably it is a cause-and-effect relationship. Change follows protest, we reason, and therefore protest causes change.

Sometimes we are right, but more often we are apt to be wrong. Some of the most significant changes that have taken place in racial conditions in the past 25 years have been more the result of this tightening-up of American living than of the most eloquent protests against social injustices.

Speeds Process

The protest is useful, in most cases, because it speeds up a process that might otherwise drag; in some cases it even helps set the process in motion and keeps the attention of people centered on the need for faster progress. Nevertheless, in most cases social change is caused most of all by the fact that people are living closer together than ever in history—both physically and emotionally.

Closer Neighbors

When I spoke to the Interracial Committee of Bristol, Tenn., I made exactly the same points and used the same arguments that I offered in Cleveland and Minneapolis—and the audience reacted in exactly the same way. This would scarcely have been possible 20 years ago. It would have been completely impossible 30 years ago.

What has happened in between has been an amazing coverage of the country by close-meshed radio and television networks, lowering of relative travel costs and compressing of travel time, and concentration of national attention on interest-centers of common concern to all the American people—such as the two wars and a possible H-bomb war in the future.

All of us are closer neighbors than we used to be, whether we like it or not, and many of us are beginning to realize that we'll either become better neighbors or it'll be the worse for all of us.

Shifting Targets

I sometimes think that some colored Americans are among the last to learn this lesson, for many of us are still going at the race question just as we did 30 years ago, never realizing that most of our shots are going wide of the mark because the target has shifted a half dozen times in the past three decades.

This is why I shake my head mournfully when I get indignant letters (usually unsigned) that take me to task for not being a "race man" (quaint phrase of yesterday's usage) or criticizing me for not declaring war on the white race.

The writers are not vicious persons, fundamentally; they are not even stupid in the commonly accepted meaning of the word. They are simply behind the times—50 years behind—and they are still trying to attack today's problems with yesterday's weapons, weapons which were never sharp enough even for yesterday.

GOV. KNIGHT WINS A ROUND—AND LOSES A ROUND

OAKLAND—Goodwin Knight threw a wrench that stopped the Communist's machinery dead in the Wells case when news of clemency for Wells hit the papers Friday, March 26. The party, through its "civil rights" agency, the Civil Rights Congress, had planned to distribute its carefully prepared "Free Wells" literature Sunday, March 28, at Oakland Arena where Governor was scheduled to address the NAACP's "Fight for Freedom Rally."

Lester Bailey

In the place of the highly professional printed "bomb" the party was set to throw at Knight, only a handful of workers appeared in front of the NAACP meeting to get signatures on a seedy looking (labor donated) mimeographed petition to the State Supreme Court on Wells' behalf.

Few persons entering the meeting (6000 attended) stopped to sign and the workers must have been disheartened to learn that their "martyr" had died so soon for their cause even though the Governor had given him a new lease on life.

Political Speech

After this knockout right hook to the left, Knight mounted the speaker's rostrum on Sunday where he was supposed to bring official greetings from his office, proclaiming "Fight for Freedom Week" throughout the state. He had been preceded by NAACP's Tarea H. Pittman and this writer, both of whom had given reports on the mounting employment bias in California. FEPC had been mentioned by both speakers as the solution to this burning problem.

The Governor forgot his official mission and launched into a political speech that ran smack against NAACP policy on two counts.

His greatest error was his attempt to placate the 700,000 Negroes in this state, who must have fair employment practices in order to earn a living, with the political window-dressing of two Republican appointments of two, and only two, Negroes to top jobs in the administration of California.

Knight lost this round by a "technical" when NAACP secretary-counsel Franklin H. Williams followed him on the agenda (It should be noted here that Gov. Knight had just received, in the presence of the audience, his certificate for a $500 Life Membership in the NAACP).

Would Be More Proud

I need only to quote Frank Williams to get the story told:

"I am proud to be sharing this platform with the distinguished Governor of the greatest state, the State of California . . . and I am proud to be up here with the distinguished mayors of the cities of Berkeley and Oakland.

"But I would be far more proud if our Governor had pledged to us his support for FEPC. I don't care who you are or how high you are, that is our aim and we are going to fight for it. When the day comes that the Negro compromises his just demands, then the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People should close its door in shame. This organization was founded by dedicated men who never comprised. We welcome to our ranks those people who will stand with us."

Wonder when officials of the Governor's party will learn that the psychology that works so well on the Negro politicians in the rear, smoked-filled rooms is insulting to high caliber civil rights leadership out on the battle-front?

WHAT A DANCE SCHOOL

Well, there is a dance studio on Western Avenue which has attracted our attention. Not that we feel that we now have a way to catch up with our dancing but because of the philosophy of its founder, Jim Dryden.

Jim Dryden is a New Yorker. He began his dancing career with some of the top people of that city, but hearkening to those oft repeated words, "Go West, young man," he began the trek Westward by moving to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Colorado.

Leon Steward

In 1949 he moved further west and arrived in Los Angeles with a definite idea in his mind about a dancing school. "Why not include anybody who would like to learn to dance?" he asked himself. And himself answered "Why not?" So, after managing Veloz and Yolanda's Dance School for two and a half years, he decided to launch his own idea of a dance school.

Finds a Spot

When the policies of Dryden's Dance Studio were established they read like this: "It shall be interracial." To make it so, he employed Alice Sumida, a Japanese lover of the dance; La Fae Bowman, a Caucasian teacher of ballet and tap dancing; Pauline George, a dance analyst, and Elizabeth Watson, who does the publicity. The last two are Negro lovers of the dance. For several years the dance hall has held forth at 3810 S. Western Avenue.

Dryden's Philosophy

"When the several races dance together they begin to know each other for what they are." That is a direct quotation from Mr. Dryden. He states that when he first mentioned his plans to his friends they were a bit surprised but did not openly object. However, after his plans were in operation, his friends became interested and convinced that people are just people. He says that besides teaching beginners to dance they also teach new dances and encourage clubs and people of all ages to participate.

We are well acquainted with some of the people whom he has had or now has in his classes. Just to illustrate, we ran across the name of our good friend, Dr. A. L. Wallace, a man old enough to know what he is doing and then goes and does it. In fact we never ran into a name at that studio, which we recognized, that was not of the representative sore. We mention specifically the name of Dr. Wallace because he appears to be rather proud of his accomplishments.

So here is another pioneer in the social aspects of American life, and we wish to hail him for that very fact more than any other. Jim Dryer deserves this pat on the back and we are proud to give it to him.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I am taking pen in hand to write you how I feel about the heart warming victory we have won in saving the life of Wesley Robert Wells.

So many aspects of the fight to save his life came to my mind that I hardly know what to start to say. But, whatever else may be said, I believe the most wonderful thing is the fact that people in all walks of life, to the extent of many, many thousands rallied to express their solidarity in this cause when they learned the facts.

I can think back to the time, not many months ago, when too few knew the facts and even fewer dared to express their feelings. It was the "California Eagle" which played the biggest part in breaking through the apathy of silence that shrouded every effort to bring the facts, initially and fearlessly, to the people.

In acknowledging any feeling of gratitude to the California Eagle I do not want to appear to overlook the legion of individuals and groups who labored devotedly to rally people to this cause. I know that these devoted people made it possible for the California Eagle to light the beacon which rallied the entire nation to the long overdue defense of Wesley Robert Wells.

I cannot pass this opportunity to pay tribute to the American Federation of Labor Painters Union Local, of which I am a member, Local 1348, which was among the pioneers of the AFL who enlisted in the cause of saving the life of a victim of Jim Crow discrimination.

Finally, we must carry on a fight to bring Wesley Robert Wells out of prison, with a full pardon and a chance to make a decent human life for himself in society. I know that the California Eagle under your capable guidance and the noteworthy efforts of your efficient interracial staff members, namely: Francis P. Waller, Jr., Grace E. Simons, Calme Russ and Edward "Abie" Robinson, will continue to do its part, as I know my own AFL Painters Union, Local 1348, will.

Dear Sir:

We, the mothers of the group of young ladies known as the "Anchorettes," with their advisor, Mrs. Emily Portwig, wish to enter our protest against the wilful and malicious remarks appearing in your newspaper last week.

We wish to suggest that its writer, who admitted that he had deliberately lied, because some young lady had refused his attentions, be dismissed from your staff, and also suggest that the column be eliminated unless its contents can be more truthful and less slanderous to young ladies in general.

Dear Sir:

Mrs. Cora E. Rollins, formerly a Chicago Civic and Social leader, for 25 years a member of the Women's Board of Chicago Provident Hospital; 25 years a member of Illinois Children's Home and Aid Auxiliary of Chicago, past president of Chicago Friendly Big Sisters Auxiliary, organizer and founder of Hollywood Civic and Social Club six years ago, extends to the California Eagle congratulations on its 74 years of service to the community and much success under the excellent leadership of Publisher Atty. Loren Miller.

Dear Sir:

The League of Allied Arts wishes to commend you on the article concerning the group of club women who represent some of the civic and social clubs in Los Angeles as displayed in the January 7 issue of the California Eagle.

This news outlay, which brought to the attention of the public the leaders comprising these clubs who play such prominent parts and contribute so largely to the cultural and civic life of our community, was enlightening and very interesting.

Please accept our best wishes for the continued success of your publication.

more concerned with commissions than with the welfare of their clients. This high pressure campaign started during the war when many persons were forced to buy homes to keep roofs over their heads and when enforcement of race restrictive covenants compelled them to buy in "Negro neighborhoods." There was no ceiling on real estate and sales were made at the highest figure the traffic would bear. The buyer had to do the best he could.

High Pressure

Negroes still have difficulty in finding decent rentals and the high pressure campaign is still rolling in high gear. Pick up any newspaper and you'll find dozens of "bargains" advertised at "low-down payments." Let's take a look at one of these "low down payment bargains."

The house is advertised at, say, $8000 with a $500 down payment. A buyer shows up with $500. The broker hustles him to escrow and explains that "we'll have to get a first trust deed." The buyer, with his eye fixed on becoming a home owner, nods agreement. A first loan of $5000 at say, six percent interest rates is pledged. Then the broker explains, knowingly, that he'll have to find a "second trust deed for the balance of $2500." That's fine with our eager-beaver home buyer. He doesn't know it but he's in for trouble now.

"Little Discount"

A day or so later our broker turns up with the good news that he's found a "private party" who'll "take the second." There's just a little hitch, our broker beams. The second trust deed buyer insists that the second trust deed be discounted—slightly. That's okay, too, says our buyer. The "little discount" turns out to mean that the second trust deed will have to be made out in the sum of $4000 so the "private party" will get the proper discount. The buyer who is borrowing $2500 must repay $4000—with interest. And our man also isn't too handy with figures and he doesn't note that the second will bear interest at 10 per cent. So he signs—in many instances blank notes and deeds of trust.

"Now the "deal" can be "turned," as the phrase goes. Escrow closes. Our buyer has a home of his own, his very own. Also, he's stuck with the following items: (1) he's put in $500 cash; he is signed up on a first trust deed in the sum of $5000; and he's signed up on a second trust deed not of $4000, bearing interest at 10 per cent. Add the figures up and you'll see that the home has cost him $9500 instead of $8000! He is obligated to pay $50 per month on the first trust deed and $40 per month on the second trust deed.

Interest on the second trust deed costs him more than interest on the first! Worse yet, the 10 per cent interest on the $4000 absorbs almost all of his $40 monthly payment; at the end of a year he'll learn that he's probably paid only $100 on principal. You see, he's paying interest both on the $2500 he actually borrowed and on the $1500 that he never got. Before he's through paying off the debt he will have paid almost double the $8000 he thought he was paying for the property.

Fantastic, you say? Not at all. I've only scratched the surface. I could cite chapter and verse and some of the names would be might respectable ones too in the field of real estate. If you're interested I can tell you a few more things about frenzied finance in the field of home buying. I'll do just that in future columns.

CME Confab Scheduled for April 15, 16

Morning worship at Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church was well attended on last Sunday morning when Dr. Curry spoke to the congregation on the subject: "Dealing With Sinful Situations." Highlighting the message he emphasized the fact that, in order for us to fight back at the individual who has sinned against us, we must bring ourselves down to his level.

"We oft time try to evade the issue by going to the minister instead of our offender," the pastor said. "It is a hard matter to not fight back at the person who offended you, but there is a power that is greater than we that sustains us. We must also remember that to forgive our brother is one of the greatest weapons of peace today," he added.

Following the message, the Holy Communion was administered to more than 700 persons.

The Los Angeles District Conference will convene April 15-16 at St. Paul C.M.E. Church, 1092 Rolston Street in Bakersfield. The Rev. H. H. Collins is the minister. Delegates from Phillips Temple are: Mrs. E. M. Mays, Mrs. R. M. Merrit and Mark Allen. Alternates are Howard L. Ward and Melvin Hands.

Easter Message Told By Church Worker

By CAMILLA LEFTRIDGE

We never come into our Lenten season but that we think of the fact that in the beginning God gave His Son, Jesus Christ, to the world at a time as it is in today. Whosoever believes and accepts Him as his Saviour will receive knowledge and the power and help to overcome the evils that tend to destroy our faith. The Lenten season should be a serious time with every believer; for the most of us are overburdened and overworked, solely because of unbelief.

Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." To follow in his steps we must deny ourselves, pick up the cross in His name, and the Holy Spirit will direct our ways, into all truths. Repentence will give us deliverance.

As we come into the Easter season, we think of our risen Christ, who became the first fruits of them that slept and by whose resurrection we were brought into immortality and light. The scriptures teach that Jesus Christ is the only one who ever arose in an immortal body, so Blessed and Holy is He that hath part in the first resurrection. Hallelujah and praise His Holy Name!

Rogers, the composer of this seldom-heard cantata, has combined dramatic melodies and imaginative harmonies to create a work of appeal and renown.

Lula Sanders and Jean Brown will share the soprano scores in the Zion Hill presentation. Alfred Becton will sing the tenor role, and Sylvester Bell has been assigned to do the baritone solos.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

DID YOU KNOW?—

Brice Taylor, the great USC running guard of the middle twenties, is now officially recognized as his almamater's first bonafide All-American . . .

Brice was never honored as such before, because he was picked after the death of Walter Camp, the man who first inaugurated the selection of All - Americans . . . After the passing of Camp, everybody tried to get into the act of picking AA teams. Subsequently, until Grantland Rice came along with his pickings, the INS team on which Taylor was named, undoubtedly carried as much weight as any . . .

Brad Pye, Jr.

Deke Houlgate, of the Houlgate House on West Santa Barbara and a Football Writers of America member and H. D. Thoreau, SC's publicity chief, were instrumental in getting the Trojans to accord the honor of being the school's first All-American to Taylor. Arnold Eddy, secretary of the Trojans' Alumni Association, has informed the well-liked Jefferson High instructor via a letter of his long overdue recognition.

. . . P.S.: This fine token of appreciation couldn't have happened to a nicer guy . . .

RANDOM DATA—

USC entertained C. R. Roberts (Oceanside High) and Rafer Johnson (Kingston High) who are reputed to be the two top sepia footballers in the state, over the weekend . . . Speedy Curtis, ex-USC JVer, escorted the boys to the Frat game Sat. . . . UCLA will put its bid in shortly. . . .

Jeff's erstwhile star won the quarter in 50.3s for Oxy Sat. against SC . . . He's believed to be the first of the race at Oxy. . . . Charles Palmer, a star trackster at Jeff in '49, is presently teaching at Soto Elementary . . .

Kenneth Jones, sports ed. of the Fremont Pathfinder, and his assistant, Frederick Barow, are believed to be the first of the race to edit that school's sports page. . .

Frank Carrington, Jeff High's head custodian and Co-Coaches Estel Johnson and John Childress' man Friday, is to be commended for his fine job of securing the facts and records for Jeff's handy track program . . .

IS IT TRUE?—

Is it true, Woodley Lewis is on the Rams' trading block? . . . Malcchi Andrews, the boy who broad jumped over 25 ft. against USC for Arizona U a couple of weeks ago, was a Yell leader at Jeff . . . Turkey Thompson, the local boxing star a few years back, is now earning his coffee and cakes at the AF Supply Base on Atlantic Blvd. . . . Mullin Gaines has been featured in several of the Ramar of the Jungle TV flicks . . . He's the ex-football playing student body prexy of Jeff High . . .

Paul "Tank" Younger, the Rams' star back, was thrown for a loss in court Monday, when the judge granted his pretty, "used to be," wife Wylene, a divorce. . . . Is Mal Whitfield the first of his race to run in the colors of the LAAC? . . . Charles Franklin, an all-city cager for Manual the past season, is a cousin of the late Harlem Globetrotter great Elvar Williams . . . Ken Dennis, the Fremont sprinter, is virtually the best "B" to come along since Jeff's Lawrence "Teddy Bear" Williams and "Fly" Guy Blackburn Jr., of Jeff High fame . . .

Albert Chism is the effervescent scorekeeper at the Inter-Frat games and Art Lewis is the editor of the super programs . . .

As of now this is 25 & 5 . . .

Omegas Score 16th Win

The pace setting Omega five won its 16th straight game in the inter-frat series by defeating the Alphas 68-46, after getting off to a slow start in the feature tiff last Saturday night at the Loyola Gym. They completely outclassed the Alphas, even with Johnny Barber's 27 points and the Hill twins playing their best game to date. Sharp shooting Algin Sutton, by far the series' outstanding player, whipped his teammates together after the second half and they coasted to an easy victory.

In the second game the Kappas took the measure of the Sigmas, spanking them 77 to 61 in a rugged game that featured the Sigmas playing one of the series' most sloppy games. Sigmas' Leroy Mims and Kappas' David Williams were the leaders of the sloppy affair.

SERIES Vignette: Sigma bench will be stronger with the return of the Pounds brothers, Bobbie and Wallace. Kappas are boasting Dallas Perkins, a former All - American player from Wilberforce University. Johnny Brewer easily rates as one of the series' all-time high scorers.

Sigma cheerleaders will have a 10-year-old rootin' for them Saturday night. Coach William Crenshaw isn't taking advantage of his strong bench. The Kappas haven't come up with a defense for the back boards. Ed Nichols, Ernie Hartzog, Larry Dugan are three of the series' most underrated performers.

HEAVYWEIGHTS IN MAIN EVENT

Big Bob Albright, 208 pound heavyweight, will bow at the Olympic Auditorium this Tuesday night when he faces Jake Williams, undefeated Central Avenue heavy. Williams holds the only win over the big San Fernando flash. They met 11 months ago in Albright's third professional bout and Williams' second.

Since that time both boys have gone on to hang up a pretty impressive boxing record. Albright has racked up some 12 victories since his lone defeat and Williams scored several smashing knockout wins in Hollywood and other Southern California rings. These two young heavyweights should provide the fans with a knock-down drag-out rounder, of it goes the limit. This bout will not be televised or broadcast.

Malvin Whitfield, 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games 800-meter champion, many times National champion and world record holder, has been invited to announce his plans for the 1954 outdoor track and field season at a testimonial dinner to be given in his honor at the Clark Hotel, Washington and Central, Friday.

Whitfield has advised that he will comment on his concentrating on the one mile run for the 1954 season, and on the goal for which he will strive in the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays on May 21. These comments from one of the track and field all-time greats should make interesting news stories.

The evening will be topped with the showing of the 1952 Olympic films games. Price of the dinner is $3.50.

HANDBALL TITLE TO HARRIS, DAVIS

Wilbur Harris teamed with veteran Red Davis, former single handball champion, and won the Police doubles in the week. Harris was making his men's championship flight last debut in the class A competition and scored very well after only a year in this fast company. Davis was beaten for the Southern California men's single title by Philips Billingers.

On the Turf

By GEORGE RAMSEY

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO: Trainer Forrest Burkholder, who usually wins the sprint feature here with Magic Lead, sent in the utility last Sunday, sat back and saw Red Marble bag the feature event billed as the Utah purse for a lush payoff of $20.20. Breaking alertly, Red Marble soon found himself outspeeded by Arillerita and A Coup Sur but hewed to his task and, under hustling of apprentice Ed Strickland, drove through the middle of the field in the final sixteenth to get up for a head's decision over the favored Sea Kid.

RAMSEY

It was one of the closest finishes of the season.

Peace and Food, a seven-year-old son of Sir Lancelot-Service Ribbon, scored one of the biggest upsets of the day in the co-feature named the Idaho "2" at one mile and one-quarter. Starting three times at the border course since he won at Santa Anita Jan. 2 and well beaten off in shorter races, Peace and Food romped home by two lengths paying for a two dollar ticket $32.00. A crowd of 8000 lovers of the Sport of Kings sent $257,743 through the mutuels. The daily double paid $45.80 and the Quniela, $64.6.

Demos, Manual Time Impressive

Manual served notice to the Jefferson High Demo tracksters Friday, in thrashing the Garfield Bulldogs 92 - 12, that they're out to clip them too in their dual meet on the Fulton Field oval one week from tomorrow.

Estel Johnson's and John Childress' charges weren't exactly playing dead on the same day as they took the Fremont Pathfinders into camp 71-33.

Three of the town's top marks were posted by the Demos, Cliff Smart skipped the highs in 14.7; high jumper John Thomas leaped 6 ft. 4¼ inches and the Demos' octet team churned the mile in 3:01.4s. Other top Jeff marks were turned in by Leo Payne (51.4s 440); Albert McDade (2:02 in the 880); James "Duck" Davis traveled the mile in 4:36.5 and Fremont's Bob Durkee and Jeff's John Chappell were both caught in 20 flat in the 180 lows.

Manual's top marks were posted by Everett Jackson (50.6 440), Jim Harris and Macio Keeling (12 ft. 6 in.) in the pole vault, and Norm DeBase stopped the clocks in the 880 in 2:01.8.

TRACK TALK — Herman Thompson, the San Diego speed merchant, negotiated the century in 9.7s., the 180-lows in 19.2s., and broad jumped 21 ft. 2½ inches to cop individual high point honors in CIF competition. Floyd Jeter, the ex-Roosevelt High star, registered the top junior college high jump mark in the nation of 6ft 7½ in. for ELAJC . . . LACC's Art Scott broad jumped 23 ft. 9¼ inches for another top JC mark . . . John Bennett, NCAA champion from Marquette, leaped 26 ft. 8 inches in the Texas Relays. . . . Fremont's B sprinter, Ken Davis, topped the varsity marks in the furlong and century with marks of 9.9 and 21.8s . . . McHenry Dennis, a star trackster for Jeff way back when, is Ken's dad.

Inter-Agency Cage Finals

City-wide, inter-agency finals in the first annual Boys Basketball Derby are scheduled for Saturday (April 10) at Polytechnic High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, starting at 10:30 a.m., the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department reported yesterday.

Thirty-two district champs and runners-up from municipal playgrounds are eligible for Saturday's finals, in which they will compete against hoop-hitting experts from the Catholic Youth Organization, the Deputy Auxiliary Police Service, and the County Department of Parks and Recreation.

CINDER TRAINING AT FOSHAY DAILY

Ever since the track club of Foshay started several weeks ago, Gerson Miller, the sponsor, has been working very hard. He has been training his boys for the various track meets, especially for those in Coliseum and the Junior Olympics.

The training procedure begins with jogging, which helps to get the body in condition and results in faster running. Calisthenic exercises are used to limber up the body. Working to acquire better stride is also important.

The starting position is one of the most important things to learn in track.

She was attractive and stunning in a rectangular shape hat to match her costume. The hat was made of purple straw cloth, with a large purple velvet bow at the back. Flowers of lavander color spread from the brim to the farthest point. She named it "Breath of Spring." Velva Lorette is the talented and lovely wife of Dr. J. Bertram Tuckers Fete Thirtieth Anniversary

Wilfandel Club House provided a charming setting for the lovely cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Tucker last Sunday evening between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Although the host and hostess tried to keep it a secret, intimates discovered in advance that the party was being given to celebrate the couple's thirtieth (pearl) wedding anniversary. More than two hundred guests were present to congratulate Bert and Lena and enjoy the party which provided an opportunity for old time residents to reminisce about the good old days.

The hostess was radiant, too, over the presence of her aunt, Mrs. Richard Thompson, and her husband and six-year-old son who arrived from Buffalo in time for the celebration. Aunt and niece hadn't seen each other in thirty-five years. Other out-of-town guests were Attorney and Mrs. Wm. Spencer of Chicago.

Among the many delightful gifts were a diamond pin from the Thompsons; a pearl money shell from the Girl Friends, and other friends; a money tree from Mrs. George Tymony; a crystal vase from Mrs. Hazel Dade, the hostess' sister; and a crystal bowl from the R. Richmonds. All of the numerous gifts carried out the motif of the pearl anniversary. Flowers came from the Sterling Waggoners, the Byron Kenners and Mrs. Naomi Booker. The club rooms and the tables were tastefully decorated with spring flowers by Mrs. Gladys Smith.

Among guests were the Paul R. Williams, Robert Garrotts, Joe McKinneys, Ivan Johnsons, Edward Atkinsons, Evert Parchmans, Allen C. Woodards, Mrs. Willis O. KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

Won't they ever learn?

The growing complaint circulating among the Saturday night Post-game partying crowd needs remedying. They are staunchly opposed to the various Frats dividing the crowd up by giving so many different parties following the games. After paying a buck for the game the crowd feels that it is entitled to seeing most fashionable people congregated in the same place afterwards. With the people evenly distributed among the various houses this is impossible. Seems the best solution is to get the crowd together at one central place, let everybody mingle regardless of Frat affiliation which will in turn promote better relationships. This would prove that the Frats aren't out for selfish gains (contrary to public opinion).

Songstress Extraordinary

Seldom if ever do we deem it necessary to extoll the virtues of a female vocalist (we usually pan 'em). But in this particular Songstresses' case our praise is completely inadequate.

Bea Byers, the young girl with a "Voice" is without a doubt the answer to the question of "Who will be the vocal find of the year." If you haven't heard her you've missed it "Boyeeeee."

On the Strip

Club Pigalle, fast becoming the mecca for top flight night club entertainment raised its stock with the Hounds this week when they included Piano stylist, Perry Blackwell on their agenda for an evening's entertainment. We've got to hand it to genial Joe. He knows talent when he sees it.

The latest miss-match . . . Alvin Murphy, who is a little "less" than quiet, has been spotted lately with lovely local lass Shirley Johnson . . . who isn't.

Uclan, Janet Boyd's new found love that was cut short by his hasty departure. We don't know, but isn't it true that absence makes the heart grow fonder . . . hmnnnnnn.

Whip and Saddles "Carazy" pajama party which has the town folk on their ears.

Female troubles . . . That UCLA coed who pours her heart out to her favorite gal pals in the University Library, ought to observe them more closely . . . they aren't really laughing with her.

Why many of the "Collich" dainties are snickering at Morris Taft's descriptions of his athletic prowess. Obviously they don't understand that he is a better athlete than he says he is as strange as it might seem.

That city college lover who thinks that the world revolves around himself. We got news pal, your world is coming out of its spin and is steadly gaining back its equilibrium, and when it does there will be another disillusioned guy in the old town tonight . . . or sumpnnn.

A coming formal . . . The Ro-Ka-Wi club extravaganza might prove to be the cut-away affair the town's been waiting for.

Augmenting Mrs. Allen's efforts are co-chairmen Jackie Knead and Sybil Thomas of Pi chapter. What with school and its exacting demands, these coeds keep a killing pace but remain bright eyed and fresh through it all. Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

In this column we wish to discuss the preemptive bid. A preemptive bid is a useful one and one that all good players should know how to use and how to defend against. Its primary purpose is to put the bidding so high at such an early stage of the auction that the opponents have little chance to communicate and thus are unable to arrive at their best contract. There is a secondary effect of a preempt and that is to describe the hand and reveal as one of little defensive strength.

There are two types of preemptive bids, opening bids and overcalls. An opening preemptive bid is any bid of three or higher with the exception of no-trump. With this bid the opener hopes to prevent the opponents from reaching a game contract and is willing to take a small penalty to prevent it.

Not vulnerable, a preemptive bid should be off not more than three tricks, and vulnerable only two. It follows that if opponents set your opening three bid three tricks, they have a game themselves.

Length Needed

The suit that the preemptive bid is made in should always be at least six cards long, preferably seven or more. If it is solid, that is, contains no losers, there need be no outside honor strength. If there are one, or at most, two losers in this suit, compensating distributional factors or additional honor strength is needed.

In summing up, these steps will cover preemptive bids.

1) With any type of borderline hand it is better to pass one round. It is always possible to come in on the second round of bidding, and there is no need to take a useless penalty.

2) With 12 or more points in a hand do not preempt just because you hold a long suit. Make a normal bid. Ninety percent of legitimate preempts are made with ten points or less.

3) The best time to preempt is when the opponents are vulnerable and you are not. The worst time is when you are vulnerable and they are not.

One additional note. When answering a preempt bid, partner should have at least 15 points for a free raise, and three additional points for each subsequent raise. If he does not have these requirements and makes a free bid.

FASHION TOP MODELS—Leona Debeque, Wini Orr, [illegible] McKinley and Lorita Alexander are shown here. Fashion commentator Wini Orr checks the pacesetter and show's top model Leona Debeque of San Francisco. Gowns were designed by Starks House of Fashion. Mrs. Orr, well known columnist and fashion commentator, was radiant in an imported white lace, jeweled, from Joe Malbrough's shop at Arlington and Jefferson. Benefitting from the proceeds will be the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

WAY TO A MAN'S HEART—Members of the 20th Century Modernettes, apparently know the secret. The group held a very successful breakfast last Sunday. Club membrs are: Vivian Green, Esther Stamps; Elizabeth Brown, Yevette Montgomery, Bessie Black, Anita Murphy, Maxine Tate and Barbara McGinnis. Not pictured are Adelle Farmer and Natile Jones.

Get your pedal extremities ready to massage a new ballroom that's about as great as there ever was. The only difference in the Hollywood Palladium and Stuff Crouch's soon to open Savoy dance emporium is the geography. Stuff's place is on Central in the seventies. And he's dickering with big names for his opener. Someone like Ellington, Eckstein, or Armstrong! . . . Nappy Whiting broke his foot while working that 26 weeks at the Moulin Rouge in Tijuana. The comedian finished out the engagement with his foot in a cast. Stout fellow! . . .

TONSORIAL SPLENDOR

If you wanna be sharp and stay sharp, then drop into the Le Coiffeur salon, on Western. Both Viola Bond and Viola Mike are there. So's Haywood Jones, and a lot of other nice people.

THEATRE

Mirror 'Food Scribe' Goofs

Dear "Mink" Coates, this is my way of mashing one of those mash notes on you. I've been following your well, medium, and often rare column for quite a spell now, and it 'pears to me that you're developing quite a delicate air of late. Speaking of columns, that was a rare one you got off with last Wednesday, March thirty-one. Y'know, the one where you tossed a verbal brickbat at Josh White, the internationally famous composer and interpreter of folksongs, who is now appearing at the Bar of Music.

International Favorite

It seems that you felt Josh transplanted you from your usual beat, those bright lit arteries, a la Sunset Strip, and took you to "the alley." You claimed the man has made a departure from American folklore, and shifted over to the double entendre, or curbstone chorus. Paulie Boy, it may be that you're working too hard down there at the Mirror, . or bending elbows with too many of the loose wig set, 'Cause I too looked in on Josh, and if his "current" repertoire corrupted your morals, (and I use the word promiscuously) then you'd better "hit the couch," and have your mind lifted a few notches.

His songstuff isn't always as pure as the driven snow, but it's a "gasser" to anyone of voting age. (Incidentally, have you registered yet?) And you do dig "gasser," don't you, sporting blood????

'Worser' Than Mercer?

While sipping a tall, frosted spring tonic last Sunday, I listened in on Johny Mercer's radio show, and heard him thrush "Two Old Maids In A Folding Bed" and "Bring It With Me When I Come, Take It With Me When I Go, Ain't Gonna Give Nobody Of My Jellyroll, When I've Got Those I've Been Drinking Blues." He swore it was Americana. And well, 'coat' hanger, I just laid back and dug that ca-razy American folklore.

Now, getting back to Josh, he's a little burned over your piece, 'cause the Bar Of Music is no cathedral, and he knows it. He's not there to preach the gospel, nor would he low-rate his professional standing with a Mother Goose rhythm. Just remember, fellow, that the Bar is the same bistro where Josephine Premice saluted vice man Mickey Jelke with her call house-madam rendition of "Fancy Living." And there ain't nothing wrong with the way Josh sings Jelly, Jelly, and more Jelly, 'cause Jelly is almost a collector's item, now-a-times, pal!

Limited Versatility

Paulie, you're getting real churchy of late, not that anything is wrong with that. I'm a pretty religious guy myself. But I don't try to combine my Sunday - go - to - meeting with the nightclub beat chores. Except to thank that wonderful guy above for watching over me, while I make the rounds.

White Is 'Right'

Speaking of the nitery beat, here's a nightcap. I especially liked the way Josh toyed with "Gimme Bon Bons, Chocolate, and Chewing Gum." So, Hey Lawdy Mama!

Duke Ellington's Great Ork At Embassy April 13

Duke Ellington, genius of modern American music, who brings his famous orchestra to the Embassy Auditorium on Tuesday, April 13, in a Gene Norman presentation, has been one of the great figures in this field for more than two decades.

The Duke finds his favor not only with students of Le Jazz hot, but also with a wide general public ranging from jitterbugs and bobby-sockers to adults in the forties and fifties who have grown up to an accompaniment of Ellington's successful melodies heard on phonographs, radios, in theaters, ballrooms, night clubs and concerts.

Currently featured in the band are Ray Nance, Jimmy Grissom, Cat Anderson, Harry Carney, Paul Gonsalves and a host of the nation's top instrumentalists.

New Caricature Next Attraction At the Showcase

A new trend in play-casting will be very much in evidence when the curtain goes up on the first act of the latest Ebony Showcase Theatre production, "Caricature," which opens in a gala world premiere of the fast moving comedy drama by noted playwright Irving W. Phillips, author of "One Foot in Heaven" and other hits.

Something New

So far as is known, for the first time in local play annals, Negro artists will be seen in a brand new production on the legitimate stage performing the kind of non-stereotyped roles that long have been demanded by the N.A.A.C.P. and similar organizations.

Playwright Phillips, truly one of the nation's leading authors, has written a humorous and moving drama about "just folks" and the carefully selected Ebony cast does it great justice.

The play is being directed by Demetrios Vilan, a topnotch Broadway and Hollywood director whose best noted work perhaps was the Broadway stage show, "On Borrowed Time," starring Victor Moore.

Choice Cast

Included in the cast for "Caricature" are Tommie Moore, Mary Emma Watson, Orchid Oliver, Amos Reese, Bernie Hamilton, Earl Smith, Reggie Armstrong, Lew Braddock, Clarence Watson and Nick Stewart.

A gala opening, complete with stars and fanfare, is being planned for the premiere, according to Nick and Edna Stewart, co-founders of Ebony Showcase.

George Putnam To Get Award

George Putnam, well-known KTTV news commentator, will be awarded the first Civic Affairs Citation sponsored by the Southern California area of the Loyal Order of Moose, on his 11:00 p.m. telecast Friday, April 9.

HOTTEST ITEM in town is our boss' (see "Loren Miller Says") expose of the second trust deed racket. Actually the only difference between many of our Real Estate offices and a highjacker is that the latter operates without a license!

RINGSIDE at the Gavilan-Olson much talked about boxing bout in Chicago were Elhiu McGee and Joe Bostic, noted newsman out of New York. McGee returned to the city with two suitcases full of Gavilan's loot and still picked up another grand from the local suckers!

MOULIN ROUGE. Our gal Wini Orr, who from all reports stole Edwards' show and wasn't wearing a dress from either designer. Instead Joe Malbrough created a smart outfit and Kay Stone styled her hair. Other reports were numerous. We like the reports which claimed that it was a sneak preview of what Clyde Beatty will offer when the big top hits town!

HOUSE OF IVY, next door to Las Palmas Theater in Hollywood, will feature Luis Rivera at the console, with overtures in jazz. Wild Bill Davis is just across the street at the Royal Room. That corner of Hollywood and Las Palmas will really rock!

ROGUES GAL-LERY. Dancing models Pat Sides, Paulette Easley, Harriet "Dee Dee" Young, Betty Amos, ready to call "Chazz" and Abie uncle. They will exploit 'em and if you need modelures or actresses to exploit your product we'll dance out our pretty melodies.

JOE HOUSTON will embark on a tour of one-nighters beginning April 25. His booking agent, Ben Waller, always keeps his fabulous clientele moving in big-time circle and steadily employed.

FRANCOIS ANDRE, "moom picture actor," seems to have been available between calls for a very, very long time. Far too long from the looks of that raggedy 16-year-old "crate" which he rattles around the city between dates. A nicer guy was never more deserving of a good break. Andre has helped hundreds of characters and yet cannot get a quarter from all of them!

THE CREATIVE ARTS PLAYERS, directed by Kurtiz Hurtte, left, and Ruth Turner, have been booked by the St. Mathews Lodge No. 6, and Joana Chapter No. 9, O.E.S., to give a special good Friday performance of Fodor's three-act drama, "The Vigil," in the Masonic Temple, 1063 E. 55th Street, on Friday, April 16th, at 8:15 p.m. The play, which features Barbara Griffin, Turner and Hurtte, has a cast of 22, which includes actors with stage, radio and television credits, and also a special introduction of mood music by the creative arts Singers (The Laurels) with Bobby Relf and Dale Buggens, soloists, in vocal arrangements by Hurtte.

LAWRENCE WELK presents Duke Ellington with one of his souvenir champagne pencils and congratulates him on his 27th Anniversary in show business. Area disk jockeys and newspapers are cooperating in a "Salute to a Duke" on Monday, April 12, in conjunction with Ellington's concert that evening in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. This will be followed by a concert on the evening of the 13th, when Gene Norman presents the Duke at the Embassy Auditorium in Los Angeles.

take a break, they head for Roy Loggins' catering place on Jefferson and Raymond to get some of that big leg chicken in the box. The Logginses have also got beef and ribs on the run!

Speaking of chicken on the run, we ran into Betty and Doctor Howard and ceramist Tony Hill and his lovely guest the other night at Ray Mills' Redwood Kitchen. Betty, the Elsa Maxwell of our town, told us we shouldn't have the party honoring our first day on earth day (which happens nxt Thursday) during the holy weekend. So we don't intend to. We'll stage the bash the next weekend if we have the strength.

HI, SHERRILL

Mister and Missus Stuff Crouch's little daughter, Julie has the measles, and was in bed when we were over there the other night, but pretty little Sherrill (the 3 year old) looked over our shoulder while we got a big thrill looking at Stuff's showbusiness scrapbook that goes back over a quarter of a century. Proud poppa Stuff said that it was one time that Sherrill caught Julie "off guard" and scored with the press! . . . The little doll won our heart!

Jimmie Edwards, the thespian, and Rev. Arthur Smith were injured in separate auto mishaps over the last ten days. Jimmie is "playing it cool" at home with a gash over an eye that required several stitches, while the Reverend is up on his feet again, looking none the worse. Hope my big "brothah" Jim will follow suit!

Ebony magazine folks (Goodrich, Morehead, and Robinson) were readying a spread on swing organist Wild Bill Davis last week, who is appearing at the Royal Room. Gert Pendland who is Bill's praise agent, had photog Howard Morehead get some shots of the musician in his stocking feet . . .

General White was with Edith Owens last Sunday night at Dynamite Jackson's and pianist Eddy Moody was with one of tap dancer Arthur Duncan's pretty sisters. All of the other guys we knew there were stagging!

From Stuff Crouch's scrapbook, we dug the time when Lionel Hampton was billed as "the world's greatest eccentric creole tap drummer."

We didn't make Edward's "Stars In Your Eyes" affair last Sunday, but a spy tells us it was fantastic, unbelievable and not possible. But this particular spy is a real emotional little girl. The dame told us that the "oodles of poodles" number stopped the show, and that Wini Orr was much more effective as the fashion narrator than Cobina Wright could have ever been, and the dame that both Doctor Kinsey or yours truly would bear her out had either one of us been there. Hey, Winifred, how do you spell a long, low whistle? Also, this dame who is our spy, says that an awful lot of folks left early thinking the show was already over, when it still had an hour to run. Newest Sauces Prove Popular With Customers

The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

That's what Harold W. Bynum of Cape Girardeau, Mo., decided in 1950, after he had developed

H. W. BYNUM

what he thought was the best sauce he had ever tasted.

So he opened a restaurant on Western avenue and featured his own sauce. The result was "terrific." So terrific, in fact, that the young man with an idea closed down his eatery and started manufacturing the sauce.

Today, Colored Chef Barbecue and Steak Sauces are on the shelves of 500 Los Angeles stores. According to Tom Hill, Colored Chef's general sales manager, he is getting calls every week for other outlets.

"The way the public has accepted Colored Chef sauces is amazing," he said. As an after thought, he added, "But then, if you've ever tasted these delicious sauces, maybe it's not so amazing after all."

Colored Chef, the man with the secret formula, is an ardent gun fan and has among his collection some prize pieces.

His ambition, he says, is to organize a Gun Nuts club of real sportsmen who like to hunt. He is a member of the National Rifle association.

Area disk jockeys and newspapers are cooperating in a "Salute to a Duke" on Monday, April 12, in conjunction with Ellington's concert that evening in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. This will be followed by a concert on the evening of the 13th, when Gene Norman presents the Duke at the Embassy Auditorium in Los Angeles.

doing that same championship job with the company!

BILL CRAWFORD is one of reasons why the Town Tavern diner gets a first-class workout. His food is just that great. Incidentally it is a real good sign to catch an unusually large number of our professional clan dropping in and out of the bistro!

SUE JONES announced she's back home to raise her daughter and things are certainly not going to be like they used to be!

GOODEN BURNLEY dons a Union Oil Station uniform for the Kenner's Service after a 33-month hitch and it wasn't the Navy!

BANK ROLLS. James (Pee Wee) Bentley and Chicago Sheets flashed big bills in each other's puss the other a.m. while sipping at the Milomo. Neither could change a ten spot!

MARSEN THOMPSON, Town Tavern's dispenser, is shouting he's in love again. She answers to the name of Jackie Carrol and is really eye-catching!

DR. DEWITT BUCKINGHAM, Oakland's noted physician who caused quite a row when he moved into the swank hills in Piedmont up north, is being arraigned in Federal Court on a charge he evaded $14,389 worth of income taxes!

DOROTHY BOWICK is the cutie director at the Vineyard Street playground and drawing all the fathers to the site. She's an ex-school teacher from Texas!

ORGAN GRINDER and the lady news hawk isn't woomancing. It is strictly a good job of public relations she is putting down! Even if that Las Palmas party was on him the other eve!

GAMBLERS ROW, West Coast fraternity, is laying one will get you ten that President Dwight Eisenhower will cold shoulder his invitation to the National Negro Insurance Association's August confab in Durham, N. C.!

WILLIE CARSON, the second-mortgage baron, went to escrow to purchase H. A. Howard's Country Club mansion? Selling price was $45,000!

JIMMY POWERS, New York celebrated boxing announcer, is the same guy that wrote in the Eastern papers that Negroes could never make the major leagues. His bias was most evident during the telecast of the Gavilan-Olson bout and the Gillette blades took a nosedive locally as a result!

DUANE VEST'S cozy, intimate Idle Hour Inn will be the scene of top-flight show figures get-together for informal chat with their beloved public. Chazz Crawford will conduct these worth-while festivities!

take a break, they head for Roy Loggins' catering place on Jefferson and Raymond to get some of that big leg chicken in the box. The Logginses have also got beef and ribs on the run!

Speaking of chicken on the run, we ran into Betty and Doctor Howard and ceramist Tony Hill and his lovely guest the other night at Ray Mills' Redwood Kitchen. Betty, the Elsa Maxwell of our town, told us we shouldn't have the party honoring our first day on earth day (which happens nxt Thursday) during the holy weekend. So we don't intend to. We'll stage the bash the next weekend if we have the strength.

HI, SHERRILL

Mister and Missus Stuff Crouch's little daughter, Julie has the measles, and was in bed when we were over there the other night, but pretty little Sherrill (the 3 year old) looked over our shoulder while we got a big thrill looking at Stuff's showbusiness scrapbook that goes back over a quarter of a century. Proud poppa Stuff said that it was one time that Sherrill caught Julie "off guard" and scored with the press! . . . The little doll won our heart!

Jimmie Edwards, the thespian, and Rev. Arthur Smith were injured in separate auto mishaps over the last ten days. Jimmie is "playing it cool" at home with a gash over an eye that required several stitches, while the Reverend is up on his feet again, looking none the worse. Hope my big "brothah" Jim will follow suit!

Ebony magazine folks (Goodrich, Morehead, and Robinson) were readying a spread on swing organist Wild Bill Davis last week, who is appearing at the Royal Room. Gert Pendland who is Bill's praise agent, had photog Howard Morehead get some shots of the musician in his stocking feet . . .

General White was with Edith Owens last Sunday night at Dynamite Jackson's and pianist Eddy Moody was with one of tap dancer Arthur Duncan's pretty sisters. All of the other guys we knew there were stagging!

From Stuff Crouch's scrapbook, we dug the time when Lionel Hampton was billed as "the world's greatest eccentric creole tap drummer."

We didn't make Edward's "Stars In Your Eyes" affair last Sunday, but a spy tells us it was fantastic, unbelievable and not possible. But this particular spy is a real emotional little girl, The dame told us that the "oodles of poodles" number stopped the show, and that Wini Orr was much more effective as the fashion narrator than Cobina Wright could have ever been, and the dame that both Doctor Kinsey or yours truly would bear her out had either one of us been there. Hey, Winifred, how do you spell a long, low whistle? Also, this dame who is our spy, says that an awful lot of folks left early thinking the show was already over, when it still had an hour to run. Somebody goofed!

pure-cream complexion and golden-haired daughter Laurelle is a real beauty at nine years old. She's going to be a woman of breath-taking attractiveness, no doubt about it. The pair of tan tone professional men helping to keep sailors healthy at San Diego Base are Lt. (JG) Ray Bettis of the Navy Dental Corps and Lt. (JG) William Morse, day medical officer at the Main dispensary. Dr. Morse's wife, Hazel, is also a doctor. Dr. Bettis spends his spare time painting and sketching.

Wiry

Wiry, quick - moving ex-Washingtonian Wilson (Chip) Savoy, who moved to town in September, has finished his second novel. He's a current Guggenheim applicant, incidentaly. If he is successful, he'll do his third book here. He likes the California life.

Josephine Baker, who has her visa and is ready to return to these shores on business, has sent word to local friends she won't have time to get out to the coast.

Restless Stafford Lott had hopes of driving east but shelved the idea when he couldn't find anyone to help him with the driving. In that sleek Lincoln Capri of his it wouldn't be any task, just pure pleasure, no doubt. Impulsive guy that he is, he'll probably head east later on for that visit.

Newest Sauces Prove Popular With Customers

The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

That's what Harold W. Bynum of Cape Girardeau, Mo., decided in 1950, after he had developed what he thought was the best sauce he had ever tasted.

H. W. BYNUM

So he opened a restaurant on Western avenue and featured his own sauce. The result was "terrific." So terrific, in fact, that the young man with an idea closed down his eatery and started manufacturing the sauce.

Today, Colored Chef Barbecue and Steak Sauces are on the shelves of 500 Los Angeles stores. According to Tom Hill, Colored Chef's general sales manager, he is getting calls every week for other outlets.

"The way the public has accepted Colored Chef sauces is amazing," he said. As an after thought, he added, "But then, if you've ever tasted these delicious sauces, maybe it's not so amazing after all."

Colored Chef, the man with the secret formula, is an ardent gun fan and has among his collection some prize pieces.

His ambition, he says, is to organize a Gun Nuts club of real sportsmen who like to hunt. He is a member of the National Rifle association.

N. O. Houston Faces Second Operation

Friday evening both she and Houston watched the fights over television.

Mrs. Davis, who suffered from concussion, was returned to Los Angeles last Wednesday by airplane, and early this week was asking to see her friends. Following the accident, she had a temporary blackout, and for days thereafter was unable to recall any details of the event.

Houston was expected to go into surgery again today (Thursday) or tomorrow, for repair of the injury to one of his legs, which was splintered near the hip joint. The other leg was broken above the knee.

Was Near Death

Following the first operation last Monday, he suffered shock and failed to rally normally. Fear was felt for his life, and his two sons, Norman, Jr., and Ivan, flew to San Antonio to be at his bedside. His condition remained critical Monday and Tuesday, but by Wednesday he began to show improvement.

Norman, Jr., is still in San Antonio, but last Wednesday both Ivan and Haywood Thompson, Mrs. Houston's son, returned to Los Angeles.

Dr. Walter Davis, Mrs. Davis' husband, flew to Texas immediately following receipt of news of the accident and took charge of the three patients. Doctors called in are said to be top-ranking medical men in San Antonio. They include Dr. J. Hinchey, orthopedic specialist, and Dr. R. Nitchke, specialist in internal medicine and president of the medical staff of the Santa Rosa Hospital, where both of the Houstons are patients.

The accident occurred early Saturday afternoon, March 27, near the small town of Shiner, Texas. Mrs. Houston was driving the just-purchased Cadillac when a drunken driver swerved over the white line and hit them head-on. Mrs. Davis had joined the Houstons in Texas for the trip back to Los Angeles. The three were given emergency treatment at the Shiner hospital, and then taken to San Antonio.

New Filter Tip Cigarettes Said Finding Favor

Unprecedented nation-wide demand for L and M filter tip cigarettes reduced prices last week by as much as four cents a pack, forty cents a carton, Ligget and Myers stated.

L and M filters, reportedly America's highest quality and best filter tip cigarette, in just 85 days since their introduction across the country, are said to have gained a nation-wide demand never before equalled by any other cigarette in so short a time.

Thousands of cigarette dealers in America's largest cities (New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles) have reported in signed statements that L and Ms are their largest-selling filter tip cigarette. Dealers have greeted this important price reduction by placing new orders for millions more filters.

Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, maufacturers of L and M cigarettes, explains the demand for L and M this wty: "For the first time filter tip smokers are getting what they want . . . much more flavor and aroma with much less nicotine.

"Exclusive to L and Ms is the miracle filter tip containing alpha cellulose the purest material now available for filtering cigarette smoke."

Wife Tells Eagle Reporter Why She Killed Husband

back with my shoe. Then I ran into the kitchen and he followed me. We both grabbed knives. I picked up the phone to call the police but he stopped me.

"He shoved me against the door and I closed my eyes and started stabbing him."

Her eyes closed for an instant, probably unconsciously, before she continued.

"I grabbed my clothes and ran out of the house. I was afraid to go back because I thought he was still alive. When I last saw him he was just as alive as you are.

Tries Suicide

"Saturday morning I tried to take an overdose of sleeping pills to get away from it all."

Where did she go when she fled the apartment after the fight?

"I don't know. I was so confused."

Did her husband drink much?

"He drank real heavy. In fact, it had gone farther than that."

What did she mean?

"Well, I found some of those other kind of cigarettes in his pocket a couple of times. And he used to beat me just about every week-end. That's why I filed for a divorce last January. He had a lot of other women—all white. But he found me and insisted on coming back to me after I left him and moved out of the Valley."

Cops' Dream

What about the hammer she reportedly used as a weapon in addition to the knife?

"That's something the police dreamed up. I only used a knife and my shoe."

Was there anything else she'd like to say?

"Nothing, except I had to do it. He was beating me so and there was only one door out and he had that blocked. It all started because he was torturing me in bed."

The interview over, the reporter said good-bye.

Genevieve Monroe tried to manage a smile. But before she could turn to leave, the tears she had controlled so long burst out of their prison.

And she returned to hers—to wait her fate.

Dorothy Donegan Files Divorce Suit

AT LO

AVED HIS SOUL, THEN BLEW HIS BRAINS OUT

IS IT IS OR IS IT AIN'T?—The musical-nightclub world is in a whirl over the on-again-off-again Dorothy Donegan romance. The jive pianist filed for divorce Thursday. Tuesday husband John T. McClain, said, "nothing to it, we've made up."

Husband Says 'We've Kissed And Made Up'

By CHAZZ CRAWFORD

Comely and curvaceous Dorothy Donegan, queen of jive, was swinging into Los Angeles this week for a twin engagement—an Easter Sunday opening at her Club Morocco, and a post-Easter date in the divorce court.

The ink was hardly dry on the filing of the divorce, however, before Dorothy's husband, well-known man-about-town John T. McLain told an Eagle reporter: "We've kissed and made up."

On Tuesday night he explained: "Dorothy and I had a big argument over the telephone." Immediately after that, he continued, she called her lawyer here and instructed him to file for divorce.

"But everything's fine now. It's all cleared up. We've had a reconciliation, and she's opening here at the Morocco Sunday."

Last Thursday La Donegan, through her attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, wrote finis to her sometimes stormy marriage to McLain, proprietor of the glittering nitery, and brother-in-law of Atty. Crispus A. Wright.

Takes No Chances

Miss Donegan, one of the nation's top piano stylists, was taking no chances on losing out on extensive joint property. By long-distance telephone and telegram from Pittsburgh, she instructed Atty. Taylor not only to file for divorce, but also to seek a restraining order to prevent McLain and his sister, Mrs. Helen Wright, from disposing of joint holdings.

In her suit Miss Donegan charged her husband with "extreme cruelty."

McClain, in a sweeping gesture nine months ago reportedly presented his beauteous wife with the swank Morocco Club to

'Not Guilty' Plea Set in Monroe Case

When Mrs. Genevieve Monroe appears before Judge Harold Schweitzer in Superior Court April 28, she will plead "not guilty" to the butcher-knife murder of her husband, James, the Eagle learned Wednesday.

At the preliminary hearing Wednesday, she was ordered to make the April 28th appearance. The comely Lockcraft riviter's defense is being prepared by Atty. Earl Broady.

The discovery of the body of Monroe, an aircraft engineer, in his deluxe apartment at 3207 W. Adams blvd., April 3 shocked the fashionable Westside residential district.

He had been dead some 30 hours before Mrs. Monroe sobbed out a confession to her landlady, Mrs. A. W. Steward, just after she tried to take her life with an overdose of sleeping p Inve tors found evidence that M e had been keeping company with Rita Malcolm, a blonde resident of Burbank. Mrs. Malcolm chanced upon the scene just after Monroe's body was discovered and broke down when told he was dead.

In an exclusive interview, Mrs. Monroe told the Eagle that she did not kill her husband "over that blonde" but because "he was beating me and I had to protect myself."

She was found "criminally responsible" for her husband's death at an inquest April 7.

'Moose' Ragland, Wife In Car Crash

Both Critically Hurt As Car Somersaults

Westside sportsman and businessman Gary "Moose" Ragland, and his wife, Zenobia Ragland, were both critically injured in a near-fatal automobile accident Sunday morning near Brawley.

First reports said that Moose's neck was broken and he suffered a bad scalp wound, and that Mrs. Ragland's back was broken.

Rumors that Ragland, a former Army Captain, died Tuesday, proved to be false.

Miraculously escaping with only minor injuries was furniture salesman Jan Ray, who found himself on his feet with only a bruised collarbone.

Calls for Help

Ray told a dramatic tale of the accident. Moose was driving, he said, and I was sitting next to him. "I must have been knocked unconscious, but I don't know for how long.

"When I came to, I was standing on my feet, barefoot, about 50 feet from the car, which was a total wreck. Down the embankment, I heard both Moose and Zenobia moaning and calling for help. Blood was spurting down Moose's face from a deep wound in his head."

Ray didn't know how he happened to be barefoot, or just how the accident occurred. As nearly as he could reconstruct what had happened, he believed the car turned over at least twice, hurtling occupants and all of its contents far down the embankment.

Flagged Truck

"It's hard to say what happened. It may have been a soft shoulder, or Moose may have failed to make a turn, or he may have been driving too fast."

It happened about 9 a.m. Sunday. The three were headed for El Centro. When Ray

Father to Fight Judge's Ruling For Hospital

"We've just begun to fight," Edward M. Jackson said Tuesday. "I believe in the jury system, and can't understand how a judge can ignore a verdict arrived at by 12 jurors."

Jackson was commenting on the action of Superior Judge William P. Haughton Monday in setting aside the $15,000 damages awarded Jackson and his wife in a suit against the White Memorial Hospital over the death of their five-day-old baby, and ordering a new trial.

Jury Unanimous

Judge Haughton branded the jury decision a "shock to me." Basing himself on the autopsy findings, he continued: "If the greatest experts in the whole world had worked in relays 24 hours out of 24, the result would have been no different." He added that there was "not one scintilla of evidence in the record to show that anything in the world" could have saved the little girl's life.

Jackson, however, pointed out that following the five-day hearing in the case in March the jury was "unanimous" in their findings that the hospital was negligent as claimed. The only dispute in the jury, Jackson stated, was over the amount of damages to be assessed.

The $15,000 finally agreed upon, which was one of the largest ever granted locally in a case of its kind, was reported to be a compromise. Eight jurymen assertedly held out for $50,000, but finally yielded in order to get a 9-3 verdict.

Hospital Negligent

Jackson said further that at no time did the jury know that in filing for damages, he had asked for $120,000. Their award was made on their own volition, he said.

Jackson's attorney, David M. Harney, told the Eagle that his

KENNETH JAMISON, 26, of 4412½ S. Central, is in City Jail charged with suspicion of murder in the stabbing death of his 17-year-old wife, Mamie. Police think jealousy or revenge was the motive in the killing early Tuesday morning. (Photo by Sheffield.)

WILLIAM PAYNE, 27, of 1238 E. 89th st., was nabbed last week as the lovers' lane bandit who had eluded 100 police over the past two months. Forty jobs netted Payne $5,000 in cash and jewelry which he said went toward the purchase of his home. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bail. See story p. 3

Lady Spiritualist Jailed In Westside Apartment Killing

By EDDIE LEE KING

"The Voice of the Messenger Spiritual Counselor" Saturday morning gave Gaylor R. Benjamin, 24, "some spiritual counseling to save his soul from hell," then blew his brains out.

Mrs. De O'Notria Shelby, of 4825 S. Budlong, a garment worker on the side, is in city jail booked on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The story of how she killed Benjamin in the rooming house she operates at 4825 S. Budlong avenue is a rather bizarre one. She related it under questioning to Detective Sgts. Swatsworth and Phedens of University police.

Vacant Room

The 46-year-old woman, in the role of landlady, said she suspected Benjamin of having a key to a vacant room and allowing a friend the use of it.

When she confronted him with her suspicions, he denied any knowledge of the key, she said. Mrs. Shelby told the officers she threatened Benjamin she'd get her gun and "kill you if you don't give me that key."

When Benjamin still insisted he didn't have the key, Mrs. Shelby carried out her threat.

"I went downstairs and got my gun and blew his brains out," she said. "But, mind you, his soul will not go to hell because I gave him some spiritual counseling this morning."

Two Witnesses

Her story was substantiated by two witnesses to the shooting, John D. Tarrant of the Budlong avenue address, and Tuck

Says Jealousy Led Husband To Kill Wife

Police theories of jealousy or revenge were being sifted Thursday as detectives probed the slash-slaying of 17-year-old Mamie Jamison of 4412½ S. Central. Her estranged husband, Kenneth, 26, has been jailed as the suspected slayer.

According to Newton Detective Sgts. E. M. Kudlac and C. R. Rothert, Mrs. Jamison went to visit a friend, Minnie Rawls, in the apartment across from her own Monday night.

When she left about 1 a.m., she asked Miss Rawls to stand at her door and wait until she checked her apartment because she was afraid of her husband.

With a knife for protection, she checked the various rooms but found the bathroom door closed. When she opened it, Jamison surprised her.

The couple grappled and fought across the hall and into Miss Rawl's apartment. L. T. Larry, asleep in the bedroom, awoke to find Mrs. Jamison slashed and bleeding. Miss Rawls had fled screaming. She said Jamison ran past her on the way out of the building. He was later arrested and booked on suspicion of murder.

Sgt. Kudlac said Jamison had been trying to effect a reconciliation with his wife and was begging not to return to Chicago. They had fought Friday night and police had to intervene at Mrs. Jamison's plea, the detective said.

Aide Brings Child Back From Death

Ambulance attendant Ray Wortham fought a battle with death Thursday over the lifeless form of four-year-old Betty Dozier—and won.

Betty, who lives with her grandmother at 1538½ E. 32nd street, tripped over a concrete step and crashed against the door of the house.

Mrs. Berta Graham, the grandmother, told officers: "I saw blood in her mouth and her head was sort of swinging around. Then she said: 'Grandma, I can't walk'."

Betty fell in a heap and lost consciousness.

When the ambulance arrived, Wortham and Ernest Fuentes, considered the child dead. But on the way to the hospital, Wortham fought on with a faint hope that he might be able to bring the child back to life.

He breathed into her mouth, pressing gently on the still body in and out, in an attempt to start the lungs working.

As the ambulance drove up to the hospital's emergency entrance, Betty stirred, sat up and looked around.

The little girl, who has been staying here until her parents in Mississippi can take care of her, was pushing her little brother, year-old Arthur Lee. and her uncle, Junior, 3, in a stroller, when she tripped and fell.

Mrs. Smallwood Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Minnie B. Smallwood, 71, mother of Bill Smallwood, Eagle columnist, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marion Black, 2810 S. Edgehill drive, Wednesday morning. Cause of death was said to be a cerebral hemorrhage.

In addition to "Bill," and Mrs. Black, Mrs. Smallwood leaves two other sons, Leon A. Smallwood Jr. and Millard Smallwood.

Final rites will be held in Mrs. Smallwood's native home in Washington, D. C., with Conner-Johnson Funeral Home officiating here. The family plans to go to Washington for the burial.

CUMMINGS' HEAVENLY MARRIAGE ON ROCKS

The made-in-heaven marriage of the William Cummings (she is the former Clara Harris) has gone on the rocks and Mrs. Cummings will file suit for divorce in the near future, the Eagle learned this week.

The hush-hush separation of the couple has been common knowledge for the past several weeks and all attempts at reconciliation have failed.

Not Talking

Mrs. Cummings is living with her sister, Mrs. Camille Cannady, and Cummings is residing at the family home, which he owned before marriage.

Although the rumor mills were working overtime the principals weren't talking and the exact causes of the separation are shrouded in mystery. Some of the causes assigned were personality clashes, "selfishness," differences over the manner in which their property should be held and a row over the proposed adoption of Mrs. Harris' son by a former marriage.

Last Straw

The marriage finally collapsed, Eagle informants said, when Mrs. Cummings doused a friend of her husband with a bucket of water in the mistaken belief that he was a prowler.

The Cummings were married last year when he returned to the city from Mexico City after

The Shame of FHA

Federal Housing Administration—FHA for short—has led a charmed life. In all of its twenty years no congressman, no senator, no critic arose to point a finger at its doings or to accuse it of harboring Reds or of subverting our way of life. No other New Deal agency can match that record.

FHA is in the headlines this week with evidence that it has been manipulated to favor builders and speculators. It appears that FHA administrators guaranteed loans far beyond the value of the homes that were constructed with such loans and that it put its stamp of approval on other loans for home repairs that were never made or that did not cost what was charged for them. Anybody who has been close to the housing picture will be disposed to believe the charges.

However, FHA and its administrators are guilty of a far more serious dereliction of duty than those that reached the headlines this week. FHA has carried the banner for racial residential segregation ever since it was established, away back in 1934. It initiated, encouraged and helped establish literally hundreds and thousands of race restrictive covenants.

In its early years FHA actual-

High Court to Decide if Covenants Apply to Dead

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide whether or not race restrictive covenants, barred in life, can be enforced after death.

The court undertook to review the case of the Sioux City, Iowa, cemetery which refused to inter a Korean war hero because he was an Indian.

After a scandal that shocked the nation, the body of Sgt. John R. Rice was finally buried with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery after President Truman intervened.

The Iowa Supreme Court ruled that the cemetery was [illegible] because its contract with the soldier's widow contained a race restrictive covenant clause.

The widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rice, sued the Sioux City Memorial Park cemetery for $60,000, claiming humiliation and mental suffering. Mrs. Rice is white. She had purchased the lot to bury her husband.

Sgt. Rice was killed in Korea in 1951, and the body returned to Sioux City. The funeral was literally held up at the side of the grave. Services had been read, but cemetery authorities, discovering that Rice was an Indian, refused to permit the burial to continue.

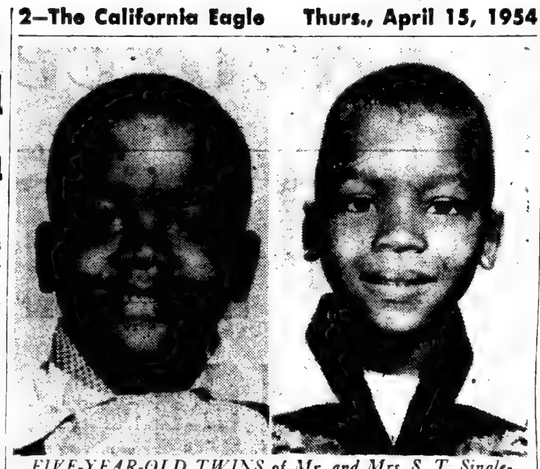
Palm Springs NAACP Head Wins Election

PALM SPRINGS — Councilman Jerry Nathanson was re-elected to a four-year term as city councilman for District No. 2 Tuesday in the hottest contested councilmanic election in the history of this desert resort.



Nathanson is president of the Palm Springs NAACP and was opposed by the Palm Springs Home Owners Association and most of the hotel and resort operators. Tuesday's election was highlighted by reports of efforts to disfranchise Negro voters.

Cooks, maids and chauffeurs were actively engaged in opposing the candidate supported by their bosses. At least six Negro voters were challenged on their inability to read. The polling place was covered by three Palm Springs officers. The results were in doubt until the last vote was counted.

More than 1200 voters were eligible and of the 620 votes cast, Nathanson received 260. His nearest rival, Cliff Campbell, Home Owners Association candidate, got 207.

Nathanson's campaign committee consisted of NAACP officers and members.

client would press for a new trial at the earliest possible moment.

Although six doctors took the stand on behalf of the hospital, the men and women of the jury, all white, who heard the case, apparently made their decision on the theory that despite the heart condition which existed, where there is life there is hope, and that the hospital erred and was negligent first in releasing te baby without advising the parents that she was in serious condition, and secondly in refusing readmittance of the infant.

The baby, Linda Gayle, was born to Mrs. Cleopatra Jackson of 135 W. 84th street, Dec. 23, 1952. Four days later, mother and baby were dismissed from the hospital. The parents claimed they were never informed of the precarious state of the baby's health. When they finally became alarmed at the child's condition and took her back to the hospital, admitting officials refused to accept her unless Jackson, a deputy sheriff, paid an additional $100, which he did not have with him at the time.

The child was rushed to General Hospital, and died there the next day.

A landslide of public approval for the increase of old age pensions $20 to $100 a month was evidenced in the filing of more than 550,000 petition names to qualify the measure "Aid to Needy Aged" for the ballot November 2.

The record time of eight weeks in which the more than a half million names were secured was attributed to the simplicity of the measure and the public's acceptance of the basic need inherent in the proposal, it was said.

Lovers' Lane Bandit Jailed For 40 Jobs

Handsome William Payne, 27, had pulled at least 40 successful stick-up jobs in lonely lovers' lanes. He had netted $1300 cash and 3700 in jewelry which he systematically pigeon-ohled for the house he was buying at 1238 E. 89th Street.

But police caught up with the father of eight children last week and the $5,000 he had taken from smooching couples was quite a bit shy of the $25,000 he needed to bail himself out of jail.

The elusive lovers' lane bandit had given more than 100 policemen a hard time in the last two months as he operated efficiently throughout University, Wilshire and 77th street districts. He proved too smart for the numerous traps set for him.

He made his mistake Friday night when he drove about town without any lights. Officers curbed him at 51st street and Wilton place. When they discovered a nickle-plated gun in his car, they stepped up their grilling.

Things got a little too hot, and Payne admitted he was the man who had found lovers' lanes so profitable.

Booked on a charge of armed robbery, officers said Payne never terrorized his victims though he shot into two automobiles to emphasize his demands. One of his victims was shot in the ankle.

He wore a white handerchief over his face when he was in operation.

Detective Sgts. Eldon C. Young and W. F. Bitteroff of the police robbery detail told the Eagle that dozens of watches and other pieces of jewelry were found in Payne's home.

His brother-in-law, Norman L. Shores, 20, of 908 E. 79th st., was arrested when he was discovered wearing one of the stolen watches. He denied any participation in the robberies and said he had borrowed the watch from Payne.

Payne will appear at a preliminary hearing April 20.

After 40 years as a waiter on various Southern Pacific Lines trains, Reed's retirement was announced last week by George Leask, superintendent, dining car department, Los Angeles.

"I am looking forward to sitting down at my own table and enjoying the company and good cooking of my wife Hazel," said Reed, whose last assignment was on the West Coast running between Los Angeles and Sacramento.

After a brief rest, Reed plans to supervise some carpentry work on his home at 4156 Amora street.

League Takes Pain Out of Tots' Falls

The pre-school age children who attend the Santa Monica day nursery are going to fall more in love with the members of the Assistance League, which operates the nursery.

League members have installed on certain parts of the playground a material known as Parafall. Made of a rubber and nylon substance, Parafall takes most of the aches and pains out of the tumbles children take daily.

Mrs. Charles F. Neilson is president of the league.

Maxine Grant, popular member of the Cavalrettes, surprised club members at the group's last meeting by announcing her marriage to Augustus V. Jacques in Yuma last week.

MRS. HELEN C. COOPER has been appointed assistant regional representative of the Bureau of Public Assistance in Region IX of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Region IX includes Arizona, California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Alaska and Hawaii. Headquarters are in San Francisco.

Eighty per cent of vehicles involved in fatal traffic accidents in 1953 were traveling straight ahead.

CHEATS DEATH—Ambulance attendant Ray Wortham defied death last Thursday, and breathed life back into the stilled form of four-year-old Betty Dozier. (Story on page 1).

N. Houston On the Road To Recovery

Friends of Norman O. Houston, president of the Golden State Life Insurance Co., were happy to learn this week that he had successfully undergone an operation Monday to set his leg broken in a serious traffic accident in Texas, and was reported to be "on the mend."

So optimistic was the news from San Antonio, where Houston and his wife, Mrs. Edythe Houston, were hospitalized three weeks ago, that it was expected the well-known couple might be returning to Los Angeles this weekend.

The operation was the second one for Houston, both of whose legs were broken in the head-on collision outside the small Texas town of Shriner March 27. Following the first, two days after the accident, he failed to rally and it was feared that he would not pull through. Alarming reports reaching here that he was near death caused is two sons, Ivan and Norman Jr., to fly down to San Antonio.

Attending pysicians waited to perform the second operation until the patient was build up to the point where he could successfully withstand the shock.

Mrs. Houston, who suffered a fractured right arm and two broken ribs, is now well on the road to recovery. So also is Mrs. Elois Davis, who had joined the Houstons in Texas for the drive back to Los Angeles in their new Cadillac, and who suffered concussion and a "black out" in the crash.

J. B. Brown Gets 5-20 Years In Dope Case

J. B. Brown ran into double trouble last Thursday when he was convicted of four out of five charges of selling, transporting and concealing narcotics, and was later held to answer for the shot-gun murder of police informer Frank Stafford .

Brown, whose luck was running out, was sentenced on five to 20 years on each of the dope charges, after he was found guilty by a jury in Judge William C. Mathis' Court.

Judge Schweitzer, later in the day, held that Brown must stand trial for murder. The case was set for May 3, in Dept. 43, before Superior Judge Charles Fricke.

Three out of four traffic accidents involve passenger cars.

England Asked to Prohibit 'Amos 'n' Andy' TV Show

NEW YORK — The British Broadcasting Corporation has been "earnestly and vigorously" urged to reconsider its purchase of the "Amos 'n' Andy" program for telecast to the people of England. The corporation is scheduled to start showing the film on April 21.

In a letter to the BBC dated April 7, Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, branded the program "a gross caricature of the Negro which has done much harm here in the United States and, we fear, may do even more in England where there is not as much opportunity as in the United States for non-Negroes to know the truth about the Negro."

Anti-Negro forces in the United States, the NAACP executive pointed out, seek to perpetuate "the concept that the Negro is a happy-go-lucky, amoral, uneducable and ambitionless person addicted to the use of dialect and outlandish behavior." The "Amos 'n' Andy" show, White charged, contributes to the perpetuation of this myth.

BURIED AT SEA — Memorial services were being planned in New York this week for Dean William Pickens, who was buried at sea following his death aboard ship while returning from a Caribbean cruise. He is shown above as he spoke at the anniversary of Lincoln's historical Cooper Union address.

L. A. Dogs Find Children Tasty

Forty-four Los Angeles residents are being reported bitten by dogs every day. Last year, at this season, the average was 42.

More than 100 persons have been given Pasteur treatment so far this year. Last year, for the entire twelve months, the total was 368.

Most of the bite victims are children.

Plan Rites for Wm. Pickens, Buried at Sea

NEW YORK.—Memorial services for Dr. William Pickens, who died April 6 aboard the S.S. Mauretania, were being planned here this week.

Arrangements were held up pending the return last Saturday of Mrs. Minnie Pickens, widow of the prominent scholar and former NAACP official, who was buried at sea between Kingston, Jamaica and New York.

Long Service

Death struck as he and Mrs. Pickens were returning from a Caribbean cruise.

Dean Pickens was field secretary and director of branches of the NAACP from 1920 through 1942 when the United States Treasury Department sought his aid in the promotion of the sale of war bonds.

In paying tribute to Dean Pickens, Walter White called him "a brilliant scholar and one of the most skillful orators America has produced. The fight for democracy, to which he contributed so greatly, is the loser by his passing."

Born in South Carolina, January 15, 1881, Mr. Pickens was educated at Talladega College and Yale University where he won the coveted Phi Beta Kappa key. He taught at Talladega and later served as dean at Morgan College in Baltimore. He was author of "The Heir of Slaves," an autobiography, and other works.

Cummings, Wife Part

the death of his first wife. He has three children, two of whom are in a private school in Santa Barbara.

The marriage was Mrs. Cummings' third. Her first husband died and her second marriage to a New York doctor collapsed after a few months residence in the East.

Prominent

Mrs. Cummings is a school teacher and is a member of the socially prominent Lisborg family. One of her sisters is the wife of Dr. Howard Allen and the other, Camille, secured a divorce from Atty. George Cannady last year.

Cummings came to Los Angeles during the war years and published a weekly news-magazine, first called "War Worker" and later "Now." His first wife was the daughter of a San Francisco banker. Since suspension of the magazine he has told friends that he is "working on a novel" but he recently opened a public relations office on West Jefferson Blvd. It is understood that he administers a trust fund left by his wife for the support and education of his children.

Segregated Cemeteries

Whether or not an Iowa cemetery must respond in damages to the widow of an American Indian War veteran's widow for its refusal to bury her husband will be decided by the United States Supreme Court sometime this spring.

The cemetery had a clause in deeds to lot owners restricting burial to "Caucasians." After a grave had been opened the cemetery refused to bury the Indian who was a casualty of the Korean War. The widow sued the cemetery for damages but Iowa courts held that she had no cause of action.

The case is important because it involves the question of whether or not race restrictive covenants can be asserted as a defense for breach of an agreement not to sell land to "non-Caucasians." The court has previously held that such restrictions can't be enforced to prevent sale to or occupancy of land by Negroes and that damages can't be collected from an owner who sells restricted land to Negroes.

The Iowa case is the next step. If the court holds that a refusal to honor an agreement to sell land can't be predicated on the existence of a racial covenant such agreements will be almost entirely dead letters.

Los Angeles will watch the case with interest because most cemeteries in this area draw rigid color lines against Negroes and excuse their practice with the pretense that they would be liable in damages to other lot owners if they permit burial of "non-Caucasians."

Worst offender is the highly publicized Forest Lawn which once requested the removal of a Negro who had been buried there before it learned her race. Its recent setting aside of what amounts to a segregated cemetery in which Negroes are buried doesn't excuse its practice of requiring relatives to certify that the dead person is a "Caucasian" before it will permit burial.

Optimistic Republicans

Republican Party big-wigs are predicting that they will get the Negro vote in this year's election for the first time since 1934. That's a large order when it is remembered that Stevenson got the overwhelming majority of Negro votes in 1952.

Republican optimism is based on what they regard as favorable reaction to appointments of Negroes to some rather important government positions and to their belief that Negroes will give them credit for advances in civil rights during the Eisenhower administration.

It is certainly true that appointments of Negroes strike a responsive chord among Negro voters who rightfully regard such appointment as symbols of the integration that is so much desired. The trouble with GOP claims in this regard is that none of the Negro appointees has as yet had a chance to show his wares and that few of them are well known beyond party circles.

The claims in regard to civil rights gains are pretty thin. Integration in the armed forces has proceeded but the program was begun under Truman. The attorney general's appearances in Supreme Court cases involving civil rights also were continuances of actions begun under the Truman regime. The only solid claim of the Eisenhower administration rests on its forthright action in abolishing segregation in schools on Army posts.

In any event, Negroes will have little objection to vigorous competition between the Democrats and Republicans for their votes. If the competition gets keen enough we can hope that we can drive some bargains that will result in enactment of some of the legislation recommended by the President's Commission on Civil Rights.

Prejudice Comes High

Old Jim Crow will get another kick in the slats when Kansas City, Missouri, opens its famed Swope Park swimming pool this spring.

The pool has been closed for two years — closed because a federal judge ordered it to admit Negroes. Kansas City promptly cut off its nose to spite its face by closing the pool entirely rather than permitting Negroes to swim.

Last year the Court of Appeals upheld the trial judge. Kansas City stuck to its pig-headed policy, kept the pool closed, and asked the Supreme Court to intervene. The high court refused.

Last week Kansas City returned to sanity and decided to open the pool and let everybody swim.

The net result of this effort to deprive Negroes of a right previously available to other citizens was to deprive all citizens of swimming privileges for two long hot years. We hope that this episode will serve to remind all Americans of the futility and prohibitive cost of Jim Crow.

Dean William Pickens

The death of William Pickens removes one of the last of the original band of NAACP officials who did so much to stimulate the growth of the organization in its formative years.

Pickens was the popularizer of the Association. He knew, and spoke, the language of the common man and was able to explain what the Association meant and what it stood for to the masses of people.

Never lacking in courage, Pickens often went before hostile audiences in unfriendly sections of the country and was many times able to sway public opinion.

Pickens had not been an active NAACP official for many years because he finally found himself out of step with the younger men and women who came along to finish the work he had helped start.

History will record William Pickens as a man who made a lasting contribution to American democracy through what he did to make the NAACP the great organization it is today.

Where He Belongs

Conviction of J. B. Brown by a federal jury should result in the long imprisonment of a man who has been one of the leading narcotics peddlers in this community. Nobody knows, or will ever know, how many weak and frustrated youngsters have been started on the narcotics habit through the ring that clustered around Brown's activities.

Repeated jail sentences did nothing to reform Brown. He simply bided his time until he got out of jail and promptly resumed his nefarious activities.

A long term in prison will at least remove this menace from the community and will prevent him from plying his trade for as many years as he is confined behind the bars.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

It was 31 years ago when I first laid eyes on these northern Indiana cities—driving through on my honeymoon. There was nothing then in my personal plans nor in the appearance of these two industrial communities, South Bend and Gary, Ind., to encourage me to think that I would ever want or need to return for longer visits.

Lester Granger

They were rather terrible-appearing towns, to my critical Eastern eyes. My wife and I drove all around South Bend looking for a place in which we might wish to stop over instead of making the 100 miles farther to Chicago. Disguested with what we were offered, we drove 50 miles further to Gary, only to find that this flat, ugly, steel-dominated town was even worse. Finally, we gave up and drove on to Chicago.

Race Riots or Acceptance?

Since 1923 there've been some changes made in northern Indiana. Nearly 10,000 Negroes have moved into South Bend, and during the last 10 years Gary's Negro population has nearly doubled, to approximately 50,000 out of a total of 150,000 in the city. No other city north of the Mason-Dixon line has so high a percentage of Negro population.

They come here, mostly from the Central South; they come in company with their white fellow-Southerners who are being pushed off farms and into cities by the increasing mechanization of southern agriculture. They come to Gary and South Bend, green and awkward and untrained in the skills and requirements of urban living.

It's important to Negroes everywhere in the U. S. what happens to these migrant people of color when they hit a town like Gary. It's important to know whether Chicago is an unfortunate and disgraceful exception to the rule, or whether it is a rule that when large numbers of southern Negroes move into a mid-western Industrial metropolis race riots are to be expected as the natural order of events.

For, just 40 miles away, in South and West Chicago howling mobs of whites with Middle European or American Southern background have been making their city a stench in the nostrils of decent people all over the world by rioting whenever Negro families dare to move into previously "white" neighborhoods.

Fluid, Optimistic

So it's a pleasure and relief to find that it's not that way in Gary and South Bend. Of the two cities, South Bend is at present in better condition. An unusually tight municipal ordinance against refusal of services in restaurants, hotels and the like; an alert mayor and wide-awake Negro political spokesmanship, an old-resident Negro group large enough to provide leadership and backing to racial improvement programs—these have kept South Bend's situation fluid and optimistic.

Gary's situation is tougher, but still optimistic. An Urban League organized in 1945 broke up the much-publicized high school student strike against integrated atendance. The same Urban League broke the bar against Negro use of public park property—and only last summer the league's courageous executive secretary, Clifford Minton, took the leadership in facing down hostile hoodlums by breaking the color line which they had drawn at the public bathing beach.

Everything isn't rosy in Gary—far from it. But with white teachers serving under Negro principals in previously all-Negro schools; with Contractor Andrew Means building a subdevelopment of 250 medium-priced homes; with Negro candidates for judgeships, county boards and similar posts on the winning Democratic ticket; with the publisher of the local newspaper also the devoted president of the Urban League—with these assets, Gary certainly is not Chicago, nor is it likely to be. And that's why I'm glad to be back in Gary, 31 years after.

One Man's Opinion

MEET DOCTOR WAYMAN G. McCOO

Yes, read about and meet a man whom the boys began calling "doctor" when he was only a lad down in his native Eufaula, Ala. They did it because his father was very popular as a doctor of medicine. And, by-the-way, his father is still going strong serving that community as its doctor. But Dr. Wayman G. McCoo is serving the city of Los Angeles with as much a desire to do the job as had his father.

Leon Seward

After finishing high school young Wayman McCoo went to Tallageda college in pursuit of a liberal education. Here he was on the debating team, won short story prizes and wrote plays. He also drew for the college newspaper. To show versatility he played basketball, was president of the Little Theatre Group and sang in the college choir and quartet, thus laying the ground work for being a good citizen as well as a good doctor.

Launches Career

Having well earned his bachelor of arts degree in 1934 he enrolled in Meharry Medical College and in his junior year married a classmate from New Jersey, Mrs. Mary Holloway. They graduated together in 1938 and both interned at Hubbard Hospital in Nashfield, Tenn.

After a visit home to Eufaula, Ala., and finding it a little tight for the two younger folks, they moved to Tuscaloosa, Ala., and after two years more moved on to Columbus. While in Columbus, Dr. McCoo operated a clinic for a Catholic Mission in Phoenix City, just across the river. They remained in Columbus long enough to win the rights to operate in the City Hospital but their children were attaining an age where their welfare was of prime importance. These busy people have four fine children.

Glenda is 13 and attends Mt. Vernon Jr. High, while Merlyn, 10, Mildred, 9, and Wayman Jr., attend Arlington Heights Grammer School. But they all attend Sunday School at Westminster Presbyterion on West Jefferson blvd., where their mother is a member.

Their Signs Are Out

Dr. Wayman G. and Mrs. Mary H. both have signs out at 1852 W. Jefferson. They both are general practitioners, but his specialty is surgery, hers is pediatrics. They are busy people but when we saw a rather large NAACP campaign sign neatly placed on the wall of the waiting room, we knew that they had considerable community interest.

One reason why this is our Easter column is that this family is a good sample of what sober Christian professionals can mean to a community. Dr. Wayman G. McCoo is a member of Bowen Memorial church and have you been at that church Sunday a week ago, you might have heard him sing, in a pleasing baritone voice, "There Is No Death," a searching song by O'Hara. Dr. McCoo attends Bowen regularly but generally does not have time for choir singing. However, living at 2510 Tenth avenue, he does have time to take his children to Sunday school. There are many other professionals who would be much happier if they had the opportunity and/or interest to do likewise. Yes, this man is a "chip off the old block" and a mighty good one at that, don't you think?

Time to Send Nominations for Spingarn Award

NEW YORK—All nominations for the Spingarn Medal must be in the office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N. Y., by May 1, according to Walter White, executive secretary.

The medal is awarded annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement in such fields as the arts, science, business, education or statesmanship. Selection of the medalist is made by a committee composed of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Prof. S. Ralph Harlow, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Buell Gallagher, Roscoe Dunjee, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Mrs. Helen Reid, and Chester Bowles.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

You know these directions that tell you how to put fancy gimmicks together? Well, there ought to be a law against the guys who write them.

They ought to be sentenced to a year in solitary confinement with a book by a fellow called Rudolph Flesch. This Flesch has taught hundreds of newspapermen to write so people will know what the heck they're talking about.

The other day I bought one of those wooden clothes dryers that you set up in your house. When I opened the box, 21½ pieces rolled out on the floor.

I spied some directions and started reading them. That's when I wished I had the guy who wrote them. If I could have collared him, I would have marched him to the nearest alley and stuck a gun in his ribs. Then I would have given him his choice of flesh or blood.

"Put Arm A into Hole V and Arm B into Hole X (see G on Diagram I). Clamp joint H at a right angle to Joint S making sure Elbow T is in exact "justaposition to . . ."

Needs Bracer

I read this gobbledegook a couple of times and decided I needed a bracer if I was going to wade through this kind of talk. I went to the kitchen and took a long slug of orange juice, then fortified myself with a screw driver, pair of pliers, a couple of wrenches and a dictionary.

With gusto, I faced my job. Arm A just didn't fit into Hole V. It was utterly impossible to clamp Joint H at a right angle to Joint S. I looked up juxtaposition and still don't know what it means.

About this time I received the un-asked for aid of the 18-month-old inhabitant of the house whose abundance of little garments caused me to buy this puzzler in the first place.

Before I realized what his delighted cries were all about, 21½ pieces had dwindled to 17. The missing 4½ were finally discovered in the kitchen, bathroom, service porch and under the refrigerator.

Mops Brow

About 45 minutes later, the 21½ pieces were somehow one. I mopped my dripping brow and stepped back to admire my mechanical genius. What I saw looked like a Salvador Dali interpretation of an octopus with the Saint Vitas dance. There was a smirk on my little son's face.

With patience borrowed from the storehouse, I broke down the jittery clothes drier and started all over again. I took a ninth look at the directions. They still read the same.

I took a glowering look at the younger genius and I could have sworn he was looking at me as if to say, "You poor, stupid man."

This was too much. I snatched up the directions and handed them graciously to my infant son.

"Here, Mr. Smartypants, perhaps you can translate this foreign language."

Accepts Paper

Mr. Smartypants gleefully accepted the piece of paper and in a matter of seconds had torn, chewed and otherwise done away with the valued message from some sadistic writer.

Crestfallen, I gathered the wiggling 27 pounds into my arms and delivered him none too gently to his mother in the kitchen.

I gulped another jigger of orange juice and went back to my work. It was amazing. Without my helper and without the distraction of the directions, I had the clothes drier assembled in less than five minutes. It was a beaut.

Grabs Clothes

I ran into the kitchen, grabbed up a handful of clothes the wife had just washed and spread them out gingerly on the drier. Then I fell exhausted on the bed to dream about ancient tortures fit for a direction writer.

My reveries were disturbed when the wife summoned me to see the new game the youngun' had just learned. I peeked cautiously through the door to see that my dear son had plucked each garment from the drier and had thrown them all over the floor. He was in the process of doing a job on the drier when I stepped in.

I think I'll buy an electric drier—installed.

ly furnished a model race restrictive covenant in its manual and demanded that such a restriction be laid on every lot or subdivision where it guaranteed a home loan. In the late 1940s it abandoned that practice but continued to encourage the levy of race restrictions. It was not until 1950 that it established a rule that it would guarantee no loans unless the builder agreed that he would not impose a race restrictive covenant on land where no such restrictions existed before Feb. 15, 1950 and that he would not levy such a restriction during the life of the loan.

Even the 1950 rule is a fraud that is only fair on its face because FHA left builders and subdividers free to refuse to rent or sell to Negroes where they chose. It has winked, at where it was not encouraged, those attitudes even where its officials knew that Negro veterans were being denied benefits of laws designed to aid and assist veterans.

The net result of FHA practices has been to exclude Negroes from the new home market except in the comparatively few cases where builders constructed homes expressly for Negroes. Negroes have been forced to buy old homes in areas being deserted by white persons who are buying in the new home suburban districts.

Double Escrows

In its proper turn this forcing of Negroes into the used-home market and their exclusion from the new homes has cost them a pretty penny. They had, and have, to buy at prices that were, and are, out of proportion to values. More than that, a great many FHA guaranteed subdivisions, closed to Negroes, offered rental opportunities for white persons. Decent rentals have almost disappeared from areas open to Negroes and many a Negro wage earner has had to buy because he couldn't rent. Again, he has had to pay fancy prices.

The net result is that all too many Negroes are mired down in mortgage payments for houses that cost them too much in the first place. The restrictions on the market open to Negroes has also played into the hands of speculators and real estate brokers who were not above turning Jim Crow to their own advantage. One of the neatest devices is the double escrow gimmick.

Good Bargain!

The broker finds a seller who wants to get out. He gets a listing price on the property, say $7800. He shows the property to the buyer but the price isn't $7800 to that buyer. He tells him the owner wants, say $9500. Our buyer haggles and the broker shows up some bright morning with the good news that the house can be had for $9000. Our man is happy.

Now the broker opens up an escrow between the seller and a dummy buyer in which the owner agrees to sell for the $7800 he has asked. In turn, the dummy buyer opens an escrow at the same institution with the real buyer in which the $9000 is given as the selling price. Both escrows close at the same time. The seller gets his asking price; the buyer pays the demanded price. The seller never knows; the buyer never knows. Only the broker and his dummy know and profit.

There are a dozen and one other variants of over charging Negro home buyers. Sift them down and you'll find they all stem from the unfortunate position in which the Negro home seeker found, and still finds, himself because of devices used to bolster and spread racial residential segregation, and because of the willingness of speculators and brokers to take advantage of his plight. The eternal shame of FHA is that it helped foster this situation.

A Look At The Books

Every year the coming of Latin-American Week is a reminder bot hof the cultural and economic solidarity between ourselves and our neighbors to the south and of the pleasures of travel in the charming countries of South and Central America. As a help to those planning to travel and to those who like to read about the varied and colorful ways of life in Latin America, your public library recommends a few varied titles that should stimulate a wanderlust in everyone.

THE BIG TREE OF MEXICO, by John R. Skeaping

How a British writer came to an out of the way spot in Oaxaca, Mexico, to live with the primitive Indians and to master the techniques of their pottery-making, forms a fascinating picture of a way of life remote from the turmoil of twentieth century civilization. At the same time it is one of the best depictions of the way primitive Indians think since D. H. Lawrence's "Mornings in Mexico." Mr. Skeaping won the complete confidence of his companions; he ate with them, learned to make pottery, and shared in their primitive rituals. This is a book that will show the reader how close in space to us is a way of life that stretches back aeons in time.

MEXICAN JUMPING BEAN, by Pepe Romero

The reminiscences and comments of a Mexican newspaper columnist which jump dizzily about from topic to topic like the lively little article in the title, but never faid to be amusing. The author centers his attention on Mexico City and has many hints for the tourist; his knowledge of out of the way places is what you'd expect of an active newspaper man. Mexico City in the small hours just before dawn has never been so vividly portrayed. We don't know if you will quite believe all the picaresque adventures that the author claims have happened to him, but probably something akin to poetic license is to be allowed columnists and anyhow it's all entertaining.

ROVING SOUTH, by Willard Price

Willard Price, who has roved over vast portions of the earth to the delight of many readers and (one hopes) abundant book royalties to himself, undertook, with his wife, a 23,000-mile jaunt through Latin America which is presented in the form of a travel diary. They started in Mexico and ended up in Argentina, and although he calls the book a travel guide, it is much more than that, a pleasant, unpretentious chat of experiences in travel such as one neighbor might make to another. The photographs are excellent. Though the book is not new, it is one of the most popular of the author's works.

HARMONY OF FAITHS AND RACES—Miss Evelyn Burwell and Wally Campo harmonize in action and song their new joint composition dedicated to the 1954 United Jewish Welfare Fund campaign. Song is titled "They Shall Not Stand Alone", after the theme of the city-wide fund effort for relief and welfare institutions in Los Angeles and abroad that serve men, women and children without regard to race or creed.

Late Minister Hailed for Service to Community

By MRS. VESSIE GORDON

Looking backward, many individuals, some living and many dead, who came to California a half century ago to be bricks in its foundation, crowd my memory. But I am inspired to give you a brief history of one whom I consider a monument in the historic background of Los Angeles. This is the story of Dr. J. D. Gordon.

Dr. J. D. Gordon, until just a few years ago, was hailed as Los Angeles' oldest Negro minister. He was truly called of God to preach the gospel, and to be a leader among his people. He was born in Atlanta, Ga., and as a tiny lad he would gather the children about him and they would "play church." At the age of 15 he held church services with his family in their home. And at the age of 18 he was the pastor of a regular church.

Morehouse Graduate

He graduated from Morehouse College, in Atlanta, Ga., and then taught school in Cartersville where he later became principal of the school.

After coming to Los Angeles,

MRS. VESSIE GORDON

in 1903, he was pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church for more than 40 years. He loved religious work of all kinds, teaching as well as preaching, and the Bible class he taught in this church was famous everywhere. Students from all parts of the city came to attend these classes.

Dr. Gordon is the author of a great book on the Life of Christ in 12 volumes. The book is called "Christology." It is still in manuscript form, but Dr. Gordon's widow, Mrs. Vessie Gordon, is planning to have it published.

Father to Preachers

During the early '20s Dr. Gordon was the "father" or guardian to all the young preachers who came to Los Angeles, including Rev. W. H. Rozier, who was ordained pastor to Pleasant Hill Baptist Church by Dr. Gordon.

Dr. Gordon's interests were world wide, and early in his ministry he went to Africa as part of his religious work. He was graciously received by the people there, and upon leaving was presented with 80 acres of land. He contracted tropical fever, however, which left him weakened physically but strengthened spiritually.

Came to West Coast

In October, 1921, Dr. Gordon went to Brooklyn, N. Y., and started a building fund for Brown's Memorial Baptist Church.

Dr. Gordon was the first to hold Easter sunrise services in Val Verde Park, here on the West Coast. He organized the YMCA in his home on Austin street, Los Angeles, and was dean of the Providence Baptist Theological Seminary, which he founded. He also organized the Park Avenue Baptist Church in Riverside, the New Hope Baptist Church in Long Beach, the Tabernacle of Faith in Los Angeles, and the Providence Missionary Baptist Association.

In 1944 Dr. Gordon resigned the pastorate of the Tabernacle Baptist Church and went to the Belmont Baptist Church, formerly pastored by the Rev. Hines. There were only five members of the church at the time, all members of the Woody family. They held services at Belmont and Temple streets.

New Church

When the lease expired, the site for a new church was chosen, at Burlington and Temple streets. Dr. Gordon himself donated $2200 in 1946 to the building fund. The late Mrs. Cuffee donated over $600; Mrs. Vessie Gordon solicited over $300; and property owners donated $500.

The church was incorporated May 19, 1949, at 340 Burlington avenue. The church voted the house and lot at 336 Burlington avenue to Rev. Gordon. Rev. Gordon made payments on the property, including the store where the church services were held, until the time of his death.

Dr. Gordon's Bible class offerings were $35 or more each month, which was turned over to the church. The Rev. L. B. Moss, at Dr. Gordon's request, was to be overseer of the church at its incorporation.

Dr. Gordon had two happy marriages. His first wife, Mrs. Florence Gordon, passed away April 5, 1943. A year later he married Mrs. Vessie Brown, who carried on his unfinished work at the Belmont church after his passing, April 3, 1951.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Solomon Islands Chieftain To Speak For Adventists

Kata Ragoso, famed Solomon Islands chieftan converted from cannibalism to Christianity, will speak to Los Angeles Seventh-day Adventists Sunday, April 18, at 7:30 p.m., at the Wadsworth Adventist church, 901 E. 40th place.

Ragoso, who arrives from the South Seas April 16, will relate how Christian missions are changing the lives of natives who for hundreds of years have practiced headhunting. He will also relate his experiences in the Solomons during World War II.

Ragoso, whose father was a headhunter and raised his son as such until Ragoso was 12, is president of the Western Solomon Island mission of the Seventh-day Adventist church and a native ordained minister. He was organizer of the heroic "Fuzzy Wuzzy Angels" who rescued more than 250 Allied servicemen during the war with Japan.

He stationed men every five miles to watch the sky for Allied airmen shot down in Japanese territory and directed his men in guiding the Allied servicemen back to safety.

The handsome six-foot Solomon Islander, who speaks excellent English, has just completed a translation of the Bible into Marovo language for use throughout the South Pacific. This translation is now being published in London by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Kata Rogoso is an official delegate to the 47th Quadrennial Session of the World Conference of Seventh-day Adventists scheduled for May 24 to June 5 in San Francisco.

Appearing with Ragoso at the Wadsworth church will be American and Australian missionaries, including F. A. Mote, W. L. Pascoe, of the Australasian division; Herbert White, Coral Sea union; and E. A. Boehm, Bismark-Solomons Union mission.

The public is invited.

ABIE'S CORNER

Mr. Vincent X. Flaherty:

I happened to pick up the Examiner Tuesday morning and stumbled on your scintillating column in which you damned the Mayor, the Coliseum Commission, local sports writers and radio and television people as a bunch of knuckleheads because they didn't jump for joy at a chance to bring the hapless St. Louis Brown to Los Angeles last year.

You praised Dick Nixon to the high heavens for predicting that L.A. would have a Major League team in 1954. You then kissed the Examiner, and naturally Flaherty, all over for being the only sophisticates in the land of peasants with enough sense to want major league baseball. Then you made the astounding statement that you actually got us the Browns, for 24 hours that is. Quite a triumph.

Blasts and Bare Knuckles

You have blasted the Coliseum Commission for not dipping into the public funds and ripping up the Coliseum for your pet project. You gave the old bare knuckle treatment to our good Mayor for not dining and wining the various big shots, whom you know, that might have been induced to bring the Browns to L.A.

What burns me up every time you write such drivel is that guys like you, Nixon and your bosses scream to high heavens "creeping Socialism." where there is a move to provide decent housing for PEOPLE. No truck is too foul or statement too untrue to prevent less privileged families to have decent shelter in decent surroundings to raise their children.

On the other hand you can go all out for looting the public treasure for a public housing project for basketball, fights, etc., in a Sports palace in Exposition Park. Public housing for the Opera and other such cultural events in that pet Chandler project for a City Auditorium. Public housing for that free wheeling, free enterprising institution that is a law unto itself known as Organized Baseball. Public housing for people—hell no!

Just before you crack a vertebrae from patting yourself on the back, I'd like to ask you a few questions.

Where, Oh Where, Vincie?

Where were you, the Examiner and Nixon in 1941 when after several sports writers on local Negro weeklies, picketed Wrigley field and forced the Angels to give tryouts to Jackie Robinson, Kenny Washington and Nate Moreland? They finally let them work out one day and told them they had no talent. That's as good as your 24 hour statement.

What were you three musketeers doing when the fight was on to get the lily-white Hollywood Legion Stadium to card Negro boxers. They finally gave in on a proposition that would card triple-champ Hank Armstrong.

I noticed no Sir Vincent charging out from the columns of the Examiner when the Cleveland Rams moved to Los Angeles. Only a vigorous fight by an aroused Coliseum Commission that you so like to malign, managed to get jobs for Kenny Washington and Woody Strode.

What comfort and support did you lend Emmett Ashford in his long hard fight to crack the PCL as an umpire.

Did you know that USC has a rigid athletic color line. They hired Addison Hawthorne to keep him from UCLA. Jeff high dominates track in the city. Never invited to SC. How about that.

What have you said about the lack of democracy in golf, bowling, tennis, chess and others too numerous to name.

Now don't get us wrong, Mr. Flaherty. We're all for major league baseball and will be happier than a McCarthy aid in the YMCA when it gets here.

Sewers or Baseball

But, like Poulson, we don't think it is as near important as sewers, schools, decent housing, equal employment opportunities, smog control, more playgrounds, etc.

When the majors move here in 1954, as you and Nixon so confidently state, it is apparent that they will move into Wrigley Field. In order to enlarge the field and provide ample parking space, at least 100 families will be displaced.

Over 95% of these families that will be displaced are Negroes.

A Shining Knight

I was wondering, Vince old boy, if you will crusade as hard for the right of these families to move any place they might like such as the Valley, Beverly Hills, Brentwood, Balboa, Lakewood, Glendale, Malibu and other such choice residential areas.

I was just wondering, Vince, because it is impossible for them to do that at this writing.

Yours in Sports,
Abie Robinson.

Sinking All Putts

Everyone with knowledge of the Western Avenue Golf Course and the way it is operated will be glad to know that the City or County has taken over the management of said Course.

The Cosmopolitan Golf Club gave its First Touranment of the year at the Western Avenue Course, and had the largest turnout of any monthly tournament in years, or maybe at any time.

The regular players and lunch guests at the club had the idea Joe Louis was going to participate with the Cosmos and members were asked time and time again why he did not show.

The Western States Golf Assn. (an organization for the combined activities of all Golf Clubs on the West Coast) had a meeting of the Board last week and is drawing up plans for one of the greatest years in Golf History. The Association will begin its top efforts to reach the top in amateur golf in 1955. Here's hoping for good Golf and better sportsmanship.

Omegas Annex 17th Win

By BRAD PYE, JR.

The high-flying Omega five employed their controversial star—Jim Powell — the erstwhile Poly-LACC great — to maintain their undefeated record in turning back the hapless Sigma hoopsters 77-61 in the feature game of the Inter-Frat Series at Loyola High Saturday night.

In the other game of the night, Gene Williams' Kappa quintet paced by Pete O'Gara, Dallas Perkins, Cornelius Barnes and Ed Nichols, romped over the Alphas 87-70. For the Alphas John Barber—the L. A. State sensation—was the stick-out with 28 markers. The best individual job of the night.

The Omegas still appear to be the class of the Series . . . with or without Jim Powell. There is a question as to Powell's amateur standing. If he's proven a pro, he'll virtually be barred from further competition.

This weekend's contests which will feature the Kappas and Omegas and pit the Alphas against the Sigmas, should prove to be the most exciting to date. The champion Omegas put their perfect record on the block against the once-beaten Kappa club. The Kappas' only defeat came at the hands of these same Omegas. With Charles Hill, Algin Sutton, Charles Reed, Larry Dugan and maybe Jim Powell operating at the same time, the Kappas will undoubtedly have to show more than they have shown to date to defeat the scrappy Omegas. Red-shirted Kappa men Whitney Arceneaux, Barnes, Ernie Hartzog, Fenton Gilmer, O'Gara, Dave Williams et al, will more than let the Omega men know that they know something about putting the ball through the hoop.

HIGH POINT PARADE—The three top scorers for each club were as follows: Kappas—Gilmer (14), Perkins (14) and O'Gara (12). Alphas—Barbers (28), David Butler (14) and Hugo Hill (6). Omegas—Dugan (15), Sutton (21) and Charles Hill (8). Sigmas—Isiah Jones (13), Leroy Mims (13) and Len Pollard (13).

Stars, Angels Seven Games Series Tues.

"Civil War—1954 style!"

That's the baseball fare for Los Angeles next week when the Hollywood Stars, Pacific Coast League champions, tangle with the Los Angeles Angels in a seven game series at Gilmore Field.

It'll be the first meeting between the red-hot rivals this season — and it promises to hold all of the thrills and excitement that prevailed last season when everything from top baseball to fistic melees took place in the action-packed series.

The stage is being set for next week's hot baseball attraction.

"We're out to beat Hollywood," is the motto of Angel supporters who have seen their favorites go down to defeat for the last four years at the hands of the hated Stars.

"Los Angeles is the team to beat for the PCL title," Angel Manager Bill Sweeney has stated as he prepares to send his Seraphs against Bobby Brigan's champion Stars.

First game of the series is scheduled for Tuesday night at 8:15 p.m., with nocturnal tilts scheduled nightly through Friday. An afternoon game is on tap Saturday at 1:30 and the bargain day twin bill winds up the series Sunday, also at 1:30 p.m.

WHITFIELD'S TESTIMONIAL THE GREATEST—

It was an impressive star-studded, well-deserved testimonial Horace and Betty Clark—the entrepreneurs of the Clark Hotel—gave Marvelous Mal Whitfield Saturday night at their Central and Washington hostelry.

Among the notables on hand to pay homage to this truly fabulous athlete were Paul Zimmerman, L.A. Times; Maxwell Styles, Mirror; Bill Schroeder, director of Helms Hall; Frank Terry, Hollywood Stars public relations ace; Eddie Atkinson, Olympic Champions Parry O'Brien and Bob Mathias, Olympian hurdler Art Bernard, Dynamite Jackson, Dean Cromwell, '48 Olympic coach, Chester Washington, Courier. We regret space prevents us from continuing.

Brad Pye, Jr.

IS IT TRUE?—

Is it true Jim Powell played for the Harlem Clowns after leaving LACC, for a price. Several unhappy frat men were to present the facts to Larry Houston of the AAU, earlier this week. . . . If their dope is authentic as reported, the Omegas will undoubtedly be minus the brilliant star's services this Saturday night in their crucial tilt against the Kappas. Who blew the whistle on the Bruins stars Johnny Moore and Willie Naulls last season? Is the answer obvious? Your guess is better than mine. . . . It says here the Hollywood Stars can have Sam Jethroe from the Pirates for the asking.

AS WE SEE IT—

It'll be the Bums and Yanks in their respective leagues again this campaign. . . . The A's Vic Power, the boy who didn't have enough humility to stick with the World Champion Yankees, for was it the right paint job) is our pick for A.L. rookie laurels. . . . Did you know Jeff High is finally going to get a new gym? According to principal Arthur Farnham, it'll be the best in the city. However, it'll not be completed until after the '55 season has terminated. Frat men . . . Farnham is the man to see to secure the joint for your annual cagefests.

NOW HEAR THIS . . .

Guy Blackburn, the co-record holder in all three classes of the city 100-yard dash, will be in town this weekend with the University of California spike team to compete against UCLA. . . . P.S.: The Blackburns are infanticipating. . . . She's the former Threasa Prioleau. . . .

Curtis Roberts, the erstwhile McClymonds High (Oakland) star, scored a three-bagger in his debut with the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday. . . . He's the first of the race with the Pirates.

Dave Mann reportedly told Oak manager Charlie Dressen, this week, he'll forego his grid career with the Chicago Cardinals and play for him upon his release from the Army. . . . Mann, a former sophomore star back with the Oregon State Beavers, was a member of the Oakland club before entering the service. . . . As of now this is 25 & 5.

Sportsmen's Show At Pan Pacific

Southern California's gigantic recreational show case will be on display from April 15-25 at the Pan-Pacific auditorium in Los Angeles. These are the dates for the 9th presentation of the Sportsmen's Vacation, Boat and Trailer Show.

Each division of the show promises many new features for the ¼ million Southern Californians who yearly discover recreational ideas and equipment at the Beverly Boulevard site.

Kappas May Rule Jim Powell Out

Jim Powell, former Poly High great, and one of the big guns for Coach Fred Griffin Omegas' five, may be ruled out of the inter-frat series game this week. Omegas host the much-improved Kappas team in a crucial game. Bob Green and Edgar Johnson, members of the Kappa bench, will demand that Powell be cleared through the AAU office. So far all the brilliant cage star can show that he didn't play professional ball is an AAU card issued by an unsigned person and signed by himself.

DRINK Coca-Cola

Joe Black
mound star of the Brooklyn Dodgers, converts a little minute into a big rest with a bottle of ice-cold Coca-Cola.

Nine innings of a big league baseball game under a hot summer sun is hard work. No wonder so many players head for the familiar red cooler and a frosty bottle of refreshing Coca-Cola! Like hard workers everywhere, they know that nothing equals the magic moment when they pause and refresh with ice-cold Coke.

How about you? Have you had a Coke lately? You'll find a bright red cooler right around the corner from wherever you are. Take a break. Enjoy a bottle of Coca-Cola . . . delicious, refreshing Coca-Cola. And by the way . . . it's nice to have Coke on ice at home. Get a handy carton when you shop.

Charity Twelve Club to Aid Children's Hospital

The tragic cost of accidents to children was dramatically described to members of the Charity Twelve club at its meeting at the home of Mrs. Josephine McDavid last week.

Mrs. Marie Brotherton, assistant to the director of public relations at Children's Hospital, said that burns cause some of the most intense suffering that a child can undergo and added that the parent's knowledge that the child will be disfigured for life adds to the tragedy.

The club, headed by Mrs. Hattie C. Johnson, is planning a project to aid the hospital and to ease the pain and suffering caused by accidents to children.

The speaker also described in some detail the heavy financial burden placed on a family where there has been a serious burn. She said that the initial period of hospitalization may be from four to seven months and the cost in excess of $18,000.

She added that doctors at the hospital perform a daily average of from 18 to 22 major surgical operations in the hospital's six operating rooms.

Club members, expressing interest in the project, laid plans to purchase an electric Dermatone instrument for the hospital. It is used to remove delicate layers of skin for grafting purposes.

The instrument costs more than $500. Mrs. Mary Alice Johnson, founder of the Charity Twelve, founded the group in 1951 with the express purpose of aiding children.

One of the first acts of the club was a gift of a TV set to the Boys' home on East 54th Street. In 1952 they donated the beautiful magnolia tree with its graceful brick wall that surrounds the Braille Institute for the Blind and they purchased a Bell Howell movie projector for the Children's Home society.

This hard working group of ladies is made up of social workers, teachers and county employees.

After the meeting, the hostess and club members honored the Eagle staff. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bendy and Joe Malbrough for lending the club a helping hand in putting over its many worthwhile projects.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

This week we will try to cover some principles of overcall bidding. The requirements for most overcalls are not as high as those for an opening bid.

At the one level a bid may be overcalled with as little as 10 points. The reason for this is that as a rule little damage in the way of penalty doubles can be inflicted at the one level, and it is a good idea to convey as much information to partner as possible.

A west player who holds a hand of

S. Q10xxx
H. Axx
D. xx
C. A10x

is foolish not to overcall a south opening bid of one diamond with one spade. Here the opponents may have game in three no trump. The overcall may slow them up or cause them to miss their contract entirely. We can think of at least one case where an overcall at the one level prevented a partnership from reaching an ice cold grand slam.

Bid When Possible

Another possibility is that in this case east and west have the best hands but would not bid them properly if east had to overcall in fourth position.

It is a good idea to bid whenever possible. Far more hands are played at part score contracts than at game contracts, and if there is any part scoring to be done, why not try to do it yourself instead of letting the opponents try.

Trap passes or psychic passes do not pay dividends, and those who utilize these tactics are not winning bridge players. Sometimes opponents may fall into a trap but the odds against catching good players are far too great to try to make a habit of it.

A preemptive bid, which was discussed last week, is another type of overcall.

Try To Bid Right

The strongest type of overcall is a takeout double. This bid forces partner to bid and hence should be made only with a strong hand. We never make takeout doubles without at least 16 points and a suit of our own or strong support in any suit partner is apt to bid. These are examples of takeout double hands.
